Concerning City Affairs

The article in last week's Star has caused more comment than anything which has happened in this little city in a long time. The paper has been visited by dozens of people, the telephone has rung at frequent intervals, and a few took the trouble to write in. For the most part, the visitors came in a friendly attitude. We learned a lot about Burkburnett people we didn't know. For instance, some of our newest residents, and we welcome them with the friendliest spirit we know how, are more loyal to the city than some of the old timers. These people told us they shopped around considerably in other towns before they decided to buy homes and settle down in Burkburnett. What made them decide upon Burkburnett? They liked the warm friendliness of most of our people. They liked our churches and our schools. They are young couples, with young families. This seemed to them to be an ideal place to rear their families. If strangers get that impression of us, we just mustn't let them down. One young fellow said he had never taken any interest in city government or any affairs of the city, but since coming to Burkburnett he feels that he is a part of our city, and everything concerning the city interests him. He realizes that cities, just like individuals, do have problems. He is willing to pitch in, put his shoulder to the wheel and help solve, somehow, with the help of his neighbors, the problems of his chosen city.

We did have complaints, too, along with the roses. One fellow said he had found out that we had absolutely no law enforcement, especially in the control of fast and reckless driving within our city limits. He was shocked and alarmed to find that drivers on some of our streets hit 50, 60, and up to 70 miles per hour. He has some very small children and was almost provoked to violence when a carload of irresponsible, undisciplined smart aleck youngsters made a few razors in front of his house, cut across the curb at the corner and almost upset. He said the water shortage is serious, but consideration of human lives should come first. The young fellow is right. His children are nearest and dearest to him. He doesn't want to see them needlessly slaughtered.

Traffic law enforcement is more than lax. It is practically nil within our city. There is no reason why our traffic laws could not, or should not be enforced. We do not have any unreasonable laws. Just the necessary regulations you would find in any town. Signal lights down town; four way stop at one intersection where all four corners are blind; 20 mile speed limit in front of the schools; 30 mile speed limit on other streets with the exception of the new Oklahoma cut-off road, which is wide and out in the open. There the limit is 45 mph. We have the very minimum of regulations consistent with anything akin to traffic safety. Is it asking too much for people to observe these regulations? We should adopt a firm, strict, continuous, fair and just traffic enforcement policy and stay with it. At times in the past a half-hearted effort has been made at enforcing traffic regulations. What happened? Business men, or should be say men in business, stormed the City Council. "Call off the police. You are running off all the business from town!" Those thoughtless business men didn't think about what they were saying. In effect, they were saying "People, come to Burkburnett. Speed through our streets. Disobey every traffic sign and every traffic regulation on the books. We want your dollars. Merchants, if we have nothing to offer prospective customers except our streets as a race track for a few who have contempt for law and order, then we better take inventory and see what is lacking. We have missed the light somewhere, and we don't want somebody to pay with their life because of our blindness."

One street corner philosopher said we are all wet; we don't know what we are talking about concerning the City Light Plant. He said Texas Electric Service Company poured thousands and thousands of dollars into the city each year in the form of high taxes. He wanted to know just how I thought the city could operate without all that money. Another, short on information and totally lacking in city loyalty, said they were proud they were not using city electricity—they were helping support Mr. Ady. We have no fuss with the Texas Electric Service Company as a company, nor with any of its employees personally. But let's get this straight. Texas Electric Service Company is NOT a peanut stand on some street corner. They service hundreds of towns and take in millions and millions of dollars each year. They are perfectly capable of taking care of their employees in Burkburnett, whether they have one meter connection here or the whole kapoodle.

Street corner figures, misinformation, and prejudices and hear-say do not impress me. The following figures were taken from the city audit prepared by Niemeir & Pierce, Public Accountants, Lubbock, Texas. It covers the period April 1, 1955 to March 31, 1956. During this year, Texas Electric Service Company poured into the city treasury $960.15 in city taxes. It poured in $1,834.48 in franchise tax (street and alley rentals). Four families are wholly or partly dependent on the local office. While they were pouring into the city treasury $2,794.63, they collected $91,724.20 from people who are not supporting their City Light Plant.

In the same year, the City Light Plant had a few small streams dripping into the city also. It managed to trickle in $18,500.00 to the general fund, $1,850.00 to the Water Department fund, $25,354.38 in salaries (8 local families) and furnished $7,923.54 worth of metered electricity for pumping water into town. Thus we see the City Light Plant put back into the city $53,627.92. Gross receipts for the year amounted to $99,002.01. The above returns do not include street lights, electricity for the city hall and town hall, and the two city parks. Neither does it include any supplies or materials bought locally. More than 50c of every dollar paid by users of the City Light Plant came back to ALL the citizens in the form of cash for the operation of the city, or in services. What would your city taxes be if loyal citizens did not support the City Light Plant? This information coming up.

James W. Kinder Talks To Lions Club Of Russian Tour

Vice-president John Durham was in charge of the meeting. Winston Freeman, president, is still on vacation in Miami, Fla., where he attended Lions International convention.

Leroy Meyer lead the group in a couple of songs. John Rigby gave the invocation.

Senator George Moffett was the guest of Frank Kelley. B. H. Preston, Jr., had as his guests his brother Harold and J. B. Riley.

Buck Holt had charge of the program and introduced the speaker of the evening, James W. Kinder, who lives some eight miles North of Randlett, Oklahoma. Mr. Kinder has just returned from a tour of Russia, in company of some 28 other farmers and ranchers of Oklahoma.

He told the club of his impressions of Russia, gathered from what he heard and what he saw while touring the collective farms and state farms of the USSR. The group was met everywhere by managers of the farms who showed an air of prompted or forced friendliness. The Russians put out very little information, and while the Americans were asked at times for criticisms concerning Russian farm methods, the latter group also remained mum.

Mr. Kinder believes that the Russians are not getting full production from their fertile land, but he thinks there is a good explanation why they are not. Each farm has a quota to meet. It is set on what they call normal production, or norm. If, under favorable weather conditions a farm had high production for two or three years, their norm would be raised. Then, if two or three bad years came and production fell off, the manager of the farm might be liquidated for falling below his norm.

The speaker said about six million people belong to the communist party. They are the rulers and membership must be earned. One interpreter in his group did not belong to the communist party though he said he would like to, and had had his application in for years. It may be several more years, if ever, before this man of some thirty years is accepted to the party.

The top 25 per cent of the youth is taken by the state and educated, principally in science, and groomed for possible future leadership. The absence of sufficient, capable leadership at all levels was particularly noticed by Mr. Kinder. When one group of leaders is put out of power, the successors liquidates them. The victors themselves are soon unseated and in turn they are shot. These bloody purges are estimated to have taken the lives of up to thirty-five million Russians during the past several years. Leadership at the top level is very thin.

If the six million communists did not exist, Mr. Kinder believes the remaining Russians would prosper and be able to live at peace with the world.

Mr. Kinder's talk was listened to with great interest. It answered a lot of questions concerning things behind the iron curtain, yet there are many other questions only time will answer.

Next week Frank Kelley will have charge of the program.

ROTARY CLUB

Each Tuesday Noon Town Hall

Rudolph Robinson, new president, was in charge. Rev. Felix Kindel gave the invocation.

Major Al Schluikber introduced the program. He introduced Capt. Beg, a student at SAFFB from Pakistan. The Capt. told how Pakistan was captured in 1941, and of how it was partitioned in 1947. This friendly, peace loving nation is democratic, with a government similar to our own. It depends principally on agriculture, producing 85 per cent of the jute of the world, also long staple cotton and sugar cane. It is fast becoming industrialized and has erected eight jute mills since 1947. He told of their religion and other customs of the people. He stressed the fact that Pakistan is, of choice, friendly to the United States, and in the event of war would side with the western powers.

Mrs. George Byerly and Harry Dodson were guests of George Byerly. Several Rotarians from Wichita Falls were also guests.

Scouts Leaving for Camp in Their Own Private Bus

is shown a group of happy Boy Scouts as they were preparing to leave for Camp at Perkins Reservation east of Burkburnett on Red River. This is their private bus belonging to the Boy Scouts of Burkburnett. It is a forty-eight passenger, large enough to haul the boys comfortably with all their equipment. Some boys were going to their first camp, and they made the most of the occasion. The Troops, 154, had the highest percentage of attendance of any Troop in camp. The boys worked hard on their advancements as shown by another article this week.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

PINE BLUFF, ARK., Commercial: "Aroused and horrified at the Senate revelations of the black market in babies, the American public may be expected to demand federal intervention. But the people should consider well whether Washington bureaucrats can or should replace the devoted, long experienced workers of our religious groups, local organizations and the state and local judiciary in this individualized field of human welfare."

WASHINGTON, D. C. AFL-CIO News: "AFL-CIO President George Meany underscored his emphasis on high standards for union officials when he endorsed ILGWU President David Dubinsky's criticisms of those few labor leaders who somehow combine their union work with highly profitable private business connections. 'Trade unions,' he pointed out, 'we're created for one very simple purpose, to build up the standards of life and work of the members. Leaders serve this purpose best when they stick to that one very simple objective.'"

SYLACAUGA, ALA., News: "We suppose that remaining calm and being unexcitable was one of the topics discussed at the National Traffic Conference in Miami. Anyhow, Leon Archer, one of our local representatives, brought this story back. It seems that a fellow, sleeping out in the open awoke one morning to find a huge rattlesnake coiled up on his chest. After taking a good look to make sure that's what it was, he went back to sleep."

HAMLIN, W. VA., Republican: "We should never take our government for granted. Good government is everybody's business. Every Smith, Jones and Brown should at least be somewhat interested in who spends his tax dollar and how it is spent."

IN A PREFERRED POSITION

Sam M. Jones writes in a National Review: "Each second the world tots up a net population gain (births minus deaths) a little more than one person. Every day there are another 110,000 mouths to be fed. To assure the world an adequate diet, the Population Reference Bureau says that 150 square miles of new farm land should go into cultivation each day."

This casts a new light on farm surplus problems in the United States. That problem, difficult as it is, seems sure to be a temporary one. In the long pull, U. S. Farmers will have their jobs cut out to meet the needs of our soaring population.

In the less developed countries, it is true, great quantities of new farm lands eventually can be brought under cultivation. That is certainly not a possibility here. We are still losing farm lands, to roads, industrial sites, suburbs and so on. So far as anyone can see, our farm acreage is pretty well fixed.

What then, will be the solution when in years ahead the pressure will be on each acre to produce more and more food and fiber? The answer is simply better farming.

The American farmer is in a preferred position in this. Of his tools, modern farm equipment stands out. It reduces costs, just as it cuts to a minimum the amount of human labor needed to perform farm tasks. And, while making greater productivity possible, it can perform the equally important duty of conserving and improving the land for future generations.

NO LONGER A CASTLE

We were all raised to believe that "an Englishman's home is his castle." That, unhappily, is no longer true.

The story is told in the June 11th issue of Time, under the apt title "A House Is Not A Castle." It concerns an Englishwoman who, with her daughter, was abruptly evicted from her 160 acre farm. The sole reason was that, in the view of the Ministry, she was not farming her land in accordance with the rules of good husbandry.

The law in question was passed in the austerity days of 1947. As Time describes the law, "It offered the farmers a bargain: 'guaranteed prices and assured markets' in exchange for an obligation to maintain certain standards of production." Local committees decided what these standards should be and are given sweeping law enforcement powers, including that of eviction.

The Morning Oregonian devoted an editorial to this event in which it stressed a point of top importance. It quoted one of England's most respected publications, The Economist. The Economist's discussion was based on what it regards as administrative failures and weaknesses in applying the law. The Oregonian said: "This reaction seems to indicate that under the welfare state the freedom of the individual becomes less important than the efficiency with which the group is controlled. And let no one believe it couldn't happen here."

The welfare state, in other words, is simply based on a more moderate version of the socialist-communist dogma that individual rights and liberties are always of secondary consideration. There is a lesson for us in what happened to a landowner in England.

Peach Tree Borers Damages Co. Crop

The peach tree borer damages lots of peach trees in Wichita County each year. The adult moth lays eggs in the summer on the tree trunk. Eggs hatch in about 10 days. The borers then enter the bark and feed on the cambium and inner bark at or below soil level.

For a summer treatment, according to B. T. Haws, county agent, begin treatment July 1st to 15th and make three spray applications at 3 day intervals. Spray the trunk with 8 pounds of 50 percent DDT or 1 pound of 25 percent lindane or 2 pounds of 25 percent dieldrin wettable powders in 100 gallons of water. It is important that the first spray be applied not later than July 15th.

Timely Tips

to help you get the most efficient cooling from your

REFRIGERATED ROOM AIR CONDITIONER

COOL ONLY AN AREA WITHIN THE SIZE your unit is designed to cool. When cooling a larger area, the unit is overworked and its efficiency is lowered.

KEEP AIR FILTERS CLEAN. Clogged filters lower efficiency of the unit and cause it to use more electricity.

INSULATE CEILING AREA above room being cooled. Insulation is comparatively inexpensive and keeps hot air out, cool air in.

LOCATE UNIT IN SHADE if possible. The north side of house is best, followed by east, south and west. Proper shading of unit increases its efficiency.

PROPERLY REGULATE intake of outside air. This is important to operating efficiency of your unit. Follow manufacturer's instructions carefully.

KEEP OUT DIRECT SUNLIGHT. It brings in heat which your unit must work extra hard to remove. Awnings over your windows will help.

AN AUTOMATIC THERMOSTAT is recommended to hold room temperature to 78 to 80 degree level recommended for comfort. Each degree below 78 degrees increases power consumption unnecessarily.

REMEMBER, TOO, that operating cost is governed by hours of use. Turn off your unit when you expect to be away for several hours. You can quickly lower the temperature when you return.

An Electric Refrigerated Room Air Conditioner is a wonderful boon to comfort during hot summer weather. Follow Reddy's tips and make the most efficient use of your unit. It will help you LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY!

The Harder They Fall' Title Bout For Operation Slaughter

In the course of Columbia Pictures' "The Harder They Fall," starring Humphrey Bogart in his most power-packed role and co-starring Rod Steiger and Jan Sterling at the Palace Theatre, former heavyweight champion of the world Max Baer blasts six-foot, ten inch Mike Lane during the climatic fight sequence of the film, in which Lane plays a muscle bound giant whom Bogart builds into a title contender via circus ballyhoo and fixed fights.

Actually, makeup man Bob Schiffer was responsible for the face-changing job, one of the most involved in film history. The hard-hitting story calls for heavyweight champion Baer to inflict a savage beating upon the glass-jawed giant with the latter's face showing the gradual effect of Baer's untiring sledgehammer blows.

Schiffer set up a portable makeup room near the sound stage ring the day photography started on the big fight, and director Mark Robson stopped the action at regular intervals so Lane could report to Schiffer for each makeup stop.

The "beating" began with the giant's eyelids being covered with thick pads of foam rubber, their flesh covered plastic skin convincingly inflamed and bruised. Then thin rubber strips, with fake eyebrows, were placed over the real eyebrows, to give the impression of swelling when Lane was hit in that part of his face.

The single fight sequence lasting three rounds on the screen, was before the cameras for a week, because of the intricate makeup job. The title fight ends with Lane nursing a broken jaw, crawling on the canvas and trying with raw courage to stand up for more.

Schiffer who heretofore has been a favorite makeup man of many of the most beautiful actresses in Hollywood, called his fistic film chore, "Operation Slaughter." In fact many of the technical experts on "The Harder They Fall" referred to their own efforts on the scene in much the same fashion. The Baer-Lane slug-fest almost literally is.

"The Harder They Fall" features Lane as the glass-jawed South American heavy Bogart turns into a million dollar attraction, Max Baer and Jersey Joe Walcott, another ex-heavyweight king and Edward Andrews.
