Progression - But not Progress

We have a progressive federal income tax — which simply means that the more taxable income a man has, the higher the tax rate becomes.

Our income tax has also proven "progressive" in still another way.

When the tax first went into effect, a Citizen Public Expenditures Survey reminds us, the highest rate was six percent — and that applied only to taxable incomes in excess of $500,000.

By 1941 the lowest rate had risen to the six percent level. Today the lowest rate is 20 percent on the first $2,000 of taxable income—and from there the rates "progress" to a high of 91 percent, which is just nine percent short of confiscation.

The federal income tax moreover, is just one of the multitude of taxes we pay. On top of it comes social security taxes, excise taxes, state income taxes, school taxes, sales taxes, cigarette taxes, property taxes and so on ad infinitum. The survey shows just what this pyramided tax structure does to people of comparatively small means. Take a man who works 40 hours a week and gets $86 in return for his labors. He works 13 hours and 20 minutes to pay his taxes—as against eight hours to pay for his food, two hours and 35 minutes for clothing and eight hours and 35 minutes for shelter.

This is "progression" all right—but it certainly isn't progress. We are, in effect, devoting a third or more of our working time to just supporting government. Where will we go from here?

Another Scrap Of Paper

"Biggest stake in the diplomatic poker game currently being played over the Suez Canal is oil," says The Oil and Gas Journal. If, for instance, Egypt's Premier Nasser's seizure resulted in closing this vital waterway to international traffic, the oil would have to be carried around the Cape of Good Hope or greatly increased pipeline capacity would have to be built between the Middle East and the Mediterranean. In either case the cost — both in money, and in the even more essential coin of time—would be enormous, and the effect on the industry of England and much of Western Europe could be catastrophic.

Going beyond oil, the implications of Nasser's action are ominous in the extreme. The New York Times came straight to the principle at stake in these words: "If, at any time and under any conditions, a man or a nation can simply throw away their commitments the whole basis for normal living is undermined if not destroyed. It isn't a question of how much money General Nasser can take out of the canal or even of whether he can operate it at all. It is a question of whether international agreements such as that respecting Suez are morally binding or are scraps of paper to be torn up at the whim of the dictator. That is a matter of the utmost concern not merely for Britain, France and Egypt but for all of us.

Both Britain and France have made it clear that Nasser's action will not be countenanced. The hope—as President Eisenhower has said — is that this matter of vast gravity can be settled without recourse to force of arms.

New Markets For Agriculture

It has been proposed that Congress appropriate $100 million to finance a program for finding new uses for farm products. The American Meat Institute urges that basic research be stressed in carrying out that program.

In a statement to the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, the Institute observes that "in spite of the wonderful advances made in science, there are great gaps in our basic understanding of the natural laws and the biological processes." It lists a number of areas vital to progress in the livestock and meat industry in which augmented research is needed. These include studies of the chemical composition and characteristics of meat and meat by-products, carcass quality of beef and pork, meat preservation, nutritive value of animal fats, meat flavor and tenderness, new commercial uses for animal by-products, physical and chemical properties of meat proteins, and meat pigment research. In the case of farm products other than meat, of course, there are comparable areas where basic research could open new horizons of knowledge.

The Institute's suggestion is a sound one. Research—basic as well as applied—has been the very heart of industrial progress. But in this all important field of agriculture has so far lagged behind. There is every probability that over a period of time research could create and develop vast new markets for the products of agriculture. That, conceivably, could prove the solution to the vexing farm surplus problem.

You'd never guess the latest do-it-yourself idea. It's a be-your-own matador bull fight, rapidly becoming a popular pastime with American tourists in Lisbon. Amateur toradors may skirmish with a small bull, with leather-covered horns, in the Festa Brava.

Even an ordinary bourbon sour is a fine drink, but the makers of Old Crow Bourbon have come up with a recipe for one that is superb. The trick is to use honey as the sweetening agent. (And never use leftover lemon or lime juice — it must be "fresh squeeze.")

The odds are that you have in your home a guide-book to the zep in Jerusalem. The explanation is that each identification plaque is a quotation from the Bible. The case of the red-coated fox, for example, carries the legend: "Take us the foxes, the little foxes that spoil the vines."

University Study Shows:

Insulation Halves Fuel Bills

City	No Insulation	Mineral Wool	Annual Saving
Atlanta	$97.60	$35.80	$61.80
Dallas	$77.50	$28.40	$49.10
Jacksonville, Fla.	$38.80	$14.20	$24.60
New York	$173.00	$63.40	$109.60
Oklahoma City	$120.00	$44.00	$76.00
St. Louis	$150.00	$55.00	$95.00
Pierre, S. D.	$283.00	$87.50	$195.50

Table shows how insulation saves fuel dollars in house heating.

It costs more than twice as much to heat a house without insulation than it does to heat a properly insulated home, according to a study by the University of Illinois.

The study covered in seven cities representing most of the nation's climate areas. Engineering calculations were made for a one-story house containing 1,040 square feet of floor space.

The insulated houses had a 3-inch thickness of mineral wool in the walls and 4 inches in the ceiling. The control houses had no insulation at all.

The researchers' calculations showed that winter fuel bills for the insulated houses were from a third to a half of the costs of heating the non-insulated homes in the study.

Estimating the cost of insulation at $280, it was calculated that in St. Louis, for example, the home-owner would have regained this amount within three years. The annual saving in St. Louis came to $95.

A savings also was noted in the cost of heating equipment in the insulated houses. In the St. Louis home, again, the owners would have been able to install a furnace for $50 less than the cost of equipment required in the non-insulated house.

The study also showed that the savings in the cost of air-conditioning equipment and its operation would be considerably more than the cost of the insulation.

 patrons can refresh themselves while awaiting their turn for "treatments."

A check of the Comanche Health Center in Dallas showed cars from 8 different states in the Center's parking lot. Between 200 and 400 patrons visit the center daily, investigators report.

Patrons are said to pay a fee of from $2 to $3 per hour, and must sign a statement attesting that no healing results have been promised and that their patronage was not solicited.

Dr. Holle said that while patrons are in no actual physical danger, their reliance on "miracle" cures from the dirt might give them temporary psychological relief from serious ailments, thus delaying a visit to a reputable physician.

Wukasch credited improvements in sensitivity of radioactive detection instruments with bringing on the rash of low-grade uranium finds.

With these super-sensitive instruments it is possible to get a small twitch of the needle practically anywhere, he said. We are all constantly subject to tiny bombardments of radiation from natural cosmic sources."

Dr. Holle said that since no violation of existing laws nor any claims of advertised cures had been brought to his attention, he will just have to depend on the native intelligence of the Texas public to recognize these places as worthless.

Beauty Tips for your Vacation Trip

don't forget:

- hair spray
- hair dressing
- shampoo
- creme rinse
- good brush
- extra combs
- hair net
- cleansing cream
- astringent
- suntan oil
- stick cologne
- extra lipstick
- make-up base
- all-purpose towel

"Don't go away without your hair spray!" cautions Nadine Abbott, traveling fashion consultant for the Rayette Beauty Institute, St. Paul. First beauty essential in her own travel case is Aqua Net, the only professional hair spray that will protect the hair against streaking or drying in the hot sun. It will hold a hairdo in place in any weather, she advises, and is ideal for setting pin-curls after a swim.

Miss Abbott's travel check-list (above) includes a light oil spray to keep the tresses brilliant and easy to manage. When week-ends take her far from a beauty salon, she carries creme balm shampoo and a cream rinse. Never forget a good hair brush and a hair net, the Rayette expert advises. Use the listed "all-purpose towel" as a turban for daytime pin-curls.

If you're one of the fashionable women who use hair coloring, request a color creme rinse at a beauty salon in the city you're visiting. This will keep your hair color at its shining best till your return to your regular hairdresser. Miss Abbott explains.

The Hardin Grade School
 swung wide its doors Sept. 4th, to a very highly enthused student body. These students bubbling over with ambition, enthusiasm and energy have settled down to hard work and cooperation with the home room teachers. We have been very fortunate in having a nice cool front to move through our area that helped to stimulate the energy of all and to help for better working conditions within the school room.

We are very happy to welcome six new teachers to our faculty, and hope that you will soon know these fine teachers and help to welcome 102 new students to our student body, who have moved here since the end of school in June last year. We are hoping that each of these students will be happy with us and will be very active in our school affairs.

News From The County Agent

Two legume meetings will be held in Wichita County this week, announced B. T. Haws, county agent. The first one will be held on Monday night, Sept. 17th beginning at 7:30 at the Valley Farms community house. The second meeting will be at Punkin Center on Tuesday night at 7:30, Sept. 18th.

Jack Barton, Soil Conservation Specialist from A&M College, will be the principal speaker. Barton will show a series of slides along with his discussion on soil building crops. All farmers are invited to attend one of these meetings.

Legumes pay off for J. E. Lane farmer in the irrigated valley says B. T. Haws, county agent. Last winter he had 18 acres of Austrian winter peas which he turned under and followed with a cotton crop. Just before he started picking it was estimated that he would make 1 1/2 bales of cotton per acre. Some stalks with 140 bolls were counted. It takes approximately 70 bolls per stalk to make a bale per acre.

Lane believes in other good management practices such as insect control and the use of commercial fertilizer. He sprayed his cotton three times this year to control insects. There was a heavy infestation of bollworms this year and they were hard to control. Lane believes in early season control. He likes dust for late season control. It is important to make weekly cotton insect checks.

Lane also believes in side dressing his cotton, in the irrigated valley with a commercial fertilizer. He used 80 pounds of 16-20-0 fertilizer per acre when his cotton was 6 to 8 inches high. Lane thinks it is best to get a good stand before using fertilizer. He also thinks it is best to have lots of organic matter in the soil to get the maximum use of a commercial fertilizer.

A VAST NEW HOLIDAY LAND in the heart of Texas will be created under the Brazos River Authority's master plan for development of the river. The map shows how the Authority's Six-Dam Program will provide a chain of lakes 250 miles long stretching between Whitney Dam at Waco and Possum Kingdom above Mineral Wells. This continuous body of water, convenient to virtually all Texas sportsmen, will become a center of a great new recreation industry. This Land o' Lakes of Texas will provide boating, fishing and camping facilities on a scale never before known in the Southwest. They also will assure the Brazos Valley of an ample water supply for irrigation, industry and municipal use far into the future. A by-product will be hydro-electricity. Besides the Six-Dam Program, the Authority plans various other reservoirs for local water supply and for special purposes, such as Allens Creek and South Bend, shown on the map.

Gravity Keeps Water Hot

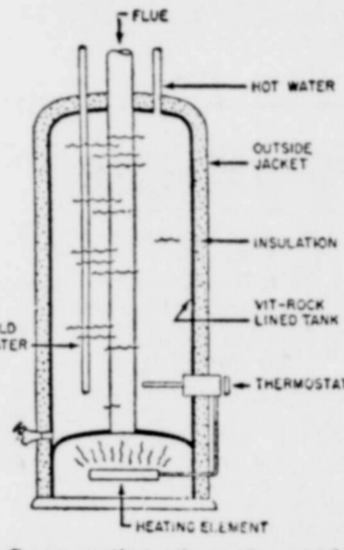

When the legendary apple plunked down onto the head of Isaac Newton, the discoverer of gravity couldn't have realized the role this force someday would play in keeping homes supplied with a ready flow of hot water.

Water-heating engineers at the Coleman Company, Wichita, Kans., give this explanation of how gravity works in your hot water heater.

Cold water enters from the top of the tank, and is pulled down a long pipe by gravity so that it flows into the tank close to the heating element at the bottom.

As the water is heated, it becomes slightly lighter in weight and rises to the top where it is drawn off through another pipe as you need it. This pipe branches out to hot-water faucets in bathroom, kitchen and laundry.

The tank itself consists of an outer metal jacket surrounding a layer of insulation. Inside the insulation is a lining of galvanized metal, rock, vitreous enamel, or copper. The resistance of the lining to rust and corrosion plays a big part in how long a water heater lasts. Engineers of the Coleman Company, Wichita, Kans., say that in areas where water is even mildly corrosive a combination of rock and vitreous enamel is highly recommended. Even the finest galvanized linings rust away in these areas.

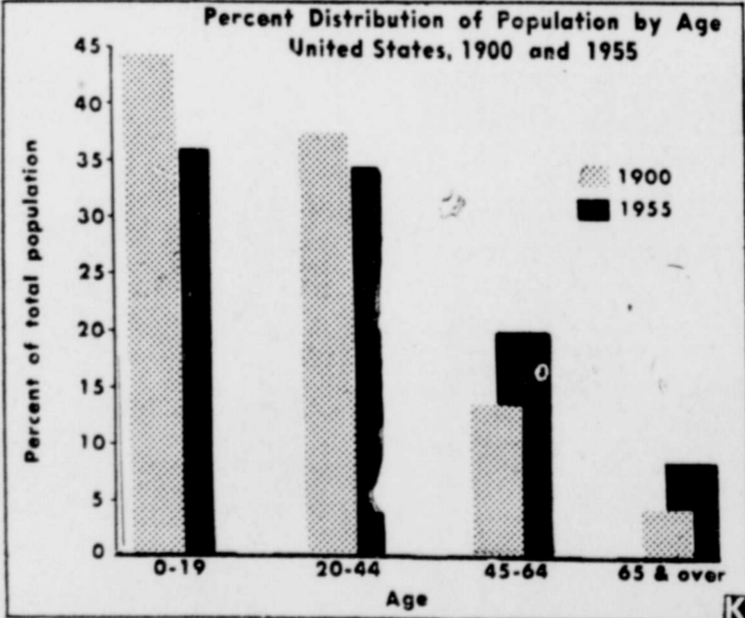

Cross-section view of a modern automatic water heater.

Vit-rock, a rock-like substance, is proving to be one of the most satisfactory linings. It is impervious to corrosive water.

The rock is applied in a semi-liquid state by centrifugal force. It is poured into the tank, which is then spun at 3,000 revolutions per minute. This plasters the rock evenly over the entire inner surface, providing a waterproof and rustproof lining. The flue and heat exchanger are coated with a glassy film of vitreous enamel.

Over-65 Group Less Dependent Says Health Information Foundation

While four times as many Americans 65 and over are living this year than were alive in 1900, the older group in general is becoming less of a burden on the rest of the population, according to a report from Health Information Foundation.

Marked declines in mortality rates, coupled with a lower birth rate and reduced immigration of young adults have resulted in slightly more than a four-fold increase since the turn of the century—from 3 million to over 14 million—in the number of Americans over 65. During this same period, the population as a whole has doubled.

On a percentage basis, 9 percent of all U.S. citizens today are past 65, compared with 4 percent in 1900, as seen in the graph above. Remarkable advances in medicine, including new drugs and medications, bring promise that the over-65 age group will increase even more in the years ahead. It has been estimated that by 1975 we will have 21,000,000 citizens 65 years old or over.

But there is evidence of "undue pessimism" about the problems of the aged, according to Foundation president George Bugbee. A recent study by the Twentieth Century Fund, he said, shows that while in 1890 every 100 workers supported 142 dependents, by 1975 it is estimated that every 100 workers will be supporting no more than 114 to 125 dependents. And since the over-65 citizens share in the ever-growing national prosperity, Mr. Bugbee added, "the financing of non-productive years after age 65 should become less and less an economic burden to the nation."

rollment. The seventh grade topped the list with a total of 117 students. The eighth grade ran a second in enrollment with 93. The sixth grade had 88.

News From The County Ag. Agent
Any wheat producer who has a regular wheat acreage allotment may take part in the soil bank's acreage program for the 1957 winter wheat crop.

Robert Shrauner, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, has announced.

It's not the rain you get, but the rain you keep that counts, says B. T. Haws, county agent. Make provisions now to hold rainfall.

Predictions of rainfall cannot be made on the basis of weather cycles of "wet and dry years." Recent studies of rainfall records at 31 locations dating as far back as 89 years in Texas High and Rolling Plains by the Texas Agricultural experiment station show that cycles play little or no part in annual rainfall figures.

The USDA has released a list of 23 varieties of wheat which are classed undesirable because of inferior milling or baking qualities. They will be discounted 20 cents per bushel in price-support rates on the 1957 wheat crop.

There will be two winter legume meetings held in the county on Sept. 17-18. The meetings will be as follows:
Valley Farm Community, Sept. 17 beginning at 7:30 p. m.
Punkin Center, Sept. 18, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Make plans now to attend one of these meetings. Mr. Jack Barton, Soil and Water Conservation Specialist from A&M college will be the principal speaker. Mark this date on your calendar.

The Wichita Valley DHIA association ranked 6th in average pounds of milk which was 620 pounds. The Association ranked 7th in average pounds of fat which was 23 pounds.

Some 2,500,000 farm families in the United States derive all or a major part of their income from dairy cows. Others than dairy farmers also are dependent on the dairy cow for their livelihood. Chiefly through the processing and distribution of dairy products.

A diplomat is one who can bring home the bacon without spilling the beans.

The Snapshot Guild

No posing here — just a wonderful snapshot caught as the action happened.

"On-The-Spot" Family Snapshots

Most of us who listen to the radio have come to recognize two different types of news broadcasts: the coverage of "special events" planned and scheduled in advance, and the "on-the-spot" reporting of every-day news just as it comes off the wire. And it takes both kinds to give a complete record of what's going on in the world around us.

The same principle may be applied equally well to the family snapshotting we do.

A roving eye and a ready camera — that's all it takes to catch the hundreds of picture opportunities every-day living affords. You know the kind of "spur-of-the-moment" situations we mean — the youngsters' discovery that the bathtub makes a fine sailing pond for a pint-sized fleet, the family pup looking into the baby's playpen, Dad caught unawares in a mid-afternoon siesta.

Here, the important thing is the authentic record such pictures can provide of the way your family lives and how it functions in its day-by-day existence. Slightly cluttered backgrounds, catch-as-catch-can poses, far-from-perfect lighting — these fade into relative unimportance, for perfection (though nice to attain) isn't the essential goal. What really matters is that the snapshots tell a story of daily life as it's lived in your house — an individual family story captured in permanent picture form.

Ever so often, however, the family observes "special events" — those planned occasions that are highlights in any picture record. It may be Johnny's first haircut or Kathy's first dance or Susie's first batch of cookies. You have a chance to plan ahead a little — do a better job than usual in your snapshotting because there's time to consider just what subjects you want to picture, against what background and with what lighting.

Now, this doesn't mean that planned snapshots should become posed snapshots — far from it! Spontaneity of action — the effect of catching things just as they happen — doesn't have to be sacrificed simply because you've thought about some details in advance. It's merely a case of "getting set" for something that's going to happen anyway — and then being as casual as ever about your picture-taking.

Notes from HD Agent

"Peace on earth, good will toward men" is not just a phrase from the Christmas story, says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent. It's the hope of all the world. Individuals or organizations, each have a part to play in making a world dream come true.

To reach and involve people, it takes a common interest, something that appeals to all. One of the common denominators of all people, regardless of race, creed, color, nationality or type of government is the enjoyment of some form of play or recreation. Everyone responds to games, music, social get-togethers or creating something of use and beauty. Wholesome recreation can build good will among groups in our own community, and good will has a way of spreading.

There are hundreds of ways to build up international good will in every phase of our recreation program throughout the year, not only on a few occasions, but one very good occasion is coming soon. It's the period between Sept. 17th, which is Constitution Day, and United Nations Day on Oct. 24th.

In planning such programs, remember to emphasize the many ways people are alike, not the ways they differ. There are many possibilities. Adult and youth discussion groups might talk about topics related to better understanding of our constitution, exchange programs with other countries and how to welcome new citizens in to our communities. Films, foods, books, games, music and arts and crafts from other lands provide endless material for interesting programs for all family members to enjoy.

Start in your own community. Learn to play and work with others. It's sure to increase your understanding and enjoyment.

The Ray Home Demonstration club, where Mrs. Sidney Smith is president, has built a park for their community. This park gives a place for people of all ages to meet and play together.

Wichita County Home Demonstration club women will join thousands of women from all parts of Texas and the nation when they attend the State and National Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting. This meeting will be held in San Antonio, Sept. 23-29. Mrs. Herbert Adams, Mrs. Louis Maloney, Mrs. Jack Marshall and Mrs. J. L. Graham will be the Wichita County representatives.

Car Inspection Sept. 15-April 15

The Texas Public Safety Commission has set Sept. 15, 1956 to April, 1957, as the period during which automobiles and other motor vehicles must be inspected under provisions of the State's Motor Vehicle Inspection law.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said in announcing the Commission's action that motorists should avail themselves of the opportunity to have their autos inspected as soon after Sept. 15 as possible in order to avoid the inconvenience and delay which is usually associated with the end of the seven months period by the log jam of car owners who wait until just before the deadline to have their vehicles safety checked.

George W. Busby, Chief of the DPS Motor Vehicle Inspection Division, stated that the more than 4,200 licensed inspection stations in the State would have sufficient supplies of stickers on hand by the starting date and would be equipped to check vehicles without delay.

The only ones you should ever try to get even with are those who have helped you.

Junior High Football News

Coach Walter Kozler met with 50 junior high football prospects on Tuesday and Wednesday and issued equipment to this number of boys. The first practice was held on Thursday afternoon.

Three students returned to the squad who played with last year's team. They were Eddie Eastman, Keith Vaughan, and Raymond Nix. The practice schedule for the Bullpups will be every afternoon until the actual playing schedule begins.

There was a needed addition to the equipment of the team, 12 helmets, pants and shoes. This addition of equipment will enable more boys to suit out than last year.

Coach Koller intends to teach the boys the fundamentals of football, including sportsmanship, so they will have a sound basis if they wish to play high school football.

The first junior high game is scheduled for Sept. 20th, at 7 p. m. in Bulldog stadium. The Bullpup opponent will be Iowa Park. Burk Burnett Junior High School will play non-district games with Zundy of Wichita Falls and Reagan of Wichita Falls. District opponents will be Nocona, Bowie, Jacksboro, Decatur, Electra and Olney. Electra won the district last year.
