GRASS ROOTS OPINION

YORKTOWN, TEXAS, View: "One of the most important bills to come before the new Congress will be that to abolish the federal control of the price of natural gas. This control never was fixed by law but was imposed by a decision of the Supreme Court.

AMBRIDGE, Pa. Daily Citizen: "The recent death of Sevellon Brown, one of the nation's most distinguished newspapermen, recalls to mind his elevated view of the press as the great informer of public opinion, he said: 'We must have better, and yet better, newspapers if the force of public opinion—the greatest force in the civilized world today—is to be enlightened and given the vision to find the solution of problems that must be solved if civilization is to survive.' These words are a continuing challenge to newspapermen, and a measure of how mighty this thoughtful man regarded the right of the people to know and to speak."

PLATTSMOUTH, Nebr. Journal: "The report of the Senate Investigations subcommittee made it obvious that too many Americans 'collaborated' with the enemy in Korea and China—The solution of this problem seems to be in teaching and training Americans to understand and appreciate their country to a greater degree. This could be done in the schools, in the churches and in homes."

GREENFIELD, Ind., Daily Reporter: "In a recent message to Congress, the President spoke of the Russians as despots, liars, cheats and imperialists. We're glad there will be no further confusion on that point. The very saying of the words, from such a source, will have profound effect on world opinion, just as 'good old joe' and the attributing of peaceful intent had a tendency to lull and confuse the world in the past."

Thanks To A Private Industry

In the view of the Los Angeles Times a happy—disproof of the government-plans-best theory has been presented by the privately managed American oil industry.

This presentation concerns the European oil crisis. The Times continues: "American oil is saving Western Europe from the winter. Europe is not getting as much oil from America as it wants—but it will not freeze until the canal is reopened and the broken pipelines are mended, thanks to a private industry. The European shipments were begun and continued without threats of shortage or rationing to American consumers. All this has been possible, because American oil companies never ceased in their modernization and expansion programs, their preparations for the future."

The Times points out that last year total demand on American oil producers exceeded 9 million barrels a day for the first time. Less than one-sixth was imported. All the rest came from our own wells and refineries—which is convincing proof in itself of the industry's achievements in capital expansion, development and self improvement.

Finally, the Times' conclusion goes to the heart of the matter: "America, we have been assured, cannot fight another world war on its own oil but it can meet a crisis that threatens to destroy Western Europe economically, quite as thoroughly as war would do it."

"And for this the private oil industry of the United States deserves most of the credit, although the politicians will be reluctant to give it."

No Magic Formula

Back in 1948, Labor's Monthly Survey, an AFL publication, said: "Living standards do not rise by any magic formula. They can rise only when workers produce more per hour and per year of work."

In the same year, a resolution of the Executive Council of the AFL said: "We have learned the lesson that when opportunities for profit diminish opportunities for jobs like will disappear."

Some labor leaders and groups seem to have forgotten these truths. It is time they remembered. Increased wages without increased production result in price inflation which often more than destroys the alleged gains. Profitless industry means stagnant, retrogressive industry—and ultimately, depression, unemployment and wide spread misery.

SAFETY AT THE PLATE

At a meeting of the August Highway Research Board in Washington recently, Earl Larimer, former Safety Director of Minnesota and presently the safety counsellor of a leading insurance company, reported results of the experiences of several states with reflective license plates. The plates, which reflect automobile headlights, can be seen from 2,000 feet away at night, Larimer said. They protect automobiles and help prevent nighttime accidents. He reported that: "Three times the number of deaths per 100 million vehicle miles driven occur after dark."

Probably the most interesting suggestion by Larimer was that reflective license plates are the only way to put on all cars in the shortest possible time a safety device that will reduce accidents after dark. All states issue license plates, and making the plates reflective would soon make all cars safer at night.

Maine, Delaware, Minnesota, South Dakota, Louisiana and Wyoming issue reflective plates now, and there seems to be good reasons why legislators now meeting should provide for the adoption of such safety plates by their states.

Texas Could Be Friendliest State Says Alex Dreier

"This could be the friendliest state in the Union," said Alex Dreier in his Salute to Texas Sunday, Feb. 17th on NBC-Monitor over a coast to coast radio network.

Stations WFAA, Dallas; WBAP, Ft. Worth; KPRC, Houston; WOAI, San Antonio; KGNC, Amarillo; KRIS, Corpus Christi; in El Paso, KTSM; KCBD, in Lubbock; and KRGV, Westlaco, were among the nearly 200 NBC Network stations carrying the tribute at 5:05 P. M.

The Texas salute was one of a series in a new radio program featuring Alex Dreier as "Man on the Go" for the Van on the Go", and sponsored by North American Van Lines, Inc., worldwide long distance moving organization. Alex Dreier has been a top NBC news analyst for 15 years.

Governor Price Daniel extended greetings to the nation's radio audience before the broadcast in an interview recorded at the Governor's office at the state capitol. "The Lone Star State sends greetings and a warm Texas handshake to radio listeners everywhere," said Governor Daniel. "Our thanks to Monitor's Man on the Go for this tribute. It's a big job to cover the nation's largest state in one program, but go to it, Alex Dreier. The 'ears' of Texas are upon you".

A vivid picture of the singing winds and dusty trails of the Panhandle, the vast central expanse of grazing land, the countless oil wells and the rich agricultural gulf area to the south was given by Alex Dreier, contrasted with thriving Texas cities, large and small.

"If there is a common denominator in kaleidoscopic Texas," said Dreier, "it is pride. For a Texan is not just rancher or farmer, wild catter or store keeper, cowboy or bookkeeper, millionaire or pauper. He is, first of all, Texan, and everything after that is anti-climatic."

"They can, and do, raise everything and anything in Texas", Dreier continued, "timber, fruit, cotton, cattle and cane. They raised cain with the Spaniards, the Indians, the Mexicans, the rustlers and badmen, the Yankees, and on more than one occasion, with each other. A Texan can't wait to get into a good scrap."

"It's Texas A. and M.'s proud boast that it gave the country more officers in World Wars I and II than the Academy at West Point. So many Texans joined the Canadian air force that they began calling it the Texas Air Force. Quite a few Texas boys were in that second scrap, too, including a couple of local lads named Eisenhower and Nimitz".

Dreier pointed out the differing characteristics of Houston . . . Dallas . . . Fort Worth, El Paso and San Antonio. He paid tribute to the heroes of the Alamo, the world famous Texas Rangers, the Crocketts, Austins, Bowies and Bonhams who built the state's history. He listed the state's vast natural resources — petroleum; natural gas, sulphur, salt, coal, iron, copper and precious metals.

"Perhaps this store of 'more than enough' is what makes Texans generous," concluded Dreier, "and this they most certainly are".

The sponsor of the new program, North American Van Lines, Inc., is well represented in Texas with 47 local agents and a zone office in Dallas. O. J. Layer, Sr., of Merchants Transfer and Storage Co., San Antonio, is a member of the board of directors. World headquarters of the moving firm are at Fort Wayne.

Washington's Birthday Cherry Pie

(Makes 9-inch single crust pie)

- 1 3-ounce package lemon flavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 cup hot water (or cherry juice and water)
- 1 cup well-drained canned Bing cherries*
- 1 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 9-inch single crust graham cracker shell

Dissolve gelatin and sugar in hot water (or juice and water). Pit and dice cherries. Add to gelatin. Cool to syrupy, thickened consistency (about 40 minutes). Chill Carnation in refrigerator tray until soft crystal appear around edges of tray (15-20 minutes). Whip until stiff (about 1 minute). Add lemon juice; whip very stiff (2 minutes longer). Fold whipped Carnation into cherry mixture. Spoon into crust. Chill about 2 hours, or until firm.

For 9-inch single crust graham cracker shell: Mix 1 1/2 cups crushed graham crackers with 2 tablespoons sugar and 1/4 cup melted butter. Line sides and bottom of 9-inch pie plate.

*For maraschino cherry pie, use 3/4 cup (8 ounce jar) diced maraschino cherries instead of Bing cherries.

Changer Is "For His Occupation"

Jim Cantrell
Daily Oklahoman

Following article concerns Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bowman of Burkburnett, Okla.

and television antennas to replace burned out light bulbs. Sometimes he does his steeple-jacking in the dead of night. How does it feel to sit on top of a swaying steel tower, 96 stories high, changing light bulbs with one hand and holding on for dear life with the other?

"It's really not bad at all," the mild-mannered Britton resident comments. "I've never been scared of heights. Of course, there's always those scary moments when you lose your grip or a little something goes wrong but so far I've always been lucky."

Bowman's main "rebulbing" jobs at the present include WKY-TV's 968 foot tower in Oklahoma City and the KRMG radio antenna system in Tulsa. The call goes out for Bowman when a bulb anywhere on the tower goes out. Bowman and WKY Chief Engineer Jack Lovell figure it's cheaper to replace all the bulbs on each tower climb, usually a three or four hour job.

Since the station's radio and TV transmitters are on the same tower, Bowman must frequently climb the structure when it is "hot" with radio frequency energy.

For safety's sake, however, the job is never attempted with the full 10,000 watts television power on.

Bowman uses wooden ladders and heavy gloves to scale the 96 story high antenna, but even then climbing is a mighty ticklish job.

"I have gotten a few minor burns from the thing," he admits, "and sometimes the current comes up through the nails in my shoes, making it almost too hot to stand still. Never any serious incidents, though."

Strange as it may sound, Bowman prefers climbing at night. "The dark makes high work much easier. You can't see the ground and everything seems much closer than it actually is."

Bowman doesn't consider his sideline any more unusual than putting around the garage workshop at home. "It just takes a lot of time," he smiles, "and limbers a man up quite a bit."

Working at dizzying heights is nothing new for the Oklahoma City man. He has been employed as a steel worker for over 14 years, mostly on radio and television towers and bridges.

So far, the "peak" of his career has been a job on a 1,210 foot tower in the Northwest territory for the government. While on that project he dug through six feet of snow to uncover steel buried in a sudden snowstorm.

Bowman returned only last month from a six month stint just inside the Arctic Circle on a government project along the distant early warning line of radar posts.

Much of the time in the 20

below zero weather was spent shoveling snow to reach steel and equipment buried under six feet of the white stuff.

Bowman plans to continue his rebulbing operations, adding tower trouble shooting service whenever possible. Repair and relamping have kept him on city antennas so many times recently that Engineer Lovell was moved to comment, "He's practically become a part of WKY's radiating system."

News From The Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

There have been many completely unfounded and irresponsible criticisms of the oil and gas business coming from almost every branch of the Government during the last few weeks. The Texas Railroad Commission and the independent producers of Texas have been singled out for a great deal of this criticism and have been falsely accused of not doing their part in meeting the oil shortage brought about by the crisis in the Near East. This week has seen a number of hearings here on this question. It has been surprising, I think, to some of the severest critics of the Railroad Commission and the independent producers of Texas to learn that no one in the administration had ever informed the Railroad Commission or anybody in authority in Texas of what their program or needs were for oil and that the needs of Western Europe are being substantially met notwithstanding all the statements to the contrary that have appeared in the press. The truth of the matter is that our domestic production has been increased about 600,000 barrels a day since the Suez crisis and the needs of Western Europe from this country are said to be approximately 500,000 barrels a day. When the smoke all clears away most people will recognize the fact that the Railroad Commission has done an excellent job through the years in conserving our petroleum resources and that the Texas producers have been doing a good job in supplying our Allies with oil.

There has also been a great hue and cry about the recent price increase in crude oil. Just as in the case in the other criticisms, there is really no basis for most of that has been said. The last previous price increase in crude was in 1953. Everything that the producer uses has gone up a great deal during that period of time. Since 1947, the price of crude oil has gone up only 31% while hourly wages have increased 66.3%. Oil field machinery has gone up 55.6%. Oil well casing (carbon) has gone up 77.8%; oil well casing (alloy) has gone up 87.5%. Line pipe has gone up 17.8%. Finished steel products have gone up over 80% and automobiles 45.9%. It is difficult to understand how these critics of the oil industry could expect that the producers of this vital product could operate at an economic vacuum and not in any way be effected by the increased cost of all the services and goods that are necessarily used to go into the drilling of an oil well.

If the investigations that are going on really wanted to be objective they should not single out the petroleum industry, but should delve into the underlying causes and effects of the inflation.

Visitors from home this week were Mr. E. W. Morrison and Mr. Harwell Sheppard of Denton; Maj. General Edward H. White, Mr. Hal L. Dyer and Mr. Herbert Story of Wichita Falls.

Home accidents cost the nation $850 million annually. Some one is hurt every 1 second; one person is disabled each four minutes and a life is needlessly lost each 16 minutes. On top of this, points out the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, more children, aged 1-14 die from home accidents than from any other disease. How safe is your home, asks the Council?

TELEPHONE TALK
by C. A. Deuschle, Manager

Shortening The Miles
It used to be that we could keep in touch with our families and friends with a chat over the backyard fence or a wave and friendly greeting from the front porch. But it seems like people are moving around more these days—from city to city and out of-state. Some of them settle close enough around Burkburnett that you can get together frequently on week ends. But others pack up and leave for places hundreds or even a thousand miles away. Today, however, you can forget the miles that separate you—because of the telephone. A Long Distance call can cover the distance in seconds. You can reach friends or relatives in distant cities just as fast as you can set up an over-the-fence talk. Calling Long Distance is fast, it's personal, and the cost is low. You can call from Burkburnett to any place in the United States for less than $2.00. That's the station-to-station rate, every night after 6:00 P. M. and all day Sunday. So when you make your next Long Distance call, remember to call station-to-station—the cost is about 1-3 less than for person-to-person. And always call by number . . . it's twice as fast.

Just Reach When It Rings
People tell me from time to time that whenever their telephone rings, it seems they're off in another room, and have to make a dash to answer. When this happens, they usually reach the telephone out of breath, or maybe with a bruised shin. There's a remedy to this situation—an easy low-cost remedy that more and more people are discovering. You guessed it—additional telephones that are handy wherever you might be when you hear the familiar ring. To have telephones so handy you can just reach instead of running, call the telephone company. The cost for a home extension telephone is low; only $1.00 a month, plus tax and a small one-time installation charge.

Ready to Help
If you're like most people I know, you'll have no trouble remembering the many pleasures you've gotten from making or receiving telephone calls. On the other hand, you can probably recall times of emergency, too, when the telephone has played its part. To me, the important thing is that people rely on the telephone. That's what makes telephone service of real value to you. No matter what happens, your telephone is always right at hand, ready to help. And nowhere is the telephone more valuable than beside you in your home—helping to protect the security of your family, or to pass on glad news to friends and relatives.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

FAMOUS Esso Extra GASOLINE

prevents the "knock you cannot hear!"

Engineers call it "trace knock," and only the trained ear can hear it.

But trace knock, like any knock, robs your engine of its power, forecasts engine damage.

If yours is a modern car in any price class—especially if it's a 1957 model—prevent trace knock with Humble's famous Esso Extra, the gasoline that gives you extra anti-knock performance.

Grade School News

We are very happy to report that many boys and girls are back in school after a siege of "flu" and other minor ailments. We are all hoping that we will not be hit by an outbreak of minor ailments that keeps so many children away from school during the spring of the year. It is not alarming to see mumps, chicken pox or measles break out each spring before the end of school term.

We had a very exciting time at Valentine and have begun to make our plans for the date of Feb. 14, 1958. It is very exciting to receive all of those nice Valentines. It is also a good time of the year to tell mothers and daddys that we want them to be our Valentine.

We are beginning to get ready for Texas Education Week. We are very anxious to have all our parents come by during that week and see what we are doing and know more about the daily program of our school activities. The school program changes some each school year and these changes widen to a great degree unless each of us try and understand some of these changes and how the school program bends to fit the needs of the children. We are hoping that we will see each of you during the Texas Education Week.
