A BEAUTIFUL TRIP TO THE REPUBLIC OF MEXICO

An Outing of History . . . Came Home All Out

BY K. T. GOETZE

Editor's Note: Very few if any other weekly newspaper had an eye witness reporter on the scene when the recent earth quake shook Mexico City and did millions of dollars worth of damage and took many lives. No other reporter present has had more narrow escapes than Prof. Goetze. It seems he is always in the midst of any major catastrophe. Readers will remember he reported several years ago on a tornado which hit Aspermont in Stone-wall county. He was late getting to the storm cellar and three big men were inside holding the door closed. Each time he tried to raise the door, the men pulled down that much harder. He spent the time in a bar ditch hugging a lone clump of grass and came out unscathed despite the fact the air was full of blowing sheet iron and other debris. This spring he was at Lubbock when another tornado came through. Again he was trying to get into a storm cellar which was bolted from the inside. The tornado came within 150 feet, made a right angle turn and spared the old Prof. once more. His luck still holds out. He was untouched in the Mexico City quake, although building were crumpling all around him. Mr. Goetze admits he was scared, but he says the thing that touched him most was the cries of pain and agony by people caught beneath fallen stone and timbers. Some of the people, still living, were not freed until late the following day. Here is the Prof.'s eye witness account:

On July 15 I started to the beautiful Republic of Mexico. I made it fine to Laredo. Revenue Officers just tried me. A big fine fellow wrote me out a passport. "OK" said he "How Much?" "$10.00" I handed him the $10. He handed me the passport. "Thanks, Mr. Officer." I stepped on the bus. One hundred miles up in Mexico another examination had to be made. "You have no birth certificate. You have nothing. That guy fooled you." "Darn him. I kill him." "No, don't kill him. Tell the officers when you get back. They make it plenty hot for him. No name he signed. No stamp, I am sorry. You have got to go back." Another start I made. He gave me names of who to go to, and also notice to the officers. They said too bad, because he had gone to Texas and was having a good time. All of a sudden I found I had left my $10 hat in that bus. I told the officers. They said, "have you a check on it?" "No." "Well, you are out of a hat. Some Mexican will be wearing it tomorrow." "Darn the luck. $20.00 gone to Hell." "Thanks Mr. Officer."

The next day I came to Monterey, a fine city and wonderful people. They make you feel at home. I got me a guide, a fine fellow. He showed me all over Monterey. In three days I went to Mexico City. I stayed over a week. The guide showed me everything. It was all very interesting. I also flew to the west coast. It was all very fine.

That Saturday night I saw one of the finest boxing matches I had ever seen. I came in the hotel at 12:30 and went to bed. At 2:30 I rooled out of bed. I could not understand why I rolled out of bed. I heard the darndest noises. I listened. There was all kind of racket. All of a sudden I heard in English, "Get out, get out, take the stairs the elevator is hung up! Get out. Come as you are! Earthquake! Get out!" I got busy. I got my pants and reached for my shoes. All was dark, I got on the stairs and started fast as I drive my car. I was going to lose no time. When I came to a big one I crawled through its legs. When I came to small one I push them to the sides of the banister. I guess some fell through to the floors. I came to the floor first. It seems my head struck bottom first. Next, I discovered people piled all on top of me. I crawled out from under them. They told us to get in the street. When I got out to the street it was so full of people and they were all nearly clothless. A big man came and hit me on the shoulder. It seems I was the only one standing. "OK," I said. I forgot all my mother taught me. "Well I will do as you say." Maybe he will think I am praying. About that time a building eight stories high fell all to pieces. I did not like thinking (Continued on page 5)

Oil Bowl Game Friday, Aug. 23

Texas' Oil Bowl squad is laden with talented North and West Texas stars—13 of them—as the Lone Star aggregation readies to report Sunday for workouts. From Wichita Falls the Oil Bowl squad gained versatile Harold Morgan, the Coyotes' running, passing and kicking fullback, and rugged Bob Scholl, 195 pound lineman.

Stamford contributed brilliant Mike McClellan, all-state half-back and big Dale Robinson, all state tackle. McClellan and Robinson were major reasons the Bulldogs won the 2A state title in 1955 and 1956.

Abilene's high flying eagles sent nonpareil Glynn Gregory, scintillating all-American half-back, and Stuart Peake, a fine all-state guard. They helped to spark Moser's crew to three successive 4A state championships. Amarillo's Golden Sandies are represented by Roy Northcutt, 195 pounds of talented pivotman. Northcutt won all-district and all state honors in a rugged 4A division.

Wellington Skyrockets are represented by R. W. Warren, a burly 195 pound tackle whose aggressive play stood out all last season.

Burkburnett's Bulldogs sent Jerry Gee, a fine 190 pound guard who won all district honors.

Gerald Emerson of Henrietta's Bearcats won Oil Bowl selection as guard. A topnotch lineman, Emerson was all-area, all district and all state.

Munday's Glen Amerson is a talented addition to the squad. Amerson is versatile and plays offense and defense. A fine guard, he was one of the area's outstanding players.

Vernon's Richard Christopher was a dependable, talented half-back, picked on the all-district team for two years. Christopher was an outstanding star of Lions.

Seymour's Panthers are represented by big and aggressive Pat Stewart, a 201 pound center, who bulwarked a strong Seymour line last season.

North and West Texas last season produced some of the Lone Star states finest football talent. That talent will be well represented in the Oil Bowl squad that will meet Oklahoma schoolboy stars.

The 20th annual Oil Bowl game will be played in Midwestern stadium, Aug. 23rd. Tickets are on sale in Kemp Hotel lobby, Wichita Falls, phone 2-5711.

Famed Apache Belles of Tyler Junior College will stage a spectacular show at half time.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

JEFFERSON, GA., HERALD: "Time was when everyone looked for a pay raise to buy something extra—now a pay raise is to pay for rising prices of everything else."

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., BEACON: "With the free hand-outs growing year by year, millions of people see no need to work for a living when they can ride on the back of the taxpayers who do work."

MILLER, S. D., PRESS: "... aren't you glad you live in an age of push buttons, packaged mixes, and paper plates? Wonder what Mrs. Navajo told her warrior when he came home and wanted to know why in heck dinner wasn't ready. Probably she told him if he would get her one of those new-fangled corn grinders like the snooty laughing Water down the street had, she wouldn't have to spend a whole day bent over a hot grindstone, and anyway, what was he doing home so early?"

BARTOW, FLA., DEMOCRAT: "Reading is not a completely universal habit, but fortunately for those who publish and edit newspapers the habit is so general that there are few homes today where one or more members of a family doesn't find it a pleasant and informative habit to keep up with what is going on in their home community and in the nation and the world at large through the simple process of reading their newspapers."

BEAVER FALLS, PA., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "How many of our forefathers who fled from old world tyrannies anticipated the day would come in this land of liberty when their sons would have to pay tribute to a labor union in order to hold a job?"

CUERO, TEXAS, RECORD: "The regime of Joseph Kadar in Hungary is now taking a step forward in implementing the slogan of Marx and Engels calling on the workers of the world to unite. The Kadar regime is forging ahead in uniting the workers of Hungary in the grave by shooting them down."

JOBS FOR 4,500,000 AMERICANS

President John F. Gehan of the American Export Lines has made this unusual observation: "Regrettably the expression 'foreign trade' is an unfortunate one . . . That word foreign causes the trouble—it seems to imply something alien, apart, perhaps even hostile, certainly something different from our way of doing things."

That is a good point to stress. Foreign trade is not like that at all. It is intimately connected with the daily desires and needs of most of us. It is an economic force that works to the benefit of practically every American.

For instance, we import more than half of our total supply of 100 raw materials—some of which are of the highest strategic importance. In the case of 81 of these materials, imports account for 80 to 100 percent of our total supply.

Looking at the other side of the coin, we find that in recent years our shipments abroad have amounted to more than eight percent of the total value of all movable goods produced in this country. To take specific examples, we have been exporting about a quarter of our cotton, a third of our wheat, half of our rice, and a quarter of our tobacco. And all manner of manufactured goods go abroad—such as the $3 billion plus worth of machinery that foreign peoples bought from us in a late year.

Altogether, Mr. Gehan says, foreign trade is creating jobs for more than 4,500,000 Americans and generating more than $13 billion of income in the form of wages, salaries and other payroll benefits. So foreign trade is a very vital "domestic" asset—as is the U. S. Merchant marine which carries our flag to the corners of the free world.

THREAT TO FREE SOCIETY

Publisher Norman Chandler of the Los Angeles Times and Mirror-News has said that "big labor" doesn't disturb him as an employer—but it does disturb him as a threat to free society.

Mr. Chandler then made a series of proposals. One is that big labor be brought into legal line with the rest of American society, and be treated the same by the law. Another is to make all unions "free associations"—which simply means that no man could be compelled either to join or not to join. Another is that the union should be subject to the anti-trust laws, which apply to all other organizations.

Mr. Chandler's proposals are in no way extreme. They would simply put labor on the same legal basis as everything else in this supposedly free country. And what reasonable argument can there be against that?

A FORECAST

If government continues to undertake more and more non-governmental activities in competition with its own citizens and taxpayers, bureaucracy will increase, public debt will grow, the dollar will continue to depreciate and there will be no tax relief for anyone.

Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District News

Fescuegrass has been the most satisfactory cool season grass grown under irrigation in Iowa Park Work Unit area according to Elvy Sargent, Soil Conservationist of Iowa Park.

Fescue is usually mixed with either alfalfa or clover, Sargent said. Kentucky 31 or Alta fescue have been successfully grown by farmers in the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District.

C. L. Hacker of Valley View has a first year crop of Fescue grass that has given good grazing.

George Kinnbell of Wichita Falls made good fescue and button clover hay crop.

Soil Conservation Service recommends 15 pounds of fescue grass and five pounds of clover or alfalfa per acre. Nitrogen and phosphorus fertilizers are recommended at time of seeding. Best results from the fertilizer dollar will be had when fertilizer recommendations are made from soil test. Midwestern University Soil Laboratory is in position to make soil tests.

Wichita County ASC provides for federal cost sharing for increased seedings. Farmers are advised to secure prior approval before seeding.

Seeding dates are August 15 through November 1. September 15 through October 15 would probably be best seeding dates.

Trash Dumpers Can Draw Fines Up to $200.00

Those who have dumped trash along the highways, or might be tempted to do so in the future, are warned that they can be fined up to $200.00 for such offense. The Commissioners Court will pay $100.00 to any one reporting the dumping of trash and rubbish along any highway, if the information leads to conviction of guilty persons. A farmer Southwest of Burkburnett caught some-one dumping trash in the bar ditch near his farm. He knew the identity of the offenders, but refrained from reporting them. They may not get off so light next time. It costs thousands upon thousands of dollars to keep a portion of the trash picked up along Texas highways. This money could be saved and spent for better roads if motorists would do their part.

Notice to New Students

All students who were not regularly enrolled in the Burkburnett Public Schools during the 1956-1957 school term will be required to meet with the principals in their respective grades in order to receive room assignments. Mr. Evans, principal Hardin Grade School; Mr. Simonson, principal Junior High School; Mr. Silkwood, principal High School, will be in their offices starting Monday, August 19th, from 9:00 until 4:00 o'clock and will be glad to have conference with any parent in regard to enrollment of students. We are urging parents to take advantage of this opportunity so that the day of the regular enrollment they will not have to wait in line to secure their grade assignment. (This does not apply to first grade students taken on the census roll January of 1957, but it will apply to any 6 year old having moved into this district since that time). All beginning first grade students are required to have birth certificates.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, summing up activities of the present session of Congress as it approached an end, said Sunday that of all the bills passed during the session the most important to Texas were those that dealt with water.

Water is the most important issue before the people of our state," Senator Johnson declared in his weekly radio report to Texans. "Every dam, every flood control project, every irrigation project is insurance for the future and an investment in the future. The Senator gave examples to back up his contention that the most important single thing that can be done for Texas is to produce a workable plan for developing the State water resources.

"The other day I received a memorandum informing me that Texas now has the world's largest synthetic rubber plant," he observed. "That plant is on the Texas Gulf Coast because of water. Texas is the world's largest producer of cotton, beef cattle, and other farm products. But Texas cannot hold those records unless we learn to control our water supply. Our cities are booming. They grow larger every day as people from other states are attracted by the opportunities we have to offer. But those cities will shrink to villages if we cannot find adequate supplies of water."

Beautiful Trip

... next. Just then the story Royal Tire building... I did not like... bit. I figured we were

... the hollering and looked up at our hotel... seven stories high... on the other side a lit... I looked at one then... hearing glass fall... I said, "You darn... not cover us up. I... ready by a whole lot."
... walls heard my prayers... did not fall. People got... out clothes and without... out in the dark of night... of us went back to the... they told us just to stay... by the rest of the night... I had one leg in my... and one flapping around... Also, I only had one... I got up enough nerve... my room. I put my other... pants, found the other... on, got my coat and... figured if another combat... would die dressed. I lay in bed and heard everything I could not sleep. All of a sudden I saw day light coming. The coming of daylight never looked so sweet before.

A calamity—a panic—a mourning—and smashing of death is the name for it. This softened my sinful heart. I cried for all these lovely people that lost and gave up their loved ones and sometimes a whole family. I will never forget those days.

One thing we must admire the Republic of Mexico for is that they have a system of auto rules. They use our autos. They have no factory in Mexico. The law they have is most wonderful. I have been in all the major cities in Mexico and not one time have I heard the alarm of death from the auto. Their motto is respect of life. Our motto, suicide. We are all intoxicated with speed grace. In it I include myself. It's not only drunks and young ones. We all drive intoxicated. Why don't we wake up and drive sober.

I talked to the Chief of Traffic Officers in Mexico City. He said, "Yes, we use your autos. Christmas we killed 9 or 10 in this city and it was faulty brakes. When a car comes out of the shop the manager signs the bill. If it is the brakes, he has to pay the damages. We respect life. Your people don't respect life. You are speed intoxicated." He is correct. Why don't we get a cure for speed intoxication?

Our traffic officers are good, yet the intoxicated drivers keep them awake all night. They keep the ambulance drivers awake all night too. Let's get together on speed intoxication and our traffic officers and ambulance drivers can rest at night. If we could drive as they do in Mexico we could save lives. When a car passes you over 30 MPH to get to a green light before it changes, he should pay a heavy fine. Next the officers should take their car away from him. If we would keep 30-35 MPH in the city, no killing would happen.

All of the cafes were cracked up. We could find no eats in the city, so we had no breakfast. At 11:30 my guide came. He had a date with me at 8:00, yet no one could get through the streets. He stopped five blocks away. It was very interesting. Rocks and everything else you could see in the streets. In some places things were piled up 20 and 30 feet high. People were buried under the debris. It was sad. All of the places of worship were full of people. My guide said, "Let's walk. We can't get any place in the car."

We came to the Liberty Statue. They call it "Angel of Faith and Liberty." This poor angel fell off her roosting place 60 or 70 feet up in the air. I never saw anything like it. Thousands of people of all kinds were at it praying, hollering, etc. I felt sorry for them. When I was in New York last year, if our Liberty woman fell under my feet, I think I would have done likewise. It was a pitiful sight to see all that excitement. My cyclone story is a drop of water to this. The next day the guide took me to the places where they uncovered dead bodies. One priest, hundreds of workers and hundreds of relatives. All of them screaming and so on makes your heart stand still. Oh, was I scared.

I went to the depot and left for Tampico, a wonderful city. I went into the ocean the second day. I saw such fine swimming pools. I payed 50 cents. when I got off my clothes, I got into the water and a million mosquitoes were on me. I jumped into the water and stuck up my head. I saw that there were too many mosquitoes. I went to the hotel all pumped up to go to bed. It so happened that the screen was blown off the window on the 5th floor. The mosquitoes spotted me and I went to sleep. They pumped all the blood out of me. I was getting weak. It took two days to get to Laredo. When I got there, I wanted to go to Texas. The officer said, "You've got to go here to the doctor and get a vaccination." "No! No!" I have been vaccinated three times. No, you let me vaccinate or go to jail." "Darn." "OK" He scraped on one shoulder and then on the other. "Say, Mr. you are in bad shape. You haven't got any blood." "I know it. Mosquitoes got all over me in Tampico." Oh my, I was there last year and they did me the same way.

You see across the street the doctor's blood bank. OK, tell him to give you two or three pints." So I went there. "Dr. give me two or three pints of blood." "Sorry, I can't get blood for a week." "OK, I can get it in Texas. I can get me a gallon of blood in the butcher shop. I came to Texas and I thought I was in a big circus. Girls all naked. Boys all naked, to their pants. Children wearing nothing I could not realize that Texas got so far below civilization. In Mexico no female is without nice clothes. Children have nice little pants and nice little shirts. Girls and women do not smoke. there are no naked men.

So, I now was in Texas. Sunday the butcher shops were closed and I could not get fresh blood. I decided I was too sick to travel 700 miles home. I decided to go down the river 200 miles to Mercedes. I have some good friends there. They might pull me through alive. I stepped on the bus. 15 or 20 American girls and women were on the bus with no clothes on; only a small scarf in the middle. The men were naked from their shoulders to their pants with their stomachs resting on their pants. All of a sudden they all started smoking, 15 women and 10 men. There was a cooling system on the bus and we were not allowed to open the bus windows. I inhaled all that second-hand smoke. When I came to Mercedes I called my friends, Burchels, Carney and Martin. They came to my rescue. They took me to Carney's home. They got me the family doctor and Allie Burchels a nurse. I had told Carney my bad troubles. He ran to a butcher shop and got fresh blood. Allie and doctor pumped it into me. Martin pumped all the second hand smoke I had swallowed out of me. They phoned for Will Hieserman and his sweet wife. Father Hieserman and my father from '85 to '90 took care of all the sick and dying. Will Hieserman saw to it that they did it OK. They let me go home in a few days and people say here that I look better than when I left.

"A real trip to Mexico, the beauty of North America."

News From The County Agent

Many joys and blessings have come with television, and a few disadvantages. Among the disadvantages, perhaps, could be listed the spread of the brown-banded cockroach.

The household pest is particularly fond of TV, according to B. T. Haws, county agent. He seems to do well in the environment of the cabinet. He can hitch a ride in the TV set, be carried to the repair shop, lay and hatch eggs in other sets and hence be introduced into other homes. He likes radio almost as well.

This little pest resembles the German roach, or croton, but unlike the German, roach, the brown banded roach does not limit its activities to the kitchen and bathroom. It spreads into dresser and closet corners and furniture as well as the TV and radio. It seems to prefer higher spots such as closet ceilings and upper cabinet corners, says the county agent.

The brown-banded roach is about half an inch long, with mottled, reddish brown, almost transparent wings. Two brownish-yellow bands across the back give it its name. Missing are the two lengthwise brown stripes that appear just behind the head of the larger and common roach.

Clordane and geodorized malathion are among the most effective controls of roaches. Malathion is also effective against resistant German roaches. Thorough application is essential for good control. Spray all cracks and crevices and other places where the roaches may be hiding, but do not spray in the TV set, warns Haws. But a small amount of powder may be sprinkled around the edge of the case.

Haws suggests that home owners troubled with household insects ask their local extension agent for a copy of L-311, Texas Guide for Controlling Household Insects.

The Texas Egg law, which becomes effective August 22, may be "just what the doctor ordered" to assure Texas consumers that high quality eggs are being placed on the market for sale.

The effect of the law will not only be felt by consumers, but by producers and other industry men as well, according to B. T. Haws, county agent.

This law, says Haws, provides primarily for inspection and careful labeling of all eggs that are to be sold on grade. The eggs are inspected primarily at retail outlets and if sold on grade are labeled according to size and quality. Ungraded eggs must be so labeled.

It shall also be unlawful to sell or advertise shell eggs below the quality of Grade A as "fresh", "selected", "cage", "infertile", "newlaid", or other words similar import.

Producers of eggs who sell only production of their own flock are exempt from the law unless they sell on the basis of grade, then their eggs must meet the standards specified by the law.

The deadline for obtaining licenses by dealers, retailers, wholesalers, brokers and processors is October 20. There is no fee to any retailer, as defined by the law—that is, any persons selling or offering for sale, eggs to consumers only in this state.

Actual enforcement of the new law will start Feb. 17, 1958.

News From The Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikar

Of the twelve appropriation bills that have been acted on by the House, a total of over four billion dollars has been cut from the Budget requests of fifty-six billion dollars. Everything indicates now that this cut of approximately four billion dollars will stand up. The principal appropriation yet to be acted on is foreign aid in which substantial reductions undoubtedly will be made.

Last week the President acted to limit the imports of crude oil to a little over one million barrels a day. This action was welcomed by most people in Texas due to the fact that a great percentage of our State revenues are derived from the oil and gas industry. If imports of foreign oil continues to skyrocket as they have in the last several years, it would mean that production in Texas would be further cut and that the State would have to seek new sources of revenue. In this way the oil imports effect every tax paying citizen of Texas. It has been estimated that the recent reduction from fifteen to thirteen producing days a month, if continued, will cost the State of Texas something like Eighty-two Million Dollars in tax revenues over the next two years. In addition to this, unrestricted imports can mean only complete financial ruin to the independent producers of Texas.

It was disappointing to see the President's statement that he was opposed to the amendment that was adopted in the Senate providing for a jury trial in criminal contempt cases. The right of trial by jury is one of our most fundamental civil rights itself, and it seems that this Senate Amendment simply guarantees in criminal contempt cases our traditional rights under our law. Undoubtedly the Senate will now pass the "civil rights" bill as amended. The bill will come back to the House, and the debate on this measure will continue there for sometime. It now looks as if chances of final passage of the civil rights bill is about fifty-fifty.

The House Armed Services Committee voted last week 31 to 4 to give the United States Military the power to decide whether a service man should be turned over for foreign trial for an on-duty offense. This was designed to take care of cases like the Girard Case. Approval of this bill by the Committee came in face of strong administration protest. In all probability it will be approved by the Congress even though the administration will object all the way.

This week it was my pleasure to have a visit with M. Sgt. T. F. Bell, Jr., of Vernon, who has just won the distinction of being named one of twenty-one most outstanding Airmen throughout the entire United States Air Force. This is an honor indeed for Sgt. Bell and for our District of Texas. I am proud of Sgt. Bell and of his fine and outstanding record of service with the Air Force.

Other visitors this week were: Mrs. R. W. Ancell and daughters Miss Sandra and Mrs. M. D. Childers.

The Committee on Ways and Means will begin hearings on January 7, 1958, leading to the revision of our income tax laws. These hearings are really significant in that it will be the first time in over ten years that the Congress has considered a general overhauling and revision of our tax structure. It's the hope of many of us that are on the Committee that the situation will be such in January that we will be able not only bring about a tax revision but also include some tax reduction. There is no question but what in some areas the present tax laws are most unfair and these hearings will mean the beginning of what should be the creating of a more equitable tax structure.

There is only one major appropriation bill remaining to be considered by the House, and that is the one dealing with foreign aid. This week the House approved the supplemental appropriation bill which was some 15 percent below the President's request. It now appears that the overall reduction of the President's Budget will be somewhere between 6 and 7 percent.

We are all most anxious for Congress to adjourn so we can get home; however adjournment still is tied to the "civil rights" controversy. The "civil rights" Bill is now in the House, and the question will probably be whether the House version or the Senate Bill will be one that finally becomes law. There is no question but what the Senate version is much better than that of the House. With the amendments that were adopted in the Senate, the Bill is greatly improved. It is difficult to understand why the Administration would so strongly oppose the jury trial amendment that was adopted by the Senate, Trial by jury is one of the great safeguards that we have in this country against tyranny from the Bench, and it is utterly ridiculous to say that the jury trial amendment would in any way impede the function of our Judicial system.

This week the House also refused to approve a bill which would have allowed livestock producers to carry on a research and promotion campaign for the sale and use of beef and meat. This was generally the same kind of provision that is now used by producers of cotton and commodities to promote the use of their respective products.

It has not been finally determined yet whether legislation freeing the natural gas industry from Federal control will be considered before we adjourn. I hope that this matter can be brought to the floor and favorably acted on. The approval of this legislation is essential to the full development of the natural gas industry in Texas, and also if we do not enact it, it is entirely possible that before long the Federal Government will also be controlling the production of oil.

Visitors from home this week were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cherryhomes and son Mike of Jacksboro; Mr. E. Bruce Street of Graham; and Mrs. S. A. Coplen and Miss K. L. Coplen of Wichita Falls.

"I really don't think I'd ever have a bad fire at my house," said John Lockhart. "It's pretty new and just across the street from a fire hydrant. Why don't we leave the amount like it is—there's enough to more than cover the mortgage."

"Most people don't realize it," I replied, "but actually today's homes are just as susceptible to total loss as they used to be. They generally use more flammable materials, are closer together, and have exceptionally heavy electrical loads. Often they are built in such a way that they burn readily. What's more, greater values are concentrated in smaller areas. A kitchen alone, for example, can mean a loss of $2,000 to $3,000."

Then I handed him a photo which just came in from one of my insurance companies. "Look here," I said, "here is an actual example from California. It was a nearly new home, less than six months old, within 200 feet of a hydrant, in a good-sized city. The owner and his whole family were home when the fire broke out. In spite of the Fire Department's prompt response, there was a loss of $30,000 to $35,000 within 15 minutes!"

John shook his head. "I can see it would be foolish to assume that it can't happen to me. I'll accept your recommendation."
