ON GIVING

"There is that scattereth, and yet increaseth; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, and it tendeth to poverty." Proverbs 11:24

I've always loved the song that says, "Count your blessings o'er," And a proper time for that is when We're asked to help the poor; We, who have our health and strength And are in our right mind Must not forget those to whom Life has not been so kind.

In passing by a schoolhouse Just the other day, I saw a little boy who limped While others were at play; His heart was just as keen as theirs On joining in the fun But he could only sit and watch The other fellows run.

The children of that school came from A lowly neighborhood They didn't look as well cared for As little children should I knew of some whose mothers worked Long hours to buy their bread "I'd love to help such children" Something within me said.

Well, we can't help them all But we can do our little bit And send a lot of love along With our little gift; It's hard for those who have to eat The bread of charity So let's thank God for what we have And not give grudgingly.

The already slim, disappointing cotton crop has been further delayed and damaged by rains. One and one-quarter inches fell during Monday night. To date only 136 bales have been ginned at the Farmers Co-op. Gin. The grade is middling and strict middling, with about one-fifth of the crop in. During "good" years, the local gin has ginned more than 3,000 bales.

Charlie visited with his mother, who is 78 and in good health and with many old timers who he had not seen in many years. For the return trip to Texas, neighbors and friends brought in a truck load of various objects. Among those were apples, sweet potatoes, chestnuts, hickory nuts, pumpkins, acorns, and several hundred pounds of beautiful rocks for the rock project. Regret Helping Elect You, John Lee Smith Writes Ike

John Lee Smith of Lubbock, former Texas Lieutenant Governor, has written President Eisenhower he regrets having campaigned for his election. Smith ended a scathing attack on Ike for sending troops to Little Rock by saying: "As one who campaigned for your election I shall apologize to my children and grandchildren for having contributed to the elevation of such a man to presidency of this country." The Lubbock lawyer sent a copy of his letter to the President and to the Washington Bureau of The News. He called the President's recent television talk a "pious harangue" and said it "sounded very much like it had been copied from the Soviet explanation of the rape of Budapest." "You tearfully mouthed about outside influence being the cause of the trouble" Smith wrote. "In this you are right, but your application is wrong. "The outside influence was the NAACP, the little imported carpet bagger judge from north Dakota and your own venom-blooded, South-hating attorney general."

Boy Scout Drive For Funds Now In Full Swing

H. D. Smith, chairman, and his workers met at the Methodist Church Tuesday morning for an early breakfast, a pep talk and to pick up cards on the Boy Scout finance drive. Twenty-six met with Mr. Smith to begin the annual campaign. It is too early to get anything like a final report of the drive, but workers report they are being received warmly and are getting big contributions to carry on the important work of local Scouting and the area. Burkburnett has three active Boy Scout Troops. The Cub Pack is the largest in the district. A large number of Eagle Scouts have been recognized here the past year. Scouting is better in Burkburnett than it has been in a great number of years. When the worker contacts you for your Scout contribution, greet him and give generously.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

PRENTISS, MISS. HEADLIGHT: "Our forefathers knew the blessing of planting at seedtime, reaping at harvest time without government restriction, and the joy of deserved repose after hard and satisfying labor. They lived by God's command of 'six days shalt thou labor', and looked only to God and their own efforts to provide their needs."

ST. JOHN, KAN. NEWS: "Not only is conservation of soil mandatory today—but so is re-building of the soil. We have dissipated away this priceless heritage to the point that there isn't enough left to permit us the luxury of our past wasteful ways."

HUMBOLT, IOWA. REPUBLICAN: "The United States labor department has compiled a report which implies that the excessive wage increases have been the key cause of the rise in prices of the past decade."

WHITEFISH, MONTANA. PILOT: "Reliable information shows this: Uncle Sam's biggest source of revenue is the individual income tax—33 billion dollars a year. And whether you remember or not, we every-day up and down the street citizens pay the big end of it. (Oh yes we do). Sure the rich are soaked, but there simply aren't enough of them."

CORTLAND, N. Y., DEMOCRAT: "Don't shoot a government man until you can see the whites of his crop control papers. That just about sums up the attitude of today's poultry farmers who are running family-sized layouts. Like the embattled farmers of 1776, they want no part of government meddling."

GREENVILLE, S. C., OBSERVER: "It is rather interesting to note that John C. Calhoun, the great South Carolina statesman, has been selected as one of the five greatest United States Senators of all time."

HOT SPRINGS, S. D., STAR: "The United States Public Health Service urges all adults, under the age of 35, or even 40, to get at least one Salk polio shot as a protection against the paralytic form of poliomyelitis."

MALTA, MONTANA. NEWS: "—a thick, brown envelope arrived in this office from the army's Corps of Engineers. Believing that the enclosed message must be subject of urgency we hastened to tear open the envelope and peruse the contents."

"Inside the envelope was a booklet of 50 mimeographed, letter size pages. The title of the pamphlet: 'Specifications for Installation of Floor Tile in Temporary Residences'—It makes us just a little teed off to think that the taxpayers' money is being spent on such unnecessary paperwork—"

STOCKTON, KAN., RECORD: "Ever since J. Edgar Hoover announced a few months ago that he was of the opinion that the names of juvenile offenders should be publicized, there has been considerable argument pro and con in the press of this country. More and more the pendulum seems to be swinging to Mr. Hoover's idea."

CARLSBAD, N. M. CURRENT-ARGUS: "West German housewives are complaining that their husbands won't help them with the kitchen work despite a new law that gives the women equal rights with men. Congress is expected to pass a bill just most any day, giving American men equal rights with women."

HAGERSTOWN, MD., HERALD: "Time was when Dad was king of the cave. He had only to trick an occasional dinosaur into the family stewpot to rate an affectionate pat on the head."

HUNTINGBURG, IND., INDEPENDENT: "Slow Down and Live can mean a longer life because you're driving safer."

Forgotten — The Sitting Duck

Higher speed limits—up to 70 mph in Kansas, Missouri and New Mexico—have been enacted by various state legislatures during their 1957 sessions. Doubtless this is a result of widely improved and safer highways, since in many cases limits vary with different types of road. It may also portend a generally tougher enforcement policy across the nation.

But, whether for better or worse, one problem at least becomes more acute. This is the hazard of the "sitting duck," the car, truck or bus standing disabled on the travelled highway. A menace to traffic in broad daylight, such an obstruction becomes a death trap after dark, unless it is clearly distinguished from a distance as stationary. In a single year more than 1,200 lives have been snuffed out and over 150,000 injured in these sitting duck collisions.

Most discouraging is the fact that every passenger car built in recent years and most of the trucks in the nation carry the basic equipment to provide effective warning at a half mile range and only about a million vehicles have been adapted to give this protection. All that is needed is an auxiliary switch and wiring that will permit the four turn signals to flash simultaneously at the flick of a finger.

This secondary use of the turn signal system for disablement flares is recommended by the American Trucking Association for all commercial vehicles. Specifications for this application for all vehicles have long been a part of the Uniform Traffic Code. But nowhere, in no single state do the rules-of-the-road require such protection, even though its desirability has been recognized throughout the country for years.

It would therefore appear that legislatures that have merely raised speed limits and called it a day have neglected an important part of their job. There is no reason to believe that better roads will mean fewer sitting ducks. But there is every reason to expect that higher speeds will give moving traffic still less opportunity to avoid such obstructions so long as they remain indistinguishable at a distance. More and bigger crashes from this one cause would seem inevitable until such time as these effective flares become mandatory.

That sitting ducks must mean still more blood on the pavement is technically unnecessary, but circumstantially inevitable.

These various religions include Brahmanism and Buddhism, which had their beginnings in India and are still strongest in that section of the world. Mohammedism or Islam, established in the 6th century in Arabia, believing Mohammed to be the one prophet of the true God, Allah and now having its greatest strength in the Far East. Christianity, that religion including all who believe and accept Christ as the Son of God and Savior of mankind, now having its following in most all parts of the world.

Women of the Bible was the subject brought by Mrs. R. C. Tevis. She first mentioned several Bible women and for what they are remembered. She then told the stories of five women who made the most of their opportunities, whose good works and great faith have been examples for others through the ages. The outstanding women discussed by Mrs. Tevis included Jochebed, Miriam, Hannah, Mary Magdalene and Mary, the mother of Jesus Christ.

"The 1958 model became possible," continued Cole, "only through expanded and modernized facilities. It is the first car to have full advantage of the resources at our new Engineering Center. In addition, its production has involved considerably more new machinery and equipment than is normal for a model changeover."

Cole said the new car is already in production at the company's 11 assembly plants. An ample display stock is assured at retail points for the official three-day introduction starting, Oct. 31st.

Texas Safety News

HALLOWEEN IS DANGEROUS TIME FOR YOUNGSTERS

Now that the hunting season is here again, little make believe ghosts and witches are advised to see and be seen on Halloween.

J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association asked parents, today to help Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents by cooperating with TSA through following a few simple rules to protect their own little spoons.

"We want our youngsters to be a treat and not a trick to drivers," Musick said. "In the first place, they must see, and see well. Many false faces limit the vision of anyone wearing one makes it hard to see approaching cars. I strongly advise parents to help the kids disguise their faces by using makeup. Rouge, lipstick and eyebrow pencil can do an amazing job of painting wierd and funny faces on freckle-faced and rosy cheeked boys and girls.

Musick also stressed the importance of being seen. He appealed to parents to see to it that the youngsters wear costumes made of light-colored or reflectorized material. These precautions aid drivers in seeing the trick or treaters, should they dart into the street.

Actually, the best Halloween traffic accident prevention is to keep children off the street at night, Musick said. Of course, this is not an easy thing to do. But parents can get together and arrange indoor parties at community centers or in their homes. Those parties will keep our make believe spoons from taking the chance of becoming honest to goodness ghosts.

News From The County Agent

Year more and more farmers are returning cotton and gin trash to their fields to add humus and water capacity. B. T. Haws, county agent, says this is due to the increase in mechanical harvesting machinery, better gin equipment to extract burs and the development of spreading equipment for loading and spreading the burs.

Burs are added to the cotton trash, the additional improves the physical condition of the soil as well as the water holding capacity of the farmers like it. And they like it, too because it keeps them from the nuisance of the trash and they feel they have a chance to gin cotton from the same land. The extension agents can furnish additional information on this practice. They can also furnish information on building a loading rack at the gin and a gin trash rack for a truck.

There is a demand for agricultural products which will probably be high in 1958, because consumer demand should remain at a high level. B. T. Haws, county agent, says this is due to the general economic conditions which should continue strong.

At the present time, it appears that prices in this fiscal year, 1957, to July 1, 1958, may be as high as they were last year. According to B. T. Haws, county agent, agricultural exports for the fiscal year 1956-57 were about 35 percent greater than the preceding year. The main trouble with the country is that our production is not in terms of available products.

Prices in 1957 are better than 1956 because of higher prices for a larger number of people and slaughter and improved range conditions which created a good demand for cattle. Cattle prices in 1957 probably are somewhat higher than in 1956 because of the number of slaughter and incomes should be a little less than in 1956.

Prices for cattle will probably not be as much seasonally this year as they usually do because of an abundance of feed in the form of corn, sorghum and other grains. This should create a good demand for feed. Production in 1958 will be larger than in 1957, and beef prices will be strong.

Estimated that about 418 bushels of grain sorghum were harvested this year. This is more than double last year's crop. The production is 72% more than the crop of 1955. The production is average. The oat crop is 20% larger than last year. Haws says that feed prices can be expected during the feeding year 1958.

Rains and winds that create winter weather of the farmer of valuable through erosion not to the hidden damage. But farmers can protect their land by planting cover crops.

It must be remembered that cover crops do more than protect the land, says B. T. Haws, county agent. These crops improve the soil itself, leading to increased yields.

Soil growers have discovered that winter legumes increase cotton and corn yields. When paying for the time and money spent in putting in legumes, points out the county agent. These cover plants do not compete with other crops, come in time when farm work is done. They are turned under to add plant food, especially to the soil during the period in the spring. Grazing, silage or seed taken from the winter crop will provide sources of income for the farmer, he adds.

Small winter legume crops include vetch, winter peas, crimson clover and sweet clover. Some operators use a mixture of annual grass and legume while others prefer annual grass alone.

For further information on cover crops, ask the county agent for local recommendations.

Wilted by drought or certain chemical changes occur in Johnson sorghum and they contain a content of prussic acid which is very dangerous to livestock. Haws, county agent, warns that the poison acts quickly and can kill an animal within a short time.

With the rains and winds of winter just around the corner, farmers are reminded that cover crops can be extremely beneficial in preventing erosion. But cover crops do more than just protect the land, says B. T. Haws, county agent. These crops improve the soil itself, leading to increased yields. Grazing, hay silage or seed taken from the winter crop will also mean more profit.

A recent study indicated that on many dairy farms green-chop feeding may be more profitable than grazing. The study revealed a higher efficiency of grassland when it was chopped because it prevented loss of grassland feed due to trampling by the cows.

By January 1, 1958, the total U. S. laying flock is expected to be down 6 to 8 percent from Jan. 1, 1957. Statistics show a 25 percent decrease for Texas. The reduction will be due to fewer replacements with the decrease greatest in small flocks.

Dairymen should now begin checking their management to make sure that they are ready for the colder weather that lies ahead, advises B. T. Haws, county agent. Cow comfort, determining the best feed to buy, dehorning and culling the least desirable cows are the main points stressed by the agent.

A sheep Short Course, the first of a series, will be held at Texas A & M college, Oct. 21-22. Fundamentals of sheep production and management will be stressed. Much of the material to be discussed during the short course will be demonstrated at the Sheep Center of the Animal Husbandry Department.

Here are some things for you dairymen to check during October. B. T. Haws, county agent, suggests that you get set for winter dairying by making sure you have an ample supply of roughage, at least two tons of hay or one ton of hay and three tons of silage for each cow in the herd. Then you might take steps to save some of that feed by repairing mangers, hay racks and feed troughs. A little time spent this way will save feed that will be welcome before spring.

And finally, Haws points out that horns have no place in a dairy herd. More cows can be housed and fed in less space with less danger of injury if those horns are removed.

Word from B. T. Haws, county agent, says the present indications are that total turkey production in 1957 will be larger than in 1956 and will set a new record. However, Haws points out that more orderly marketing early this year should help reduce the number available for fall market. In addition, he says that many turkeys were lost in Texas during the spring floods and mortality during the growing season was above normal. So all in all, produce sales during the last quarter of 1957 may not exceed those for the same period last year for consumers, the outlook is good for plenty of good, high quality turkeys this fall.

Here are some hints to turkey producers to insure getting top price for those birds. He says that whenever possible get competitive bids or quotations from different buyers; keep up with consumer demands and current data on turkey prices. And by all means, sell those turkeys when they are well fleshed and finished.

News From The HD Agent

Mrs. J. G. Cheney has just completed her work as Family Economics Demonstrator for the Midway HD club. This is the second year Mrs. Cheney has held this position, in her HD club.

The purpose of such work is to encourage home demonstration women and their families to do a better job with the business procedures of their homes. With this in mind, Mrs. Cheney has made and completed the following goals her two years' work: 1. Mrs. Cheney collected all important business papers, for her home and family and organized a family file. Since the organization of this file the family can find all important papers, since they are all in one place. 2. Her second goal that was accomplished was the organization of a business center. Having a place to take care of family and home business is one of the most important steps. Mrs. Cheney took an old dresser, refinished and reorganized it, so that it now serves as a very nice business center. 3. Mrs. Cheney took a house inventory. This is an important thing in case of fire, etc. At times like that a family can't think of all the things they have lost. Because of this, families often miss getting part of their insurance. 4. Mrs. Cheney also made a study of the family insurance program. Every family needs to study and know what insurance they have. It is important for every family member to understand, not just one.

Many families could easily profit by making and accomplishing the same goals as Mrs. Cheney. The business of the home is an important one, in the world we live in.

Did you know that a room in the home used by the family for the farm business office may be depreciated and deductible as expense on your Income Tax? And Thelma Wirges, county HD agent, says there are other ways that business centers can save money as well as time. She points out that with a well equipped business center all of your equipment and supplies will be on hand when you need them. A definite place to keep all receipts and other important papers may save time and energy in searching for them when they are needed.

Your HD agent has a publication that will help you in establishing your business center. This is MP-145, "Family Business Center." You may have one by writing 305 Federal Building, Wichita Falls.

Grade "B" eggs are just as high in food value as Grade "A" and "AA", according to Thelma Wirges, county HD agent. They cost considerably less in most food markets, especially right now when they are in plentiful supply.

Grade "AA" and "A" are a must only for poaching, where a high firm yolk and thick white are essential to the appearance of the dish, and for soft cooking in the shell, where delicacy or flavor is all important.

For all other ways to cook eggs scrambled, baked in omelettes, souffles and in the countless dishes of which they are an essential part such as custards, ice cream, puddings, cakes, sauces, Grade "B" eggs can be used with complete success and at lower cost.

Thrifty homemakers need not shy away from Grade "B" eggs, but rather take advantage of the plentiful supply and lower price by serving egg main dishes often and by stepping-up the richness of many other foods with added eggs.

Food leaders for Wichita County HD clubs will be giving demonstrations on "An Egg a Day in the Near Future." These leaders are Mesdames C. A. Grisham, J. R. McKinney, C. E. Nolen, J. D. Kennedy, Solon Downing, Cad Bryant, A. A. Jacobs, W. A. McClure, Gale Lowrance, W. W. Hoffmeyer and Kenneth Teaff.

If you can't afford a new fall hat, give the old one a new look with careful brushing and cleaning, suggests Thelma Wirges, County HD agent.

Start by careful brushing. This may show up spots and stains that need special treatment.

Try using the sandpaper method first. With a piece of No. 0 sandpaper, begin at center top of crown and gently sand in the same direction around the crown side crown and brim.

If this fails, use naphtha or other cleaning fluid. Dip a small brush, as nail brush, in the cleaning fluid, shake out excess liquid and brush hat until the soiled spots disappear. Remember to work outdoors when using cleaning fluids.

White or light colored felt hats may need special treatment. Saturate cornmeal with naphtha or other cleaning fluid. Rub the mixture into the felt with a clean stiff brush. When fluid has evaporated, brush out the cornmeal and air the hat before storing.

A series of Basic Sewing workshops are being planned for the early part of next year. Those workshops will be held in Electrica, Burk Burnett and Wichita Falls. Members of the Clothing committee are Mrs. Gail Mitchell Electra; Mrs. E. J. Simons, Burk Burnett; Mrs. D. D. Mendenhall and Miss Patricia Simons. If you are interested in being notified about these workshops, contact one of the committee members, or Thelma Wirges, county HD agent, 305 Federal Bldg. Wichita Falls.

Leather accessories are expensive items in the clothing budget these days. Fall and winter costumes call for more leather belts, bags, gloves and shoes.

Preserve the beauty and lengthen the life of leather articles by proper care, suggests the HD agent.

Shoes especially receive hard wear. An economical plan is to have two pairs for alternate daily wear, permitting each pair to rest or dry out between wearings. Perspiration weakens leather, and causes shoes to crack and rip. Use a good shoe cream frequently to protect the leather. Preserve the shape of your shoes by using shoe trees or paper pads in toe and heel.

To remove spots from leather articles clean with benzene or gasoline, air well and repolish. Saddle soap can also be used to remove dirt and grease from leather articles between polishings.

Prevent cracking and preserve the finish on patent leather articles with vaseline. Use a cheese cloth pad to apply a light, even coating once or twice a month.

Right storage will increase the life of summer clothing, extension clothing specialist remind us.

Here are some suggestions for keeping out of season clothing in good condition until next summer.

1. Mend any ripped seams, tears, loose buttons or other damages. A few stitches can lengthen the life of a garment.
2. Wash or dry clean all garments before storing.
3. Store cottons and linens unironed. Make certain all starch is removed. It can cause fabric to deteriorate and may attract silverfish.
4. Dry garments thoroughly and store in a dry place to prevent mildew.
5. Store in large boxes or trunks to make room in closets for fall clothing.

RALPH YARBOROUGH'S Washington Report

Twenty million dollars were appropriated by Congress last August to help drought and flood plagued farmers and ranchers rebuild their land but Texans have not received any of the money, Sen. Ralph Yarborough stated tonight.

The Senator declared that Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson has "fought the program all the way," and that thousands of eligible Texas farmers and ranchers have not been told of their rights under the plan.

Speaking at the annual barbecue meeting of the Lee County Farm Bureau, Sen. Yarborough, who took the lead in getting the $20 million appropriated, said the land damage funds are "critically needed."

"Some farmers are still being forced from their land and many others are unable to practice farming methods necessary to remedy erosion. This money is needed to help get the topsoil back on the land but Benson hasn't even seen fit to let Texas farm folk know about the program," Sen. Yarborough declared.

He added: "Every farmer and rancher whose topsoil washed away in the floods last spring or was blown away during the seven-year drought is entitled to rebuild that soil from this fund."

Farmers and ranchers thru-out the state, who suffered these hardships, should immediately contact their county agents for information on such grants. This appropriation ends June 30, 1958. If not used, the money lapses.

Texas agriculture has been so hard hit that unless these grants are utilized, it will be many years before our farm and ranch economy can possibly come back to normal, he said.

The Senator quoted Texas Department of Agriculture figures showing that 1,971,489 acres of land were permanently damaged by spring and summer floods. In addition, 3 million acres of cropland and 300,000 acres of rangeland were permanently damaged by the extended drought. The money was voted by Congress to restore this soil.

New Atomic 'Ghost Town'

Odd Shapes Rise In Nevada Desert

The Nevada desert, site of many an abandoned settlement, has sired a 20th century "ghost town."

No one lives there. And yet it is a town of the present and future—complete with modern underground parking garages without cars, huge doors leading to nowhere, and futuristic domes emerging from a landscape almost as barren as the moon.

This is "Survival Town"—a community dedicated to its own destruction as a test site for atomic blast effects on various shelter-type structures.

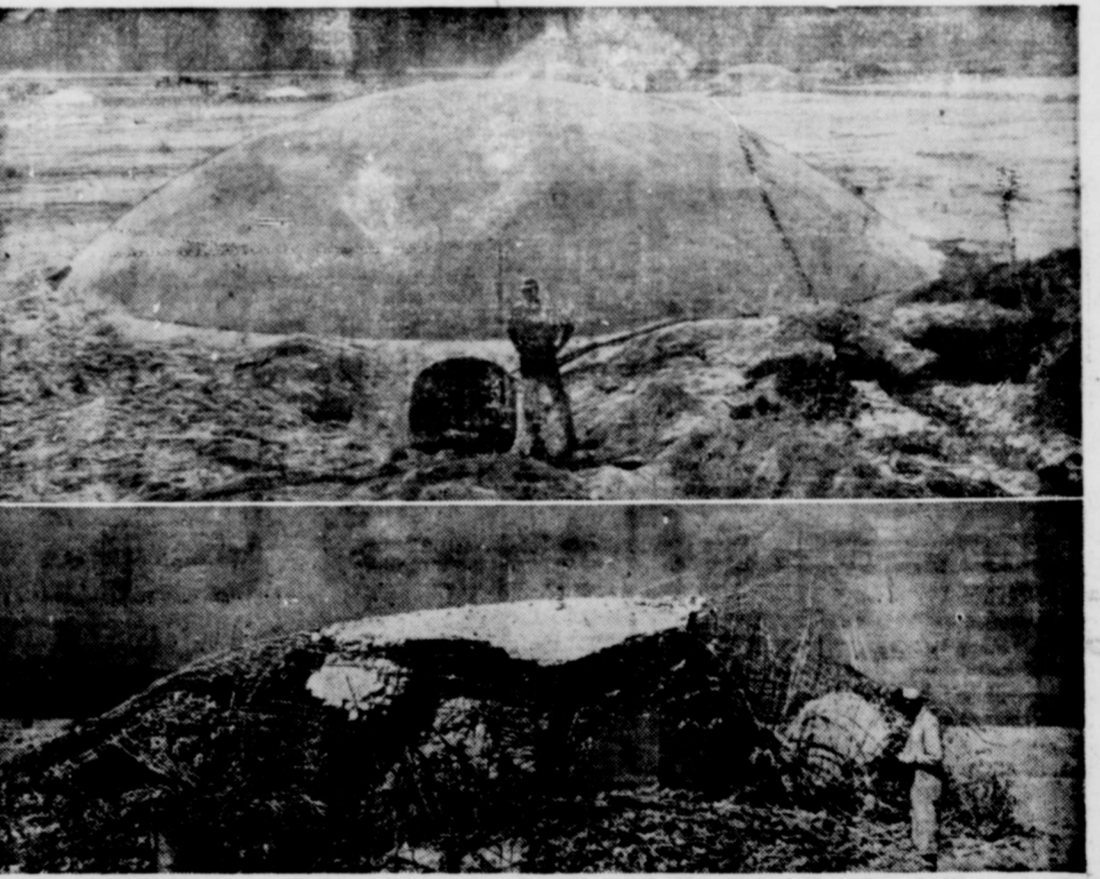

Constructed by the Federal Civil Defense Administration in cooperation with the Atomic Energy Commission and other private and public agencies, "Survival Town" includes underground home shelters and large urban shelters, new dome-type shelters being considered because they are easily built and cost relatively little, a small, blast-resistant "school" building, various types of doors and valves to close shelter openings against a nuclear blast wave, and even a complete bank vault.

ATOMIC BLAST churns the Nevada desert and rises skyward as "Priscilla" shot of Operation Plumbbob, the current series of atomic tests, hurls tremendous forces against a new "ghost town" of shelter structures built as possible prototypes for future blast-resistant buildings and shelters in the more vital target areas. (NTO Lookout Mountain Lab Photo)

FIVE DOORS to nowhere are set in a test structure at the Nevada atomic test site to measure the blast resistance of various kinds of common building materials. Only the hollow plywood door (second from right) was blasted from its frame at high pressure. Other doors (left to right) were made of solid plywood, wood planking, and two kinds of steel shapes. Circular objects on the wall are anti-blast valves for automatically closing ventilation openings in case of a nuclear blast. (NTO Lookout Mountain Lab Photo)

DOMES SHELTERS, a new design whose low cost and easy construction would adapt it to mass production, were tested at the Operation Plumbbob atomic tests in Nevada at pressures from 20 to 70 times those which a house is normally built to withstand. The 50-foot-diameter shelters may be seen before the blast in the upper photo. The lower photo shows one of the domes which was deliberately tested at a pressure so great that it would fall, so its weaker points could be studied. (NTO Lookout Mountain Lab Photo)

Grade School News

The old "Flu" bug has hit hard and lowered the punch to some 70 percent. We know that most of them are really well and will be back in the future. We are hoping all of the children will be in school and be in tip top shape to help take care of the books that have strong tendency to trample over the open spaces during the season. It would be like for the spooks to hunt and girl out to peek through the window to find out what is doing.

MARILYN FELTY ELECTED CHAPLAIN OF SPURETTES MIDWESTERN UNIVERSITY

Marilyn Felty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. Felty of Burkburnett, and a graduate of Burkburnett High School is a sophomore student at Midwestern University. She was recently elected Chaplain for the Spurettes which is one of the service clubs on the campus. Marilyn is majoring in music education and minoring in piano.

There is not one single authenticated record of the earth's having opened up and swallowed anyone or anything during an earthquake.

Burkburnett Rolls Past Bowie, 32-12

Burkburnett rolled for three touchdowns in the second half at Bowie Friday night to break up a game tied at halftime and smothered the Bowie Jackrabbits, 32-12 in a District 2A-9 clash.

Bowie scored on the first play from scrimmage when Richard Stephens passed to Don Roland for a touchdown on a play that carried 62 yards overall.

Burk scored twice in the second period but Bowie knotted the count at the half. The second half was all Burkburnett as the Bulldogs' mighty Doyce Walker ripped Bowie's defense on three scoring thrusts.

Walker, a fast moving 200 pounder, had been out with injuries during the first of the season but returned to action Friday night with a vengeance. He slammed for one yard in the second period; two yards in the third for Burk's go-ahead touchdown, and a 16-yard slant that ended the scoring.

Richard Hinkle smashed for five yards for Burk's second score just before the half and Gary Jennings raced 41 yards on a reverse to give the Bulldogs a 24-12 advantage.

Johnny Veach converted twice for the Bulldogs on his last two tries.
