National Newspaper Week

This country has something of a mania for "weeks" and "days" celebrating all manner of things and occasions from the sublime to the ridiculous. But some of the observances are far above the common ruck, and deserve the public's interest and attention.

This is certainly the case with National Newspaper Week, October 1-8. Its theme is "Your Newspaper Guards Your Freedoms." And that's more than just a felicitous little slogan. It's a fact. A free press is the most potent weapon against tyranny and persecution that any nation can possess.

Dictators always take over the press as soon as they gain power and pervert it to their own ends. That's only logical. For dictatorship can't stand the freedom of expression and debate a free press stands solidly for.

Federal Courts' Inconsistency

Southern states face an indefinite period of near anarchy unless the federal courts become more consistent in their rulings on school integration.

It was only eight weeks ago that District Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., suspended desegregation at Little Rock's Central High School for 2½ years to allow the city time to adjust to the Supreme Court's order.

Now, 16 days before school is scheduled to open at Little Rock, the United States Courts of Appeals at St. Louis, by a 6-1 decision, reverses Lemley's ruling.

This last minute action will be resisted. There probably will be a hurriedly called special session of the Arkansas Legislature at which Gov. Orville Faubus will propose a new plan to fight desegregation. There will be an appeal to the Supreme Court, which is in recess until Oct. 6th.

Rioting may ensue if the school board's announced intention to "pursue any and all legal remedies" in avoiding integration proves a failure. And then, would there be a repeat performance of the President's action last fall in sending troops to maintain integration?

Beginning with the Supreme Court's decision which upset a century of precedent, there has been confusion and inconsistency on the part of the courts. The latest instance, the reversal of the 2½ year "breathing period" just 16 days before school is to open, is one of the worst.

In view of Little Rock citizens' attitude shown last fall and just recently in the state election, they obviously need time in which to adjust to drastic change, assuming that the change is inevitable as many of them evidently do not. The Supreme Court decision called for "deliberate speed." Judge Lemley's verdict fits that description better than the appeals court's does.

Should Be A Full Time Job

Senators and Representatives alike are suffering the annual itch for adjournment, aggravated by that ominous date on the calendar, Tuesday, Nov. 4th. House Republican Leader, Joseph Martin and Senator Leverett Saltonstall, chairman of the Senate Republican Conference, agree that Aug. 15th is the earliest realistic adjournment date. But Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson says Congress won't go home "until it does the job it needs to do."

The Senate is working overtime to catch up, whereas the House, having passed most of the money bills, including that $25,000 a year pension for former Presidents, and most of the major legislation, is coasting.

But perhaps the Senators are rushing unduly in view of the sentiment for keeping Congress on the job while there are those war clouds to the eastward. Certainly it does seem foolhardy to adjourn with 10,000 marines sitting on a foreign trouble spot, even if the solons were not consulted as a body. It is argued they could get back quickly if needed, but perhaps not quickly enough for an Administration already impatient on Congressional restraints. Adjournment in a time of crisis places an already weakened Congressional authority in jeopardy.

There is also the further consideration that the taxpayers are putting up for a year's work, not seven or eight months; that the gentlemen are air conditioned while on duty; that campaigning has been done via radio and TV for some time now. It is also possible that constituents might be more impressed by a display of duty than of dentistry.

We are sure however, that the people would want their servants to have vacations just like other toilers, and when they could make speeches, kiss babies, attend auctions or go fishing.

But this nation should never, not ever, be without a Congress.

HOW BOUT THAT

BY RALPH TEE

It's Trite Because It's True

We can't accurately measure the extent of the tax burden by dollar volume alone. We can see it most clearly when related to our earnings.

In 1929, for instance, total federal, state and local taxes came to 10.6 percent of the gross national product—which is the sum total value of all goods and services we produce. In 1943, with a war on, it was 26.5 percent. Last year it was 28.1 percent and the trend, undoubtedly, is still upward.

Wars, hot and cold, have played an important part in this depressing onward march of the tax collector. But wars can not be given the sole blame by a long shot. We have adopted the welfare state philosophy to a much greater extent than most of us apparently realize. Wittingly or otherwise, we expect the government to do all manner of things for us that previous generations did for themselves. The solution to just about every problem that comes along is "let the government pass a law, appropriate the money, and solve it."

The enormous cost of welfarism, bad as that is, isn't the worst factor. The most destructive effect is on the character of people. Independence is lost, freedom is lost, self reliance and self respect are lost.

To say that this potentially deadly disease won't be cured until the people rise up and demand a change of their government is to say something that has become trite from repetition. And the reason it is trite is because it is absolutely true.

There Must Be A Change

People should wake up and demand that Congress stop its spending spree.

That urgent need is emphasized by a member of Congress himself—Representative Byrnes of Wisconsin. And he doesn't feel he is fighting a lost cause. He says: "I think there is always the hope that when people start to understand—and the people must be made to understand where we are—there will be a change in the attitude. There must be a change. And I am sure Congress will be responsive to a feeling for economy on the part of the people. I have not given up the fight and I am still going to exert every effort I can to bring economy into our government."

Congressman Byrnes' statement of principle could not have come at a better time. It now looks as if the Federal deficit for this fiscal year will be at least $12 billion. The debt ceiling has been raised again, to $288 billion, and there is a definite possibility another increase will be requested next year. The last Congress, like its predecessors, made huge appropriations for which there was little if any justification. For instance, it voted to give the Atomic Energy Commission twice as much money for the construction of atomically fueled electric projects as the Administration asked for.

Congressman Byrnes said the plain hard truth in five words: "There must be a change."

The Wichita County Clothing committee is making plans for adult workshops in advanced dressmaking. They will be taught by the county HD agent and leaders. Mesdames Gail Mitchell, Raymond Krull, Bill Mitchell, E. J. Simons will serve on this committee.

Mrs. Raymond Krull represented home demonstration clubs when she helped judge the junior style show for the Singer Co. Mrs. Krull has received training and served as a clothing leader for the Ray Home Demonstration club. As a leader Mrs. Krull taught others basic methods of clothing construction. She also does an excellent job of clothing construction for her family.

As you plan the family fall and winter wardrobe, decide what to sew and what to buy ready made. Thelma Wirges, county HD agent says you can have more and better clothes if you make them yourself, provided you sew well and have the time. You can also save dollars if you are skilled enough to make your own alterations of ready mades, remodel garments and do a good job of mending.

A convenient sewing area will increase your efficiency and pleasure in sewing.

Sen. Geo. Moffett Attends Session of Legislative Council

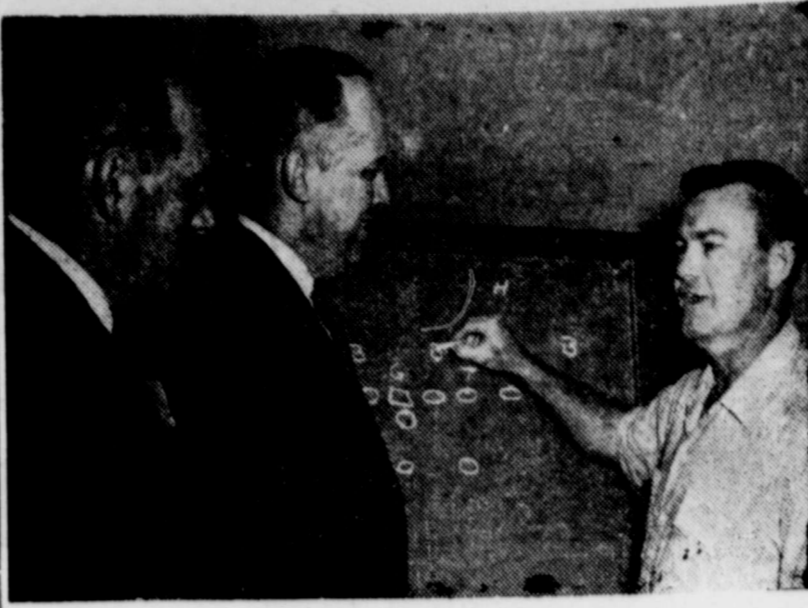

Senator George Moffett recently returned from Austin, where he attended a lengthy session of the Texas Legislative Council, of which he is a member. The Council is composed of fifteen experienced members of the Legislature. Its duty is to study various subjects that may need attention at the next session of the Legislature, collect data from other states about them and prepare bills for introduction.

Sen. Moffett stated that among the subjects now under study by the Council are: revision of the automobile insurance laws; tightening of the laws concerning the sale of narcotics; and revision of the small loan laws.

Sen. Moffett called attention to the $5.00 monthly raise in all old age assistance payments which will start with the October checks. However, he states that the increase comes entirely from Federal funds, pursuant to a recently enacted Federal Law.

"The Federal Government," said Sen. Moffett, "provides more than two-thirds of the money for old age assistance payments and also makes certain definite requirements as to how the money is to be distributed. Among them is the requirement that each case be investigated once each year by a trained field investigator. The Texas Legislature has to accept this requirement, or lose the money sent to Texas by the Federal government."

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

How best to educate Texas children and how to pay for it, will be a key issue in the upcoming legislative session.

Problems were spotlighted when the Hale-Aikin committee made its first report. Included were 12 recommendations for improvements or expansion of public education.

Several proposals reflect the concerns of the times. In an age of mounting traffic death tolls and almost universal availability of high speed cars to teenagers, state supported driver education was urged. In the face of widespread reports of the superiority of educational systems in other countries, the committee recommended state aid for classes for the academically gifted. It also proposed increasing the school year from a minimum 175 days to 180 days plus five days for teacher training.

Other proposals were to provide state support for (1) more principals, (2) assistant superintendents, (3) pre-school teaching of children unable to speak English, (4) larger allowances for maintenances, (5) replacing school buses and paying drivers (6) buses for city children living more than two miles from school, and (7) state and local guidance services.

It also suggested basing teacher-pupil ratios on current attendance rather than figures for the year before and urged the setting aside of TV channels for future educational use.

Final decision on other recommendations was postponed until Sept. 15th. These include raising the minimum pay for teachers $595 a year (from $2305 to $3800) and releasing state property taxes to allow for more local district collections.

Hale-Aikin committee is a 24-member study group of lawmakers and private citizens set up by the last legislature to study public schools and make recommendations to the 1959 session. Grass roots discussion has been going on for nearly a year in cities and counties over the state. Proposals being made now result from sifting and weighing of hundreds of ideas urged by educators & interested citizens.

Committee members are not blind to the likelihood of stiff legislative resistance to the additional money spending called for by most of the proposals. Cost of the state minimum foundation program for the present school year is estimated at $349,416,000. H. A. committee enrichment suggestions could add from $50,000,000 to $150,000,000 to that figure.

Most lawmakers already are feeling financially gloomy because of a predicted $140,000,000 gap between state revenue and cost of present programs, without any kind of improvement anywhere.

One committee member suggested that, while all the proposals might not be put into effect right away they could serve as a pattern for years to come.

WHAT, NOT HOW—
 Greater emphasis on what to teach, rather than how to teach will be reflected by this year's college graduates majoring in education.

A law passed in 1955 requires future teachers, beginning with the 1959 grads, to have 40 percent of their credits in subjects they will teach, 40 percent in cultural subjects, 20 percent in education courses.

State Board of Education called attention to this change at its September meeting.

Board also hit a lick in its unrelated battle against all plans to dip into principal of the permanent school fund for current expenses. Its resolution warned of possible tragic consequences.

Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar was authorized to prepare recommendations for Texas participation in the newly passed federal aid to education program. Texas would be eligible for some $9,000,000 to bolster the training of teachers, scientists, mathematicians and other kindred purposes.

PHOTO FINISH—
 Race for speaker of the House seems stalemated with the likelihood that the winner will not be known until all 150 members convene and vote in an all exits barred showdown.

Both Rep. Joe Burkett of Kerrville and incumbent speaker Waggoner Carr of Lubbock claim a majority. But each says he does not have permission from the signers to show all his pledge cards.

There are rumors that several House members, wanting to be agreeable, pledged support to both candidates, never dreaming that the contest would be as close as to bring a judgement day.

If and when the two candidates sit down together and compare notes there may be a number of representatives with red faces. Some speaker candidates have done just that, in the past. Then they jointly telephoned the representative whose pledge was in question to settle the matter then and there.

FATTER WELFARE CHECKS—
 An across the board increase of $5 per person in checks to the aged, needy blind and disabled begins Oct. 1st.

Gov. Price Daniel said the increase was made possible by liberalization of the Social Security Act during the last session of Congress.

Under the new formula, maximum monthly checks to the aged will be $65, for the disabled, $63.

Water Wells In Reverse—
 State Highway Dept. will try out a plan of digging wells to put water into the ground, rather than take it out.

Purpose is to drain the wet weather lakes which sometimes block highways for days or weeks at a time. Such lakes are not uncommon in the Plains area after a rainy spell has filled low places.

A side benefit of the plan, noted Highway Commission Chairman Marshall Formby, would be the re-charging of underground reservoirs.

LABOR LAW ARENA—
 Another legislative slugfest, for which ammunition is already being stacked, is foreseen in the arena of labor union regulation.

Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, longtime champion of restrictive labor laws, has announced he has some more in mind. He said his proposals were prompted by abuses reported to him by union members. Parkhouse said he would sponsor bills to (1) provide state regulation of union pension funds, (2) prohibit union assessments for political campaigns, (3) require public disclosure of union spending and (4) correct practices whereby, according to the senator, union leaders prevent some members from getting work.

Jerry Holleman, State AFL-CIO president, stated that organized labor would welcome state regulation of pension funds. The other proposals, Holleman said, are taken care of under existing law.

News From The County Agent

In many areas of the county, grain has been stored or is now in process of being stored says B. T. Haws county agent. There are a few important practices which should be followed as the grain is going into storage and after it has already been stored. Preventative measures are very important in protecting grain from insect damage. Grain storage structures should be constructed to exclude all outside moisture and be easily accessible for inspection and fumigation of the grain. Bins in which grain can be aerated are helpful in cooling or drying grain.

Grain should be stored in bins that's been cleaned thoroughly of all waste material such as old grain, trash, or debris that may furnish living quarters for insect. Good housekeeping practices in and around grain storages bins will aid in eliminating insect infestations. After the bin and outside areas have been cleaned thoroughly, spray the inside and outside areas with a residual spray. Methoxychlor, TDE and pyrethrins are approved by the Pure Food and Drug Administration for use as residual sprays inside grain bins. DDT is not approved and should not be used.

Wilbarger-Wichita SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District will sponsor land judging at Texas-Oklahoma Fair, Fenton Dale Chairman of the Board, has announced.

National land judging rules will apply in the contest with local land capability guides used to determine land class, Dale added.

Each contestant will determine the land class factors including surface texture, movement of air and water in subsoil, depth of surface and subsoil, erosion, and surface drainage. Consideration of these factors determines the land class. There are eight land classes. Classes one through four being suited to cultivation, five thru seven for range and pasture and class eight suited to wildlife only.

After determining the land class, each contestant selects the vegetative, mechanical and fertilizer practices necessary to maintain and improve land of the class being judged.

Top ranking three teams will be awarded banners and the five highest scoring individuals will receive medals. A team will consist of three or four contestants. The three high scores will be tabulated for team score.

Dr. Carl Gray of Midwestern University, along with Frank Duncan and Elvy Sargent of the Soil Conservation Service, will assist the supervisors in conducting the contest.

Sample score cards with complete rules may be had from Texas-Oklahoma Fair at Iowa Park.

TELEPHONE TALK

by C. A. Deuschle, Manager

School Brings Increased Telephone Service Demands

Do you have an adequate number of telephone outlets in your home to care for the increased telephone demands brought on by the return of school days? Is your home telephone service adequate for your teenage boy or girl and your service needs?

Take an inventory of your home telephone service usage and needs. Call our Business Office, JO 9-2291, for the additional telephone you need in your home and remember, you can have your choice of nine beautiful colors.

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

Your new Burkburnett Telephone Directory will be delivered September 16. At that time please begin using your new directory and throw away your old directory after retaining your list of frequently called numbers.

Prescription For Pleasure

The telephone by your side can be pretty good medicine—ally by itself.

It's one of the best cures for loneliness. I'm thinking especially, of those long distance calls to talk to loved ones and old friends away from home.

And how about those easy-going conversations women enjoy during the day? When you're tired of looking at the ironing board, or when the mop starts to get a little heavy, a short "telephone break"—just a few minutes chat with a friend or neighbor—really brings you back smiling.

Your telephone is more than just a convenience. There's plenty of pleasure and relaxation built into it, too. So use it as often as the mood strikes you. That's what it's there for.

Up-to-Date Idea About Telephones

Where is the telephone in your home? Is it where you can always reach it easily when it rings—or when you want to make a call?

Or is it in a central hall or in the middle of the house—not really close to any place where members of your family are when they want to use it?

Families with modern telephone service like to have phones in color in the kitchen, living room, and bedrooms.

With your home equipped with handy extension telephones, you can "reach" rather than "run" for the phone.

Why not order more telephones for your home today? You'll find the cost of extensions will add very little to what you now pay, but will add a great deal to your comfort and convenience.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

58th Legislature, though yet sworn in, already casts shadow over Statehouse membership was settled, with the Democratic side winning primary votes. A few will be Republican opponents in membership.

more interest now in how 58 will lean on key issues. Local prophets already are making pulse readings and prophecies likely to be more liberal than its predecessors. But predominately liberal. A big group of newly elected liberals in Houston is expected to be followed by Dallas conservatives, and others from small towns.

next session's crucial importance, everyone's crystal ball seems a bit cloudy. Next session will have to grapple with a financial deficit which Legislature Budget Board predicted may call for as much as $140,000,000 in additional tax revenue.

making candidates in both speeches and newspaper commentaries, were understandably skittish and unspecifying in making specific proposals dealing with this gigantic item. Many came out flatly against a general sales tax or income tax. Numerous suggestions were made to balance budget through economy government, elimination of duplication, etc.

statements are like the tip of an iceberg to state many of whom have said will be asking for more, less money, next session.

when the showdown comes, decisions will be made largely by the same group who pushed voting buttons in '57. All there will be 49 new faces among the 181 lawmakers.

replacing the three retiring members, Otis Lock of Lufkin, Roy Bracewell of Houston and Ashley of Llano will be replaced by Dies, Jr. of Lufkin, Robt. Baker of Houston and Louis of San Saba.

House will have 46 freshmen, slightly less than the normal one-third turn over of its 150 members. Changes result from the retirement of 33 representatives, defeats of 13 others.

MANGLED MATH—
When the next speaker of the House of Representative takes office in January, some confused arithmetic will be cleared up. A speaker is elected at the start of each regular session by the 150 House members. Support, in form of signed pledges, is lined up well in advance of the session's start.

This year, when the dust settled from the run-off primary, both contenders claimed victory. Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, sentiments gather for state convention.

No one is making iron clad predictions on what will happen, but pre-convention rumblings promises at least some of the usual fireworks.

A group of conservatives are working on ways to bounce the militantly liberal Mrs. Frankie Randolph from her post as national committee woman. Having the chairman of the Democrat of Texas and leader of the opposition to state party leadership in the prestige laden national committee post is hard to take.

present speaker, said he had 80 pledges. Rep. Joe Burkett of Kerrville claimed 77 pledges. In addition, Burkett said he knew of 15 House members who had made no pledges.

All the claims added to 172 representatives, 22 more than the people elected.

BIG DAY DUE—
San Antonio, site of the Alamo may see another lusty scrap Tuesday Sept. 9th when Texas Democrats of widely varying But removing a national committee member offers difficulties, too. A state convention merely nominates the national committee members; actual election is by the national convention. Whether a state convention could undo the action of a national convention is not definitely known.

Another possible source of friction is the selection of the State executive committee chairman, the post now held by Jim Lindsey of Texarkana. Abilene oilman Ed Connally has been mentioned as a prospect.

Liberal delegates and supporters of Sen. Ralph Yarborough are expected to fight hammer and tongs against a Connally drive. Connally was a strong supporter of William Blakley in his Senate race against Yarborough and headed Gov. Price Daniel's precinct convention fight against the DOT.

TOO "GENERAL"?
Alumni of East Texas College are asking help in untangling conflict over a new program at the Commerce school.

At issue is the value of a general studies program instituted by TESC President, Dr. James Gee. Revised curriculum substitutes a course in communications for freshman English, heritage for American history and so on. A professor who had taught some of the general courses called them a "hodgepodge," comparable to grade school work.

Dissatisfied exes meeting in Austin asked Sen. Charles Herring, Senate investigating committee chairman, to look into the situation. Herring said he would bring it up at the committee's next meeting, but urged the exes to talk first with the college's Board of Regents.

FACULTY RAISES ASKED—
Salary raises for faculty members are the principal item in a $12,515,000 budget increase being sought by Texas' 18 state colleges and universities.

Texas Commission on Higher Education said the $4,000,000 being asked by college officials would allow for average raises of $600 per year per prof.

Altogether, the colleges' budget requests to the Commission total $68,721,975 for the 1960-61 biennium.

Commission's task is to screen these requests and make up a recommended budget to present to the Legislature.

SHORT SNORTS—
State Board of Water Engineers has scheduled a hearing for Sept. 18th on the proposed Diablo Dam on the Rio Grande River.

Gov. Price Daniel has proclaimed September and October American heritage months, a period in which people are to be encouraged to vote on an informed basis and contribute to the political parties of their choice.

News From The County Agent

The Wichita Valley DHIA Association ranked tops in average pounds of milk, which was 690 pounds, and the average pounds of fat was 25 pounds. There are 21 herds in the Association, with 799 cows. Mr. H. R. Chandler is the technician.

Any farm and ranch employer who pay $150 or more to a laborer or who hires a farm hand 20 days or more during a year must pay social security taxes on the wages involved, says B. T. Haws, county agent.

Did you know that Texas ranks 42nd in milk production per cow 4,170 pounds per cow annually. Through the use of production records, weed out those low producing unprofitable cows in the herd. Make dairying pay the record keeping way.

Texas Tech Notes
We are in the process of planning a new dairy farm. The new dairy will be away from the campus proper. The plans are being based upon use of limited land area, mechanical feeding and parlor milking. Much time is being devoted to the arrangements for labor saving, convenience and ease of supervision.

Seed treatment with an approved mercury compound will help to produce better temporary pastures. Small grain seed such as oats can be treated with Panogen or Cerasan formulations according to manufacturer's suggestions. Seed treatment will improve stands by controlling diseases that kill or damage young plants.

With beef prices high, this is an ideal time to cull off the bottom to weed out your border line animals and replace them with individuals capable of lifting the standards of your herd.

by the USDA reveals that the States of Michigan and New Mexico have been declared modified certified brucellosis free states. Thirteen other states and Puerto Rico have previously certification in the fight against this costly disease of cattle. In addition, 570 counties in 28 other states have also been certified.

For a state to qualify to certification, not more than 1 percent of all cattle and not more than 5 percent of all herds can be infected with the disease. States already certified besides Michigan and New Mexico include New Jersey, Utah, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Minnesota, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin.

Brucellosis is one of the nations more important livestock diseases. It is also a human hazard, since contact with infected animals or animal products can cause undulant fever, the form the disease takes in man. Milk production in a badly infected herd often drops as much as 20 percent and calf production may drop as much as 40 percent in either beef or dairy herds.

Texas is one of the remaining 34 states yet to be certified, and is one of 7 states that does not have one or more certified counties within the state.

Malathion has been approved for use in stored grain as a protectant against insects. A tolerance of eight parts per million has been established. It may be used on or in stored barley, corn oats, rice, rye, grain sorghum, wheat or peanuts.

The approved dosage is ten ounces of actual malathion per 1,000 bushels mixed with the grain and five ounces of actual material per 1,000 square feet of grain surfaced.

DO
Right if overturned, swim back in and sit on the bottom. Even with a motor attached, most boats will support occupants.

DON'T
Swim away from the boat under most circumstances. (An exception might be danger of the boat going over waterfalls). Many lives are lost by people trying to swim to shore.

Mrs. Peter Dubovy, 20064 Friar st., Woodland Hills, Calif., today was named one of 100 finalists in Pillsbury's Grand National Bake off Contest, to be held Sept. 21, 22, and 23rd in New York City. This year the baking event will return to the Waldorf Astoria for its 10th anniversary; last year the bake off was held for the first time in Beverly Hills.

Chosen on the basis of a pie recipe she submitted for contest judging earlier this year, Mrs. Dubovy will compete with 100 women and girls from all parts of the country for some of more than $100,000 in cash and General Electric appliance prizes. She will bake her prize recipe along with the other contestants in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf, which will be turned into the world's largest kitchen for the event.

In addition to being eligible for the $25,000 top prize and other awards, Mrs. Dubovy will receive an expense paid trip to New York and the General Electric range and mixer she uses during the contest.

Mrs. Dubovy learned of her good fortune when Ray Kimrey, Pillsbury branch manager for this area, called to present her with a $100 check and to arrange transportation and final plans for her trip to New York.

Since 1950 Total Population of West Texas Increased 45.4%

West Texas' population has increased a whopping 45.4 per cent since 1950, a survey by one of the Southwest's leading population analysts reveals.

The survey, made by Dr. R. L. Skrabanek, a sociologist on the staff of Texas A and M College and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, was published in the current issue of West Texas today, monthly magazine of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Skrabanek's survey, which covers the entire 132 county region served by the West Texas Chamber, shows that West Texas now has a population of nearly three and one half million people compared with less than two million in 1940 and slightly more than two and one-third million in 1950.

Heaviest gain in population since 1950 was scored in the Permian Basin area of the region. The Midland-Odessa-Big Spring area has increased its population by 104 per cent since the last U. S. Census, Dr. Skrabanek states.

Although, as Dr. Skrabanek points out, not all areas of West Texas have shared equally in this growth, each of the WTCC's 10 administrative districts has gained population since 1950, ranging from 12.9 per cent for the district with least gain to the Permian Basin district's tremendous 104 per cent.

Naturally the question arises as to why certain areas are being drained of people while others are increasing their number so rapidly. There are dozens of minor reasons but it is relatively easy to determine a few that get to the heart of the matter quickly, Dr. Skrabanek stated.

With but few exceptions, factors that have caused rapid population increases in certain areas of West Texas are oil and gas developments, irrigation and the presence of large population centers with job opportunities that attract a lot of people. On the other hand, those areas that are heavily dependent on farming and ranching without any industry to take up the slack have been and will be losing population, the analyst declares.

Population estimates for 1958 indicate that 54 counties in the 132 county WTCC area now have fewer people than they did in 1950. Thus, about two out of five counties in West Texas are declining in population.

With such a large number losing people, Dr. Skrabanek says, the counties that gained had to have a large increase since they not only had to offset the losses of others but in addition permit the West Texas area to register an increase of over one million as a whole.

The largest population increases since 1950 have been centered in the largest cities. Tarrant County (Ft. Worth) gained almost a third of a million people in the last eight years; El Paso County (El Paso) has increased by more than 150,000; Lubbock (Lubbock) over 80,000; McLennan (Waco) by 60,000; Ector (Odessa) 60,000; Wichita (Wichita Falls) 56,000; Potter (Amarillo) over 55,000; and Midland (Midland) almost 50,000.

Not to be overshadowed, however, are some of the less populous counties. Leading the list is Andrews County which boomed from 1,300 in 1940 to 5,000 in 1950 and an estimated 14,000 in 1958. Other counties which increased by an estimated 60 per cent or more in the last 8-year period are: Castro, Crane, Culberson, Hale, Moore, Parmer, Reagan, Reeves, Upton and Yoakum.

West Texas population in 1940 was 1,926,093; in 1950, the population was 2,364,088 (an increase of 22.7 per cent over 1940); and the region's population in 1958 is estimated at 3,438,064 (an increase of 45.4 per cent over 1950).

News From The County Agent

Frequent mowing is required if the lawn is to present an attractive appearance, says B. T. Haws, county agent. When the grass is allowed to grow long enough that clippings are three to four inches long, the grass plant suffers a severe shock from the mowing process and several days may be needed for the plant to recover.

Haws recommends that lawns be cut often, and that only 3-4 to one inch of leaf tip be removed at one mowing. This may require two to three mowings per week during the periods when the grass is making its most rapid growth. He also points out that grass leaves provide the desired green color and that allowing too much growth between cuttings often results in a brown appearance after the grass has been cut.

Except on very fine grasses, it is not necessary to catch the clippings if the lawn is mowed frequently enough. The leaves contain plant food and clippings from them left on the lawn will help to maintain fertility. When the grass is allowed to grow so long that clippings present an unattractive appearance, they should be caught or swept up and discarded. A thick mat of clippings covering grass for a few days damages the plants.

Twenty percent of the nation's food budget was spent in 1957 for dairy products. The average consumer bought 142 quarts of milk which headed the list of individual purchases. Dairy farmers produced a record 126.3 billion pounds of milk in 1957 from the smallest number of dairy cows milked in the past 40 years. The average cow produced 6,162 pounds of milk last year.

Looking for seed? Well, your best bet is to buy certified seed. The difference in cost of certified and non certified is small and the advantages are many.

B. T. Haws, county agent says the fact that you know exactly what you are getting is a big factor. Other advantages he lists are known germination, freedom from noxious weeds and the fact that they were inspected during growth by the State Dept. of Agriculture.

Yes, it will pay to buy certified seed. So when you go looking for seed, look for the blue tag on the bag that gives all the vital information you will need. You will know it is certified by the blue tag and the State of Texas Seal on the bag.
