INCOME TAX FACTS

Article 3

Medical expenses present great opportunities for switching expense from one year to another. Medical expenses are deductible to the extent they exceed 3% of your adjusted gross income. But you are allowed not more than $2,500 per personal exemption and not more than $5,000 on a separate return, or more than $10,000 on a joint or head of household return.

Exemptions for old age and blindness do not count. If you or your spouse are over 65 years old the 3% provision does not apply to you.

Now suppose that you have large unpaid medical expenses this year and will have even more in 1959. Do not pay any of these this year. Wait until 1959 and pay them all in that year. This way you will have the advantage of the full deduction instead of losing 3% of your income for 1959.

This works the other way too. Suppose you have paid medical expenses of over 3% of your adjusted gross income and you still have a deduction and you still owe medical bills which you plan to pay in 1959. If you pay those bills before the end of the year they will be a deduction this year. You won't have to use them to make up 3% of your adjusted gross income for 1959 before you can start deducting again. If you do not have funds readily available it might be wise to borrow the money.

Let's see how that would work. Suppose you borrow $1000 from a bank and repay in 12 monthly installments. Your cost for such a loan would be about $70. Now suppose you take this $1000 and pay deductible bills with it. If you are paying taxes at the lowest rate, you will save $200. Your net profit on the transaction will be about $130. Remember too, that any interest paid on borrowed money will become a deduction next year.

Article 4
Do you have some bills that you are never going to collect? If so, let's take steps now to prove that they are uncollectible. Then we can claim the bad debt on this year's tax return.

Loans to relatives or friends can be deducted as bad debts. However, they are always given very close scrutiny. You should be prepared to prove that the money was in fact a loan; that you have made every reasonable effort to collect; and that it was in no way, shape or form, a gift.

You cannot get a bad debt deduction simply because you do not choose to force collection. Turn those bad accounts over to your attorney or collection agency for action. Do it now if you want to deduct the bad debts this year.

Your bad debts are deductible

Methodist Church Buys Property Of City Hotel

The congregation of Burkburnett's First Methodist Church voted unanimously Sunday, Jan. 4, to buy the City Hotel property directly across the street from their present sanctuary.

After final arrangements have been made, all buildings and furnishings from the hotel lot will be sold, and the lot will be leveled and black-topped for parking space for the people of the church.

The purchase of the much-needed parking area follows closely the building of the new educational building, the renovation of the old building, and the redecorating of the sanctuary.

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees, installation of an elevator to the sanctuary was discussed. Inquiries are being made as to the cost of this future project.

The latest addition to the sanctuary was a beautiful 9 foot cross directly behind the choir area.

—Leon Turner, Pastor.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "The largest union in the free world, the Metal Workers Union of West Germany, has been ordered to pay employers for money lost when they went on strike.

The highest court in the country held they violated an agreement forbidding either side to take 'militant measures' for five days after a breakdown of negotiations when they took a strike vote one day after. The damages may run to $6,000,000, a per capita fine of $3.40 each for the 1,760 members"

HOLBROOK, ARIZ., TRIBUNE-NEWS: "If ever this state—or others—start leaning on federal aid for school purposes, it will do little good to attempt to teach the free enterprise system of life to pupils receiving their education under a socialistic program

TRACY CITY, TENN., GRUNDY COUNTY HERALD: "We cannot think of two more important and co-related factors in the American way of life than a growing city and its newspaper."

"This statement was taken from an advertisement in a Virginia, Minnesota newspaper. The ad was unsolicited. It was paid for by a merchant who wished to show his appreciation for the part the newspaper had in building up his business."

GREAT FALLS, MONT., LEADER: "A physician speaking before a recent industrial conference said the dangers from radiation have received so much publicity that an appreciable number of individuals have been frightened to the point of refusing a very desirable X-ray examination. The chief X-ray technician in a large hospital also is quoted as saying that some patients ask questions, even worry about over-exposure from X-ray. 'We're glad to have them ask the questions,' she said, 'but they should let the doctors do the worrying.'"

The Court Is Out Of Step

"The framers of our constitution never intended," says the American Farm Bureau Federation in a resolution adopted without opposition at its recent Boston convention "that there should be vested in the Supreme Court of the United States power to legislate, power to distort the plain language of the Constitution, or power to interfere with matters of purely State or local concern where constitutional privileges and immunities of citizens are in no way bridged."

The convention was, it said, "seriously concerned with the present tendency of the Supreme Court to legislate with the acquiescence of the executive branch" and with the further tendency of Congress to relinquish legislative powers.

The resolution urged that Congress prescribe proper limitations of the court's jurisdiction, and that it enact "corrective or conforming legislation in those fields where the Supreme Court has invaded the legislative area."

While the Farm Bureau resolution does not refer specifically to any decision or ruling of the court, the delegates are obviously in agreement with former Indiana Congressman Samuel B. Pettengill, who takes issue with the oft repeated statement that the court's ukase (in the school segregation issue) is "the law of the land."

"But more important than integration or segregation," writes Mr. Pettengill in HUMAN EVENTS, "is the preservation of the constitution against the brainwashing of the American people now going on to support the curious notion that a decision of the US Supreme Court, any decision, is law."

"There is not a word in the Constitution which says that a Supreme Court judgement is 'the law of the land'; there is not a word which says that public officials or private citizens are legally bound by a decision of the Supreme Court (except the parties to the particular case itself).

"There is not a word in the Constitution which gives the Supreme Court the power or right to enact a law, or to amend the Constitution by giving it a meaning which the proposing Congress or ratifying state legislatures, or the people, did not intend it to have.

Mr. Pettengill goes on to observe that only the people have the power or right to amend the Constitution and only the Congress to enact Federal law. "This is what is meant," he says, "by a government of law. And Congress has never said that segregated schools are against the law."

Certainly, as the Farm Bureau resolution suggests, it is time for Congress to assert its prerogatives and its responsibility to the people. We have faced intolerable situations before, and (sometimes) found orderly and dignified solutions. Our need for statesmanship was never greater.

Alexander Graham Bell, it's safe to say, would find it impossible to believe what his great invention—the telephone—is on the verge of doing. Here's what President Donald C. Power of the General Telephone Company has to say:

"The broad market for telephone products and services will make it possible for the telephone subscriber of the future to control the lights and heat within its own home from any distant point merely by dialing predetermined digits. The telephone instrument of the future will consist of communication outlets located in every room in the house, and in many instances provided as built in facilities, as contrasted with the present day instrument. In response to the doorbell signal, you will be able to establish two way communication with the caller from any location in your home. The possibility of seeing the image of the individual with whom you are speaking, through the development of phone-a-vision, lies in the near future.

"When desired, you will obtain news summaries, weather reports and market results for all types of markets (industrial, agricultural, etc.). The future development of special services will permit the dialing of children's stories and to have them carried over a separate speaker located in the nursery. These are the things that are our objectives for future telephone service."

DEVOL NEWS
MRS. C. O. WOODLEY

Funeral services were held Friday, Jan. 2nd for Mrs. Edith Hodges, 78, who passed away Tuesday morning, Dec. 30th in a Walters Hospital after a short illness. The last rites were read by Rev. Joe Carson in the Methodist church in Grandfield. Mrs. Hodges was born Aug. 31, 1880 in Alexander, Mo., and moved to the Big Pasture in 1907 with her family settling on their homestead north of Devol where she was living at the time of her death. She was predeceased in death by her husband, Oliver Hodges, a son John and her daughter, Mrs. Jewel Kirby.

Survivors include her son, Lester, of the home, a sister, Lizzie Raven of Reno, Kans., two brothers, Frank Lambert of Pretty Prairie, Kans. and Andy Lambert of Arlington, Kans. Pallbearers included Joe Burton, Amiel Miller, Claud Doty, Tom My Monson, Robert Hopkins and K. S. Kirby. Interment was in Grandfield cemetery under direction of Boydston Funeral home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stevens have returned home from Wichita, Kans., where they were called by the illness of their son, Sanford, who underwent surgery last week for a kidney infection. They report their son is much improved at this time. Quick help on the part of neighbors prevented a serious loss by fire Sunday of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCasland when fire was discovered in a wall of the house after Mr. McCasland had been thawing frozen pipes. An exact estimate of the damage has not yet been decided on.

Mrs. Dollie Hardin will leave this week for Midland to care for her three grandchildren while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hardin make a ten day flying trip to Paris, France. Mr. Hardin who is an employee of Firestone Co., won the trip in a sales contest over an area of several counties in West Texas.

Bryan Harrison and Vernon Lagrone were business visitors in Okla. City Friday.

Mrs. T. C. Dillow has returned home from Okla. City where she was called by the illness of her daughter in law, Mrs. Lee Dillow, whose condition remains serious, it is reported.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stevens Sunday were Debbie Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Don Wortham and son Randy of Burkburnett.

Extreme cold weather and frozen pipes are the main topics of interest here at the present time.

TAX FACTS #1
Selecting The Proper Tax Form

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

If you are one of the millions of American taxpayers who spends the lion's share of his income feeding, clothing, housing and entertaining his family, chances are there is very little you can do to reduce your 1958 federal income tax bill — but you owe it to yourself to try.

First of all, decide which of the two individual tax forms you are going to use to report your income. If you choose the wrong one, you may automatically cut yourself off from a possible tax savings.

The easiest way to file is to use the simple 1040-A Form. It's a card the size of a check, on which you answer a few simple questions and have the choice of either computing your own tax or letting the Government do it for you.

You are permitted to use the card form if your gross income consisted only of wages, dividends or interest totaling less than $10,000, and if you did not have more than $200 of gross income apart from that listed on your W-2 withholding slips.

Before deciding to use the card Form 1040-A, you should consider these facts:

- 1. Your tax will be figured from a table which allows you a deduction of about 10 per cent of your income instead of itemized deductions for contributions, taxes, interest paid, medical and dental expenses, etc.
- 2. There is no provision in this form for filing as the "head of household", as a "surviving spouse" or for claiming special credits for dividends and retirement income.

If you are sure that these two points would not cost you any tax savings, and your income is within the limits for filing a Form 1040-A, you might as well use this simple card form.

Whether to Itemize When you elect to use the regular Form 1040, you still must decide whether to itemize deductions or take the standard deduction which usually amounts to about 10 per cent of your income or $1,000, whichever is less. Generally, you will save by itemizing deductions if you:

- (1) Own real estate
- (2) Had unusual medical expenses
- (3) Had deductible child-care expense
- (4) Suffered losses from fire, storm, accident or theft
- (5) Made fairly large charitable contributions

If you are supporting a dependent, although you are unmarried, you may be able to qualify as a "head of household" and figure your tax on a special table that gives you part of the advantage enjoyed by married couples filing joint returns.

You may qualify for a "head of household" status if you provide more than half the support of a parent, and more than half the cost of maintaining the parent's household even if the parent does not live with you. You cannot claim a "head of household" status if you file a Form 1040-A.

The 1040 Form is arranged again this year so that a taxpayer whose income was entirely from wages needs to use only the first one or two pages. Pages three and four are for other types of income and for computing the special credits for dividends and retirement income.

The instructions which come with your tax forms give further information on how to select the correct tax form. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Holidays are over, but Austin is entering a nother period equally festive, active and ex- hausting for participants.

Tuesday (the 13th) the 56th Legislature convenes, bringing hundreds of new residents to the Capital City for five or six months or more. Their arrival steps up demand in many areas, for rent houses, hotel rooms, catering services, typewriters and stenographers.

A week later comes the Inauguration of Gov. Price Daniel, with a parade, swearing in ceremony, Capitol reception and a multitude of balls and special parties. Therefore if the usual pattern continues, there'll be more social activities for and by the visitors. Lawmakers' wives, separated from home town friends and often from their husbands by long hours of debate and committee hearings, form their own luncheon clubs.

Many organizations send delegations to Austin during the session. These groups — over breakfasts, luncheons, dinners, barbecues or maybe just coffee — meet with their legislators to tell them their special woes and hopes.

Even school children come by the bus loads to supplement their civics studies by observa- tion.

Last session, a period of un- comfortable concern over ethics and lobbying, saw a dropping off in the lavishness of party- giving for legislators. This round may be even more grim and busi- ness like. Lawmakers will face staggering problems in trying to pull the state out of debt and find money for the new needs. No group would want to appear too flush lest it be seen as a likely tax target.

Whatever the social leanings of the lawmakers — for champagne in crystal goblets or coffee in paper cups—their activities give Austin its liveliest, new- siest months. One frequent gal- lery sitter, with no particular legislative interest, said he came regularly because a session pro- vided spectators absolutely free the excitement of a football game the fervor of a revival meeting and more education than a year in the university.

Some events and issues on which interest is likely to focus immediately:

SPEAKERSHIP of the House of Representatives still is in doubt. Even those who claim it's sewed up know that pledges can come unhitched. There will be a big crowd on hand to find whether the secret vote hands the gavel to Waggoner Carr of Lubbock or Joe Burkett, Jr., of Kerrville. Secretary of State Zollie Steakley will preside at the suspenseful opening session.

After the speaker is picked, attention will shift to committee assignments, who will get the top jobs. There is also speculation as to how well members who have fought each other so hard in the speaker's race are going to get along afterward.

MONEY gets top billing on al- most everybody's list of legisla- tive problems.

Gov. Daniel's recommended budget calls for spending $2-311,434,306 during 1960-61. An extra $185,000,000 in new tax revenue would have to be raised to cover it and wipe out the current deficit.

Overall, the governor's bud- get is a 10 percent increase over present spending. Almost all the increase, he pointed out, would go to meet a growing popu- lation's need for basic state services, —education, highways, welfare and hospitals and cor- rectional institutions. Gov. Daniels said he had found no pub- lic sentiment for reducing these services.

Not included in this budget are several items for which there is certain to be demand, such as teacher pay raises and medical aid for persons on the welfare rolls.

EDUCATION, on all levels will be a broth that many will try to stir.

For public schools, the Hale- Aikin Committee of 24 is pre- senting a lengthy report on ideas for improving programs. Included are more pay for teachers, longer school terms, special instruction for the gift- ed, driver education, etc. Total cost of the additions would be $80,000,000 a year for the state, about $32,000,000 a year for local districts.

Both the Commission on High- er Education and Gov. Daniel have recommended increased appropriations for state support- ed colleges and universities. Both also recommended Arling- ton State College be made a senior college.

Not happy with these are (1) University of Texas officials who regard the UT appropria- tion share as too meager and (2) residents of three other towns, who also had wanted their junior colleges expanded.

HIGHWAY bills will abound. Seen as likely are proposals to (1) allow the Highway Commis- sion to set higher speed limits on new divided highways, (2) restrict billboard advertising on new interstate routes, (3) prohib- it location of utility lines on highway right of way outside of cities and (4) prohibit car own- ers' registering their cars in counties other than where they live in order to escape auto prop- erty tax.

SAFETY legislation, both to punish the guilty and train the innocent, has widespread support.

Recommended measures would (1) allow chemical tests for drunkenness, (2) increase the State Highway Patrol, (3) strengthen traffic courts, (4) provide state aid for driver edu- cation in public schools and (5) overhaul the drivers license law.

WATER law will again be in the news when the State Water Board presents its report to the Legislature with the recommen- dation that $5,000,000 be spent on water planning in the next five years.

Texas lost hundreds of mil- lions in this decade through drought and uncontrolled floods the Board noted. It suggests planning directed toward captu- ring for use some 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 acre feet of the 42,000,000 acre feet estimated to run annually into the Gulf from Texas.

SMALL LOANS COMPANIES likely will be the center of some heated legislative debate as they have been in the past.

Texas Legislative Council has suggested a law giving the State Banking Commission authority to police the small loan indus- try and a constitutional amend- ment to allow the Legislature to fix interest rates.

Pvt. John E. Bogle of the United States Army reported back to Ft. Riley, Kans., Jan. 3rd af- ter spending the Christmas and New Years holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hamilton and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hart.

News From The County Agent

The "snorter" dwarf has been the most costly of all the types of dwarfism in beef cattle.

The "snorter" dwarf when first observed as a baby calf may be mistaken for a calf with out- standing beef conformation. The block appearance, short, compact body and mature look at birth is the first thing observed. But when the calf is one or two two months old the bulging forehead, prominent eyes, pro- truding lower jaw and tongue and low hanging head will iden- tify it as a "snorter" dwarf.

Development after this age is characterized by slow growth, increasing lack of coordination in milk, enlarging of the middle and heavier breathing. The name snorter was arrived at because of this heavy breathing. Many snorter dwarfs die before they reach weaning age, although some have lived for several years and some have reproduc- ed, says B. T. Haws, Co. agent.

The Texas Agricultural Exten- sion Service has released a leaf- let entitled "Snorter" Dwarfs in Beef Cattle. Authors are L. A. Maddox, Jr., and Uel D. Thomp- son, extension animal husband- men. The leaflet contains a dia- gram explaining inheritance of dwarfism and discusses types of matings, progeny tests using known carrier cows, progeny tests using daughters of a car- rier bull and other related topic. The leaflet is available from your local County agent.

Up to 30% can be added to the life of farm machinery by giving it proper winter care. And, too points out B. T. Haws Co. Agent, time will be saved in getting the machinery back on the job when it is needed.

Haws says machinery should be kept under a shelter, if possible, when it is not in use. All bright metal parts such as mower sickle, plow wings, cultivators and other plow points as well as all working parts of the ma- chines should be coated with grease or a rust inhibitor. Rub- ber tires should be blocked up to take weight of the machine of them while in storage. Gasoline, he says, should be drained from auxiliary motors. Spark plugs should be removed and three or four ounces of cy- linder oil dropped into each cy- linder. The motor should be turned a few times to distribute the oil and the plugs replaced.

Cooling systems on all motors not used during the winter season should be drained. A cover should be placed over the en- gine exhaust pipe to keep out moisture. All machinery should get a thorough lubrication job when it goes into storage and batteries removed and checked regularly to see that they re- main fully charged.

While the machines are in storage, Haws suggests that they be thoroughly checked for worn and broken parts. Repairs can be made during the slack season and no time will be lost when the machines are needed in the field.

Since spraying machines are precision equipment, Haws says they need special care at storage time. The sprayer should be flushed with warm, soapy water and rinsed with clear water. Dis- mantle the equipment and drain the tank, pump, valves, hoses, pipes and nozzles. All water should be removed to prevent possible damage from freezing.

A light coating of oil should be applied to the inside of the tank after it has dried and metal piston and gear pumps should be filled with oil. Noz- zles should be cleaned and stored where they will not be dam- aged. Farm costs can be cut and machinery life lengthened by proper winter care.

Mr. J. A. Scofield from Gaines- ville, will judge the steers at the Wichita County Beef show to be held at the 4-H barn located in Wichita Falls, 33 animals will be entered in the show.

The judging of the Holstein and Guernseys at the Ft Worth Fat Stock show will take place Feb. 5th.

Kids Make Christmas What It Is

Maurine Yarbro, a local housewife with four chil- ren of her own, knows quite a bit about what she is talk- ing about in the following poem. The poem reached this office the day after the paper had gone to press immedi- ately before Christmas. Last week, the paper was crowd- ed and jammed trying to get out before New Year's. But, Christmas is not just a day, or a week. We thought Maurine's poem would mean more when readers had time to reflect back over the days preceding the wonderful holiday, so here it is:

Have you ever been a mother, with a bunch of rowdy kids? Well, I am! And let me tell you, they've got me on the skids.

Especially when the "Merry Christmas" season has begun. It's happy holiday for them! For me, it isn't fun. They start in mid-November: "Mom, you've got to buy the tree!"

They don't let up a minute—they repeat it constantly— "Til I buy it, much too early, then I seem to be a "louse" Because I want to wait awhile to bring it in the house.

"In the garage? Well holy cow! For heaven's sake! Gee whiz!

Let's bring it in and put it up! Don't you know what day it is?

It's just a month 'til Christmas!" I sigh and bring it in, And my patience starts, from this point on, to wear a trifle thin.

Baby breaks balls by the dozen; Junior drops the lights; Susie bosses Junior; I referee ten thousand fights. The tree tips over once or twice; the powdered snow gets spilled.

"Stop fighting right now—STOP IT! Before someone gets killed."

At last the tree is gleaming, and I'm a nervous wreck! Before I can recover, Susie's draped around my neck To beg and plead, until I promise she can do some baking. I watch with mounting horror! What a mess that child is making!

Without their "help" the extra chores of Christmastime would be

A pleasure I could relish, and accomplish willingly, But with them over, under me, before me and behind, I lose my sense of values, and I almost lose my mind!

As Christmas nears, the little dears decide they ought to be As good as gold, and quite polite, to Daddy and to me. Since being good is not their nature, this is quite a test For now they argue endlessly about which one is best. They do things I don't want them to while they are "good as gold",

But do them with such fervent glee that I can't even scold. By Christmas Eve, believe you me, my life's an awful mess I'm just as near to lunacy as one could get, I guess!

I'm sick of children, home and work—I'd like to run away I'm dreading every moment of this so-called "Holiday". I fall in bed at half past three, I ache in every bone, My spouse deserted me at twelve—I finished up alone. I know that in an hour or two, I'll hear them start to call And there'll be sounds of bare feet running down the hall. Sure enough! Five A. M.—their voices start to hum. I'm foggy with fatigue—so tired my brain is numb!

But I get up, just like a good and loving mother should, Switch on the light, and smile at them, just as they knew I would,

And we all hurry to the tree where Santa left the loot, They all get what they wanted, and oodles more, to boot. The first few minutes I'm awake, I'm sort of dead inside, My biggest wish would be a place where I could go to hide. Then, through my fog of misery, their faces smile at me, Baby hugs her teddy bear, and crawls upon my knee.

I see Daddy stroke the golf cart he thought he wouldn't get—

(I'm glad I gave it to him, though it isn't paid for yet). And after years of giving appliances to me, My husband hands me perfume, and lacy lingerie. It's quite peculiar, really, when, amid the maddening noise I find, somehow, that I am feeling full of Christmas joys. The work is all forgotten; the kids don't bother me— In fact, those screams and scuffles are a mother's symphony.

For weeks I've hated Christmas, my children and my mate I haven't been quite "normal"; Now suddenly, it's great To be alive! I know I am the happiest wife and mother In all the world. I wouldn't trade my life for any other. My jangled nerves grow calm, serene; I smile and look around

At the biggest mess in history—and still my spirits bound! My kids are angels, everyone, as I can plainly see— The wonder is how they can stand a mixed-up Mom like me.

Forum Club Xmas Party Dec. 19 In Hugh Preston Home

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Preston, Jr. literally put out the traditional red carpet Dec. 19th when they entertained the members of the Forum Study club and their husbands. The guests were very surprised upon arriving to find themselves walking across or gingerly stepping over a beautiful red felt carpet runner trimmed in gold which stretched across the porch and down the steps. The front door was covered with red oil cloth and centered with a hugh wreath of gold pine cones. Co-hostess was Mrs. Charles Goins.

Brack Preston, Jr. gave the invocation before a delicious buffet dinner of turkey chow mein and all the trimmings was served. The service table was covered with a cloth of green felt trimmed with white fringe and centered with white hurricane lamps containing candles and based with angel hair. White china and gleaming silver carried out the color theme on the dining tables decorated with green cloths. The place cards were comical Santa's elves standing on round disks of white felt lettered with green glitter.

Gifts were exchanged after dinner from the hugh white Christmas tree trimmed with green and silver. The guests became hilarious when several received surprise gag gifts from Santa. Unique among these was the mouse who petrified its recipient so she remained speechless at least five minutes, the long "drawers" instead of the "Bikini" originally requested and the object no modern household can do without. One received a beautiful gold wall hanging of a "Ubangi," but we doubt if it will ever be hung.

Games of "42" bridge, and canasta concluded the evening. Attending were Messrs and Mesdames Tom Burnett, Winston Freeman, Charles Goins, Forrest Green, Wallace Landrum, Clyde McDonnell, Don Mills, Jack Northcott, Brack Preston, Jr. Don Swan, Lonnie Taylor, Don Holtzen, Gene Bankhead and Hugh Preston, Jr. The next meeting will be Jan. 8th in the home of Mrs. Clyde McDonnell.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our appreciation to Mayor H. D. Smith and the Chamber of Commerce for bringing Santa Claus down on the fire truck to visit the colored children before Christmas. They all enjoyed it so much. We regret that some of the children were out of town. We all say thank you and may the New Year be prosperous.

Miss Boles and Mr. Bruce Reed Wed In Walters

By Mollie R. Elliott

In a ceremony performed Saturday evening in the Walters, (Okla.) Church of Christ, Miss Shirley Ann Boles of Randlett, became the bride of Bruce F. Reed of Walters.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Boles of Randlett and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Reed of Walters.

Charles Prather, minister, was the officiant for the 7:30 o'clock nuptials before a lattice archway decorated with greenery and white carnations. Candelabra holding white cathedral tapers, sunburst arrangements of gladioli and a prie dieu completed the nuptial setting.

Mr. Boles presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. The molded bodice featured a Sabrina neckline and her bouffant skirt was designed with wide lace insets and an overskirt of tulle. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a pearl crown accented by seed pearls and rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of white roses atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Frank Bohac of Wichita Falls attending the bride as matron of honor, was attired in a dress of blue taffeta with a modified V-neckline and a bouffant balloon skirt. Her headpiece was a circle veil attached to a matching band, and she carried a nosegay of white and blue carnations.

Candlelighters were Miss Sandra Lee Johnson of Dallas, the groom's niece, and Larry Wayne Kinnard of Wichita Falls, nephew of the bride. Miss Johnson was attired in a dress styled identical to that of the honor attendant.

Connie Sue Boles, the bride's niece, served as flower girl. Attending the groom as best man was Joe Rose of Norman. Ushers were Eddie Patterson and Coleman Johnson, both of Dallas.

A reception was held in the home of the groom's parents. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of blue and white carnations and candelabra, holding white and blue tapers.

Reception assistants were Mrs. J. A. Kinnard, the bride's sister, Mrs. Coleman Johnson, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Jodie Boles, sister in law of the bride.

The couple will establish residence in Norman, Okla., where Mr. Reed is attending the University of Oklahoma.

Mrs. Reed, a graduate of Randlett High School, attended Cameron College in Lawton. Until her marriage, the bride was employed in the general offices of White Stores, Inc., Wichita Falls.

The groom is a graduate of Walters High School & Draughtons Business College in Wichita Falls. He served two years in the U. S. Army and is majoring in business at OU.

Mr. Chesver Howard was in town Monday morning visiting friends after a long illness. He suffered a heart attack recently and was a patient in a Wichita Falls hospital for 28 days.

J. W. Alexander Out and Around Following Injury

J. W. Alexander is able to be out and about again following a severe cut on his left foot. About November 20th he stepped on a coffee can and cut his foot to the bone some two or three inches in front of the heel. After considerable loss of blood he was taken to the hospital where a specialist required nearly two hours to tie the leaders, nerves, blood vessels, etc., back together.

Now Jim is able to drive his car and has already resumed his fishing and other "duties".

Mr. Alexander expresses his appreciation to all who visited him, sent cards and letters, and he especially enjoyed the colored slides friends came by and showed at his home.

M. C. Chapman of Jacksboro Texas was a Burk Star visitor Wednesday. Mr. Chapman was formerly in business here.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Alexander, Sr. spent the Christmas holidays with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Glen S. McCurley and family in Pecos. They also visited relatives in Midland before returning home.

Two kinds of men never get very far—those who can do nothing that they are told and those who can do nothing else.

Youngsters certainly do brighten a home—you've never seen one turn off an electric light.

If you want life to be a bed of roses you have to put in a lot of spade work.

Her husband claimed she was so dumb she put her cake in the ice box and couldn't understand why it didn't get any frosting on it.

Sugar Supplies Energy Needed To "Flap Your Wings"

The old saying, "there's nothing new under the sun" seems to be disproved every day with some new discovery. For example, in a recent experiment a hummingbird was offered a choice of sugar or an artificial sweetener. He instinctively chose sugar—nature's own energy food—which provides him with the power to beat his wings 3,300 times a minute. Maybe, you don't "flap your wings" as often as the hummingbird, but, no matter what your occupation might be, you need sugar's energy for your daily activities. Barbara Lyon, professional model, pictured above in a sugar-white sack dress, knows too well the value of eating energy-giving sugar. Because her work requires both a trim figure and vitality, Barbara relies on sugar for her main source of energy. For, no food satisfies appetites so fast with so few calories as sugar.
