Barcus served as director of the Southern Methodist University Band for seven years and has served churches in Denison, Greenville, Dallas, and is now in his 10th year in Brownwood. ## Communism

We were more than a little shocked the other day to come upon the smug statement of a midwest editor that he couldn't get too excited over the Communist menace since he felt the nation is strong and can take care of itself. Such reactions are distressing enough when they come from "the man in the street," but they are inexcusable from one whose circle of subscribers regard him as informed and look to him for guidance on at least the broader aspects of the nation's welfare.

In his March 1st letter "to all law enforcement officials," Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation says: "It is an uncontestable fact that our country, the symbol of the free world, is ultimate, priceless goal of international communism. This can't be until the Red Flag is flown over the U.S."

"If for a moment," the FBI Chief continues, "the grandiose Red plan is scoffed at as being fantastic, consider that one-fourth of the land surface of the world and one-third of the peoples of the earth are now controlled by the world-wide communist bloc."

"It is indeed appalling that some members of our society continue to deplore and criticize those who stress the communist danger. What these misguided authorities fail to realize is that the Communist Party, USA is an integral part of international communism. As the world wide menace becomes more powerful the various Communist Parties assume a more dangerous and sinister role in the countries in which they are entrenched. Public indifference to this threat is tantamount to national suicide."

"Lethargy leads only to disaster. The communists have a savage plan of liquidation for a vanquished America."

"Under Communist domination in America, the first campaign of liquidation would engulf the lawyers, champions of due process of law; Newspapermen, whose ageless fight for freedom of expression would have no place under totalitarianism; law enforcement officers, guardians of individual right; governmental leaders, local, state and national; and everyone falling in the 'capitalist' category. Occupations and professions which the communists term 'useless and parasitic' would be abolished—the list of purging is endless. No citizen would escape some form of suffering under a communist regime. One need but to compare his own worth, his own ideals, his own religious beliefs with the atheistic doctrines of communism to determine his priority on the list of liquidation."

Mr. Hoover concludes: "The defense of the cherished freedoms secured and handed down to us by our forefathers is the responsibility of each American. Knowledge of the enemy, alertness to the danger, and everyday patriotism are the brick and mortar with which we can build an impregnable fortress against communism. Only the intelligent efforts of all Americans can prevent the decay of public apathy from laying open our Nation to the Red menace."

The American public looks naturally to the editors of its newspapers for such knowledge, and for leadership in combating the sly, Red subversion that press unceasingly on our churches, our schools and our politics at all levels.

Statesmanship Wins

The majority of United States senators showed statesmanship in refusing to apply the gag debate on civil rights. Regardless of how one stands on this issue, the towering fact is that the Senate's privilege of almost unlimited debate is the one great barrier to congressional action which the nation might live to regret.

In the past the prerogative of senators to debate at length has prevented on many occasions the passage of ill considered legislation. It will do so again and again in the future unless by chance the Senate some day makes the error of revising its rules so as to take away its standing as "the greatest deliberative body in the world."

It will be a sad day for this nation any time the Senate invokes cloture precipitately. It will be a much sadder day if the Senate ever revises its rules to make cloture easy. On occasions when passions run high over an issue or when their own political fortunes are at stake, many senators, being weak mortals even as all of us, are tempted to do what their better judgement tells them they should not do.

Most fortunately, 53 members out of 95 voting on the cloture motion Thursday refused to apply the gag. The extremists and those who went along with them lacked 22 votes of summoning the necessary two-thirds majority.

Incidentally, let it not be forgotten that quite a few of those senators who today would limit debate participated on the losing side, in the longest debate in recent memory, the tidelands bill which was before the Senate from April 1 to May 5, in 1953.

The majority of Americans do not want such an extreme civil rights bill passed as the measure being debated in the Senate. Neither, evidently, do a majority of United States senators.

Texas Longhorn Cavern Near Burnet, Third Largest Cave, Tourist Attraction

Vacationers escape heat in Longhorn Cavern where the temperature is a comfortable 64° the year 'round. Guided tours through the world's third largest cave are always the high spot of a trip to Texas' beautiful Highland Lakes area.

Texas Longhorn Cavern, 3rd largest cave in the world, has come of age as one of the states prime tourist attractions. H. H. (Hob) Galloway, manager of the cavern, declared this week.

Cavern visitors will total more than 500,000 long before the cave's 28th anniversary as a public showplace this Thanksgiving, Mr. Galloway predicted after studying attendance figures for past years. In fact, the half-millionth visitor probably will pass through the famous Sam Bass entranceway sometime in July he said.

When the cavern was first opened for public inspection by the State of Texas back on Thanksgiving Day in 1932, Thanksgiving services were held in the 183 ft long Main room and attended by the Governor and other dignitaries. After four years of development, few people even knew about it except the folks who lived in this area like Mr. Galloway and his boyhood friends who used to play hide and seek in the dark reaches of the cave.

We were a little bit off the beaten track then, recalled Mr. Galloway, who is also president of a bank, former mayor and a director of the Burnet Chamber of Commerce.

But today heavy tourist traffic streams down U. S. Highway 281 a direct Canada-to-Mexico route. And many tourists take time out to visit the cavern, reached by a paved road which enters Longhorn Cavern State Park at a point four miles south of Burnet. It is also situated in the heart of the Burgeoning Highland Lakes resort areas of Texas which includes Buchanan Lake Inks Lake, Granite Shoals, Lake Travis and Lake Austin, along the lower Colorado River.

We're getting people from every state in the union now, Mr. Galloway said, and you'd be surprised how many Texans visit the cavern and are amazed when they see what a spectacular natural wonder it is.

We figure it's really unusual when a Texan is amazed at something that fulfills every requirement of a Texas 'brag'.

This summer, Mr. Galloway estimates that more than 5,000 tourists and resorters a month will visit the cavern.

Two miles of the cavern have been developed and a completely new lighting system has recently been installed to bring out all its natural subterranean beauty. Guides relate all of the caves romantic legends of Indians desperadoes and buried treasure, during the hourly tours from 10:00 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Visitors are filled with cavern lore and at the same time exposed to one of the world's most unusual natural phenomena.

Drivers Under 25 Have Very High Accident Rate

Drivers in the age 25 or under classification hold less than 20 percent of the valid Texas driver licenses, but a driver 25 or under is involved in nearly one of three traffic accidents on Texas highways.

The Association of Texas Fire and Casualty Insurance Companies reported today that on the basis of analysis of Department of Public Safety records, drivers age 25 and under were involved in 549 fatal accidents in 1958.

The ratio of involvement in both fatal accidents and total accidents was almost identical for drivers in this age bracket.

The Association studies showed that drivers in the 15-25 age bracket were involved in a substantially higher percentage of accidents than those in any other ten-year age span.

Drivers in the 15-24 age group representing 18.3 percent of Texas licensed drivers, were responsible for 27.2% of the accidents.

Next highest were drivers between ages 25 and 34, 25.7% of the states licensed drivers. Drivers in this bracket were involved in 23.8 percent of the accidents.

Percentage for other brackets decline sharply: 35-44, 22.7% of drivers, 18.2% of accidents; 45-55, 17.3% of drivers, 14.3% of accidents.

Age group 55-56, involved in 8.6% of the accidents, represents 10.6% of the drivers, and the over 65 bracket represents 5.9% of the drivers, is involved in 5.3% of the accidents.

Drivers under 25 are involved in a greater percentage of accidents than all drivers over age 45. Drivers 20 and 21 are involved in the most fatal accidents, 130 in 1958.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH -- MILLIONS LEAVE THEM THERE

This pipe bridge spanning the water is a common sight in the gas producing areas of our great nation. This line is but one of thousands that feed the hungry furnaces of American industry. How nearly we might compare the gleaming line with the arteries that carry the precious life blood throughout our bodies. Human life and industry would not be possible without these small but important lifelines.

And so it is with the Church... for the church is the lifeline between God and man. It is where man's spiritual needs are fed, his faith and beliefs renewed. And his doubts, worries and frustrations removed. Through the church... God's Lifeline... is man able to know of the bountiful blessings of eternal life.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

COLOR IN RELATION

By Mrs. Ralph Swinford
Member Of Burk Garden Club

In all landscape we strive for unity. When we look from a given point in 1 direction we want a complete picture with some special feature predominating. The house is the predominating object and everything else should be done to enhance the value. At the same time we must remember in beautifying the home grounds that the individual is being charged continually and there must be many points of interest separated from each other by a tree, a mass of flowers, group of shrubs, garden wall, etc; yet each of these objects is helping to give organization to the whole.

We must not be impatient and want our landscape to look complete the first day it is planted. We might as well expect a baby to walk when it is a day old; so we must take into consideration the space our plants will require as they grow.

We may think that the principles of design apply to line only, but everyone of these apply to color uses.

BALANCE OR REST — This means one side of a given view should have as much weight as the other whether it be the house, a screen planting or perhaps flower bed itself.

The house may be enhanced by a tall dense and dark green shrub or small tree at each of back corners. In screen plantings, too we like to use these at corners as they give support where we expect to find it. Another view within the grounds might have a tree balanced with a shrub, a shrub with flowers. In using flowers and shrubs we regard the weight of color in placing large and small objects or amounts. The larger the area, the duller the color should be and the smaller the brighter it may be.

Repetition insures a restful effect by repeating an important color from one part of our landscape to another.

PROPORTION—This may be gained through a subtle variety. Monotony results from too much repetition. We have seen a landscape that had arbovitae all around the house. How much more interesting if there were varied plants, yet we want to use them in proportion. The same rule would apply in our flower groupings as in shrub plantings for the front of the house. We know that we never want to see more than four different kinds in front of a house and they are more interesting if unequal in proportion than if all were used in like amount. In arranging the colors or shrub plantings to be combined if they are equal in their power to attract attention the Greek proportion would be three of one to two of the other. However, if the colors are very different in forcefulness we would use the Law or Areas with quieter colors in large amounts and brighter colors in small amounts.

LIGHTING & SHADING — We must take this into consideration in choosing plants and colors. We must think of our expoures so as to plant that will as effect of light from that of light. If we are like to use a darker color in moonlight have extension of our flower city of value. EMPHASIS INTEREST—many displays of organization is not led to and there is. Too many planting of. We might interest to. (Continued)

Many people notice leaf spots on Magnolia, ligustrum, euonymus, gardenia, holly, photinia and other broadleaf evergreens at this time of year, especially in areas of high rainfall. These funga leaf spots may be of different sizes and colors. They lower the aesthetic value of trees and shrubs, however, the plants are damaged little since the damage is on one year old leaves that are about ready to naturally fall from the tree or shrubs. Several different fungi or molds may cause these leaf spots.

If the value of the shrub or shadetree is high enough to justify the cost, a preventative spray program is effective in reducing the damage by leaf spots. Use 2 tablespoons of cap-tan or 2 tablespoons of zineb per gallon of water. Add a spreader-sticker to the spray. A combination of zineb and captan may be more effective. Zineb or captan may be used with safety during any part of the year. It is more important to have plants protected during times of above average rainfall or high humidity.

With bacterial leaf spots, it may be necessary to spray with a fixed or insoluble copper such as Copper A Compound or Tri-basic Copper Sulfate. Bordeaux mixture may also be used. Use fixed copper or bordeaux with care since they may damage leaves to some extent. The use of a spreader-sticker and avoiding hot weather will lessen the spray damage.

Leaf spots may occur during the growing season. Continued premature loss of leaves may weaken a tree or shrub so that it is more susceptible to other troubles. A good spray program plus proper fertilization and watering will help improve health of trees and shrubs. Avoid wetting foliage while watering as this tends to spread leaf spots.

Mrs. Raymond Krull, a landscape demonstrator has noticed a large cover of the black spots on her ligustrum screen. At the same time she noticed the leaves range from light green to yellow to almost white. She found her plants are also suffering from "Chlorosis." To correct the chlorosis, Mrs. Krull is adding iron to the soil in the form of iron sulfate often called cop-peras.

The application of large amounts of well-rotted organic material on a regular basis will correct the basic cause of chlorosis by making the soil less alkaline, resulting in iron being more available. Most soils on which iron chlorosis occurs are well supplied with iron, but it is in a form unavailable for plant use.

Powdery mildew, a fungus disease which attacks many flowering and ornamental plants is normally present at this time of the year.

Home growers are advised to check their plantings for signs of the disease. The fungus appears as a white to grayish growth covering the surface of the plant parts, mainly the leaf surface. Dust the plants with 325-Mesh sulfur at the first appearance of the disease or spray with wettable sulfur (1 1-2 to 2 level tablespoons to 1 gallon). Repeat the applications if needed. Karathane use as a dust or spray may give better control but is probably more expensive. Karathane has an advantage of being less toxic to plants. Sulfur or Karathane are available in insecticide-fungicide combination sprays or dusts.

Some of the more commonly grown plants which should be watched for mildew are roses, violets, chrysanthemums, honeysuckle, phlox, zinnias, live oak, crape myrtle, euonymus and hydrangea.

Unless the disease is controlled, the plants may lose their foliage and thus fail to make normal growth and production. If commercial preparations are applied, the recommendations of the manufacturers of the material should be followed in making the application. Keep pesticides in a dry, safe place, a way from children.

Experts tell us that there are between 25,000 and 40,000 varieties of fish.

Texas Democrats have marked June 14th on their calendars. Austinites have circled it in red. June 14th is the day some 5000 Texas Democrats will converge on the Capital City for their state convention. It is expected to be many big days rolled into one.

It will be the first time in recent memory that the huge colorful gathering has come to Austin. A large new city auditorium and convention center makes it possible. It's the day that comes only once every 4 years when Texans name delegates to a national presidential nominating convention.

But most excitement centers on the fact that Texas Democrats will be assuming what is usually a once-in-a-life-time role that of sponsoring a major contender for the presidential nomination. Work is underway in every part of the state to insure that the delegates to Austin will give arousing support to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson for favorite son nominee and chairman of the Texas delegation to Los Angeles.

Sen. Johnson's chances of becoming president were re-emphasized by Gov. Price Daniel and cheered by the State Democratic Executive Committee when the party leaders met to plan the June convention. Committee members selected Dallas for the second state Democratic convention on Sept. 20. Their meeting also was made an occasion for honoring Mrs. Hilda Weinert of Seguin for a quarter century of loyal service to the Texas Democratic party.

Court Rejects Vote Hassle— Texas Supreme Court refused to consider a direct appeal from the City of Austin that it order a complete recount of votes in a hotly contested urban renewal election.

Issue has had Austinites in a stew for months. It was originally announced after the election in December that urban renewal had carried by a 52-vote margin. Eight property owners contested the election results on grounds that ballots were cast by persons not qualified to vote. After 9 of 18 contested boxes had been opened, District Judge James K. Evetts of Belton declared the election void. He said there were so many disqualified voters and improperly marked ballots that it was impossible to determine the election outcome.

Austin's city attorney petitioned the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to compel Judge Evetts to open and examine all the ballot boxes. He contended the qualified voters had a right to have their votes counted. Having lost out on a direct plea to the Supreme Court, City Attorney Doren Eskew said he would go through the usual appeal route, going first to the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals.

College Home Delayed— Gov. Daniel's office and the Legislative Budget Board are to make a "full review" before plans proceed to build an $87,000 home for the president of Sam Houston State Teachers College.

A number of legislators hit the ceiling last session over similarly costly homes built for presidents of Southwest Texas State College and Stephen F. Austin State College. Restrictions were written into the current appropriations bill aimed at preventing further expenditures on such a scale.

Rep. James M. Cotten, member of the House committee on saving taxes, wrote the governor to protest what he called a tremendous waste.

Gov. Daniel said he had been assured by the chairman of the Board of Regents for State Teachers' Colleges that no action would be taken until everyone interested had had his say. He pointed out, however, that the home was to be built from constitutionally allocated funds to which the legislative appropriation restrictions have been held not to apply.

More Judges Suggested— Larger metropolitan areas such as Houston, Dallas and San Antonio may soon need larger Court of Civil Appeals. This observation was made by Associate Justice James R. Norvell of the Texas Supreme Court and others in a study made for the Texas Civil Judicial Council.

Judge Norvell suggested that five judges, rather than three, may be needed soon for the courts in the city areas. Supreme Court the study also noted, may also soon need some further restrictions on cases it will handle to prevent too heavy dockets. Civil Appeals Courts were created to keep everything from going to the Supreme Court but the high court is flooded with appeals from these courts.

Judge Norvell suggested limiting the Supreme Court to constitutional issues and cases where there is a conflict in judicial decisions.

Oil Allowable Cut— Railroad Commission cut the state's oil production for April after testimony that both crude oil and gasoline were in over-supply.

April allowable will be 2,814,252 barrels a day, a cut of 123,029 barrels a day from March. Number of producing days was cut from 10 to 9.

Oilmen told the Commission that other states, such as Louisiana and Mississippi had not cut back production to offset the oversupply as Texas has. This state, said one Texas executive bitterly, is taking the backlash of the situation.

Tighter Driving Law— Legislation that would crack down on the driver who does not have a drivers license has been proposed for the next session.

Rep. Ben Lewis of Dallas said that under present law a person who drives without having a license can

By contract holder who can, if he is

Lewis said a series of driver

News From The Congress

By Congressman Frank Icard

The House continues to be involved in the civil rights debate which has now been going on for almost two weeks. The House bill under consideration would do the following things: First, make it a felony to cross a state line to avoid prosecution, for willfully damaging or destroying a church, synagogue, or public building; second, it would require preservation of records in a Federal election for a reasonable time to permit investigation of complaints that any citizen might have involving his denial of the right to vote; Third, it would make it an offense to obstruct or impede the carrying out of a lawful court order by force or violence; Fourth, it would extend the Civil Rights Commission for 2 years.

There have been offered to this basic bill many amendments many of which attempt to assure the right of a citizen to vote. It is absolutely impossible at this time to know what final form the measure will be in when it is voted on by the House. It does appear, however, that if some of the amendments that have been offered are adopted, the cure may be worse than the disease. That is that in attempting to assure voting right it may mean providing for destroying of our traditional secret ballot and also making it possible for controlled elections. As we have indicated, there is no possible way to tell what provisions the final version of the civil rights bill will contain. It is evident, however, as the debate continues, that the only real solution to this problem must come from the local level rather than from the Federal Government.

There is more and more skepticism about the effectiveness of our foreign economic aid program. Recent disclosures show that in many instances it has been badly administered and has been extremely wasteful. The chances are good that this program will be materially reduced by this session of Congress.

While the Congress has not yet considered any of the big money bills, the few that have been acted on in the House so far show that the budgetary requests have been reduced to date in the amount of approximately 161 million Dollars.

As more and more of the facts come to light, it becomes apparent that there is a considerable gap existing between this country and Russia in missile development and space exploration. During the coming weeks, we will hear more and more of this—how to forge ahead. This is one of the most critical problems facing us today.

Visitors from home this week were Dr. Robert Daily and daughter, Barbara, Col. Floyd Taylor, Mr. Boyd Kelley, Mr. John Wallace of Wichita Falls; and Mr. Gray Halbert of Crowell.

Newman has enriched the lives of all who have come in contact with him and added immeasurably to his continuous service to the community of Burkburnett, and he has contributed generously of his time and effort to the welfare, development and growth of the City of Burkburnett; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, that the Board of Commissioners of the City of Burkburnett, on behalf of the people of Burkburnett, Texas, hereby commend, and express our deep appreciation to A. W. Newman for his unselfish contribution to our community.

Passed and approved at a meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the City of Burkburnett, Texas, on this 28th day of March, A. D. 1960.

"Worst roads in the world, but this new Chevy takes all the roughness out!"

Out near Wathena, Kansas, farmer Milt Roundy tends 800 acres with only one helper—his 1960 Chevrolet pickup. The truck almost never runs on Kansas's fine state highways—instead it averages about 2,500 miles a month on unimproved back-country trails or on hauls into the fields, off the road. "In my book, these are the worst roads in the world," Mr. Roundy says, "but this new Chevy takes all the roughness out. It doesn't fishtail or whip around like other trucks — I can steer it with one finger!"

They're speaking right up, these owners of '60 Chevrolets. Everywhere you go, they're giving out glowing reports on a revolutionary new truck ride that leads to a bigger day's work at less expense; praiseworthy truck power that knows the most about saving money.

It's Chevy's total newness they're talking about. And you'll be talking, too, once you turn a new Chevrolet loose on your money runs. Your dealer can get you started, right away!

It takes Chevy's new Torston-Spring Ride to smooth out a road like this!

IN COLOR RELATION

door or window or a vision that we might want to have from a porch or terrace.

In oblong gardens we place the focal point at the end opposite the entrance and use it to terminate the path.

Square, round or oval gardens most usually concentrate on the middle of the scheme for proper relationship.

If bright colored flowers are put at the back and are partially screened, the color more or less, intrigues the passerby and he wants to see more of the place. If bright colored berries and flowers are put at the front of the house this interest is not aroused.

HARMONY OR UNITY— In gaining this, backgrounds should show less emphasis than the objects which are placed against them. We observe this in store window displays.

A color scheme should give an impression of being composed of warm colors with accents of cool colors or being a cool scheme with accents of warmth.

In order to gain harmony in arranging a large garden area it should appear to contain one color in common.

The most unifying are the colors of light which are yellow, yellow-orange and orange. When these colors are dull enough, any hue looks well against them and would be most useful for background.

Cool hues which recede have a tendency to separate colors seen against them.

We need to think of our flowers, too in terms of spring, summer and fall season and let our summer flowers be one that will intermingle with the fading of spring flowers and blend into the coloring of our fall garden.

By using the white, creams and yellows for summer they will blend nicely with the spring and fall colors.

If we can have our bulbs, annuals and perennial flowers in one area or bed it gives a more restful, uncluttered effect. Also annuals are good replacement and ground covering for bulbs and fill in nicely with perennials in the summer when most perennials are not in bloom or in newly planted perennial beds before they have attained full growth. When all of these are kept in one group it makes for easier care as in watering and easier to clear for the winter.

We use nature's planting as an example in our plantings, broad masses of colors made up of a few varieties in large numbers, gay plants in long, flowering curves rather than in trim, straight lines. Nature's greens of shrubs and foliage of flowers also help to unify our plantings.

CONTRAST — As in dress or in decorating our homes, contrast is of utmost importance in our landscape.

If we use cenzia or any gray foliage plant against a gray wall it becomes invisible or if we use bright red flowers against a red brick we would tend to make it dull.

Foliage of plants may give contrast. We do not realize many times that leaves are blue green; silver-green, yellow-green etc. and may give the contrast we are seeking.

We also can get contrast of color through texture of foliage. Coarse foliage should never be used to excess, but a few coarse textured plants near or among finely divided foliage often strengthens entire effect and serves as accent.

But in using contrast let us be careful that we do not use colors that might clash such as a red bud tree and orange, red flowering peach that put out their blooms about the same time.

In summarizing let us keep in mind a picture with balance, rightful or proportionate amount of color with a center of interest, overall harmony and a dash of spice.
