From the suggestions offered, it seemed to be the general opinion that all youth programs should be under a central management.

Although the city crews were used all during the week for this special hauling, we were still not able to answer all calls that came in. They will continue the special hauling until all the calls that were received last week are answered.

MR. AND MRS. RUSSELL DUVAL GETTING CHRISTMAS PRESENTS READY

Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus Need Help To Make Children Happy Christmas

Burkburnett, Texas
Nov. 28, 1960.

Dear boys and girls of Burkburnett and across Deep Red:

I was in Burkburnett Friday and sure was glad to talk to some of you good boys and girls. I know all of you didn't come to town to see me, maybe some of you were a little puny and just couldn't come to see me and tell me what you want for Christmas.

However I will be back in town December 10th from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. Be sure and see me then.

I sure was glad to see all you children who did come to see me as I had not seen you since last Christmas.

All you children who came to see me said that they had been good boys and girls and I am jolly good happy for that. All I talked to said they did just what Daddy and Mother said do, and helped around the house. The good girls said they helped mother and the good boys said they also helped around the house doing things for both mother and daddy. So I say, Goody, Goody, Gumdrop for you.

All the good boys and girls who go to school told me that they sure did like their teacher. Now that is nice and remember the teacher loves all of you too. So you children keep on studying and do as your teacher wants you to do, and the main thing is to keep going to Sunday School and Church. Now you just keep that up.

Have you written your letters to me yet? Well, now you just get busy and write me, Old Santa Claus, and tell me what you want. Take your letter to our U. S. Post Office and drop it in the special mail box so I will be sure and get it, and by the way you don't need to put a stamp on it either and I will be sure to get it. Write me soon and say if you know any little children who will be less fortunate than you this Christmas. Have mother to tell me about them too for we want every boy and girl happy this Christmas, and also have a good Christmas dinner. Have mother give the names and address of such folks and the ages of the children and whether boys or girls.

Oh say, don't you forget our Big Burkburnett Childrens Xmas Party Downtown Dec. 24. I will be looking for you then as I will be there with old Rudolph and the other deer and I want you to ride with me in my sled. So be good boys and girls and write me HO HO HO HO.

Yours for the merriest Xmas ever.

Santa Claus.
Counter Signed:
Mr. and Mrs. Russell Duvall.
P. S.—Mothers and Dads—If you care to give for our Christmas Party please send your help to Santa Claus 612½ East 2nd St. Burkburnett, Texas. No contribution too large not to be needed or too small to be appreciated.

How Cynics Get That Way

Complaints about the declining morality of the American people are heard on every side these days. Public officials piously scold their constituents for succumbing to cynicism. These officials tell us we ought to raise our standards.

Apparently it never occurs to them that the cynical attitude they deplore only too often reflects the standards people see expressed by their government. If ethics have gone out of style, the new fashion did not begin at the grassroots. It started in Washington.

Here's a timely example:

In the face of strong public opposition, Congress added a "temporary" one cent increase to the Federal gasoline tax last year, bringing the rate up to four cents per gallon.

Advocates of the tax increase had persistently claimed that the extra revenue was needed to meet a deficit in financing the national highway program. Opponents refuted that plea by demonstrating that about 40 cents out of every dollar of revenue pouring in each year from special Federal automotive taxes never gets near the highway program. This money is used for just about everything but highways.

Moreover, the opponents quoted the clause in Federal highway law that declares "it is unfair and unjust to tax motor vehicle transportation" unless the revenue is used exclusively for roads. Let the Federal Government give us such fiscal hypocrisy and there would be no need to talk about a gasoline tax increase to provide more money for highways, they said.

To meet this criticism, advocates of the tax increase came up with a compromise plan that Congress adopted in the fall of 1959. Under this plan, the Federal gasoline tax was to be increased for 21 months, ending June 30, 1961. Then the added tax would expire and be replaced by a portion of the Federal automotive taxes not now going to the road program.

Now some officials are urging Congress to repudiate that compromise made last year. Not only do they want to keep that 1959 gasoline tax increase in effect past its pledged expiration date, they even want to pile another half cent onto the rate.

Those officials who are genuinely concerned about improving our moral climate have a wonderful chance to make their point. They can insist that the Government set the public a much needed good example.

Keeping the promise about the expiration of that temporary Federal gasoline tax increase would go a long way toward curing public cynicism. It would succeed where a thousand hollow speeches fail, in restoring some of the public's lost faith in the sincerity of their leaders and the integrity of their government. Keeping this promise would also apply the brakes to a runaway tax. The last Federal increase brought the combined state-federal tax to nearly 50% of the price of the fuel itself, a staggering load to pile on a daily commodity.

Schools - Not Country Clubs

If local communities don't build and run schools, the government will. That statement comes from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in urging popular support of school bond issues that are financially sound.

Actually, the voters seem to have been doing a fine job of improving the educational plant. According to government figures, in the last 10 years, for every enrollment increase of 100 pupils, communities have built enough classrooms to house 120 and have, in addition, replaced obsolete classrooms for 40. Half of the 36 million children in school today are in classrooms built since World War II.

At the same time, another warning should be issued to school boards, administrators and others in authority. There is a limit beyond which the voters and taxpayers, either at the national or local level, will not go, nor be expected to go, in providing unnecessary frills and luxuries that send the cost of buildings and classrooms soaring. We need first class educational plants, not country clubs. Local people will support all the schools we should have—the right kind of schools.

ma Wirges, county HD agent reminds us that the Texas Food Standard calls for a serving of potatoes—sweet or Irish—every day.

Baking sweet potatoes retains much of the flavor and food value and saves time for the cook. All you do is wash and dry the potato, greasing before baking serves no real purpose. Bake one hour in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for medium sized potatoes.

Potatoes may "leak" if baked too long or with too high heat. Test for doneness by pressing rather than puncturing with a fork.

Left over sweet potatoes will keep for several days in the refrigerator. Serve them mashed, fried or candied. Citrus juices, tart apples and nuts combine well with the flavor of sweet potatoes.

Sweet potatoes also freeze well. Cook potatoes until almost tender. Cool, peel, slice or mash. To prevent darkening, add 2 tablespoons of lemon or orange juice to each quart of mashed potatoes. Package and freeze immediately.

If you haven't a church home we would like very much for you to visit us where the full gospel is preached in the old time way. There is special music and singing each service. Each and every one has a warm and hearty welcome to come worship with us.

HEY BUDDY!

Hey Buddy, I just wanted to borrow a match — but I might have been opportunity, good fortune, or death. How would you greet me if I were any one of these, especially the last? No matter how unprepared you are any one of these may come to your house today.

There is a way that you can be ready for whatever may come. That way is the one described in the Bible as trusting in God, knowing that He is good. Ah, but who is God that we may trust Him? He is the power who sends opportunity, good fortune and death. To know Him and trust Him is to know life and be freed from all anxiety over death or life. Do you want to know Him? Then seek Him where He may be found, among His people in the Church, and in His witness in the Bible.

Is something wrong with your life— an inner restless dissatisfaction? The answer to every human problem comes only from God our Maker. He alone can forgive and restore. Through the church God has committed the provision and proclamation of His forgiveness and redeeming love. Without a church relationship no one is securely related to God. Everyone should be in the Church and the Church in everyone!

WORKING WITH WOOD

Some species of wood are naturally resistant to fungus attack and withstand decay for many years. However, it is only the heartwood of these species which is durable. The sapwood of all native trees decays readily. The durability of heartwood from certain trees is the result of toxic materials in the heartwood which make the wood undesirable to fungi. Also, since heartwood is drier than sapwood and the heartwood pores are filled with various deposits, the moisture and air conditions required for fungus growth are less favorable. Fortunately, sapwood is easy to treat with wood preservatives since the cells are relatively open and free of deposits. Such treatment can be made more durable and less expensive by the use of preservative treatments. Untreated wood service many years. Their investors should be advised of all conditions in or near where conditions are insect and fungus.

Another Message to American Industry Leaders about

The Opportunity Frontier OF TEXAS

IT'S 1965 FOR THIS MAN IN

The Opportunity Frontier OF TEXAS

Our planning engineers are "men who live in the future." They maintain a constant watch over growth patterns in the OPPORTUNITY FRONTIER OF TEXAS—population, retail sales, personal income, vehicle registration, construction, so they can plan effectively and anticipate power needs five and more years from now.

For example, the 240,000 kilowatt steam electric generating unit at our newest plant site near Graham, Texas, was planned in 1955 for operation in December, 1960. It is the eighteenth power generating unit built during the past twelve years at strategically located plants throughout our strong power system. These new units have increased by ten times the company's net generating capability.

Our well-planned power system assures metropolitan-type service throughout the area served by the company. When your firm relocates in this area—or when you open a new plant, warehouse or branch office in the OPPORTUNITY FRONTIER—you will have a sure source of low-cost power.

Our Area Development Department will gladly supply plant site information to fit your specific needs.

WE'RE INVITING THEM TO GROW WITH THIS PROGRESSIVE AREA

American business and industry are constantly looking to the future... selecting the location of plants, warehouses and branch offices to keep manufacturing, distribution and marketing operations efficient amid changing patterns of population and resources.

The dynamic growth and rich resources of The Opportunity Frontier of Texas, much of which is served by Texas Electric Service Company, offer many advantages for growth and expansion.

Business and industry executives—the men who decide on plant, warehouse and office sites—will see the message reproduced at left in Business Week, Fortune and The Wall Street Journal.

We are making this investment in area progress to promote the growth of the area we serve—to attract new customers, added tax revenues, and greater job opportunities which will benefit everyone.

Wentley Crowned Tractor Winner

WENTLEY OF BURKBURNETT, is crowned tractor winner by Tractor Queen Jane Allen of Humble, Texas; and Choyce Allison, representing Humble Tractor Company, congratulates him at the 4-H Club Congress held recently in Chicago.

Wentley, 14, Burk Burnett, received special award at the 39th annual 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. He was crowned by the Extension Service with the National 4-H Tractor Program, conducted by the Extension Service with the National 4-H Tractor Program, Inc. Sonny won a free trip to the guest of the Humble Company, sponsor of the program in Texas and five other Southwestern states. The program is conducted nationally by the Extension Service, working with the National 4-H Service Committee, Inc. Last year, more than 77,400 were enrolled in the Tractor Program.

Tractor Queen Jane Allen of Mason, Mich., crowned Sonny the Texas state tractor winner. He will also be an honored guest, with other state winners, at a special recognition banquet Tuesday night.

Sonny lives on a 2,000 acre farm outside of Burkburnett. In the short period of five years he has completed 36 different 4-H projects including his work in the tractor program. Speaking of the knowledge gained from the tractor program Sonny says, keeping a tractor in good running condition saves us money & time, a tractor that breaks down has no place on a busy farm.

Valley View 48—Bulldogs 44

The Valley View Warriors rolled to their second victory of the season by defeating our own Burk Bulldogs 48-44 at Valley View Monday night.

The Bulldogs came from behind in the second quarter, thanks to the sharp shooting of high man Johnny Koller, to even things up at 27-25 at the half.

In the third quarter the Bulldogs went ahead three times only to drop behind again two points going into the fourth period.

The fourth quarter showed just how the Bulldogs could be called never say die. Trailing 11 points with only four minutes left to play, the Dogs buckled down and caught up and passed the Warriors but when the final gun sounded, the Dogs were trailing by only four points.

High man for the game was Johnny Koller for Burk with 15 points and Harvey Newman for the Warriors with 19.

In the "B" game, however, things were a little different. Burk dominated the game and won 38 to 23. Don Overton was high for the Dogs with 13.

Thursday the "A" boys and girls meet the Big Pasture Rangers at Big Pasture, and Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 8, 9, 10, the A boys travel to Iowa Park for the tournament there. Then on Dec. 6, the Bulldogs open the home season by playing the Grandfield boys and girls here at 7 p. m.

Christmas Snow

By R. D. Laney

I was born and raised in the Southland where the presence of snow at Christmas time was a joy and delight to all the small fry. In the far north snow is the rule rather than the exception when sleigh bells are often heard as early as Thanksgiving. The frost and falling leaves are a sure sign of approaching winter. The leafless forms of trees, reaching towards November skies with browned fields and slopes, and coating of ice that forms overnight on quiet pools, is a reminder to concentrate on dealing with this interloper from the north when he arrives.

When I think of Christmas, for the sake of the children, I hope it will be a white one. For them snow means a holiday and adventure and strange evanescent beauty to be felt and tested, slashed thru, slid upon and mixed with snowballing and creating snowmen. I think that it must have always been so. A few times while I was a child at Christmas time, the snow would fall during the night, & when awakened in the early morning to a strange brilliance of the pre-dawn gray of my bedroom, I instantly knew what happened and would rush shivering to wipe a peep-hole thru the icy window glass to look out on a world newly drawn in black and white.

How casually the flakes drifted down like autumn leaves floating to earth, how gaily they tumbled like children dancing and it seemed as though someone had given our snowflakes a good shake. The blue-gray hills in the distance partly concealed in snow mist and the wind, came sweeping in full crescendo, it whistled shrilly through the pine needles like a boy whistling. Overhead as gray snow clouds fled before the winds of higher levels, I could catch brief glimpses of sky, then through thinning light of a winter's day shone clouds above, the pale gold light of a winter's day shone forth.

A white Christmas in the Southland is an event to be looked forward to by the small fry with a great deal of expectancy. It gives the occasion a touch of realism necessary to promote the high spirits, joy and pleasure in the minds and being of children at this most looked forward time to in the year. But one can only hope that when the time arrives, snow will come to cover fallen leaves and grass and stone and that there will be winds to send the snow in great swirling clouds of white across the lawn.

In the fall of the year there comes a between season, summer is gone and everything waits for autumn. Some days the air is extra dry and clear, it is summer hot in the sun and autumn cool in the shade. There comes a few brisk days and we say it is really fall and we begin to look forward to Thanksgiving and Christmas.

But comes Christmas, it does not matter how cold the hour, or how bleak and gray the day of clouds, for there is warmth and color and friendliness in the browned December Southland. The sharp stinging winds sweeping down the frozen north brings with it great swirling clouds of white snow across the land to make the wish of everyone for a white Christmas come true.

TB is our country's number one infectious killer. Fight TB with Christmas Seals.
