Texas Tech 1961 Football Schedule

Although Coach J. T. King isn't selling his first Texas Tech football team short, he's willing to agree that the strength of the Red Raiders' 1961 schedule rather than the grid potential of the Raiders is mainly responsible for an upsurge in season ticket sales.

"Look at the schedule—four Southwest Conference games in Lubbock plus West Texas and Boston College," asserts King. Texas A and M, Baylor and Texas Christian are always popular in this region and Rice is coming up with a team that may be the favorite."

King figures, too, that West Texas State, with its strongest team in several years, and Boston College, returning its top 22 players, are also drawing a good share of attention.

Aiding the ticket sale this summer is the fact that they may be purchased on the installment plan and that tickets are available on a season basis in all sections—including the option area—of Jones Stadium.

Ticket application blanks and details on the installment plan may be obtained by writing Jimmie Wilson, Business Manager of Athletics, Texas Tech, Lubbock.

ON THIS JULY FOURTH

On July 4, 1776, our forefathers set forth the Constitution of the United States of America in declaring independence from tyranny and oppression.

Each July 4th we as Americans celebrate freedom from restraints our forefathers provided for us on that day. Many thousands do it by taking pleasure trips in their automobiles. As a result of these millions of miles driven each July 4th, hundreds of families have a vivid recollection of July 4th, not as Independence Day, but as the day a loved one was killed in a traffic crash.

Captain E. L. Posey, in charge of the Texas Highway Patrol for this district, reminds us that a great American, Abraham Lincoln, said, "Study the Constitution." Lincoln further said, "Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his posterity swear by the blood of the Revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country, and never to tolerate their violation by others." The Captain said if Lincoln was living today he would certainly apply that statement to the traffic laws of our state.

The Fourth Amendment to the Constitution gives the right to people to be secure in their persons. Posey declared that to insure this right of all persons traveling on the highways this holiday period, he would have every available man patrolling the highways on the alert for traffic law violators. Posey declared his intention was the same as our forefathers, "To insure the pursuit of life, liberty and a happy return trip at the end of a pleasant holiday for the safe and legal driver."

King Midas and the Golden Touch At MU July 7 and 8th

"King Midas and the Golden Touch," a play for children of the area, will be presented at Midwestern University on July 7th and 8th. The campus chapter of Alpha Omega (national honor fraternity in drama) and the current class in children's Theatre will produce the show, under the direction of Dr. Jennie Louise Hindman. Bain Ellis, senior drama major, will direct the play. Curtain time will be 8:00 p. m. and playing time is one hour and a half. Tickets, at a small admission fee, may be obtained at the door.

The dramatization, by Charlotte Chorprenning, tells of King Midas' great desires for gold, and how it becomes the overwhelming menace to his happiness. When his daughter is turned to gold he realizes that his greed has brought nothing but sorrow and he tries to find a way to bring his daughter back to life.

Bernice Bryant, daughter of Mrs. Eddie Bryant, is in the play.

Board Of Commissioners Take Action Against Vandalism

Student Preacher To Speak Sunday At Grace Lutheran

Mr. David Jeske of Olney, Texas conducted services at the Grace Lutheran Church Sunday, June 25th, while the vacancy pastor, Rev. Borica of Iowa Park was on vacation. Jeske is a student of Theology at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., where he plans to return this fall for an additional three years of training.

Jeske is expected to preach at the Grace Lutheran church again on Aug. 27th and at the Redeemer Lutheran Church in Wichita Falls on July 30th.

While in Burkburnett he visited with former Olneyites, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stalk and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Roark.

The Grace Lutheran Church has extended a call to Rev. Atten of San Antonio. Rev. Atten has not yet accepted the call.

Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Keith and children from Longview spent last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lewis and Mrs. Opal Keith.

Recently a little 4 year old boy climbed over the 8 ft. wire fence which surrounds the swimming pool—"just wanting to see what was inside the pool."

This happened at 8:30 in the evening, while a ball game was in progress. He had slipped away from his mother to do "some exploring." Luckily, one of Burk's good citizens happened to drive by the pool and saw him. He was speedily rescued before any harm came to him.

Many times during the past month teenage boys have climbed the high fence at night to go swimming. Broken bottle and other materials have been thrown into the pool as silly, foolish and harmful pranks. When this happens the pool must be drained so broken glass and other rubbish can be cleaned up. It cost the club around $85 to refill the pool.

The Board of Commissioners considered these reports from a representative of the Swim club and other reports of vandalism of parks, at its meeting Monday evening and gave assurance that all efforts will be made to stop vandalism.

The City Attorney was given instructions to prepare an Ordinance providing for a stiff penalty for violations. The commissioners further instructed that the Corporation Judge meet with the Council to discuss the enforcement of the Ordinance. The City Manager and Chief of Police were instructed to deputize a sufficient number of good citizens as "plain clothesmen" to assist the regular police in patrolling the city and parks, with power to arrest.

The City Fathers emphasized that the parks and facilities belong to the citizens and called upon all citizens to assist in the drive against vandalism by reporting such to the police department immediately.

FREEDOM'S BEST HELPER

July 3, 1886 is a date that ranks close to July 4, 1776. Seventy-five years ago, just 110 years after the Declaration of Independence, the first successful typesetting machine, operating in the composing room of Horace Greeley's New York Tribune added a new emancipation to the free enunciated in the Declaration — liberation from 400 years of hand-setting of type and the gift of wings to news!

Observing the still nameless machine in action under the nimble fingers of its inventor, Ottmar Mergenthaler, Whitelaw Reid, then publisher of the Tribune, exclaimed in amazement: "Its sets a line of type." Thus, to this day, the machine that made most of the Tribune's priceless editorial page of July 3, 1886, is known as the "Linotype."

Since that day, more than 100,000 other Linotypes have gone to work across the nation and in every part of the world, casting type for newspapers, magazines, books and practically every job-printing need. Mergenthaler type matrices—in 900 languages and dialects, plus a wide variety of styles and sizes—have helped to inform and educate peoples in every country on the globe.

It is only human and natural, perhaps that we look upon this still amazing machine as the minor miracle that gave America—all of America—a truly free and vigorous press; that paved the way for the wire services that followed and made it possible for the small town editor to inform his public as effectively as the readers of the great metropolitan dailies.

We would never deny that "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world". But we believe the fingers that operate the Linotype guide the thoughts of the cradle-rockers—and sooner or later the cradle occupants.

"The Federal government is in competition with private business, and runs its business tax free, while exacting exorbitant taxes from free enterprise. It is later than we think, and a time when all Americans should be placed on guard. Our freedoms are ebbing away."

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

There is no question that recently concluded antitrust case on price conspiracy on heavy electrical equipment will be before public for some time.

For one thing, the United States and the Tennessee Valley Authority are in the joint process of suing for $12,000,000 on heavy duty circuit breakers on which there was price collusion.

In addition, C. W. Harder the special committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver is bringing to public attention the depths of conspiracy that is involved when there is an attempt to violate the antitrust laws.

For some time, the nation's independent businessmen, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have asked stricter enforcement of the antitrust laws.

The viewpoint of the independent businessmen is perhaps best summarized in a speech made recently before the American Bar Association by Lee Loevinger, assistant attorney general in charge of Justice Dept. antitrust division.

Loevinger said in commenting on some mistaken impressions about antitrust laws that must be laid to rest "The first is the notion that violation of the antitrust laws, whether intentional or not, is merely a normal business risk and really quite respectable."

Then lashing out in no uncertain terms, he said "It should be a crime to violate the antitrust laws."

now be clear that a deliberate or conscious violation for the antitrust laws is not a mere personal peccadillo or economic eccentricity, but a serious offense against society which is as immoral as any other act that injures many in order to profit a few. Conspiracy to violate the antitrust laws is economic racketeering which gains no respectability by virtue of fact that loot is secured by stealth rather than force."

He then went on to say "That the necessity for complying with high standards of business conduct required by the moral principles inherent in our legal codes may sometimes cause concern to businessmen and lawyers is inevitable. This is not a difficulty unique to antitrust laws. The temptation to get rich quickly by dishonest means abounds in private life. Some succumb, but we do not listen sympathetically to the plea that theft or embezzlement should be legalized because it is so difficult to acquire wealth by other means."

Coming at a time when Washington is besieged by agents of those who would like to see the antitrust laws weakened, these are heartening words.

The battle is not won yet. There are powerful, heavily financed forces at work constantly to tear down the nation's antitrust laws, with not a small part of it coming from British and other foreign interests where monopoly is legalized. But continued support of Congress, especially the Senate and House Small Business Committees, and through them, support for the antitrust division of the Justice Department should result in eventual victory for restoration, and continuation of U. S. free enterprise system.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH -- MILLIONS LEAVE THEM THERE

The Bible, "God's holy word," is still the best seller, and most quoted book. From the original Greek and Hebrew this book has been translated into many languages.

Through the centuries men have devotedly studied and sought out the truth in the Bible. When one reads the Bible with an open mind, God's word is "as sharp as a two edged sword."

Attend Church Sunday and study God's word.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The Declaration Of Independence

By R. D. Laney

"We hold these truths to be sacred and undeniable, that all men are created equal." Young Mr. Jefferson realized some people would scoff that no two men are alike, some are crippled, some straight, some stupid, some gifted. He knew we are not alike, but we should be equal in the sight of God, before the law, in our rights of opportunity. That from equal creation they derive rights inherent and inalienable, among which are, life and liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

In the past years, Americans had died at Lexington and Bunker Hill for certain inalienable rights which could and should be written within the reach of all. The bells in Philadelphia chimed the hours that day in 1776 as the gospel of this nation took form. Thomas Jefferson wrote the first draft of the Declaration of Independence in two days. He never claimed its ideas were original with him; his task was to express the thought of all Americans.

That the time had come for American Independence had been proved by Tom Paine's Common Sense, a pamphlet published only six months ago, but passed from hand to hand in every town. The denunciation of George Third's misrule, which followed each other in the Declaration like a hail of bullets, were taken almost word for word from the preamble to the Virginia Constitution, written short weeks ago by Jefferson himself. And on June 7th, only four days before Jefferson set to work on the Declaration, fiery Richard Henry Lee of Virginia had moved in Congress: "Resolved, that the United Colonies are and of a right ought to be free and independent states, that they are absolved all allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connections between them and the State of Britain, is and ought to be, totally dissolved."

"The second day of July, 1776 wrote John Adams, 'Will be the most memorable in the history of America. I believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary Festival. It ought to be commemorated with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of this Continent to the other from this time forward forever. I am well aware of the toil and blood and treasure that it will cost us to maintain this Declaration and support and defend these States, yet through all the gloom, I can see the rays of ravishing light and Glory."

Four times this immortal document has fled for its life; first when the British threatened Philadelphia in Dec. 1776; next when Congress evacuated Philadelphia after the defeats at Brandywine and Germantown in Sept. 1777; again when in 1814, the British captured and burned Washington. In 1941, when Japan and Germany declared war, the Declaration was buried in the vaults at Ft. Knox, Ky. The ink has faded. The grievances enumerated against George Third have faded out no less. But the great body of human rights announced in the preamble are needed today more than in 1776.

For in other parts of the world tyranny is even stronger now than it was then. Freedom is ours, but the Declaration reminds us that it should belong to all men. To forward it, we see to it that on our own country, in each of our states, in our home town in our streets, in our very hearts, we fulfill toward our neighbors the spirit and the letter of that deathless document.

Visitors in the H. G. Cook Home

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Cook are enjoying a reunion with their children and their families.

Visiting at his home are Gertrude and Jack Racich and children from Palisade, New Jersey, Don and Dorothy Cook and children from Torrance, Calif., Bob and Lucille Cook and children of Fairfield, Calif., and Carl and Sue Cook and children of Manteca, Calif.

They all attended the annual Vaughan reunion last Sunday at Jack Vaughan's home in Fort Worth. Over 80 relatives were there.

Mrs. Gladys Holmes of Houston visited in the H. C. Gilbert home Monday.

JAMES T. BRADY, Jr., manager and owner of the Retail Merchants Credit Association, who has an aversion to sensitive reporters.

responsible for his own credit record, whether good or bad. This reporter, however, has discovered that many a deserving person has received good advice and help from him in getting their finances and credit straightened out and back in the good graces of the merchants as well as their own consciences.

In times past Brady was very active in several clubs and many different civic affairs. Being a good manager of his own time, as well as his business, he soon realized his time was so much divided that he could not give justice to his business or the other activities. He immediately quit all activities except those he could handle efficiently.

At present he is Secretary-Treasurer of the Burk Swim Club, Inc. A member of the Board of Directors of this organization said that Jim had donated many hours to the swim club in order to make it a success and as everyone knows, the Secretary-Treasurer of any organization is the work horse and the all important cog of that organization.

Fishy But True

Many native Texans and thousands of visitors to the lone star state take advantage of Texas' vast water resources, both salt and fresh water, for the restful, yet exciting, sport of fishing.

Anglers fishing Texas rivers have lured many sportsmen to the Lone Star State by proving we really grow them big in Texas.

For instance, the 279 pound Alligator Gar caught by Bill Valverde in the Rio Grande River; or the 50 pound, 5 oz. Longnos. Gar hauled out of the Trinity River by Townsend Miller.

These aren't just fish stories. They are officially recorded world records.

High and Mighty

Naturally it's taller! The Texas State Capitol at Austin is taller than any other state Capitol and reaches higher into the atmosphere than the capitol building in Washington, D. C.

Next time you're in Austin, be sure and make a trip thru this majestic domed granite capitol. You'll notice something different on every visit.

Take a look at the door hinges for example, and the inlaid flooring. They are made especially for this building, but often are overlooked by many of the visitors to this great capitol.

Austin is quite a recreational center too; so you'd better plan for a long stay at this Central Texas beauty spot.

Q. I understand there actually are three steps in the sanding process, graduating from coarse abrasives to fine. Could you tell me the proper grit designations for smoothing rough plastic with a portable electric sander?

A. Three different grades of abrasives are enough to get a good finish on most material, though some perfectionists use up to six different abrasives, going from coarse to very fine. The best progression for finishing plastics begins with 36 or 40 grit, goes to 60 or 80 grit and winds up with 100.

Here is a chart by SpeedWay power tool specialists which provides an accurate guide for sanding a wide range of material:

Material	Coarse	Medium	Fine
Hardwoods	36-40	60-80	100-120
Softwoods	40-50	60-80	100
Aluminum	40	60-80	100
Brass	36-40	60-80	80-120
Composition	40-50	60	80
Copper	40-60	80-100	100-120
Cork	24	36	60
Iron	24-30	60-80	100
Paint removal	24-30	60-80	100
Steel	24-30	60-80	100

Abrasives are designated in two ways, by symbol or grit size. The most common sizes (first number is the symbol): 3=24 grains per square inch; 2 1/2=30, 2-38, 1 1/2=40, 1/2=60, 1/0=80, 2/0=100, 3/0=120, 4/0=150, 5/0=180, 6/0=220, 7/0=240, 8/0=280, 9/0=320, 10/0=400, 11/0=500, 12/0=600.

Silicon carbide abrasives cover this entire range; aluminum oxide covers all but the very fine grits, and garnet goes only to 8/0.

Carbigrut, a lifetime abrasive material made of carbide bonded to metal, is available in three popular grades: 80 (medium coarse), 120 (medium), and 150 (medium fine).

Send your do-it-yourself questions to the Thor Research Center, 175 N. State St., Aurora, Ill., and they will be used in this column or answered by mail.

OUT OF TOWN PRINTERS PAY NO TAXES HERE LET US DO YOUR PRINTING

It seems to me that everyone is planning a trip. We're jetting to Italy and France for the month of May and are taking scads of weightless, space-spanning Arnel jerseys. A favorite is long-torso'd with a fanfare of pleats — permanent, of course.

Only Alto Site Remains

Texas expelled the Neches Indians from the state in 1839.

The site of one of their old villages is just five miles southwest of Alto, in Cherokee County, in the central portion of East Texas, near Rusk.

This village was active in the lives of the Neches at the beginning of the 18th Century.

The Neches River was named for these Indians, as was a nearby mission established by the Cherokee Indians, the Mission San Francisco de los Neches.

Farm Facts

Many members of farm families today live on the farm and work in industries nearby, thus supplementing the family income.

The net income of farm operators in 1959 was more than $18 billion. Net income from farm sales amounted to almost $10.7 billion—about 59% of the total—while net income from non-farm sources amounted to more than $7.4 billion, or approximately 41% of the total. This was a decline from 1958 when net income totaled more than $19.3 billion. Farm sales accounted for almost $12 billion and off-the-farm income amounted to almost $7.4 billion.

Off-the-farm jobs loom more important for farm operators as net income from farm sales continues to decline. This is due to a cost-price squeeze which finds the farmer having to pay more for what he buys without a proportionate increase in prices for what he sells.

In 1948, for example, total net income of the farm population amounted to more than $7.1 billion. Net income from farm sales accounted for almost three-fourths of the total, or about $15.8 billion. Off-farm income in 1948 was about $5.3 billion, 25.2% of the total net.

Cattlemen Organized At Graham in 1877

Forty men organized the Raisers Association in 1877 under an oak tree still stands in Graham, northwest of Fort Worth.

A stone monument now commemorates the site by that Young County beginning of this great nation. On the monument the names of the association's first officers.

Should you tell me whether I should buy life insurance and what it costs at my present age? I would like to buy a policy to guarantee my grandson should I die. If I will be able to pay the costs out of income. I can buy life insurance today at 75 from a number of companies and for many years. If you can qualify as a member, up to a decade or more, most life companies will write policies at age 65, but today practically straight life insurance up to age 75 and some go up to age 80.

Q. How is it that some people have life insurance policies which pay the premiums for you if they are sick? Mine doesn't.

A. Some people have added what is called a "waiver of premium" clause to their policies, which provides that, in case of total and permanent disability from accident or sickness, the premium will be paid for the policyholder for the duration of this disability even if it is for the rest of his life. The addition of this clause adds a small amount to the cost, this amount depending on the age of the policyholder and the type of policy to which the clause is attached. This additional cost might be as low as 35 cents at younger ages for each $1,000 of insurance or range to possibly $4.00 or more per $1,000 of insurance for large-premium policies at older ages. As a measure of the usefulness for this added protection, the life insurance companies last year paid out $21,000,000 for this "waiver of premium" benefit, keeping up more than $1,000,000,000 worth of life insurance for disabled persons. If your policy does not have this feature, you may be able to have it added.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McKinnis, new managers of the Burk Burnett Swimming Pool and concession. The McKinnises reside at 308 W. 2nd St. and have lived in Burk since 1936. Commenting on the 87 children who are taking swimming lessons, Mr. McKinnis said he didn't know whether he and his wife were baby sitters, or whether they just have one very large family. "At any rate, we love it," Mr. McKinnis said.

Huntsville Honors Sam Houston

The gravestone monument of Sam Houston stands silent but proud in the Memorial Cemetery at Huntsville, Texas in East Texas, Walker County.

Houston was a giant in history, a great statesman, and an unforgettable military hero and commander.

He held many political positions. He was Governor of Tennessee, twice President of the Republic of Texas and Governor of Texas.

His monument at Huntsville, reads, "The world will take care of Houston's fame."

With this monument Huntsville has helped the world do just that.

Scent is the best developed sense in most animals.

Side-wheelers At Jefferson

Old side-wheeler boats used to churn up from New Orleans to Jefferson, Tex., in the northeast part of the state.

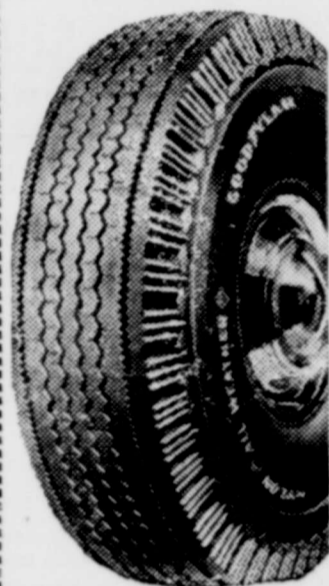

In 1871 a natural barrier in the Red River was removed. This resulted in a lowering of the water level seven feet in Cypress Bayou, thus making it unnavigable for boat transportation.

This ended Jefferson's standing as the principal river port and gate-of-entry to Texas.

Ye Ole Franklin

Ever been to Franklin, Texas, at the western tip of the state? The Franklin of West Texas is a wonderful town with most everything that a town of over 130,000 population should have. It's on the Mexican border too, for an added attraction. Never heard of this Franklin? Well, that's probably because they now call it El Paso! But it was named Franklin way back when it was first settled.

Nacogdoches was Battleground

You could write a book about the battles that were fought for Nacogdoches. Also one about the armies and expeditions that captured this East Texas town.

Two expeditions bent on freeing this land from the Spanish were those of Magee-Gutierrez and Dr. James Long. Boh were ill-fated excursions.

As a reminder of this stormy history, one of the oldest of the many historic homes still in Nacogdoches today is that of Adolphus Sterne, the Alcaldé at the city when it was under Spanish rule.

Sam Houston once lived in this same house.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

One wag claims that the greatest hidden force behind government today is the organized horse farmers. His contention is they are striving to eliminate the automobile to bring back the horse and buggy.

Many politicians and bureaucrats have yet to understand that for millions of people, and thousands of business enterprises, the motor vehicle is as necessary as a hammer is for a carpenter. These characters still look upon the automobile as a luxury.

In fact, there have been times when some of the nation's bureaucrats have publicly been quite apologetic over fact there are many automobiles in U. S. while the poor people of lower Slobovia have so few.

Of course, they either ignore, or are ignorant, of the fact that the automobile is a prime supplier of jobs and that many independent businesses are engaged in the selling or servicing of motor vehicles.

As any drive through the Main Streets of America will readily show, a major backbone of the community's business life are the independent car dealers who are also in many cases community leaders for civic betterment.

Thus, it is interesting to see Congressman Stan Tupper come out opposed to any continuation of the extra one cent tax on gasoline put through to finance the so-called super highway program.

He points out the fallacy of "temporary" taxes. The first one cent tax per gallon was a temporary tax in 1932 to fight the depression. It became permanent in 1941. In 1951 to help finance Korean War the tax became a temporary 2 cent one, and in 1956 another temporary one cent was added and in 1959 another temporary one cent.

Congressman Chester Merrow has also taken a public stand against the temporary one cent additional gas tax being continued. He points out that $1.7 billion of taxes paid to the federal government in highway user taxes, largely all from "temporary" taxes, are diverted to other uses.

Congressman John Ashbrook also takes quite a public stand against the continuation of "temporary" taxes. He points out that during the Korean War a 10% "temporary" excise tax was placed on automobiles. This tax, which adds about $200 to the price of a car and brings in over $1 1/4 billion yearly, has never been repealed, either.

It is a curious commentary on bureaucratic thinking, if the mental processes they engage in can be dignified as thinking.

Here is a nation whose steel industry practically depends on the auto business. In addition, many other business and jobs depend on it. Some economists say collapse of American auto industry would bring about the complete collapse of entire U. S. economy.

Yet, in government, both state and federal, there are those bureaucrats who strive mightily to discourage both the sale and the use of the products of this key American industry. Perhaps never in history have so many with feet in public trough worked so hard to kill goose that lays golden eggs.

New Product For Wood Refinishers

Amateur woodworkers, boating enthusiasts, hunters, golfers and a variety of other dedicated hobbyists who pride themselves on their equipment and tools spend considerable time, money and effort on their upkeep.

Fine wood surfaces especially demand exacting care but with the development of modern new products, such as Pratt & Lambert Varmor—a one-can, all-purpose, clear finish Satin or Gloss—hobbyists and home-makers alike are discovering that refinishing wood doesn't have to be a laborious, time-consuming job. Brush, roller or spray can may be used—indoors or out!

When natural wood beauty is desired as with gunstocks, golf clubs or boats, for example, the problem becomes acute due to exposure to the elements in addition to hard wear. Home-makers face similar problems in the upkeep of beautiful exterior woods or, in the case of fine furniture which is subject to rough wear with youngsters in the family, spilled foods and beverages and other abuses.

Comment from the Capital

THE BIG "BENEFIT" BINGE

by Vant Neff

Ever think how closely our high cost of living is tied to the high cost of employment? Once upon a time, the cost of employing a person was just the salary he was paid for the work he did. Not today. Hidden payroll costs now include such extras as pay for holidays and vacations, pensions, health insurance, life insurance, Social Security, taxes for unemployment benefits and workmen's compensation. About half of these "fringe" benefits don't show up in the employee's pay envelope, but they're paid for by the employer—in addition to regular wages.

Fringe benefits have shot up more than twice as fast as wages in the past ten years. They're still going up. This year, the cost of hidden benefits hit 3 billion dollars, bringing the total bill footed by employers to nearly 30 billion dollars. Present estimates indicate the bill will bounce up another 3 billion this year.

On the average, for every six dollars paid to a worker for time on the job, his employer has to pay an additional dollar for fringe benefits. . . in some companies, even more. A recent study by Timken Roller Bearing Company disclosed that, based on a normal year of 2,000 hours worked, the total cost per employee ran to about 97 cents an hour above his hourly wages! Maybe the reason you don't read much about this subject is because it's pure dynamite. And, in time, it could blow our economy sky-high. The more the total cost of employment (not just wages) confronting a businessman, the less his incentive to start new enterprises. Mounting fringe benefits help speed us on the road to inflation. What's more, mounting employment costs can price American products right out of the market—opening the floodgates for foreign goods. As employment costs go up, our dollar buys less and less. Union leaders know these facts of life. But does this knowledge stop many of them from pressuring employers for more benefits? Not! Why? Because too often union bosses stay in power only as long as they put on a show for their following. And the show that makes the biggest political hit is agitating for higher and higher wages and more and more benefits, regardless of the effect on employment.

Let's look at some of these extras. Pensions, Life Insurance, Health Insurance, Severance Pay, Holiday Pay, Vacation Pay, Sick Pay. They show up in pay envelopes, balance sheet . . . and, or later, they come out of body's pocketbook. Take care. In certain cases, leaders have even succeeded in getting fringe benefits paid to employees after retirement. They've gotten pensions, life insurance, and occasional payments for medical care. The latest agitation is for continuance wages over long periods of time for workers are permanently laid off.

The cycle never ends. Circle gets more vicious. Indirect—in their upward spiral last cost a raise, extra days off with more insurance. His employer then raise the price of his pay. Then you and I and the himself have to pay what we buy.

Fringe benefits can be of-hand. The lure of "for nothing" is an incentive to many, but in world, nothing is really one way or another. More fringe benefits pay for more price. Eventually, all of us what can become a "binge." And whoever is going on a "binge" miserable hangover soon. When that "hangover" allowed to price us out of sible economic structure, ican economy will be than a Bromel!

Family FINANCIAL PROTECTION

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

Q. How many different kinds of life insurance policies are there? A. First, there are three chief types of protection: group insurance, bought at the shop or office; industrial insurance, the kind issued in small units on the weekly or monthly premium basis and collected at the door; and ordinary insurance, that bought individually in units of $1,000 or more, with premiums based on an annual premium, although it may be paid more frequently. Within this ordinary insurance, which accounts for nearly two-thirds of all life insurance, there are scores of different policies.

Among the most widely used policies are: straight life, with protection and premiums for life; limited payment life, with protection for life, but premiums payable for a limited period; endowments, providing accumulation of the face amount of the policy for the policyholder himself within a stated period and family protection meantime; term insurance, giving coverage for a limited period; retirement income insurance, giving life income for the policyholder to begin at a stated age, with protection for the family until that age; modified life insurance, usually having small premiums for the first few years and then stepping up; family income insurance, providing family income for a stated number of years and then paying the policy's face amount in full; family plan, insuring all members of a family; and many combinations or variations of one or more of these plans. Each policy has its purpose and is best for that purpose, but for the selection of the specific policy, your agent should be consulted.

Q. A neighbor of mine has all of his debts covered by what he calls "credit life insurance." What is this and can I buy it? A. Credit life insurance is a type of insurance sold to borrowers through lending offices (or department stores, sales offices, etc.) to insure any unpaid balance of an outstanding debt. If your bank or installment office does not make this available, you can accomplish the same thing by taking out a low-cost policy of your own to cover the total indebtedness.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The sounding of sirens means there is an existing emergency involving life and property. The public is requested not to call City Hall or the Fire Department (except to report another emergency) as the phones must be kept clear to handle emergency calls only. Personnel on duty have instructions to refuse any information to the general public over the phone, and to hang up immediately in order to clear the line.

Please become familiar with the following signals, as they give all necessary information:

1. Steady continuous sound for 3 minutes: An attack probable. You are to tune your radio to CONELRAD-640 or 1240—for instructions. Civil defense workers are to report to their places of assignment.

2. Warbling tone for 3 minutes: Attack imminent. You are to take cover immediately in best available shelter; or Tornado has been sighted and is headed toward Burk Burnett. You are still to take all possible precautions immediately.

3. Steady continuous sound for at least 5 minutes: All clear signal. The "All Clear" signal will be sounded after all oncoming danger has passed.

You should become thoroughly familiar with the above 3 signals as they are for your benefit. The following signals are primarily for firemen, however, they are listed here for your information. The rules on phone usage still apply:

4. One steady continuous signal for at least 30 seconds but not more than 1 minute: Fire within the city limits.

5. Two distinct signals, not more than 30 seconds each: Fire outside the city limits.

6. Three distinct signals, not more than 30 seconds each: Other emergency where firemen are needed.

Your cooperation in this matter will be appreciated.

Director of Public Safety Predicts 25 Violent Deaths July 4 Weekend

The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety announced today, previous holiday experience in Texas indicates 25 persons will meet violent death on the Fourth of July, 1961.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., said the release of this official prediction "is intended to serve as a challenge to all Texans to prove our estimate is too high."

In announcing the grim forecast, Garrison said the DPS will place in effect "Operation Deathwatch" effective from 12:01 A. M. to 11:59 p. m. on July 4th, during which traffic deaths, homicides and suicides and fatal accidents other than traffic will be tabulated against the prediction.

The department's Statistical Service Manager, N. K. Woerner, estimates that 11 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the 24 hour period, that five will be victims of homicide or suicide, and that nine will die in drownings and other types of fatal accidents.

"The department's purpose in conducting such an operation is to focus public attention on the fact that holiday driving is more dangerous than usual because more vehicles are on the highways, as well as to compile data which is vital to the constantly changing problems of traffic supervisions," Garrison said.

"In addition to the 'Deathwatch,' the department will augment the regular Highway Patrol force with some 150 uniformed patrolmen from the Motor Vehicle Inspection and License and Weight services during the 24 hour period in an effort to keep down the violations that cause accidents."

The DPS director called special attention to the fact that the records show at least one law violation is involved in most fatal accidents in Texas.

"This should prove," he said, "that there is a definite contribution individuals can make to greater highway safety, legal driving."

Garrison pointed out that while emphasis must be placed on holiday traffic hazards, his department also has concern for other incidents which take human lives. He reminds that during a three day Fourth of July holiday last year, 10 persons were the victims of drownings out of a total of 15 non-traffic fatalities resulting from other accidents.

"With more boats on the waters of our state than ever before," he continued, "extra precautions should be taken this Fourth of July to avoid tragedy. Boaters should be sure there is a life preserver for every boat occupant and above all, don't overload or over-power your boat."

Garrison also reminded boaters that 45 miles per hour is the speed limit for all vehicles pulling trailers.

Summer Homemaking Classes Being Held

Eighteen students of Burkburnett High School have been enrolled during June for the summer homemaking classes. By conducting a play school for pre-school children, taking educational field trips and carrying out individual projects they are earning 1-2 credit.

Those enrolled are Dorothy Reynolds, Virginia Eaton, Rebekah Archie, Connie Cravens, LaDelle Denton, Irine Wallace, Martha Hawhee, Phyllis Vaught, Sharon Smith, Gustena Lawson, Anne Lunceford, Sammie Cantwell, Brenda Hendon, Marie Cobble, Carol Teeter, Barbara Cobble, Claudia Williams and Pat Morris.

Specialists from Texas A and M College will lend a helping hand to Supt. U. A. Randolph at the Montague Fruit Laboratory field day on the morning of Friday, June 30, according to B. T. Haws, county agricultural agent.

Extension Entomologist Connie F. Garner, at left above, will discuss insect problems of fruit growers, especially those relating to peaches and grapes. Actual plant samples showing insect injury will be shown and effective control methods explained.

Horticulturist Blueford G. Hancock, right, will discuss management practices with emphasis on training, pruning and use of fertilizers in commercial and home orchards.

An added attraction to the field day this year will be a plant disease clinic conducted by Harlan E. Smith, plant pathologist at A and M College. Haws said that visitors are encouraged to bring samples of diseased plants for Smith to identify and recommend control methods. Though field day activities primarily are devoted to peaches and other fruits, Smith will welcome problems of other crops, the agent said.

Field Day Plans For Fruit Laboratory Inspection Complete

Field Day plans have been completed at the Fruit Investigation Laboratory, Montague, according to superintendent U. A. Randolph, above. The event is scheduled for Friday, June 30th. Extension District Agent Ted Martin of Denton will be in charge of the half-day program, with the first tour of the station beginning at 8:00 a. m.

"Wichita county farm, ranch and city folks alike will benefit from a visit to the laboratory," said B. T. Haws county agricultural agent. "Everyone loves fresh, tree ripe fruit. The owner of the station has room to grow more of the many adapted to the soil conditions of this agent pointed out.

Supt. Randolph said visitors would see a peach with 75 varieties, some of which will be loaded with the effect of vigorous on grapes can be obtained by this variety test and a chard of Holland and Holland variety has promise for commercial production in this area.

The field day will be held on July 11 a. m. at 11 a. m. discussion of latest practices and a brief and answer period. Details regarding this may be obtained by contacting Agent B. T. Haws.

News From The County Agent

Most of the cotton which was hailed out or washed out by recent rain in the county has now been replanted. This little cotton can expect to have a tough time starting off since the insects will have something of a head start on it. Infestation of thrips seem to be lessening somewhat in the county, but fleahoppers are now showing up in a number of areas. These two tiny insects are probably responsible for more damage than they are given credit for by many farmers since the damage they do is not noticeable until later in the season.

Members of the organized rural communities will be interested to know that Dr. R. E. Patterson of Texas A and M College will be up to present the awards to the Friberg-Cooper community, June 29th at a program at the Friberg-Cooper Methodist church. This community placed third in statewide competition and will receive $400 and a giant silver tray for their efforts. The program is sponsored by the Electric companies of the state in cooperation with Texas A and M College. Dr. Patterson is vice Chancellor of Agriculture at Texas A and M.

disease is caused by nematodes. Nematodes are small, microscopic worms belonging to a group of animals known as roundworms.

Plants damaged by nematodes show a lack of vigor as indicated by stunting, wilting and yellowing of the leaves. Loss of leaves often occurs. Plants may die. Vegetables are usually small and unfit to eat.

To examine suspected plants, carefully remove roots and soil with shovel. Diseased roots have abnormal galls or knots.

Nematodes are controlled by a combination of cultural practices and the use of nematocides. Some chemicals commonly used for nematode control are Garden Dofun, DD, Nema-gon, Fumazone, NemaX Vapam and VPM. Most of these nematocides are used prior to planting. Apply as the manufacturer directs.

For further information contact your extension agent and ask for a copy of MP-356, "Plant Nematodes, Their Identification and Control."

John Bavousett On Sub USS Picking

Crewmembers of the destroyer USS Picking visited Portland, Ore., June 7-12, with nine ships of the U. S. First Fleet to participate in the 53rd Annual Portland Rose Festival.

Serving aboard the Picking was Johnnie R. Bavousett, gunner's mate third class, USN son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. Bavousett of Route 1, Berry St., Burkburnett.

The Portland Rose Festival is a 10 day celebration that is world renowned for its pageantry, colorful parades and spectacular attractions. Navy men mingled with the citizens of Portland and visitors from all over the world as the "City of Roses" honored the flower which blooms in grandeur and profusion in Portland's favorable climate.

Ships of the U. S. First Fleet, under the command of Vice Admiral Charles L. Melson, visited Portland to take part in the festivities, to take advantage of opportunities for liberty and recreation, and to provide the people of Portland with a better understanding of the importance of sea power and the Navy's role in the nation's defense structure. The general public was invited to board the ships daily for open house.

Knits no longer belong to winter. Time was when sitting-out and bagging were definite problems in knit wear, but modern construction methods have long since banished these drawbacks. However, your knit wardrobe does deserve special care if it is to give you continued satisfaction.

To avoid snagging, do not use pins on knit garments either to hang them up or as a decorative accent. It's also a good idea to remove jewelry and eye glasses before pulling knitted garments over the head. If at any time you note a snag developed in a knitted garment, use a crochet hook to pull the loop through to the wrong side.

Air knitted garments after wearing. To store them, do not hang on hangers, instead fold garments and place them in a larger drawer. If you have a two piece costume, shift and adjust the skirt to wear, if possible, to avoid sagging in the seat. Taffeta slips or half slips give added body and support to knit garments.

Plan for regular cleanings of all knits. When badly soiled, they are more difficult to clean. Knits stay softer, last longer, smell sweeter and fit better when laundered and blocked at home. To do this, follow the washing instructions carefully, and at all times support garments in both hands to avoid stretching.

The WEEKLY Handyman

A Service of Thor Research Center For Better Farm Living

Q. Could you tell me what causes motor overload in a portable electric tool?
A. Usually inexperience or bad habits. These two factors more than any others rob motors of longevity or cause them to heat up. To avoid motor overload, heed the following don'ts:
—Don't stop or start a tool while it is in the work.
—Don't use dull or oversize bits or blades.
—Don't crowd or jam the tool by applying too much pressure.
—Don't use too much or too little voltage in operating the tools. Power needed is specified on the tools.

Another factor which may shorten the life of a valuable tool is the failure of its owner to clean and lubricate the tool at intervals.

Here's a tip for the handyman who uses a nail set with any degree of frequency: Instead of groping among the other hardware you have in the shop apron in search of the set, drill a hole in a small rubber ball somewhat smaller than the square end of the nail set. Insert the device in this hole and, presto, the nail set not only will be easy to find, but it will have a built-on shock absorber as well.

A reader recommends: "Recently when laying an asphalt tile floor over concrete, I encountered some bumpy areas. I had no access to a blow torch, so my wife came up with a very adequate solution. She softened the tiles by literally ironing the backs of them with her flat iron, and we shaped them to fit the floor contours.

Send your do-it-yourself questions and workshop tips to the Thor Research Center, 175 N. State St., Aurora, Ill. If general in their appeal, they will be used in this column.
