Texas State Dept. Of Health

It may seem early, but school is just around the corner and parents with children entering for the first time should begin preparing right now.

The right preparation for those first school days is vital to the future satisfaction and adjustment of your child to his new environment.

If he has an older brother or sister, the task will be easier. But there are many steps for getting ready for school which should be taken before Sept. 1st.

Some effort should be made to make it clear to the child that he will be on his own — without Mom or Dad to watch over him all the time — a good while before that first day of school.

Clothing should be given much thought. Check the habits of your local school and find out what is the predominant mode of dress. If all the boys wear long pants, by all means make sure your youngster has them, too.

Make sure everything is large enough, but not baggy or his classmates will make fun of him.

Proper nutrition is very important. When school starts, allow enough time in the morning for a wholesome breakfast. A good breakfast includes citrus fruit or juice, milk, whole grain cereal or bread, eggs or bacon or both.

Lunch and dinner should be leisurely and pleasant, too. The new adventure of school is pretty fast paced, but mealtime offers an opportunity for the family to pause and enjoy being together.

Now is the time to check your school's requirements regarding vaccinations or other health measures and take care of them well in advance.

Also, many Texas school districts require proof of age for first year students in the form of a certified birth certificate.

You may obtain a copy from your local registrar, county clerk or from the Section on Records and Statistics, Texas State Dept. of Health, 410 East 5th St., Austin.

Send one dollar with the name of the child, his or her date of birth, place of birth, father's name and mother's maiden name.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Texas - Okla. Fair Sept. 25 - 30th

"Atoms in Action" one of the newest traveling exhibits of the Atomic Energy Commission will be shown at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair in Iowa Park, Sept. 25-30th. T. Leo Moore, executive vice president, said.

The free exhibit consists of colorful panels and models designed to explain many of the peaceful uses of atomic energy in a graphic, easy to understand, manner.

For example, one panel describes the principal components of the atom, the building block of the universe. Another explains how useful energy is obtained by atomic fission, splitting of atoms of heavy elements such as uranium and plutonium.

Other panels show how radioactive materials are used in agriculture, medicine and industry.

Visitors also will see three "island" exhibits, an animated model of an atomic power plant, an illuminated explanation of the fusion process and a three-foot model of the merchant ship Savannah, the nation's first nuclear propelled surface ship.

Like all the Atomic Energy Commission's traveling exhibits, "Atoms in Action" is displayed for the museum division of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Universities and colleges.

Monday Mr. and Mrs. Jones and daughter Patricia met with a group of Burkburnett citizens and extended an invitation to all to come to the World's Exposition to be held in Seattle next year. Pat, chosen as one of the official guides for the Exposition, had an arm full of beautifully printed literature and does a fine job of selling. Although she has been away from Texas several years, Pat still retains her Texas drawl.

Jack Young, news editor for Channel 3 TV, was on hand to record the event on film which was shown on the Monday night newscast.

The Jones family came via California, El Paso and Juarez, Mexico. They will return home through Colorado, Utah and Idaho.

Swim Classes Start July 10th

New swim classes open to the public are scheduled to begin July 10th at 10:00 a. m. at the Burkburnett pool.

Red Cross water safety instructors and water safety aides are to provide the instructions according to Ray Anderson, chairman of Red Cross Water Safety here and Jerry Thomas, general chairman. Swim club officials, Bill Vincent, president, and James Brady, secretary-treasurer, are participating in the Red Cross swim training plans.

George Clevenger, manager of the Wichita County Red Cross, complimented swim pool officials on the excellent facilities of the new pool and the sanitary condition of the water. He also gave some suggestions for parents who want to help their children learn to swim:

(1) Don't let your child hear you speak of his being afraid of the water. You make the fear more concrete and real to him. Few children are born afraid of the water.

(2) Do not expect your child to have the same rate of progress as the others in the class. The others may have taken the class before or they may have had more opportunity to be around swimming pools.

(3) Never act as if you were disappointed in what your child has accomplished. He needs praise and encouragement—not your obvious dissatisfaction.

(4) Don't think he has learned all there is to know when he can splash across the pool. Swimming is more than that. There are many different strokes and skills he can learn. Some are much more restful than others, and will thereby enable him to swim longer distances without tiring effort. Practice makes his swimming smoother.

(5) Never duck your child—it is cruel and unnecessary. You can frighten him and his progress is greatly retarded. Let him learn to go under by himself, and if you must "duck" somebody, "duck" yourself.

What Is "Temporary"?

Webster defines the word "temporary" as meaning, "Lasting for a time only; existing or continuing for a limited time; not permanent, ephemeral; transitory."

But the definition, official as it is, does not seem to apply to the "temporary" increases in the federal tax on gasoline.

The latest of these supposedly "temporary" boosts became law about a year ago. It was for one cent a gallon, bringing the total federal tax to four cents. The cent increase was due to expire June 30th.

Maybe it will—and maybe it won't. It is proposed to extend it again—no doubt on another "temporary" basis. Then, to add insult to injury, it is also proposed that an additional half-cent a gallon tax be tacked on. This, too, would be "temporary."

Well, if these efforts succeed, Webster should start defining "temporary" as it applies to gasoline taxation, as being a synonym for "permanent." The irony is that state and federal taxes combined on gasoline—which is an absolutely essential commodity—now average almost 50% of the price of the fuel before tax. Out and out luxuries don't carry a tax anywhere near as heavy as that. The motorist is being made the goat—and it's high time he started bleating at the top of his lungs.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

TOLEDO, OHIO, CHRONICLE: "To stay free we must cut back bureaucracy. To stay free we must cut back governmental waste. To stay free we must cut back taxation. To stay free we must cut back the continuous encroachment of all the upper levels of government on the time and money and freedom of action still remaining to local communities and small business and the private person—rural, small town, or urban. And—most of us desire still to enjoy the freedom traditional with Americans."

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Senator William Proxmire has introduced a bill in the United States Senate that would go a long way toward plugging one of the obvious major loopholes in nation's antitrust laws.

In essence, the bill, if passed, would impose greater penalties on corporate officers responsible for their corporations violating the laws.

For some time nation's independent businessmen, voting through National Federation of Independent Business, have asked for stricter penalties.

Senator Proxmire's bill would apply in either a civil or criminal case that the government won a verdict.

For regardless of the type of case won, executives found responsible for illegal conduct of the corporation would suffer severe financial loss.

The bill provides that the wrong doing executives can be cut off from any remuneration from the corporation for as long as a year, the corporation would be enjoined from paying any type of compensation to such executives for the period of time prescribed by the court.

Commenting on his bill Sen. Proxmire says "A jail sentence is a very serious social penalty but may not impose any financial hardship if the convicted person continues to hold office and draw his salary. A one year suspension from office without pay is a much more serious financial penalty."

There are many American corporations with the highest standards of ethics. Unfortunately, there are some whose business morality and ethical standards are not of the highest. And it is these less ethical ones who can often persuade their executives to take illegal measures.

Or as Federal Judge J. Cullen Ganey expressed the philosophy in a recent antitrust case:

"Here we have the nonfictional case of the organization man and the question of conformity to the corporate line. As an executive he goes along with a way of doing business. Consider his stake in this . . . large salary, high position, seniority. He may realize it's risky; but he must either violate the law or give up his seniority and excellent remuneration."

Thus, there can be corporation executives persuaded to take illegal courses on the assurance of the corporation that their personal financial well being will be protected. Likewise, they can be informed unless they go along with the plan, regardless of its legality, their position with the corporation is in jeopardy. Thus, in desperation, many corporation executives, conceivably, could be induced to take a chance.

However, Sen. Proxmire's proposal would change all this.

Because the provisions of this bill, enacted into law, would make it clear to an executive that no matter how hard his corporation tried to pressure him into committing illegal acts, the game would truly not be worth the candle.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH -- MILLIONS LEAVE THEM THERE

PARCHED EARTH

The long summer months come and with them the dry season. All growing things begin to feel the heat and show the effects of thirst. Plant life begins to wither and fade away.

When one leaves God out of his life there is the same fading and incompleteness as the plant without water.

This Sunday put God into your life, Attend church.

"If any man thirst let him come unto me, and drink."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

CHARCOAL

The use of charcoal dates back thousands of years. In many countries, it is still the principal source of domestic fuel as well as an industrial tool.

Although various organic materials can be carbonized to produce charcoal, it is primarily made from wood. Charcoal is made by heating wood under conditions where there is insufficient air for complete combustion. After the water and gaseous compounds in the wood are driven off by the heat, the solid black carbon is cooled, this residue is then compressed into briquets, or marketed in stick form, in the familiar charcoal bags and boxes.

The properties of charcoal which make it desirable for fuel are its even heat and comparative smokelessness when burning, and its relative freedom from impurities which might impart objectionable tastes or odors. In addition to cooking, charcoal has other uses as fuel, particularly in the manufacture of special grades of iron as well as copper and other non-ferrous metals. Other uses for charcoal include its use in the manufacture of gunpowder, a mixture for chicken and stock feed, soil amendment, tobacco curing, and the use of special grades for purifying water, gases and chemicals.

The cost of specific grades of charcoal for specialized uses is necessarily high. However, the cost of charcoal for cooking purposes is quite modest when one realizes that in addition to the costs of production, the yield of charcoal is only 25% of the initial weight of the wood raw material.

Mildew On Paint Surfaces

Mildew growth may be found on many materials. It is a form of plant life. Mildew is commonly black, but some species may be red, green or other colors. It grows best in warm, humid areas and is generally found on the shady side of buildings. Mildew feeds on organic matter. It is objectionable because it discolors painted surfaces. The mildew usually penetrates the paint surface and eventually causes its failure. The fruit of mildew are known as spores. These spores, spread by the wind and rain, establish new areas of infection.

ing should not be undertaken in periods of wet weather. To overcome mildew problems, many paints are now available with mildew resistant additives. Mildew infected surfaces should be thoroughly cleaned before painting. This cannot be done by wiping, scraping or washing with water. A thorough scouring with a mild alkali such as washing soda, Spic and Span or Oakite is necessary. The surface should then be thoroughly rinsed with water and permitted to dry. To offset the possibility of any remaining mildew, a sterilizing solution such as Chlorox, Purex or Lysol may be applied to the surface.

Mildew generally grows on soft paints and on dark paints more readily than on hard enamels and light colors. Infection occurs more readily when the coat of paint is fresh. Paint-

Wood composition boards are a form of wood product made from wood materials of various kinds. They are not a cheap substitute for lumber. Composition boards supplement and expand the general utility of lumber.

The size of a solid piece of lumber is limited by the size of the tree from which it came. To overcome this limitation, numerous pieces of lumber can now be successfully laminated to produce almost any size requirement. Another method of obtaining large sheets of panels of synthetic lumber is thru the use of composition boards.

The term composition board is general. It encompasses various kinds of boards usually identified by the size or character of the particles of which it is composed. Specific wood composition boards may be identified as hardboard, flake board, wafer board, particle board shavings board and fiber board. For each of these types, there are various trade names to identify a particular manufacturer's product.

Although a large percentage of composition board is made from wood residues, some manufacturers use standing timber for their raw material.

Fabrication consists of reducing wood to the range of particle sizes desired. These particles or fibers are then bonded together using heat, pressure and resins as a binder. The final product can be tailored-made to suit such requirements as weights, thickness, hardness, smoothness and toughness. These boards can be nailed, sewn, drilled and economically handled like expanded pieces of lumber.

Burk Community 4-H Club News

The Burk Burnett Community 4-H club met Monday June 19 at the Youth Center. The meeting was called to order at 7:45 by president, Sonny Bentley. Our club secretary could not attend the meeting so dues were collected by one of the club members. The president asked that all of us try to attend the County 4-H Camp to be held July 18th at the 4-H Club Barn.

The club also discussed ways we could make money. A demonstration on How to Make Banana Milk Shake was given by Toni Ann Savage. Mr. Harry Cox then gave a talk on filling out record books. Each 4-H member took notes as she explained the proper way to complete our 4-H records. The meeting adjourned.

Those present were 14 4-H club members, 5 leaders, Mesdames Gerald Savage, S. L. Johnson, J. H. Bentley and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bentley and the assistant county agent, Mr. Harry Cox.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

No other wagon can match Ford's features (or popularity!)

IS A MARVELOUS ASSET... adds prestige to your name and smooths the way for all business transactions. People seek your patronage and go out of their way to do you favors. Front doors swing open and you're welcome everywhere.

It pays to pay your bills ON TIME!

Retail Merchants Ass'n.

JAMES T. BRADY, Jr., Manager

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too.

There's more convenience. You can have an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon... it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. In their field, only Ford wagons have all seats facing forward.

There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel.

There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjust automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing.

STOP putting off that station wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales. SAVE with the wagon America loves most... made by FORD... America's station wagon specialists for 32 years!

FORD DIVISION, Ford Motor Company.

Garden Party In Hamilton Honors Mrs. Jill Adams
Mrs. J. C. Adams, Sr., and Mrs. J. C. Adams, Jr., have returned home from Hamilton, Texas where they attended a bridal garden party in honor of the later Mrs. Adams.
The party was held in the lovely garden of Mrs. Avery Clemmer with co-hostesses Mesdames Everett Blackwell, Herbert B. Gordon and Otto Lengefeld. The garden, which was planted earlier this spring in the bride's chosen colors of yellow and white, was in full bloom and was highlighted with one hundred hurricane candles amid flood lights. It was a beautiful background for the punch table and gift tables, also in yellow and white.
All of the brides school girl friends were in the garden party.
Over fifty guests were present.
Amelia Earhart made the first solo flight from Honolulu to California.
