DEAD FOR THIS YEAR

Effort to reduce the percentage depletion rate for oil and gas wells died for this year. That happened when the Senate voted "No" on two amendments to a revenue bill which would have cut the long standing 27 1/2 percent rate by varying amounts.

But the issue will arise again next year. And, undoubtedly, it will be given particular attention and debate when the promised tax reform bill comes before congress. The reasons for percentage depletion—which amounts to a credit against federal income taxes—are as compelling as they are simple. For one thing, an oil or gas well is a wasting asset—the best of wells become exhausted in time. For another, wildcatting and searching for new sources of oil are extremely risky enterprises, with only one well in nine finding any at all. The proportion of commercially successful wells is smaller still. And percentage depletion applies only to oil production—not to refining, transporting, or other industry activities.

Moreover, the cost of drilling has soared in recent years—partly due to higher wage and equipment costs, and partly due to the fact that drillers must go deeper and deeper into the earth. The known shallow deposits have all been developed.

The 27 1/2 percent figure was arrived at a generation ago after intense study. Other studies have been made since. It has been reaffirmed by Congress after Congress, as the proper way to encourage men to take the long risks that are essential to keeping our oil reserves in balance with consumption. Nothing has happened to change that situation.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" by C. WILSON HARDER

The "leave everything to us" boys along the Potomac now have come up with an idea that the consumer needs federal protection.

It is significant that they have not come up with a plan to protect the consumer against government taxing forays.

However, now the federal government wants to prescribe how packing cases will be identified. Used as an example is the case of several "guinea pig" women shoppers who each spent 45 minutes in a market, and could not tell what they bought. A great point was made that they were college graduates. Thus, there is wonder just who it is at fault. Those who print the packages, or the quality of today's college education.

On a more serious vein, part of the package of proposals is to compel the interest rate paid on installment purchases clearly and loudly established. Thus, it might be said that "bureaucrats rush in where angels fear to tread."

From a philosophical standpoint, it can perhaps be argued that all installment buying is bad. On the other hand, U.S. purchases of cars, appliances, many other items are sparked by easy payment plans.

Interest rates do vary, according to the risk involved. The interest charged on a second real estate mortgage is higher than on a first mortgage.

Incidentally, often interest rates for credit on federal employees run higher because unlike employees of private enterprise, there is no way of collecting from the employer of a federal worker.

There is no question that there are inequities at times in the interest rates paid by some individuals. On the other hand, free and easy credit has kept U.S. factories operating.

In Europe, where there is not this freedom of credit, the business level does not approach that of the U.S. This is also a fact that seems to be forgotten by those crying to cut U.S. tariff rates on the basis that the U.S. could then sell more abroad.

England has installment contracts which are called "hire-purchase" plans. England also has a relatively small sale of autos, appliances, other items.

But England also has another part to their system. If someone defaults on the payments off to jail they go. All gets out of work, and owes on a washing machine, and falls to make his payments, the judge tells him to pay up or be jailed for contempt of court.

Thus, English business finds Alf reluctant to buy. Bureaucrats meddling with installment interest rates in this country could drive risk capital out of installment paper financing, resulting in further unemployment which is not needed at this time.

David Lawrence writes: "The road to socialism is plain to see. The administration, however, can shift its course and start in earnest to travel the road of sound capitalism and free enterprise. It cannot assume the function of an omniscient supervisor with a club in his hand. It must let the laws of supply and demand and of competitive influences operate. Then labor will find itself compelled to become realistic, too. And there will be a pause in excessive wage demands and a chance for American business to get on its feet again."

Walter Briggs of the Herald Tribune News Service writes: "The world is rapidly on the way to smothering itself, the demographers warn us. There are too many people, they warn, on too few acres for such nations as India and Red China to feed themselves. The tidal wave of human birth is diluting the accomplishments of economic assistance to many of the underdeveloped countries. Unless some thing is done, it is asserted, much of mankind is doomed to eternal poverty."

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

THE United States put pressure on the Netherlands to withdraw from Indonesia. Then, we took the lead in installing Sukarno as the dictator of that country. Now, we have boosted the Dutch out of West New Guinea in order to facilitate Sukarno's desire to annex that territory to which he has no legitimate claim. Dr. Kershner

Not so long ago we supplied him with arms with which to defeat the Christians of the Molucca Islands.

Hundreds of millions of American dollars have been swallowed up in Indonesia, backing Sukarno and his aggression. Most people remember that foreign aid was started on the plea that it would stop the advance of communism. On the contrary, it is being used in Indonesia and elsewhere to promote it. Not many remember the frank words of Sukarno when he addressed the Communist Party Congress in Indonesia some years ago:

"You may say that I give room to the Communists and that I encourage them." Nevertheless, this is the man who was introduced to American audiences a few years ago as: "The George Washington of Indonesia." I heard Mr. Rockefeller pronounce those words when he introduced Sukarno to a New York audience. What is the objective of our State Department?

A hint to the answer to that question may lie in the fact that the State Department, including Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, is putting every possible obstacle in the way of the creation of a "Freedom Academy" to train government officials and private citizens in the techniques and strategy of the Communists.

Christian Freedom Foundation, Inc. New York 19, N. Y.

We all have personal and family problems in the solution of which our Congressman can be of no help whatsoever.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

Q. What do life insurance companies mean by "life expectancy"?

A. It means the average number of years that anyone at a particular age can be expected to live. All life insurance policy reserves and premiums are based on life expectancy tables developed over the years on the basis of life companies' experience with many policyholders. However, an individual policyholder may live many years longer or die many years sooner than is indicated by these tables.

Q. I have a $15,000 straight life insurance policy and $25,000 in separate term insurance policies, all taken out with the same life company. I am now 35 years old. Last year, I had to borrow all I could on my straight life policy. I probably won't be able to repay that loan for many years. Someone suggested that I drop all these policies and take out a new "package plan" which would give me as much straight life and term insurance as I now have, plus some term insurance on my wife and children, who now have none at all. Should I make the change?

A. It is seldom a good idea to give up an existing life insurance policy in order to take out a new one. One disadvantage is that any new policy would be at a higher premium rate because you are now several years older. Also your health may have deteriorated so that you could no longer get insurance at standard rates. However, because almost two-thirds of your present protection is term insurance and even your permanent insurance is heavily encumbered with debt, your case might possibly be an exception to the rule. There might be some merit in your making a change to the type of package plan you describe. But you should talk it over with the agent and company from whom you bought your original policies. Your present company might be willing to exchange your policies for a new debt-free "package plan" that would be to your advantage. Also, before dropping any policies, you should make sure that you can get the new insurance at standard rates.

RESILIENCY

According to the Southern Pine Association resiliency is one of the lesser known but more important properties of wood. The quality is one of the main reasons why lumber is used for the structure under the floor. It makes for easier walking and takes a strain off the feet.

ROD HOLDER

Old time fly rodder's tip to hold rod in place when changing fly or bait is to jam it into boot or wader. Leaves both hands free. And while we're trout fishing, ferns may be more romantic, but plastic bags are a lot neater, to keep creel and fish fresh.

IN THE HEART OF DOWN TOWN BURKBURNETT

Betty West Walker Speech Therapist

Mrs. Betty West Walker is the speech therapist for Burk Burnett schools. Her case load varies from 60 to 75 pupils. Most of these have articulatory disorders, with voice disorders such as excessive nasality, some with speech, brain damage and stuttering.

West says, "Most people take speech for granted while it is the most common thing we do, it is the most complex. It requires the use of nearly a hundred muscles to utter a single word, and they must do it at certain precise times. Actually speech is not a learned activity, and students of speech come almost a miracle. There are four million speech defective children in our schools today, more than the deaf, and feeble-minded put together, and many can, and are being helped by speech therapists. That being able to talk well gives children one of the most important keys to a happy and successful life."

While holding a Bachelor of Arts degree from Texas Technical College and having done graduate work at Western University, Mrs. West is well qualified for her work. She resides at 705 Gayle Street having moved from Burk Burnett from Wichita Falls the latter part of the year. She has three children, Brent, a ninth grader, an eighth grader, and Joan, in the fourth grade, attend First Methodist Church where Mrs. West works with the two-year-old group.

Connally Confident Of Election Outcome

John Connally is moving aggressively forward in his campaign for Governor, telling voters about his positive program cutting away at his opponent's statements, and feeling confident about the election's outcome.

Connally laid out his program before the Dallas League of Women Voters and stung his Republican opponent by saying, "I don't believe in picking up your marbles and going home just because you don't get your own way." The reference obviously was to Cox's defection from the Democratic Party after an unsuccessful race for governor.

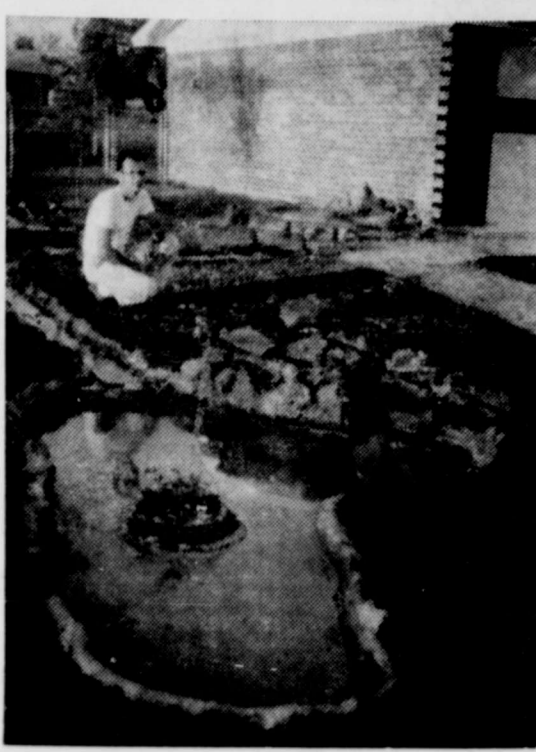

In El Paso, Gene Locke, Connally's campaign manager and chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, announced that Connally is holding a 2-1/2 to 1 lead in El Paso and is leading throughout the state.

In Connally's Fort Worth rally, he deplored the "rampaging fanaticism" of those who would deny the right of freedom of expression. He said hundreds of his campaign signs were torn down in Dallas.

In Dallas, Connally poked fun at his opponent's talk about states rights—inasmuch as the Republicans at the same time were calling for Federal supervision to prevent "fraud at the polls."

Establishment of a foreign relations service school in one of the Texas colleges or universities was proposed at Houston by Connally, who said: "There is no logical reason why all our foreign service career officers should be trained in the East. Such a school in Texas would bring beneficial results to our state, the nation, and our relation with our neighbors, particularly in Mexico, Central and South America."

"Showplace of the Neighborhood"

Combining the basic, traditional Japanese elements of stone, water, simple fencing and planting, Joseph Lucas, 601 Hazel, has made his "bit of earth" the showplace of the neighborhood.

The shadow pools are painted blue and an electric pump keeps the water circulating. Gold fish dart around the oddly shaped rocks in the pools. A miniature bridge and pagoda add to the oriental arrangement. Night lighting enchants the scene.

The rich-looking brick on the front of the house is another accomplishment of Lucas. With an artist's brush he painted the mortar between the bricks a deep black color. He then covered the bricks and mortar with a high gloss finish.

S/Sgt. Lucas with his wife, Peggy, and daughters, Diane, age 4 1-2, and Debbie, age 1 1-2, moved to Burk Burnett three years ago. They bought their house at 601 Hazel last February.

The Friendly Homemakers HD Club Met Wednesday, Oct. 24

The Friendly Homemakers Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Drue McBride October 24. Mrs. Monroe Gray, club president called the meeting to order. Mrs. J. G. Cheney led in Prayer for Peace. Committee reports were given.

Plans were made to entertain Barwise Club of Electra with a salad luncheon November 9th at the Youth Center.

Mrs. R. C. Gilbow brought an interesting program on dry arrangements.

The next meeting will be "Managing Meal Preparation," by Mrs. Ruby Lanig.

The next roll call will be answered by "What Management Means to Me." Ruby Lanig was in charge of the recreation.

Those present were: Mesdames Monroe Gray, Carl Southerland, J. G. Cheney, Charles Lanig, Tommy Reese, Earnest Masters, visitor, R. C. Gilbow and hostess, Drue McBride.

...of honor was Miss Bar-
...Barger, sister of the bride.

She wore a pink taffeta dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Best man was Donald Bucklieu of Burk Burnett. Ushers were Wade Griffin and Rae Huff.
Miss Neline Flick was organist and accompanied Wayne

Hickman in wedding solos. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. To travel in, the bride wore a brown suit with matching accessories.
They will make their home in Lubbock where Brian is in college.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Mills and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ramsey attended the Lamar Tech-Howard Payne football game in Brownwood Saturday night. Carlos Ramsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey, is a student at Lamar Tech and played in the football game Saturday night.

FREEDOM Inscription for the Statue of Liberty EMMA LAZARUS
Glad me your tired, your poor, Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, The wretched refuse of your teeming shore, Send these, the homeless, tempest-tossed, to me: I lift my lamp beside the golden door.
This truly reflects the attitude of a nation living close to God. The concern and love for others grows through Christian fellowship. Attend Church Regularly.
EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE
The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Current Literature Club Met Oct. 11th

Travelogue—Guatemala, education and international affairs were topics discussed when the Current Literature Club met October 11th in the home of Mrs. J. L. Caffee with Mrs. Marjorie Kauer, co-hostess.

"Part of the difficulty in Guatemala has been a lack of schools, equipment and supplies. President Ydigoras, recognizing that his people could only respond to challenges of the 20th Century if they had the ability, launched, in cooperation with SCIDE, what is known as the Ydigoras Plan whereby 2,250 school rooms would be built in 425 communities over a three year period. Communities, unable to contribute funds, offer what they have—lumber and some labor. The GFWC-CARE Literacy Program will provide special desk and chairs packages and classroom supply kits to help Guatemalan youngsters in the struggle for a brighter future." Mrs. C. M. Archer reported. The people and customs were discussed by Mrs. Fred Hunt. "The people of Guatemala are of Spanish and Indian ancestry; the Mayan Indians achieved their most advanced culture in what is now the northern part of the country. Nine out of ten families in rural areas are engaged in subsistence farming and each year, these small pieces of land become less productive. Carvings in their ruined temples show them planting the grain with sticks. Archeologists digging into their civilization's very beginning find the indestructible mano and metate, identical to the grinding stones used by the housewife of Santo Tomas Chichicastenango."

The Maya Mystery was discussed by Mrs. J. S. Vandenburg. "Long before Columbus, Maya Indians in Middle America developed a civilization marked by spectacular achievements in astronomy, mathematics, architecture and art. But by the time of the Spanish conquest their civilization had sadly declined, and the Maya had mysteriously abandoned most of their temple cities. Today much of the Maya country lies largely uninhabited, with only fore-clad ruins to whisper the story.

Mrs. C. W. Boyd was leader and pointed out that GFWC-CARE Literacy Program for 1962-64 in Costa Rica, Guatemala, Hong Kong, India, Iran, Mexico, Pakistan and Turkey, with Texas adopting Guatemala as their project. Mrs. W. C. Van gave the counsellor's report.

Mrs. F. M. McMurtry presided over the business session, appointing the decorating committee, Mrs. Roy T. Magers, Mrs. John Brookman, Mrs. J. L. Caffee, Mrs. W. W. Chambers and Mrs. C. W. Boyd, for the Federated Banquet, November 5th. Mrs. Grover C. Johnson, district president, guest speaker.

The Therapy committee announced that the club would furnish cake for the Halloween Part at SAFB hospital, October 31st.

"The Young Sprouts" Junior Garden Club Met Wednesday

"The Young Sprouts" held their meeting Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Mary Cecil, with six members present.

The following officers were elected:

Adriene Davey, president; Margaret Janeke, vice president; Susan Green, secretary; Susan Zukowski, reporter; Cheryl Ritchie, parliamentarian; Mrs. W. H. Bohner, leader of "The Young Sprouts" gave a full report of the club's plans for the year.

Mrs. R. C. Gilbow demonstrated how to make a fluffy white poodle with pompons cut from cleaners plastic bags.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brady presented each of the members with a bouquet of flowers along with a small speech concerning their duties.

The home of the U. S. Marine Corps Commandant, built in 1830, is known as the oldest residential building in Washington, D. C.

FUTURE NURSES of AMERICA

The officers for F. N. A. are: President, Nancy Tyler; Vice pres., Charise Hawkins; Secy., Treas., Joanna Hill; Reporter, Sally Mayberry.

On Tuesday, Oct. 16th, Miss Mae Davis of Sheppard AFB, American Red Cross gave a talk to the FNA members on "social work in Hospitals." The talk was followed by a question and answer period.

The FNA will have a conv. in the Homecoming Parade in which the officers will ride.

was amazed and even chocked the other day when I saw results of a survey of college students and their job preferences. Of those polled who made a definite decision, 5% intended to take up selling as a vocation. Worse than that, they looked down on salesmanship as an inferior occupation, and some even thought it is hardly "decent."

Women Are Today's VIP's
 I do mean those talented salesmen who learn how to get close to a prospect, how to gain his confidence, and how to give him real service. It is such men—and women too—who make up the great and important backlog of our merchandising empire.

A top-notch salesman has the true spirit of a missionary—boundless courage, complete honesty, unlimited energy, firmness, and outstanding adaptability. The good salesman must be able to rise above extreme frustration, to organize his own work program, and to operate under relentless pressure. No salesman is a clock watcher; he only wishes his working day were a bit longer. In view of the men—the other 98%—are selling to the nation's millions of retailers and corporations. These people are kingpins in our free economy and, along with those who sell advertising they create and satisfy enough new wants to keep our economy in high gear. The salesman is a mighty powerful person.

It should be made clear to our young high school and college students that sales work has a special appeal to those with persistence and ambition, because their earnings will be in direct proportion to ability and hard work. An experienced salesman get a tremendous kick out of his job because he realizes that everybody's standard of living can be raised by his efforts. He also learns that if only a thousand customers buy a product, without salesmanship, it may cost $10; but that, with imaginative selling and the consequent mass production, the consumer may get the same article for perhaps $2, or even less.

Answer to Overproduction
 One of the major fears of business right now is overproduction. So, naturally, the Number One Problem is how to dispose of the enormous volume of both heavy and consumer items our industrial complex is capable of turning out. The answer is live-wire salesmen. I am not referring to the few get-rich-quick boys who only want to make a fast buck. They are here today and gone tomorrow. I do mean those talented salesmen who learn how to get close to a prospect, how to gain his confidence, and how to give him real service. It is such men—and women too—who make up the great and important backlog of our merchandising empire.

wonderful qualities that a good salesman must have, you can't blame me for being shocked that only 5% of the college youngsters in that survey seriously considered this glamorous field in their job preferences.

Sales Incomes Exceptionally Good

Whether a young man begins as a manufacturer's representative, wholesale marketer, specialty salesman, sales engineer, or retail merchandiser, his opportunities will be exactly what he makes them. If he is a good worker, he will probably want to work on commission. Then it will be entirely up to him whether he makes $25 a week or $250. Whatever the starting guarantees offered to college seniors, the average after five years is about $8,000. The average in sales management ranges between $12,000 and $15,000 in middle-sized companies, with some earnings reaching well above that level.

Salesmen as a group need no labor unions, since their hours and their earnings are dependent upon their own ambition. Young people should be aware, however, of the fact that salesmen are often the ones who work up to the top executive posts. Looking ahead over the next decade, I believe that an enterprising young man entering the sales field at this time will have an excellent chance to get ahead rapidly, and at the same time to make an all-important contribution to our economy.

HICKORY CHIPS BARBECUE

There are at least two good tips to make hickory chips slower burning, longer smoking (sounds like a cigarette commercial) and give off more of their favorable smoke. First is to soak them good before you drop on coals. The other way is to put them on the grill (next to meat) instead of on fire.

THE HEAVENLY PRIESTHOOD

The victory is mine sayeth the Lord. Will you observe this my children? Know ye not that I am the King and I am the captain of your soul? Why work ye for that which ye have? What about the rest; about the eternal sabbath? For 2000 years ye have struggled, trying to earn that which has shown above your heads. Blessed is he that will cease from his own works, and enter into my rest, for I have not appointed unto you an everlasting care. I have come to give you rest. Is not the Kingdom of God within you? How can you see these things unless you see that I am here?

It is now brought to your remembrance that I am the Holy One, the Righteous One; I am the Substance, the Rock, the Beginning and the End. I will share my glory with no man. Ye are my subjects; I am the pilot. I will give you gifts out of my heart.

Do you see me? Do you know me lovely children? What I have cleansed, let no man call unworthy. Oh ye beautiful children; will ye laugh? Will ye cry? Will ye proclaim a mighty celebration? Ye are become the temple of my habitation. The world shall now know me and see me as I am. Ten thousand and more, even a hundred and forty four thousand drums shall proclaim that I am Lord. There is no further sacrifice under the sun to be made. Let us be seated at the royal feast, the wedding supper.

MODERN DESIGN INVADERS THE NURSERY

Modern Scandinavian design invades the nursery with this play furniture designed by Swedish craftsmen to give full reign to the imagination of children. The work-play table shown contains 16 drawers which also serve as play boxes. All exposed corners have smooth, rounded edges. For Blue-print B1211, send 50¢ (cash or money order) to Service Bureau, c/o this newspaper, 740 N. Rush, Chicago 11, Ill. Eight other matching pieces are to be featured in the Sept. and Oct. issues of Popular Mechanics magazine.

COOL GUNS

This one makes up in being timely what it lack in being new. Don't forget if you put a cold gun away, the change to room temperature will cause moisture condensation. Left unattended this can cause nasty rust. The safe way: let gun warm up, then dry, oil lightly and put away safely.

family Christmas table decorations and be proud of results. The two trees in this picture were made from Norcross new gift wrap papers "Crystal Trees" and "Peppermint Stripes."

You'll need: a 2 inch foam ball for top and a box of 1-inch foam balls to pin all over. A sheet of heavy art paper 22 by 28 inches; a cardboard mailing tube; piece of cardboard 10 inches square and you can get a powder box from Mom or Big Sister.

Twist art paper to form cone. Cut top corner to eliminate bulk. Tape together. Measure 20 1/2 inches from point all around and trim to keep symmetrical shape. Then cover with the beautiful paper. Cut a hole in the square cardboard and a like one in the powder box. Put the tube in the box and well up into the cone. Glue, cover with red paper and the job's done. Striped cone on right is made same way, except a paper doily is glued just inside the top edge of box and a Puff Bow is pinned to the top.

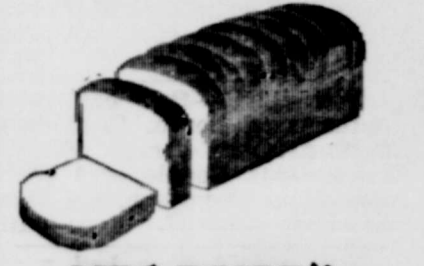

To be a husband you must be able to say in a dozen words what a woman says in a thousand.

FIRE STARTER

Some day there will be no more tips on how to start a fire and the world will end. For the present, however, both go merrily. This one encourages cooperation with a gas station buddy. Have him save changed oil filters.

After draining, have him stow in boxes new filters came out of. Now, next time you have a heavy firing job to do, put these babies into action. Burn like crazy with tremendous long lasting heat.

Pica Complex And Unexplained

Q. Why do some children dirt? Is there something that they need?
A. It is natural to assume abnormal craving for some food (the medical term for condition is "pica") is due to lack of something in the diet. Doctors who studied a number of children who concluded that iron deficiency might be the most important cause. To test this the children were given doses of iron by injection, went right on eating dirt, plaster, and what-have-you cure of pica, like the cause, very complicated, and not been solved.

Fried Foods

Q. I have a stomach ulcer. My doctor advises to avoid fried foods but he can't explain why. Can you?
A. The heating of fats, as in frying, causes chemical change in the fats that increase in the higher the temperature, may raise the temperature a point where the fat is "meritized," with consequent loss of digestibility. Unsaturated acids may also be destroyed. Irritant substances formed in to-digest foods should be avoided by persons with such ulcer.
