In his Presidential Message of December 2, 1921, the President of the United States said: "We should consider any attempt (on the part of foreign governments) to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety."

This is the gist of the Monroe Doctrine, which for the ensuing 120 years was accepted by succeeding American Presidents as a guide, a mandate and an enunciation of national policy.

Valuable as this guidance has been in our conduct with civilized nations, our need is infinitely greater as the barbaric monster of Soviet Communism confronts us in our own hemisphere. And in this critical hour the Monroe Doctrine has been brushed aside and is in grave peril of being scrapped.

In his negotiations with Khrushchev on the Cuban crisis," says Captain Eddie Eichenbacher, as Chairman of the Committee for the Monroe Doctrine, "President Kennedy pledged to block any invasion of Cuba in return for the outstanding promises of proven murderers and liars. By so doing, the President of the United States has guaranteed the continuation of Communism in Cuba and, by that token, intensified Communist infiltration of all Latin American countries."

In calling on his fellow citizens to exercise their Constitutional right of petition, Captain Eichenbacher says: "There is only one force that can rectify this dangerous situation—the voice of the American people speaking thru their duly elected Representatives in the Congress of the United States."

Such a petition is now available from the Committee at 75 Madison Ave., New York 17, New York. It calls upon the Congress to resolve: "That the Monroe Doctrine continue to be a basic plank of American foreign Policy."

This is your chance (perhaps your only chance) to help America declare itself against the most colossal program of appeasement in all history, and which—whether our leaders know it or not—is being masterminded in the Kremlin.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Every so often the press agents on the payroll of the Department of Agriculture must out some of material sent to establish that the American business is actually paying less for food than some period a few years ago, the period depending on the whim of the writer.

Now, I am, however, believe these reports, especially if they are read the minutely following a picture from food shopping. The allegations seem to fall into the same category as the report of the government statisticians who crossed with a sailing across a stream with an average depth of three feet.

Actually, the costs have to be higher, because included in the price of every container or package of canned or frozen food, there must be figured in the cost of the unwashed farm devoted to putting these products on the market.

Under existing law, except in the states of Alaska, Illinois, and New Jersey, the employer pays the entire cost of unemployment insurance. The Federal government only pays the states a fee for administering the system.

The tax the employer pay is based on their employment experience. The greater the number of former employees drawing unemployment benefits, the higher the tax rate they pay on their payroll.

This becomes quite a problem.

For, in employees in the making, training or packing industries where the work is seasonal in nature. Business of thousands of students, housewives, and other part-time workers are employed during the growing seasons. As soon as the season ends, they draw unemployment insurance for many weeks afterwards.

Thus, by and large, food processing industries pay a much higher rate than employers in non-seasonal operations.

But, of course, the extra money to pay this higher tax rate for work not performed does not, as some politicians would like, come out of the air. It has to be added to the cost of the goods.

Thus, this one item alone is quite responsible for keeping food prices at a higher level than necessary.

In a recent poll conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business, 87% of the nation's independent business and professional people voted in favor of requiring the employer to pay for a portion of the unemployment insurance tax.

After all, if it is proper to throw the employer to let some money for the employee's many days, it is quite fair that the employer should be forced to pay some while working for his future benefit.

As it is now, every time a family gets dinner, an amount equivalent on the table is consigned to thousands of people who only wanted to work in the summertime to make extra money. There is little wonder food costs are high.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Trustees of Life Insurance

Q. Next year I turn 65 and am planning now for all the possible sources of retirement income. I have a $25,000 straight life policy that I've had for 20 years and do not believe I will need for my wife after 65. How can I use this towards retirement income?

A. Go to your agent or your company and ask them to give you their most economical plan for applying the cash value of this policy as a life income. You probably have a cash value by now of some $12,000 to $15,000 in this policy and with that you should be able to obtain a guaranteed monthly income for life in the neighborhood of $75, which adds up to $900 a year.

Q. Three years ago I bought a straight life policy in which I have paid $750 in premiums to date. I no longer have need for the policy and would like to get my money back, as there have been no losses, but I am told that I can get back only $275. Is this right?

A. That sounds almost right. Except that you may possibly have had another $60 or so in policy dividends that you have either used for premium reductions or have left with the company to accumulate at interest. You have to remember that, in the meantime, you have had three years of life insurance protection—probably, judging from your figures $18,000 worth for three years. You had no claim, fortunately, but a percentage of those who bought policies at the same time did. And those claims had to be paid out of the over-all premium money. In life insurance, the cost of getting policies on the books is spread out over the early years of the policy. Thus, if you drop it in these years, you are not yet at the period when the cash value increase equals the premium paid in. A straight life policy is lifetime protection and is usually bought for a longer year. If you had only a three-year need for protection, term insurance would have been a good policy for you—but then you would have no cash value at all.

VETERANS

Questions & Answers

Q—Is there an extent-of-time limit or an amount limit on a GI home loan?

A—There is no limit on the amount of the loan in the case of a guaranteed loan. The limitation is on the amount of guaranty that can be issued upon the loan, which is 90% or a maximum of $7,500 VA-insured loan, instead of guaranteed loan, may not exceed $25,000. The time limit is 30 years.

Q—Is there an age limit after which a war orphan may no longer be eligible for Educational Assistance by the VA?

A—Generally the age is between 18 and 22, but in no case may the schooling assistance be continued beyond the 31st birthday of the beneficiary. Certain war orphans younger than 18 may receive this assistance—for example, those who are handicapped.

Q—Does the Veterans Administration recognize employee unions?

A—Yes. During the past six months the VA has recognized 128 employees' organizations at 117 field stations as well as in Washington, D. C.

The Daisy Club met Tuesday, February 5th with Mrs. Jimmie Robinson. The president called the meeting to order at the usual time. Mrs. Dahms showed films on landscaped yards. Song was led by Mrs. T. A. Kinnard. Lords Prayer was repeated in unison. Devotional was by Mrs. F. E. Eastman on Psalms 104:1-8. Roll call was answered on "What I Want in My Yard." Minutes of previous meeting were read and the treasurer's report given. White Elephant was drawn by Mrs. R. O. Brown. Yard arrangements were discussed. Club adjourned to meet next with Mrs. W. R. Baldwin. Refreshments of cake, nuts, coffee and pop were served to the following Mesdames: R. O. Brown, Sen. Ressel, Jimmie Kinnard, Henry Kinnard B. B. Menz, C. B. Ressel, W. R. Baldwin, Fred Spoon, Nornie Wilkinson, N. R. Kirpatrick, J. C. Goode, Jess Butler, F. E. Eastman, Clarence Vache, C. O. Wilson, Jack Saifer, Fred Spurlock and T. A. Kinnard.

Farm Facts

The United States is the world's largest producer of fats and oils. In 1961, U. S. production, estimated at 13.4 billion pounds, represented more than 2/3 of the estimated world production.

Our production of edible vegetable oils—mainly soybean oil and cottonseed oil—represents almost 1/3 of the world output.

In 1961, our production of industrial oils—chiefly linseed, castor, tung, and tall—totaled 1.2 billion pounds. This was more than a third of the world output.

Production of animal fats—lard, tallow, and grease—total 7.3 billion pounds in 1961, accounting for a little less than 1/3 of the world total. Output of marine oils was around 0.2 billion pounds or slightly less than 10% of the world total. Marine oils consist of whale oil, sperm whale oil, fish oils, and fish-liver oils.

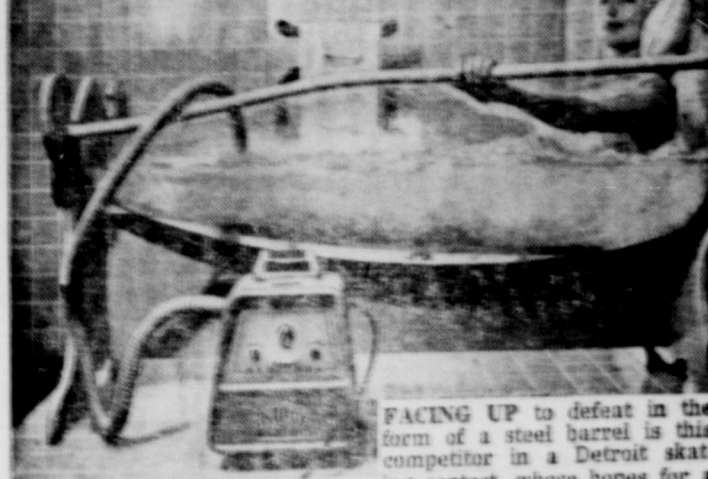

The U.S. is the largest producer of fats and oils.

Food processors have long been the major single outlet for domestic fats and oils. From 1939-59, from 61% to 97% of our annual consumption was in the manufacture of food products.

Yellow traffic markings, says the Vision Conservation Institute of Philadelphia, are 35 to 50% more visible than white markings.

The nation's largest fleet of refuse collection trucks, operated by New York City's Department of Sanitation, are painted "golden yellow." According to a department official, yellow makes the 1,300 vehicles easier to see "and scrub."

The color yellow, it appears, is having a day in the sun.

As a housewife — an average one, I'd like to think — I'm particularly interested in Gotham's collection trucks. Further, the whole problem of waste disposal in a city the size of New York might interest women whose husbands are often too busy to take out the trash.

Imagine, if you will, the problems of a department catering to New York's eight million people.

Department officials claim they carry one million loads of trash a year, or over two and one-half million tons. Commissioner Frank J. Lucia, a strict believer in the cleanliness-begins-at-home school of thought, introduced "golden yellow" trucks less than a year ago.

He took the step for practical reasons. Far easier to see and avoid than grey vehicles in winter months, the trucks also attract attention to New York City's never ending anti-litter campaign.

I'm not suggesting that you can make your husband more receptive to wrestling with refuse by painting the station wagon yellow. Certainly, that might be going too far. However, perhaps a coat of yellow paint on the trash cans will accomplish the same thing. It's just a thought.

ECONOMIC QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—Does the inability to invest more of those in the middle to top income brackets have an effect on the amount of jobs?

A—Very definite. Since costs $22,000 — on the average — to provide a single job in the heavy demand capital is obvious. Thus, the tax system slows the rate of investment funds needed for research, new products, plants and equipment to roadblocks in the path of economic growth, adversely affecting the well-being of all Americans.

Q—Do the rates have bearing on the opportunity of starting a small business?

A—Naturally. If the person wishing to go into business has his own does not have sufficient capital it will be difficult for him either to accumulate out of income — after taxes — or to acquire it from those who would like to invest in a project but are prevented by the tax drain on their income.

Washington Set For 22nd-23rd

Retail Merchants Association of the Chamber of Commerce met last night at 1:00 P. M. in the Electric Service Reddy Room. Monaghan, chairman of the committee, was in and outlined plans for big days, a George Washington Birthday Sale, one of the most successful of the most successful undertakings by retail merchants. This year, with more to make plans for the two-day sale, greater things are expected.

Cosmetologists Aid Charity Programs

New "Belle" hair fashions for spring and summer are being presented at fashion shows in every state of the nation by the 70,000 members of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association to benefit charity drives during National Beauty Salon Week, February 10-16. As shown above at a March of Dimes benefit in Atlanta, the new "Belle" style is modeled by

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

Q. I am thinking of adding $10,000 life insurance to my family program. How much should this cost me?

A. Only you can answer that, because it depends on what kind of policy you buy and your age. For a $10,000 contract, you can pay from $50 to $500, or even more. Age alone accounts for a large part of the difference. Type of policy is another important factor. The lowest rate would be for a term policy at a young age, the higher rate for an endowment policy at a more advanced age. And there would even be some difference in initial premium from company to company, though the long term over-all cost comes out pretty much the same. You need to consult your agent to make certain what kind of policy would be best for you, within range of what you can afford to pay.

Q. Could you explain why my life insurance policy has so many words in it and why it is in language beyond my understanding? I've counted and it has 7,000 words, mostly legal language.

A. Those words are in your policy in your own interest. Both the length and the legal nature result from the effort to meet all of the many legal requirements of the state laws and also set up a contract that can be fulfilled without question when claim payment is made, whether any parties to the contract are living or not.

Wilbarger-Wichita SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Considerable acreage of brush are controlled by mechanical means each year, states James Park of the Soil Conservation Service at Iowa Park.

Tree dozing lends itself well to areas where trees are of moderate height and can be spotted by the machine operator to prevent over-running. Dozing disturbs the vegetation in proportion to the size and thickness of tree stand, but usually leaves sufficient grass plants to revegetate disturbed areas within two or three years. Where the range is absent of better grass species dozing lends itself well to hand overseeding of disturbed areas to increase carrying capacity of the range. This method of control usually leaves the land in rougher condition for a number of years, but the roughened condition holds extra water and helps to control erosion.

Deep root plowing controls a high percentage of brush and lends itself well for placing land into a state of cultivation. But quite often this treatment destroys a high percentage of desirable range grasses, especially if work is performed during low moisture conditions.

The cost of each of the above treatments are considerably higher per acre than are aerial spraying, but usually the percentage of kill is much higher and longer periods between re-application can be expected from mechanical treatment than from chemical control.

Zachary Taylor, twelfth President of the United States, was a second cousin of the fourth President, James Madison.

Only about one-fourth of South America ever has been surveyed.

You are buying the policy for the protection of your beneficiaries. History has shown that the contract language must be refined to the greatest possible degree, as it may not come up for interpretation for 50 or 60 years or more and then by persons knowing nothing about your present plans. For decades life company officials have searched for means of simplifying their policy contracts and shortening them, but the first objective is protection of the policyholder's and beneficiary's interests beyond all question of doubt.

CHEVROLET TRUCK QUALITY

You can see the difference wherever you look

If you believe various makes of trucks are pretty much alike, you aren't doing justice to your pocket-book. There are differences.

A Chevrolet truck welcomes comparison. Look at the little things on it—latches, hinges, stitching in the upholstery. Notice how strong the tailgate is, the rubber encased chains that keep it from sagging.

The body floor is made of select wood to eliminate the rust problem and give you better footing. The lower side panels are double-walled; you might dent the inside but it won't show through.

Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense?

If you are going to need a new truck this year, you should look at the quality Chevrolet has to offer. May we bring over a new '63 so you can examine it?

2 NEW 6-CYLINDER ENGINES

In Memory of Huck McDonnell
(By Nelly Caver)

You go
To join the family circle
That God has started somewhere in another place
Until we take our place beside you
How lonely is the Here and Now without your face
You go
And yet your hand, your voice, your smile
Are just as near to us as they were yesterday
Reminding us that you're still with us
Only in a different way

The child like faith you kept down through the years
The happiness you found in helping others (Especially little boys)
The burdens you carried when they were to heavy for anyone else
That funny cow-lick in your hair
Our own private joke "It's time to watch my home Movies"
That wonderful sense of humor that still makes us laugh
When we remember not to cry
All these are the You we love keeping you ever near to us
Though God has bid
You go

HARDIN PTA

Being an American should mean many things to each of us. Would you like to hear what it would mean to some of our school children? Several children will read to us their own reasons why they love and believe in America, at the February 19 meeting of the Hardin P.T.A.

A family will be recognized because of their devotion to P.T.A., willingness to work and participate in all phases of P.T.A. endeavor and consistent attendance of meetings. This family has been selected from your ballots and will be presented with a fitting memento as P.T.A. "Family of the Year."

Reports will be made on the results of fun night. If you have any comment, for or against, we would be interested in hearing them. They might be helpful in planning any project of this order that might be held in other years.

The meeting will be held in the Hardin Grade School Auditorium, Tuesday, February 19. Coffee will be served at 7:00 p. m. Business meeting will begin at 7:30. Cartoons will be shown in the nursery.

News From

The subject receiving the most attention in Washington conversations these days is taxes. The happy prospect of tax reductions and the unhappy prospect of tax "reform" and deficit spending. Almost all of us find ourselves in a quandary over the proposals advanced by the President in his message to Congress dealing with taxes.

Everyone likes to think about taxes going down. In addition to added funds in our own pockets, we can see a boost to the economy from lower taxes. The money given back to the people in tax cuts would, for the most part, be spent with local business for consumed goods. And money returned to business would result in capital investment creating new jobs. It's good for everyone. But, as usual there's a catch. With these advantages come disadvantages. The cost of government goes on. Although there are areas which can and should be cut, the vast majority of federal dollars goes for defense and defense-related items that cannot be cut without damaging our position of strength in the cold war. To cut taxes by any appreciable amount, we find we must do one of three things. We must: 1. Drastically cut back vital federal programs; 2. Enact tax reforms which will regain the lost revenue; or 3. Increase our national debt. Or, as has been proposed by the administration, a combination of these three.

Let's look at each of these three possibilities, as they affect our area of Texas. When I look at the budget, I find two badly needed flood control and water supply projects which have been left out. More important, a close and detailed study of military programs and plans has convinced me that the Air Force needs added funds in large amounts for space programs related to our defense. I am sure that there are other such items eliminated from the budget which are badly needed. I feel I must press for inclusion of these items in the budget. So even by supporting heavy cuts in other areas of governmental activity, I can see where it is going to be difficult to drastically reduce expenditures overall. We will try very hard to reduce government spending, and I hope it can be accomplished.

"Tax reforms" is a phrase that strikes a responsive note in us. It sure sounds good. It sounds good, that is, until one of the "reforms" hits us where it hurts the most, in the pocketbook. At least two of the "reform" proposals concern me very much. One is the provision relating to taxation of the oil industry, so vital to Texas. I believe the proposed changes in tax policy on oil production and drilling are a result of misunderstanding and misinformation about the oil industry which have plagued us for years. A powerful Texas voice in the administration and on Capital Hill in the past is all that has saved the oil industry from being taxed to death. The current proposals would strike hardest where we need the most help, at the level of the independent oil man. For very sound reasons concerning both the Texas economy and our national security, these proposals must be vigorously opposed and defeated. Another reform proposal which concerns me is the one dealing with contributions to religious and charitable institutions. I have not had an opportunity to give this matter as much study as I will very soon, but the contributions to these many worthwhile and valuable institutions must continue to be encouraged.

The third area is deficit spending. I have made my position clear on this point by a bill which I have introduced at this session of Congress. It calls for a systematic reduction of the national debt. This of course, is dependent on not only a balanced budget, but a budget surplus in light of our current policies. My proposal would make the national debt payment a budget item in the future to assure that it is paid.

You can see that there is both good and bad in the proposals. There will be very lengthy hearings and deliberations in Congress. It is far too early to predict what the bill which is presented will contain. I am confident that the proposals which have been offered will be drastically changed before any bill comes up for action. My study of the paradoxical problems will continue, as I try to determine in my own mind the best course for our Nation to follow in this field.

An outstanding group of young people attending the Washington - United Nations Seminar sponsored by the Methodist Youth Fellowship were in the Washington office last week. Those from our district in attendance included: Miss Kathryn Arnold and Miss Sallie Reeves from Denton; Mr. Jerry Payne from Nocona; Miss Rhoda Jean Fox, Mr. Wilfred Favors, Miss Shirley Marshall, Miss Nancy Smith, Miss Carol Ann Carter, Mr. Dan Shafer and Mr. Dennis Brewer from Gainesville; and Mr. David Aston from Valley View. It was a real pleasure to meet and talk with this wonderful group. Other visitors to Washington from home were: Mr. Dick Stotts from Electra and Mrs. John Stallings from Denton.

RUSSIAN BANKS

An informed friend asked me what kind of banking system they have in Russia. Did the people have savings and checking accounts? Was interest paid on savings? Could they borrow money?

times and nobody seemed to know. What is the answer? I intended to print this item without an answer, asking you, dear reader, to supply the information, but on second thought I decided to put the question to a banker. This is what L. Merle Hostetler told me: If you were a typical Russian and wished to have a bank account — as one out of every four Russians apparently does — you would have only one choice. You would go to one of the 75,000 branch offices of the State Savings Bank which is owned and operated by the Central Government. For the convenience of depositors (and possibly for the benefit of the Central Treasury) the branch offices are open all day and as late as eight or ten in the evening. You would not think of opening a checking account because personal checks are virtually unknown in Russia. On your savings you would get three per cent. If you wished to borrow money from this same institution you would be almost certainly turned down. It does make a few installment loans on such things as radios, bicycles, and furniture. Terms: 25 per cent down and the balance in twelve months. Repayment is assured by the existence of a payroll withholding system. It no longer makes mortgage loans on single family homes.

EASY DOES IT The lion was stalking through the jungle looking for trouble. He grabbed a passing tiger and asked, "Who is king of the jungle?" "You are, O mighty lion, answered the tiger. The lion then grabbed a bear and asked, "Who is boss of the jungle?" "You are, O mighty lion," replied the bear. Next the lion met an elephant and asked, "Who is boss of the jungle?" The elephant grabbed him with his trunk, swung around, and threw him against a tree, leaving the lion and injured. The lion growled and said, "Just because you don't know the answer no reason for you to growl."

a little BIG NOW

We all get a thrill out of seeing our children put on our hats or shoes. Obviously they don't fit now, but some day he, or she will grow to fit them. At the same time imagine that they are trying on our lives. Would they fit? ... or do you live the type of life that you would want them to grow to. Live a life of worship of the Lord.

"Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore."

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Farm Facts

There are some exciting new developments in food processing, according to Philip D'woskin of the Marketing Economics Division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

In "dehydrefreezing," fruits and vegetables are dried to about 50% of their original weight and then frozen and not cooked. Quality of the dried and cooked food is equal to that of the normal fresh product, and there are savings in freezing, packaging, storage, and shipping costs.

"Freeze-drying," another development, offers even more convenience and produces foods of high, fresh-flavor quality.

Food (cooked or uncooked) under this process is dehydrated under vacuum while frozen. Freeze-dried foods apparently do not become toughened or shriveled, and when rehydrated, regain their original flavor and texture. Properly sealed, these foods can be stored at room temperatures for long periods of time.

Although present emphasis is on meat products, fresh-dried shrimp are available for the institutional market, and sportsmen can buy complete, already cooked entrees.

Come On In, The Weather's Fine

While the North shivers in below-freezing temperatures and snow drifts pile to record heights, all is summery in Southern Texas, where there are more days of sunshine the year-round than in Miami. Typical of the scenery is this pretty Miss. shown at the Sands Motor Hotel in Laredo, Texas, a popular spot for tourists and travelers enroute to Mexico. The southern portion of Texas is attracting increasing numbers of settlers and vacationers every year—and with this lovely lass a typical attraction, it's no wonder. The Sands and the Sun Valley Motor Hotel in Harlingen, Texas, are operated by Enrich-Corso Inc. a New York City real estate firm.

Texas Highway Department

The first boat ramp ever built by the Texas Highway Department is now open to the public. — and by summertime water recreation enthusiasts will be able to enjoy many more throughout the state.

The Department announced today the completion of a boat ramp at Lake Tawakoni in Rains County in North Texas. It is the first to be completed among 26 boat ramps programmed for construction by the department.

Along with the travel program of the Highway Department go certain travel services such as boat ramps, maintenance of park roads and some 1,000 Safety Rest Areas (roadside parks), and operation of Tourist Bureaus at key entry points to the state.

The boat ramps will offer water lovers year-round launching spots at no charge. Each site will include not only the launching ramp but also a parking area, access road, incinerator, signing and landscaping.

Locations of the 26 ramps now programmed were selected on the basis of the water area to be served and the number of boat registration fees in the area.

Funds to build the ramps come from surplus boat registration fees. In 1959 the Texas Legislature passed the Water Safety Act and designated the Highway Department as the administering agency to collect boat registration fees. The Act stipulated that surplus funds over and above the cost of administering the program would be used to build boat ramps.

The terms of Harry Elliott and C. L. Simmons will expire in April.

March 1st is the deadline for filing to have names placed on the ballot.

TEACHER SHORTAGE

An inspector, visiting a county school, was extremely annoyed at the noise made by the scholars in an adjoining room. At last, unable to stand it any longer, he opened the door and burst upon the class.

Seeing one boy taller than the others and talking a great deal he seized him by the collar, removed him to the next room, and stood him firm in the corner.

"Now you stand there and be quiet!" he commanded.

Ten minutes later a small head appeared around the door and a meek voice asked: "Please, sir — may we have our teacher back?"
