Are 'Situations' Really Wanted

The following report of Editor and Publisher Hugh Ferguson of what happened, or didn't happen, in Heathsville, Va., when The Northumberland Echo of that city offered free classified ads to job-seekers.

It would be untrue to say that our editorial of last week (in which we offered to print 'situation wanted' ads free of charge) drew no response. The Richmond Times-Dispatch responded with a news article on it. A reader from Kilmarnock responded with a letter to the editor. "And one 1961 high school graduate responded with an ad.

Rather than spelling out any conclusions to be drawn from this information, we would rather here list a few of the more ironic facts about employment and unemployment in the Northern Neck.

"A tomato-canning factory in Lancaster County last summer was unable to find enough employees to operate at full production.

"A fisherman last year found that he had to give his crew a raise in order to get them to give up their unemployment checks. Why should they in effect, work all week for a mere ten or fifteen dollars more than they could draw at the unemployment office?

"A canning factory executive recently was asked by an employee to keep that employee's wages down below a certain level, to that unemployment compensation could still be claimed."

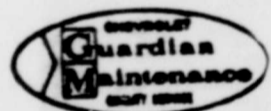

"The owner of a marina was approached by a job applicant last year—but the applicant stipulated that he did not want to work on weekends or holidays (when the marina would naturally get most of its trade)."

It may well be that there is a high rate of unemployment in our area. But surely, most of our jobless are unemployed by choice. They might take a job, if it were offered to them, if it paid well enough, if it required little enough effort and responsibility and enterprise.

But how many of them are actually seeking employment? How many of them are approaching employers with the request that they be given the chance to prove their ability? How many of them are asking for the opportunity to serve as an apprentice in a skilled trade? How many really want to pull their own weight?

We submit that there are mighty few of them. Those

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

An American visiting in Britain, talking to many English business leaders about United States antitrust laws, will find a substantial number agreeing with such laws in principle, but question that they can be enforced. If the American then points to the records of accomplishment in anti-trust enforcement, the following question is asked:

"If that is true, why have you chaps over there permitted such a huge petroleum monopoly to exist?"

It is a good question, and perhaps the recent action by Rep. James Roosevelt will lead to some answers.

For following testimony given by officers of some of the major oil firms before the Federal Trade Commission, the Congressman from California very bluntly told them that by their own statements they stand accused of defrauding the American consumer.

The transcripts of these hearings revealed to the Congressman that the major oil companies trade their own brands of gasoline to other competitive brands and also sell their products to independent "off brand" companies, and also sell gas produced by independent companies under their brands.

He states that the counsel for a major oil firm said, "It is undisputed in this record that private brand gasoline is of the same quality as the major brand gas. Indeed, many of the private brands get their gas from the major companies and all of the major companies exchange gasoline with other companies, including the independent refiners, and you will find you can go into a major brand station and get gasoline that was refined by an independent refiner and go to a private brand and get gas refined in a major oil refinery."

It is the Congressman's position that millions of consumers, motivated by huge advertising expenditures that stress some special feature of a major brand gasoline, are influenced to pay a 2c per gallon bonus to the detriment of the independent gasoline.

In a scathing attack on the major oil representatives in the hearing room, the Congressman said, "The American people cannot tolerate this. If what your officers and counsel says in these transcripts is true, it is wrong, it is fraudulent. You are taking money under false pretenses... you have entered into a deliberate deception of the public. Either your brands are different from each other and from unbranded gasolines, as you tell the public... or else they are from the same tank as you tell FTC. You can't have it both ways."

These disclosures have now been put before the FTC and the Justice Department.

Obviously, if the major brand oil companies trade their product back and forth among each other, and at the same time maintain consumer price schedules, there would appear to be a substantial question of monopoly practice involved.

News From The County Agent

Cotton farmers are urged to make weekly cotton insect checks. In our weekly cotton insect survey, we are finding lots of fleahoppers, some boll worm eggs and boll weevils.

The use of credit by farmers and ranchers will probably continue to increase for several years, says B. T. Haws, county agent.

His prediction is based on trends toward continued consolidation and enlargement of farms, further increases in capital investments, and higher prices for farm real estate and many items of production.

New technology and the price-cost squeeze are major factors which have increased the need for more credit. Funds are generally wanted for more land, livestock, or equipment; shifts from crop to livestock production; and for the modernization of facilities for efficient agricultural production.

Another reason for increased borrowing may be the reduced farm income and depleted financial reserves caused by inefficient farm operation.

For the next few years the price cost squeeze, the trend toward larger farms, and the need for greater investment per farm will probably continue to create heavy demands for credit, predicts Mr. Haws.

ployment to supplement their farm income.

However, one bright spot for borrowers is that land values have increased along with the farm debt, resulting in increased aggregate equities for farm operators.

The price-cost squeeze on farmers may tighten some during 1963 due to larger supplies and lower average prices on farm products along with higher production costs says B. T. Haws, county agent.

One farm worker in the U. S. today supplies food, fiber and other products for 27 people as compared to only eight in 1920. Crop production is now 70 percent higher per acre, output per breeding animal is 90 percent greater and one hour of farm labor produces more than four times as much as it did in the period from 1919-1921.

Systemic insecticides are materials, that, when taken in through the roots or the leaves of plants or given internally to animals, kill pests which attack them. Newest are the animal systemic chemicals which will successfully kill cattle grubs or fleas on dogs without harming the animals. Plants are protected for extended periods of time by these chemicals and insects are killed whether they eat a part of the plant or swallow its juices.

TEST TUBE ORIGINS

Some of the more dramatic uses of wood in contemporary dwellings have test tube origins, the Southern Pine Association says.

Modern chemicals, applied in pressure treatments, protect lumber against decay under conditions of severe weather exposure. The chemicals are also toxic to termites and other insects.

This has opened up the safe, uninhibited use of lumber for a variety of outdoor applications. Examples include uncovered wood trellises over gardens and patios, exposure of rafters at intervals of the roofline for dramatic effect, uncovered "sun decks," projection of ceiling beams well beyond the roof overhang. Chemically treated lumber also provides permanent fences. Still another effective use is for exterior siding of seaside vacation homes whose outer walls are subjected to weather extremities.

Many chemicals are odorless and provide attractive colors.

The week of July 21-27 has been proclaimed by President Kennedy as National Farm Safety Week in the United States. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council is hopeful that all Texans, especially those living in rural areas, will join in the observance and really make the slogan for the week, "Inspection Plus Correction Equals Protection" work.

Why Young People Are Unemployed . . .

The Secretary of Labor ought to know what the major cause of unemployment among people is. Doesn't he realize that federal regulations of employment and minimum wages, red tape, expense of collecting taxes from the employee, and other federal laws governing employment of young people, are making it increasingly impractical if not impossible for employers to hire young people?

PROLONGS LIFE

According to the Southern Pine Association, finishes last longer on wood which is properly dried and "pre-shrunk." In the case of interior room walls, a good stain or natural finish should last twenty years on "pre-shrunk" wood paneling.

HOWARD CLEMENT
New Location—Next to Legion Hall

ton is all the equipment you need to prevent a damaging rise in the temperature of frozen food removed from the freezing compartment during defrosting — provided defrosting takes less than half an hour.

U. S. Department of Agriculture tests show that the temperature of frozen foods placed in covered cardboard cartons rose an average of only 3.5 degrees F. while the cold-storage area is being defrosted. The average temperature rise for packages stacked on a table was 7.3 degrees F. and for those wrapped in newspapers, 5.2 degrees F.

In conventional refrigerators with semi-automatic defrosting, the average temperature rise in frozen foods in the ice-cube compartment was 8.5 degrees F.

In refrigerator-freezer combinations with automatic defrosting, there was no significant rise in temperature in the freezing compartment when the unit was in a room with a normal temperature.

If you are in the market for a refrigerator-freezer, check to see that you are getting just that. Freezer storage space is not adequate for freezing foods. It only good for storage. Mrs. D. D. Mendenhall recently made a very good selection for her needs. The combination has two doors, is frost free and has a large enough space for her family needs.

How do the new long-life light bulbs compare with the customary kind? In the amount of light they give? In their life span, and their cost?

Your county home demonstration agent says the regular-type bulb is still your best bet — if you're looking for a good, inexpensive light source. The regular bulbs give more light for the amount of current used than the long-life bulbs.

It is explained this way: The new bulbs — which actually are nothing more than a reversion to the early Edison bulb — have filaments that do not get as hot as those in regular bulbs. Consequently, they last longer, but give less light.

A regular incandescent light bulb costs about 25 cents. During its lifetime (about 750 hours) it will use up 5 to 6 times its original cost in electricity.

This ratio, the experts say, is better than that of the long-life bulbs which cost consumers more both to buy and to use.

If you are shopping for a mixer, list your needs and wants, then check these convenience features, suggests Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent.

Controls and speeds . . . both right and left handed people find control switches on top easier to use than those on the side. Is the speed range adequate for all mixing jobs, and does the speed control increase or decrease smoothly as you change the speed control?

Stability with light weight . . . the mixer should be wide and heavy enough at the base so as not to be easily knocked over, yet as light in weight as possible for portability.

Power head . . . should be firmly fastened to the stand, yet easy to remove and attach if designed for use as a portable unit. The motor should have a radio-interference eliminator.

DESSERTS and other foods that once required hard-to-clean baking dishes can now be baked and served in disposable Mira-Glass dishes, ideal for picnicking. Plastic-lined cups and dishes can take heats up to 350 degrees.

Reserve power . . . should be enough to handle heavy batters, with motor built to last. The motor should have a sealed-in lubrication for cleanliness and convenience.

Beaters . . . should be easy to insert and remove. Automatic ejectors save the messy job of pulling out beaters coated with batter.

Attachments . . . that are easy to insert and remove. Blades . . . that are easy to clean. Smooth blades are more user. They are best because they are easily cleaned than ridged ones. Beaters and bowls . . . that are designed to feed the food into the beaters with the least manual aid. Most mixers are designed with the bowl off center in relation to the beaters so the action of the beaters on the mixer makes the bowl revolve unless the moisture is thin.

Safety features . . . look for beaters which rotate away from each other at the point nearest push objects away, rather than draw them into the beaters.

STRUCTURAL FACTOR

The light, airy form that wood siding gives to a home disguises concealed strength and structural values.

With wood siding, it's possible to integrate the house framework and surfacing more closely than with other materials. When strong woods with high nail holding power, such as Southern Pine, are utilized, the security factor is further enhanced.

One way to create leisure time is to be always on time for appointments.

Something for Everyone

Today's Home 'Supermarkets' Suit Families Big or Little

Variety is the keynote of this year's electric refrigerator-freezers. There's variety in size, shape, style, interior arrangement of storage space and exterior finishes.

There's a 1963 electric refrigerator-freezer to suit every newlywed, large family, retired couple, bachelor, or bachelorette among the estimated 3,815,000 units to be shipped by the manufacturers this year.

Some of the new ones have extra-large vertical freezer and refrigerator sections side by side, while other models have roomy, zero-zone freezer sections either above or below the refrigerator sections. Inside all of them there's plenty of storage space, with even the doors lined with shelves for containers large and small.

More efficient, thinner insulation has added storage space inside the new units without increasing outside measurements. Doors may be right or left hinged and are mounted for easy clearance so no space is needed between the unit and a side wall. Backs also fit snugly against the wall.

As for ice cubes, you can have them any way you want. Automatic ice makers, roomy ice storage bins, self-filling ice trays, and standard ice trays that can be emptied at the flick of the hand are available in various models. In some, ice cubes are "dried" so they don't stick together.

Dairy sections feature large cheese compartments, racks for as many as two dozen eggs, and butter conditioners which keep butter soft and spreadable, medium, or hard.

Double and single crispers keep a bushel or so of fresh fruits, vegetables and salad greens market-fresh for a week at a time. Specially cooled meat compartments keep even hamburger and specialty meats fresh for days on end, and zero-zone freezer sections hold many pounds of food, either home-cooked or commercially prepared, at top quality for months.

Refrigerator shelves, meat containers, crispers, and freezer baskets and shelves glide or swing out for easy access to contents. In some models, swing-around shelves in the refrigerator section not only revolve within the unit, but can also be taken out and used as serving trays. Many shelves are adjustable vertically to accommodate odd-shaped packages.

The bugaboo of defrosting can be a thing of the past if you choose. In some electric refrigerator-freezers frost never forms at all. Others defrost automatically, and still others require only the flick of a switch for defrosting. With no frost in either the refrigerator or freezer section, labels on frozen food packages can always be read, the containers never stick together, and frost never steals storage space.

New designs and exterior finishes make the 1963 electric refrigerator-freezers attractive as well as efficient. Exteriors may be white, pastel yellow, pink or aqua, or copper-tone. Some have optional panels custom-matched to your kitchen.

Like a supermarket in the kitchen, the new electric refrigerator-freezers will save time and shopping trips and will keep fresh foods at your fingertips.

Long Wearing Soles, Heels

WEAR-CONSCIOUS MOTHERS will welcome these smart school shoes, made with soles and heels of tough, abrasion resistant "Hypalon" synthetic rubber. Soles of ordinary thickness last as long as, or even outwear uppers, and are flexible, resilient and comfortable to wear. Heels won't need replacement, since "Hypalon" does not run over, spread or become sloppy looking, and resists nicking and chipping. Quabaug Rubber Co., North Brookfield, Mass., uses the Du Pont material for soles and heels being introduced by half a dozen quality manufacturers in such children's classics as these girls' saddle shoes and boys' oxfords.

Aladdin's lamp had to be rubbed three times to work its magic. Even then a genie had to lend assistance. A new product called "Chalk Board Spray" performs a magic of its own at the press of a button. Out comes a dark green spray paint and presto — you have a chalk board wherever you want it. The first "canned" chalk board on the market comes in 15 ounce containers. Twelve months of research and development went into its formulation. It is manufactured by Illinois Bronze Powder & Paint Company, Chicago, Ill.

According to Harlan Dodge, general manager, the popularity of the spray is due to its versatility. "A housewife can make a chalk board in the kitchen and jot down reminders to herself or messages for the family," he points out.

"A mechanic can convert a section of his garage wall into a chalk board to record needed repairs. Walls throughout a factory can be sprayed into bulletin boards. Schoolroom chalk boards worn out from years of use can be completely rejuvenated by the spray. And for the amusement of youngsters, the inside of closet doors can be made into chalk boards which disappear when you close the door," says Mr. Dodge.

Virtually any smooth surface can be a convenient, useful chalk board. Scrap lumber, hardboard, wallboard, even masonry walls, can be sprayed quickly to dry to a ready-to-use chalk board.

There's absolutely no stress or strain in making these boards, according to Dodge. He offers some application advice:

"Prepare the area or surface by removing any dirt, grease, wax, polish, rust or moisture. Mask off the area to be sprayed, using paper and masking tape around the perimeter. This will keep spray from getting on adjoining surfaces. Then press the button and watch your chalk board grow into shape.

Dodge is convinced from the public's tremendous response to the new product that chalk boards are here to spray!

Music Appreciation

I am not a musician, but as I write this I think back and realize how my taste in music has changed. Early in life, it took only the simplest childhood jingles to please me, then in school I was trained and taught to appreciate more intricate music. All through life I feel that my knowledge of . . . and appreciation for music has grown and matured.

Through study and help from others, I have also grown as a Christian and have a better appreciation of my Lord.

My knowledge of, and love for God increases with each church worship service . . . This way of life and worship, I would recommend to anyone. Won't you try it . . . Start by attending church this Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

DEVOL NEWS

C. O. Woodley, Reporter
A fire which started on Highway 70 Thursday afternoon threatened several homes as it moved northward, but it was stopped by a high south-southwest breeze over vacant lots. The fire department from the field sent a truck and men within minutes after the fire was reported. Local firefighters with sacks and tractors were busy engaged in saving the homes of Nevada Turner, the Frank Anderson and Guy Hutson which were especially damaged. The community received a good rain Saturday evening, breaking a long hot dry spell. The heavy rainfall was accompanied by high winds and an electric storm. No damage was reported, however, except for several telephones being out for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCullough arrived home Thursday evening from a trip to New Orleans, Louisiana, on combined business and pleasure.

The Devol Demonstration Club met Thursday with Mrs. V. J. Wilkinson in her home. Meeting was called to order at 2:00 p. m. and guests introduced. Including Mrs. Gladys Smith of Dallas, Mrs. A. J. Adams and Miss Clara Beth Dunagan of Lubbock, Texas. The devotional was read from Psalms 27-11-14.

followed by the Lords Prayer in unison. Minutes were read and roll call answered with "Ode Dish I Am Especially Fond Of." After a social hour, Mrs. Wilkinson, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Smith, served homemade Angel cake and ice cream and punch to Mesdames Willie Cozby, Lorien Weaver, Pearl Coker, Luella Odom, Dolly Hardin, Grace Uthe, Clara M. Woodley, Minnie Smith, the guests and hostess. The next regular meeting will be July 25th.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Foster were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Green of Corpus Christi, Texas; Mrs. Maud Green of Lubbock, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Green and Mrs. Jennie Green of Orange, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Green of Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. Dock Bartlett of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Guy Hutson was admitted to a Frederick hospital Wednesday of last week after suffering a stroke and he is reported in a serious condition at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Mays and A. J. Mr. and Mrs. George Warren and George Henry, Misses Sandra Kemp and Sue Pruitt, and John Coker, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Webb and son Larry of Angleton, Texas, who were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mays, all spent the week end at Lake Texhoma boating and skiing. The Webbs returned to Angleton and Larry is spending the week with the Mays.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Texico, New Mexico were visiting friends in Devol last week. The Stewarts are formerly Devol residents and Mrs. Stewart was Miss Hazel Metcalf before her marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McCasland and sons spent the 4th of July holiday with her parents at Clute, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Foster are spending this week in Midland and Corpus Christi, Texas.

Today when newlyweds feather their nests, you'll usually find four parents who have been plucked.

OUR AMERICAN HERITAGE AND THE CRISIS IT FACES

In a world of topsy-turvy economic theories and politically-motivated acts, a little truth can sometimes seem to be highly controversial or provocative.

This is evidenced by the book, "The Quiet Betrayal" by Sidney L. DeLove (Independence Hall Assn.) 2720 W. Devon Avenue, Chicago 45, Illinois; paperback 75 cents. In it, Mr. DeLove does nothing more than restate the principles upon which this nation was founded, and then show how that heritage of freedom is being betrayed. But despite the character and factual basis of the author's assertions, many will undoubtedly consider it controversial.

Apathetic Americans
The author hits home when he points out that it is not "those guys" who are betraying our country. It is we, the American people, who are doing it by moral and political apathy.

How little we seem to know or care, says the author, about the blessings we have inherited in our form of government! The greatest luxuries, the highest standard of living, are only temporary possessions, unless we understand and appreciate the economics of incentive and enterprise that caused them. When the people's interest in freedom wanes, and they look to the government for help, then the power of government is changing hands . . . from the people, where it belongs, to the State, where it does not belong. Freedom and independence are not GIFTS of government; THEY ARE THE ABSENCE OF GOVERNMENT. They must be continually rewon - as rights that are tempting for others to steal from us.

Concise Summation

The author's thesis is summed up well by two quotations he has selected: Edmund Burke's famous paraphrase, "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that enough good men do nothing. And Abraham Lincoln's warning: "Our reliance is on the love of liberty which God has planted in us. Our defense is in the spirit which prized liberty as the heritage of all men, in all lands everywhere. Destroy this spirit and you have planted the seeds of despotism at your own doors."

"The Quiet Betrayal" translated

tes unchanging facts into living ideals that we need to recapture: freedom from meddling government, the preservation of our human rights and political principles, the challenge that turns subjects into self-governing citizens. This book is highly recommended for all who seek to understand the essence of Americanism.

POISON IVY

Q. If you accidentally touch poison ivy is there any way to neutralize the poison and avoid trouble?
A. If you come in contact with poison ivy, or even suspect that you have touched the plant, wash the area as soon as possible with lots of soap and water. If soap isn't handy, sponge the area with a cloth soaked in kerosene, regular (unleaded) gasoline, or alcohol.

EFFECT OF THYROID ON HEART

Q. Is it possible that some people can not build up their thyroid intake to the correct level because of the effect on the heart?
A. In advanced cases of thyroid deficiency, heart disease not due to the deficiency may exist. In such cases the physician may prescribe thyroid extract in small doses initially, and increase the dosage very cautiously. If the heart condition is severe and not specifically due to thyroid deficiency, the doctor may find it necessary to stop thyroid administration short of the optimal, safe dose.

Carolyn Clement Honored July 9th With Miscellaneous Wedding Show

One of Burkburnett's most popular bride-elects, Miss Carolyn Clement, was honored with a lovely miscellaneous wedding shower Tuesday night, July 9, in the Mary Martha room of the First Baptist Church. The honoree's chosen colors of aqua, pale yellow and white were used in decorations throughout the party room. Entertainment for the evening was provided by Miss Blanche Butler, Sharon Nix and Mrs. J. B. Riley, Jr. Miss Butler played a variety of piano selections during the evening and Mrs. Riley sang three numbers. Miss Nix presented the gifts to the honoree with an appropriate reading. Diane Williams of Wichita Falls presided at the guest book where approximately 75 guests were registered. Pat Clark and Charlotte Wallace served as hostesses for the shower. Mesdames John Page, Ellis Cullough, John Brookman, F. Fuqua, J. N. Hicks, Gilbert, Frances Feltz, Jessie Bills and Preston, Jr. Miss Clement, bride-elect Mr. Lewis Gray of Burkburnett is the daughter of Mr. and Howard Clement. Wedding vows will be changed by the couple Sunday August 11 at the First Baptist Church.
