ASK QUESTIONS FIRST

Right this very minute we fear that a prominent ladies' club is helping an out of town advertising concern take an unfair amount of advertising dollars out of town. It is not our purpose to tell any merchant how to spend his advertising dollar. But we do want him to ask enough questions about any proposition to satisfy himself that he is not paying too much in order to help a local club a little.

Patriotism - 1963

America has been getting some selfless, and spectacular service lately from its favorite whipping boy—"Big Business."

A nationwide committee of tycoons, headed by Harold S. Geneen, president of International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, has been taking time out for extensive and effective promotion of sale of U. S. Savings Bonds.

The U. S. Industrial Payroll Savings Committee, composed of John Gordon of General Motors, Leslie Worthington of U. S. Steel, Crawford Greenwalt of duPont, H. I. Romnes of Western Electric and 24 other chief executives of blue chip companies under the leadership of Chairman Geneen, have gone after increased Payroll Savings Plan enrollments in their own firms and their respective industries with the same enthusiasm that has made their companies grow and prosper.

Employing the leadership and energy that carried ITT past the billion dollar mark in sales last year, Geneen signed up 92 percent of his 22,000 U. S. employees and helped push this year's bond sales to a record peacetime high. General Motors added 85,000 new payroll savings subscribers, and at Northrup, 99.6 percent of the 17,000 employees have now joined the plan.

Back of their achievement are hundreds of telephone calls and personal visits by the members of the committee plus a letter campaign that brought response from more than 20 percent of 10,000 firms contacted, or four times the average returns on such efforts. Treasury Secretary Dillon has credited this all-out effort with adding almost 600,000 new names to the Payroll Savings Plan in the first half of 1963.

We bring this matter up for two reasons: First, to add our own vote of support for the U. S. Savings Bond program as a potent economic force for the good of the country as well as the individual, and secondly, to give credit where it is long overdue—to industrial giants who all too often are unfairly maligned just because they are big.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

If a man had a water bucket that leaked from two holes, one about the size of a half dollar, the other smaller than a dime, it is to be presumed if he wanted to continue using the bucket he would plug up both leaks.

But if this man plugged up the small hole, leaving the larger one unplugged, then announced his bucket was in much better condition than before, his neighbors would look at him with some bewilderment.

This somewhat parallels the curious proposals now before Congress to stop U. S. gold loss.

The biggest drain on U. S. gold has been the exchange of dollars sent abroad in various foreign give away programs for U. S. gold. These various schemes have already cost over $100 billion.

There also happens to be some American investors, large and small, attracted by the profit possibilities of some foreign enterprises, who have been risking their own money to buy stock in these firms. This outflow is literally peanuts compared to the vast handouts by the foreign give away people.

So now there is before Congress a proposal that Americans who desire to invest in foreign enterprise be charged a 15% tax. In other words, if a man wants to buy $100 worth in stock in a foreign firm, he will only get $85 worth of the stock, the balance going to tax.

This method of thinking becomes quite confusing. On one hand when thumping the tub for bigger and better foreign give aways, the argument is that foreign nations need these vast outpourings of American tax money to expand their economy and keep them from going down the road of socialism to communism.

On the other hand, it is now argued that it is bad for the American economy for the individual American to risk some of his own money to buy stock in a private foreign enterprise to help it expand.

This is a most difficult paradox to understand. So, it is perhaps well at this point to consider the current controversy over the proposed steel plant in India.

In private hands, India has all the steel industry it can support at present. Yet the foreign give away people want to shovel millions of U. S. tax dollars in building a state-owned steel plant in India.

This, then, seems a logical explanation of the situation.

It is quite all right to take tax dollars from American private enterprise to build socialist enterprise abroad, but it is bad for private American investors to risk their own money in private foreign enterprise. Paraphrasing the stirring cry of a famous American patriot at the time of the Tripoli incident, the cry now seems to be "Billions for socialism, but not one cent for private enterprise."

It's A Bargain

It certainly won't surprise anyone to be told the prices of just about everything we buy and use have increased in the last 10 years. Specifically, general commodity costs rose by an average of 13.1 percent in the 10 years ending in 1962.

But there are exceptions to the trend. Gasoline, which practically everyone uses every day, is one of them. The average service station price for a gallon of regular gasoline (excluding taxes, over which no one in the oil business has any control) was 4.3 percent less in 1962 than it was 10 years before.

This speaks volumes for the efficiency of the industry. It must pay higher wages, higher exploration and drilling costs, higher prices all along the long line from well to retail outlet. But it has found ways and means to offset those increases, and to pass savings on to the tens of millions of American gasoline consumers.

It also speaks volumes for oil's competitiveness. Every element in the industry, right down to a small town service station, competes for business and customer favor every day of its life. And the competition is not limited to price. Quality and service are major competitive

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

Q. I have been offered a new job which involves quite a bit of air travel. How would this affect my life insurance?

A. Your basic coverage under your present policies would not be affected in any way, regardless of the amount or the nature of any flying you might do. And if any of your policies include a special provision for double indemnity or other accidental death, these would fully cover you while travelling as a passenger on scheduled airlines. In some cases, however, these extra benefits might contain a restriction against travel on non-scheduled or private planes. And few if any double indemnity clauses will cover anyone while he is flying as a pilot or crew member of any plane.

AIR TRAVEL INSURANCE

No matter how extensively you travel as a passenger on a scheduled airline, it would not affect any new life insurance policy you might buy in the future. Nor would it affect a double indemnity clause in a new policy.

Passengers flying within the United States on non-scheduled airlines, chartered planes or in company-owned planes normally can also buy new life insurance policies at standard rates, unless there is some unusual hazard. Under certain conditions, many life companies even issue policies at standard rates to experienced pilots of company-owned planes, as well as experienced private pilots who fly merely for pleasure or on personal business.

Q. What is a "payor clause"?

A. It is a special form of insurance protection which can be included at a small extra charge in life insurance policies on children and young people. It provides that if the parent or other adult who pays the premiums should die or become totally disabled, no further premiums would be due for a certain number of years thereafter (usually until the youngster reaches age 25). It can also be used with an endowment policy on a child's life to guarantee that educational funds will be available if the parent should die before the child enters college.

Mend a Split Paddle

Here's how you can keep a split blade on an oar or canoe paddle from ruining a fishing or hunting trip. With drill or knife make a series of holes parallel to the split and along its whole length. Then with wire (or fish line if wire isn't available), lace the split back together through the holes in the same way you'd lace a pair of shoes.

News From The County Agent

The District and County Sears Pig Show will be held at the Livestock Auction Barn in Wichita Falls on Saturday, September 21st. The County Show will be judged at 9:00 a. m. and the District Show at 10:00 a. m. Several counties from District III and IV will participate in the show.

Overplanting wheat allotments this year can reduce a farm's future allotments, according to B. T. Haws, county agent. This effect on a farm's wheat history is one of several factors which farmers will want to consider in planning their 1964 crop operations.

Haws calls attention to a provision of the law passed in 1958 which can affect a farm's wheat acreage history. It directs that when no marketing quotas are in effect farms exceeding allotments will receive that year's allotted acres as history for future allotments. Complying farms receive their base acreage as history, he says.

The county agent cited this example as how the provision would apply on a farm with a 100-acre wheat base and a 1964 allotment of 60 acres. If a farmer complies with his allotment, his wheat acreage credit for 1964 will be based on the 100-acre history. But if he exceeds his allotment, he will be credited with only 60 acres in computing his 1966 allotment.

Overplanting for the 1964 crop will not affect the 1965 allotment since national and state 1964 wheat acreage figures will not be available when allotments are determined.

A farmer who overplants his 1964 allotment can still avoid loss of base acreage history. He can dispose of his excess acreage by the deadline date for his county and still receive his 1964 base acreage as history credit in determining future allotments. By thus complying with his allotment, he also becomes eligible for price supports.

Farmers are urged to check with the local ASC office for further information on the 1964 wheat program.

Self-employed farmers and ranchmen must pay social security tax if their operations return a net profit of $400 or more annually.

The tax is 5.4 percent of the actual net profit up to a maximum of $259 for a net farm profit of $4,800. When farmers were first made subject to this program in 1955, a maximum of $4,200 was the annual basis limit for tax payment.

Three types of benefits that the self-employed operator derives for himself and his family from this annual tax payment are: first, he is entitled to retirement benefits when he reaches age 62 and will receive monthly payments subject to his level of current earnings. He is then entitled to disability benefits when he has paid for the required period of coverage, but only if he is unable to continue work.

gram is similar to life insurance in that his survivors are entitled to limited lump-sum payment plus monthly benefit payments. These payments are based on the amount of credit accumulated by him before his death, and further, upon the number of dependents who are deprived of normal support.

You are reminded that those not certain about the conditions by which they must report and pay the social security tax should see representatives of the Social Security Administration. Generally, these staff members make periodic visits to each county and your local county agricultural agent can tell you when they will be in your county.

An increase in the screw-worm population this fall must be prevented if early eradication of this livestock pest is to be realized, officials of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program emphasize.

Favorable weather conditions and shearing and other ranch operations usually result in a marked increase in screwworm infestations in both livestock and wildlife from early September through November.

Eradication machinery is poised to move quickly onto farms and ranches where screwworms are reported. Officials stress livestockmen should watch closely for infected animal wounds; they should save samples of the larvae and immediately report the discovery to the county agent or veterinarian.

Small cuts in tractor tires can be prevented from becoming big ones by first cleaning stones or foreign matter from them with a screwdriver, and then beveling the edges of the cut with a sharp knife or make a ocn-shaped hole. This tapered hole will not fill up with dirt and stones which would spread the cut and make it more damaging.

16 Million Homes Goal For 1960s

BY W. EVANS BUCHANAN President, National Association of Home Builders

Model homes on display during National Home Week, Sept. 8-15, will be tangible evidence of the building industry's progress in producing better homes for American families.

This year an estimated 1,430,000 new homes will be built at a cost of more than 23 billion dollars. The total of new homes needed during the 1960s will reach about 16 million.

One of the prime goals of the National Association of Home Builders is to see that this need is met with quality housing at the lowest cost.

Under the NAHB research program, new as well as proven materials are tested, and engineers constantly search for new construction techniques that will help builders to produce better houses in less time and at lower costs.

Recently, NAHB built a new test house in Rockville, Md., under the FHA's experimental housing program. This raises to five the number of test houses built by NAHB.

Conditions today are favorable for the home-buying public. Not only is there a wide selection of new homes from which they may choose, but mortgage money is readily available at reasonable interest rates. The longer mortgage period and low interest rates mean that the monthly payments made on a new home are about what a family would expect to pay out in rent.

13 Rural Accidents Investigated by Texas Highway Patrol

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 13 accidents on rural highways in Wichita County during the month of August, according to Sgt. E. L. Street, Highway Patrol supervisor in this area.

These wrecks accounted for 15 injuries and an estimated property damage of $9,145.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county for January through August of 1963 shows a total of 126 crashes resulting in two persons killed, 84 persons injured and an estimated property damage of $314,000.

Now is the time to have motor vehicles "winterized," Sergeant Street said; that is to have their vehicles safety inspected at one of the approved inspection stations to determine all parts are in top condition.

The new 1964 vehicle inspection sticker is now available. All vehicles registered in state are required to be inspected once a year. All motor vehicles are urged to have their vehicles safety inspected to the rush later on.

The veteran patrol supervisor said, "The Vehicle Inspection Program has proved to be a valuable tool in reducing accidents in Texas."

Modern Hide-Away in Ohio Hills Offers Year-Round Resort Living

A growing sign of prosperity and modern living is the second home at the shore or in the country.
An outstanding example of a planned year-round leisure community is Hide-A-Way Hills in Bremen, Ohio, about 50 miles from Columbus. This development covers nearly 1200 wooded acres in the Hocking Hills, and is favored with four lakes for fishing, swimming and boating in the summer, and ice skating and ice boating in the winter.
Among the many other recreational facilities are tennis courts, a nine-hole golf course, bridge paths and stables, archery and rifle ranges, toboggan slides, a ski tow and runs, and a central lodge for dining, dancing and other social activities.
Houses at Hide-A-Way Hills are designed to serve as retirement homes as well as vacation lodges. Because of this and the extremes in the weather—temperatures often to 100 degrees in summer, drop to 30 degrees below zero in winter—emphasis is placed on quality building materials.
F. M. Donelson, president of Hide-A-Way Hills, says that his homes are equipped with electric heat and that thorough insulation is used to help provide year-round comfort and to keep heating costs low. Mineral wool insulation is used in walls, floors and ceilings in many of his homes.
Another aid to comfort and heating economy is the use of ponderosa pine windows. They help keep heat in and drafts out because of the natural insulating quality wood and because of their snug fit and built-in weatherstripping. Wood windows are also preferred, Donelson says, because they are compatible with the rustic setting.
Also widely used at Hide-A-Way Hills are asphalt shingles that have been tested and approved by Underwriters' Laboratories for their fire- and wind-

This modern second home features durable construction and quality materials, like asphalt shingles and wood windows.
resistant qualities. He adds that asphalt shingles are "easy to apply, have long-lasting good looks, are low in maintenance and blend well with the wooded, hilly area."
Donelson's homes also include full plumbing, an electric range, refrigerator-freezer and waste disposer.
Lots cost from $2,000 to $3,600, and houses sell from $5,000 to $13,000. Nearly 200 homes are expected to be completed by the end of 1963.
A shopping center, two chapels and a marina are planned for the near future.

SAME OLD STORY!

A boy and girl... he carries her books to school... they share stories and laughter... yes, it's the same old story, but it's all new to them. Even though we have seen it many times before, we receive joy in seeing their joy.

From the beginning of man's time on earth, God has revealed himself to man, and man has told others about God, and how much God has done for man. Through centuries the story has not changed, but there are many who have not heard the story. Invite someone to church this Sunday. It may be their first opportunity to hear of God's great love.

"For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

John 3:16

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

A precaution on the use of any of these chemicals for con- trolling termites is to read the label carefully and follow its instructions to the letter. Expanding the farm net in-

Texans lose thousands of dol- lars each year satisfying the enormous appetite of this tiny wood-chewing pest, he says. Nothing short of financial or natural disaster is more damag- ing to the homes of Texans in some areas.

Texans must take quick ac- tion to stop these termites. Ter- mites can literally eat a home to pieces if they are allowed to go unchecked, but they can be stopped by several methods.

Prevention is the best way to avoid trouble from termites, he emphasizes. Provide good drainage, ventilation and floor clearance under houses not of slab construction. Remove wood, paper and cloth waste from around the house. Haul off excess piles of dirt and in short, remove the places where termites might live, he says.

Before the home is completed, effective control of termites can be assured by treating the soil under it with a recommended insecticide for the purpose. By working the chemical into the soil where the building is to stand, control of the pest can be expected for at least five years.

For the house already in- fested, several insecticides are recommended. Five per cent DDT and two percent chlordane are the two most common materials, but dieldrin, lindane, and sodium arsenite are also effective, says the county agent. Injecting a .5 percent gamma isomer of BHC in fuel oil into the tunnels of the termites is also effective.

A precaution on the use of any of these chemicals for con- trolling termites is to read the label carefully and follow its instructions to the letter. Expanding the farm net income doesn't always mean ad- ding more acres to the farm.

Operators generally think that increasing the farm acre- age or adding more livestock is the only way to raise their income. He amits that in some cases this may be the only solu- tion, but careful analysis of the present farm operation would probably point to other means of increasing the net in- come.

Haws points out some factors to consider in deciding how to increase the net farm income. First, are the labor and equip- ment on the farm fully utilized? Some operators increase their profits by cutting back on ma- chinery replacements. The high fixed costs of baling hay or other harvesting operations may be avoided by hiring custom harvesters. When such harvest- ing equipment is purchased, it must be used enough to make its operation economical.

Could new enterprises or methods provide additional re- turns from the available land and labor? Sometimes added efficiency in several areas of the operation can materially in- crease the total returns.

Are the present enterprises yielding maximum potential profits? Cases have been ob- served where additional capital used for fertilizer or fencing for rotation grazing have paid good dividends.

Through better planning on his present acreage, the opera- tor can often add to his in- come without buying more land. A good manager must seek the best way to do things and must make full use of the resources available to him.

B. T. Haws, county agent, has this word for stockmen on sup- plemental feeding of livestock. He says, "You are stretching a point when you try to stretch protein supplemental feeding.

Just what is the right amount? This, must be answered by each individual ranchman. The amount of grass, type of soil, weather and other factors must be considered. The more high-protein feed available, the less supplemental feeding you will need. Generally, however, under Texas range conditions, you will need about

HOW TO MAKE LIGHT WORK IN THE KITCHEN

Properly planned lighting in the kitchen makes meal preparation easier, more pleasant and more efficient. It helps eliminate little annoyances like misread recipes . . . dishes (or vegetables) that have to be washed twice. For a well-lighted kitchen you need two kinds of lighting:

GENERAL LIGHTING

. . . to provide a pleasant level of over-all room illumination without glare or shadowy areas. As a suggestion for the average rectangular kitchen, a 12-inch enclosed ceiling fixture with a 150-watt bulb, or a shielded fluorescent fixture with two 40-watt tubes usually will provide adequate light.

LOCAL LIGHTING

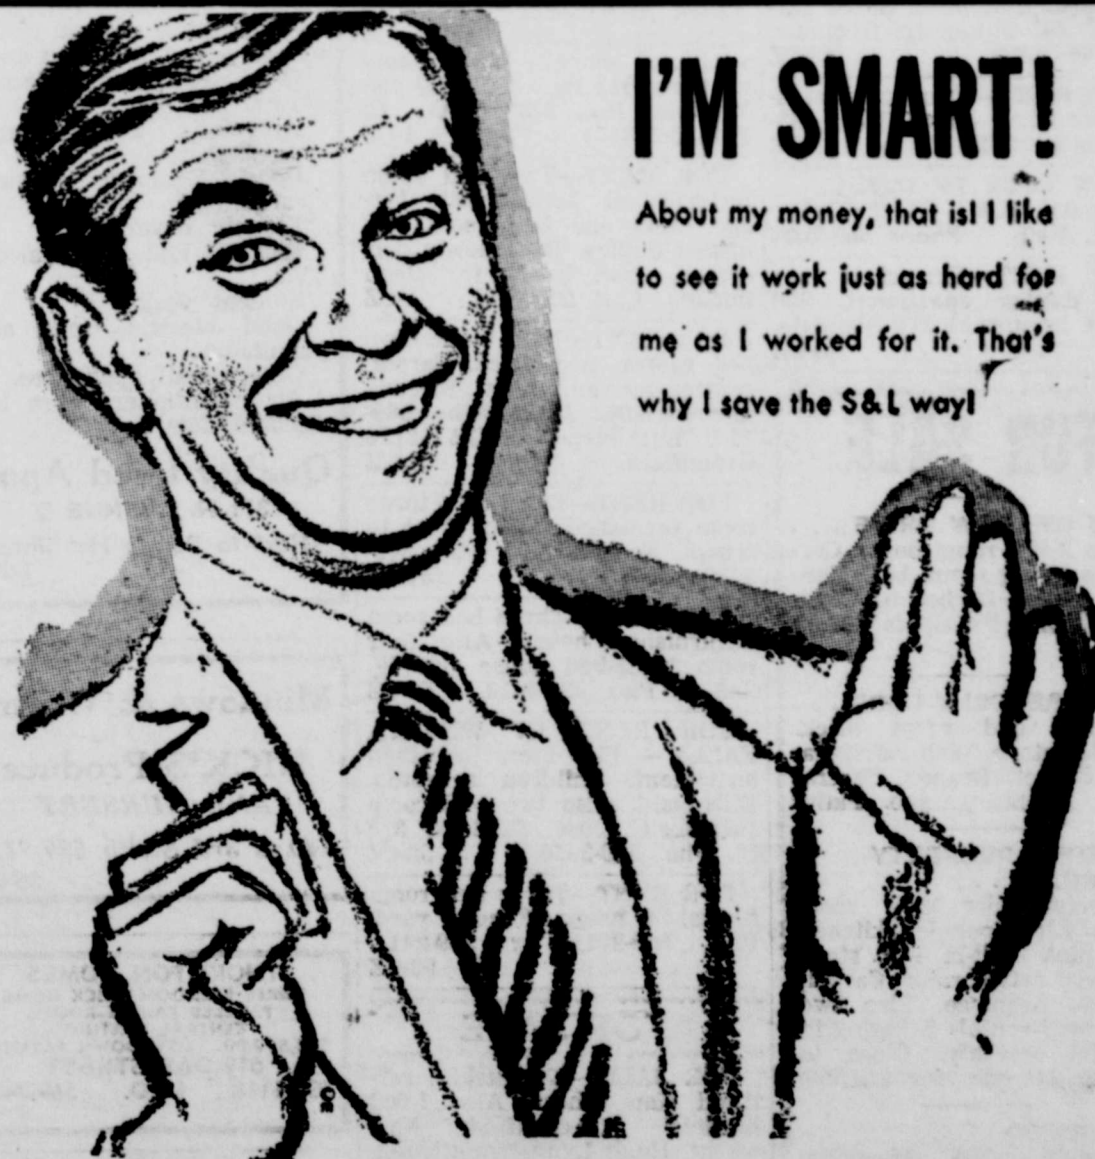

. . . to eliminate working in your own shadow at the sink, range or work counters. Use over the sink either incandescent or fluorescent lamps, shielded behind a facing board or recessed into ceiling. A shielded fluorescent wall bracket is recommended over the range. Shielded fluorescent tubes under cabinets will provide ample light on counter tops,

A Texas Electric Lighting specialist will be glad to help you with suggestions for better light in your kitchen.

SAME OLD STORY!

A boy and girl... he carries her books to school... they share stories and laughter... yes, it's the same old story, but it's all new to them. Even though we have seen it many times before, we receive joy in seeing their joy.

From the beginning of man's time on earth, God has revealed himself to man, and man has told others about God, and how much God has done for man. Through centuries the story has not changed, but there are many who have not heard the story. Invite someone to church this Sunday. It may be their first opportunity to hear of God's great love.

"For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

John 3:16

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Luncheon Climaxes Fall Rush Season

Saturday, September 14th, a lovely luncheon was held in the home of Mrs. Bruce Shepherd, 711 Pecan Drive, for the guests and members of Theta Epsilon Sorority.

Card tables were set up in the living room and den and were covered with white linen cloths and centered with small crystal vases holding an orange carnation. The dining table was covered with a white cloth matching the smaller ones and held a lovely flower arrangement of orange carnations and green lemon leaves. The food was served buffet style with a menu consisting of Baked Ham, Scalloped Potatoes, Green Beans, Jello Salads, Rolls and a dessert of White Cake and Ice Cream topped with a Chocolate Sauce. Drinks of Tea and Coffee were served from the bar by Mrs. Evelyn Farris, co-hostess.

Following the meal everyone moved into the den to hear "The History of E S A" given by our District VI President, Mrs. Carra Cauthon. We were honored to have Mrs. Cauthon and Mrs. Marjorie Irby, District VI Coordinator, from Fort Worth, as our guests and speakers for the affair. Following Mrs. Cauthon's and Irby's talks, Evelyn Farris, rush chairman, gave pledge blanks to four new members for signing and making their membership official. The new members of Theta Epsilon are: Mary Janeke, Aulene Henderson, Billie Brookshier and Lauretta Johnson.

Attending the luncheon were guests: Mesdames Carra Cauthon, Marjorie Irby, Cynthia Collier and members, Mesdames Aulene Henderson, Mary Janeke, Billie Brookshier, Lauretta Johnson, Pat Adams, Kathleen Brammer, Clodella Bridges, Helen Corelius, Helen Eaton Evelyn Farris, Marilyn Howard, Bobbie Klinkerman, Bobby Slusher, Shirley Spinks, Mary Tullis, Ruby Van Loh, Bennie Kerr, and the hostess, La Donna Shepherd.

SEX DISCUSSION

Q. Should parents discuss sex with their children, or should they provide reading material on the subject?
A. Reading material is helpful but read the book yourself before giving it to the child. Later, the book can be the basis for informal discussion between parent and child to clarify misunderstandings. Parents, of course, should be well-informed. Unfortunately, many are not.

SWIMMING PROBLEM

Q. Is it harmful to get water in the ears while swimming?
A. It's probably not good for the ears and, under certain circumstances, may lead to serious difficulty. The inner portion of each ear houses an organ of balance which can be put out of commission by injecting cold water into the external ear canal. Nothing happens when both ears are simultaneously given the cold water treatment, but real trouble develops when only one ear is so affected. The person becomes very dizzy and is thrown completely off balance. This can occur in swimmers when, for example, one ear contains enough wax to keep the cold water out. Cold water entering the other ear may lead to extreme dizziness. All swimmers should make sure that they do not have wax in the ears—especially in one ear only—before going into the water.

The true measure of the worth of prescribed medicine lies not in dollars and cents, but in the faster relief from pain and speedier recovery it provides.

BIG PASTURE F.F.A. CHAPTER

A pretty young Big Pasture high school beauty is looking forward to the State Fair of Oklahoma this month when she will compete in the 1963 edition of the State F.F.A. Sweetheart contest.

Miss Marilyn McCullough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCullough, will be among about 100 high school age girls to meet judges in the preliminary contest at State Fair on Saturday, September 21, in Oklahoma City. She gets the chance to compete as Sweetheart of the Big Pasture Future Farmers of America Chapter.

The sweethearts are judged on personality, poise, appearance, activities, speech, and in the final contest on talent.

Five girls will be selected as district F.F.A. Sweethearts in the preliminary contest. Then on Monday, September 23, the State F.F.A. Sweetheart will be chosen from the five. That night, at the State Fair grandstand show, the new Sweetheart will be named and crowned by state F.F.A. president, Stephen Armbruster.

The five finalists also receive special gifts. The Oklahoma Cotton Research Foundation Oklahoma City, will provide the five district winners with dresses from Little's Fashion Theater. The girls will also be helped with makeup and selection of accessories. The finalists will display some talent in the final contest. The State Fair presents corsages and luggage to the five lucky girls.

The State Future Farmers of America Sweetheart contest has become one of the highlights of the State Fair. Held annually in the F.F.A. Exhibition Hall, it attracts chapter sweethearts from all corners of the state. Only girls who have been chosen by high school boys in local F.F.A. chapters are eligible.

White Sights

And, of course, you know enough to dab a spot of white paint on the front sight of a rifle or shotgun so your point will have a visible sight point in the event of an emergency or late evening shot.

The Awards of Fort Worth visited the R. H. Henry's Sunday.

for the contest. The Big Pasture chapter selected Miss Marilyn McCullough by popular vote last September 3, 1963.
