Bulldogs Meet Graham Steers Friday Night At Morgan Stadium

By E. W. Underwood

"Into every life some rain must fall." Some wise man somewhere once said those words. The Burk Burnett Bulldogs have had their rain, and now, with renewed determination, they prepare to pick themselves up, dust themselves off, and give it another try.

Graham is ramrodded by a 195-pound quarterback, P. D. Shabay, a lad who is described as being "real good." He can pass or run very effectively and has done so on previous occasions. If he passes his chief target will likely be Gordon Nees, 6' 2", 175-pounds. Top hands on the line are big center, E. A. Gresham; guards, Buddy Ponder and Boomer Davis, along with tackles, Mike Lechner and George Mays. Johnny Mills is an offensive threat from his halfback slot.

John Wood Elected Freshman Class President at College

Elected president of the freshman class recently at Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Oklahoma, was John Wood of Burk Burnett. There are approximately 1,000 freshmen students at Southwestern this year. John, a 1963 graduate of Burk Burnett High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Woods of Burk Burnett. He is majoring in pharmacy.

lads that tip the scales at better than 220 apiece, Sonny Bentley and Pete Glover. Jerry Bingham and Rusty Kinnert are a couple of junior defensive backs that are making their presence felt along with John Nyby, Perry Ellis, and linebackers, Jackie Cornelius, and Koller, as well as defensive end Larry Radiden.

All in all, it should be a whale of a game, a real tough contest matching two of the biggest teams in district, weight wise. Batting .666, I'll rate this one a tossup — winner take the marbles.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BISHOP, CALIF., INYO REGISTER: "About the only thing that's the matter with promoting good old fashioned Americanism is that it seems to offend those good old fashioned communists."

HARTLAND, WIS., LAKE COUNTRY REPORTER: "Communism is an ideology. All communist think alike. Those of us in the free nations often not only don't think alike, but have no common ideology or world aim. We need a common ideology. One united goal that will overturn the advances of communism. We must not only think freedom, but must act it and believe in our actions."

CORVALLIS, ORE., HERALD: "J. Edgar Hoover reports that fines, savings and recoveries in FBI investigated cases during the year ending last June 30th reached a new peak of $167,654, 622, a figure which represents a return of $1.34 for every dollar appropriated for the agency."

MELROSE, MASS., FREE PRESS: "In the old days we used to walk to school, thereby getting fresh air and exercise. Now we have to have school buses pick up and return the youngsters. Because of the lack of exercise, we must erect gymnasiums and provide physical education instructors. The last, and best, is the cast of the Westmere, N. Y., father, who won a contract to tote his own two daughters to a private school (optional if within 10 miles of their homes) in the family Cadillacs. Dad collects $1300 for this service."

MOVILLE, IA., RECORD: "A farmer bought a painting, took it home and hung it first one way and then another. Each time the effect was confusing. Finally his wife asked 'What in the world is that supposed to be?' 'Why', said the farmer, 'it's a realistic picture of the farm situation. No matter how you look at it, it just don't make sense'."

CELINA, TEX., RECORD: "The federal government wants to give Tyler, Texas money on the grounds that the city is a 'depressed area.' 'Just how silly can politicians get? Tyler is one of the best cities in Texas, and many tyler people don't like the implication that their progressive, lovely city is seeking alms from the rest of the country."

WEST VA., SALEM HERALD: "Government statisticians show concern over the fact that 25 percent of American families live beyond their incomes. Look whos talking."

News From The County Agent

Farmers have been planting on root rot infested land years with little effort to control this major cotton disease, says B. T. Haws, county agent.

Root rot, which is making cotton land out of otherwise productive cotton land, thrives in wet weather. However, it has been severe in many dry years. Research has shown that several practices reduce cotton root rot. These are crop rotation, deep plowing, and residue management. Any one of these practices will help to reduce root rot, but a combination of them will do a better job of controlling the disease.

Though this year's crop is in the harvest stage, now is the time to plan for next year's crop. Plan a crop rotation, and plant a non-susceptible, heavy residue crop on the root rot land.

A good three year rotation program to follow is grain sorghum, small grain and cotton. Grain sorghum and small grain are high residue crops when grown under good productive conditions, says the county agent. By following small grain with cotton the farmer has the opportunity to deep plow the grain stubble during the hot, dry summer months to a depth of 8-10 inches, which kills some of the root rot fungi. The following spring the soil is ready for cotton.

These soil management practices will not control the cotton root rot completely, but they will greatly reduce it, he says.

If Texas farmers pay the marketing quota penalty on stored excess wheat before July 1, 1964, they may lose part of their wheat acreage base history. Since no marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1964 crop, excess wheat released after the July 1 date will not affect the base history and will carry no marketing penalty.

Excess wheat from the 1963 crop or previous crops released by payment of the penalty before July 1, 1964, will reduce the farm's wheat base history. A farm loses acreage history when a marketing quota without penalty of loss of wheat acreage history.

However, if a farmer has a small 1963 crop because of underplanting or underproduction, he may apply to the County ASC committee to release all or part of the farm's stored excess from previous years penalty or less of wheat acreage history.

Officials of the screwworm eradication program are asking livestock producers to give even closer attention to worm cases in their livestock. They point out that every section of the state is vulnerable to fall screwworm cases and that it will take complete cooperation to prevent a buildup that could threaten gains made under the program.

Burned out and dirty light bulbs in the laying house can cost egg producers real money due to reduced production, points out the county agent. His advice is to keep the lights burning brightly and the way to do this is to keep the bulbs clean and replace those which burn out.

News From Cong. Purcell

I have received a tremendous number of letters about the REVENUE ACT OF 1963 since the last newsletter. There is a mixture of approvals, disapprovals, and questions about the tax cut of $11 billion.

The bill has received the support of a great many responsible conservative businessmen and from a great many national associations. The following are just a few of the statements I have received. These groups represent men who are in a position to see the general business conditions, who understand government financing, and who have demonstrated ability in using sound business judgment in running their own businesses.

1. Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. A. "Appears to be the best available vehicle for obtaining any kind of tax cut this year. As such it deserves the support of every businessman when it reaches the House floor."

2. National Federation of Independent Business. The tax bill "... is right in line with your Mandate votes, with the sense of replies to Federation special surveys, and with testimony before the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee and Senate Small Business Committee."

3. Americans for Democratic Action. The A. D. A. is opposing the bill, calling it "regressive tax action."

4. A. F. L.-C. I. O. President George Meany has urged passage of the tax bill as it is. He called it "on balance... desirable and necessary." Any other course would be a direct repudiation of the unemployed and a detriment to the best interests of the whole nation."

5. National Association of Home Builders. N. A. H. B. urges support for the bill because "Tax reduction materially benefit home buyers and home industry, especially the small builder. We are satisfied Congress will protect the public against unwarranted future spending."

6. American Farm Bureau Federation. The Farm Bureau feels that the bill is "fiscally irresponsible," that it would increase the debt and the operating deficit, and that it would "retard economic growth."

7. Business Committee for Tax Reduction in 1963. This committee is headed by Mr. Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Company and by Mr. Stuart T. Sanders, the president of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company. It includes among its members as vice chairman, Mr. Sam M. Fleming, president of Third National Bank of Nashville; Mr. Frazer B. Wilde, chairman of Connecticut General Life Insurance Company; Mr. T. S. Peterson, retired president of Standard Oil Company of California; Mr. David Rockefeller,

Ministerial Alliance Youth Council Officers

The purpose of the Youth Council is to provide activities for the teenagers of Burkburnett. The first activity to be presented will be a fellowship immediately after the first home football game on October 4th. Jim Jefferys, a comedian and juggler, will entertain at this first fellowship. Jim is well-known to many Burkburnett teenagers and was invited back to our town by popular demand.

Other after-game fellowships are being planned for each home football game. All teenagers are invited to join in the fun.

president of the Chase Manhattan Bank; Mr. Gardiner Symonds, chairman of Tennessee Gas Transmission Company; and Mr. J. Harris, chairman and president of Commonwealth Edison Company.

The Committee closes its statement supporting the tax cut with the following:

"We recognize that tax reduction in the magnitude contemplated by the measure before the Ways and Means Committee will add temporarily to an otherwise existing deficit. However, we believe that additional income flowing from the tax cut will bring the budget into a position of balance significantly sooner than if there were not tax cut at all.

"We commend these members of Congress for their concern and urge them to do everything possible to assure expenditure control. We also sincerely urge them to reconsider their position and to work aggressively for the passage of a tax reduction as soon as possible in 1963."

The following are just a few of the Texans who are members of the Business Committee for Tax Reduction in 1963 and who support the statement are:

Charles E. Beard, president, Braniff International Airways.
Harold Burrow, president, Tennessee Gas Transmission Company.
J. H. Dunn, chairman, Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation.
Gordon H. Fisher, president, General Minerals.
P. E. Haggerty, president, Texas Instruments, Inc.
Lloyd M. Lanotte, president, TIME Freight, Inc.
John Lawrence, chairman, Dresser Industries.
Herman W. Lay, chairman,

Frito-Lay, Inc.
W. W. Lynch, president, Texas Power and Light Company.
Stanley Marcus, president, Neiman-Marcus.

Robert McCullough, chairman, Ling-Temco-Vaughn, Inc.
Wesley R. Parker, chairman and president, Dr. Pepper Company.

W. Dawson Sterling, president, Southwestern Life Insurance Company.

L. H. True, president, Magnolia Pipe Line Gas Company.
C. I. Wall, president, Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

W. G. Winters, Sr., president, Texas Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Plus the presidents of the following Banks: Republic National of Dallas, Fort Worth National, First National of Houston, First National of Fort Worth, Texas National Bank of Houston, Bank of the Southwest, First National of Amarillo, State National Bank of El Paso, American National Bank of Beaumont and many more.

With only the A. D. A. and the Farm Bureau expressing opposition to the bill, it would be unwise not to weigh carefully the advice of such men as those listed above.

The tax cut is estimated to be about $11 billion per year but this is misleading in that the reduction of income by the government will be closer to $5 billion over the two year period according to Treasury Department experts. This will result from the anticipated increase in economic activity bringing about an increase in business profits and individual incomes subject to tax. Not only will our incomes be more but unemployment will be up and hundreds of thousands more people will be paying income tax who are now receiving unemployment compensation.

The proposal to recommit the bill with instructions to tie in a ceiling to the estimated budget did not receive my support. Approval of this amendment would give the President an implied arbitrary authority to select individual items from the budget and veto them. I believe that this selective veto power would give the executive branch additional authority and power that belongs in the Congress.

The arbitrary limit on the budget also could destroy the bill and all of its benefits if expenditures were even just a few thousand dollars over the limit. This could affect emergency strategic decisions adversely. For example, another crisis in Cuba would require immediate action by the President and would place him in the position of deciding between a victory over communism at the cost of taking us over our budget limit and taking away our tax cut resulting in an economic crisis in our country. I believe we could not risk such a decision in the life and death struggle with communism. I believe that our country needs both economic strength and economic flexibility to meet and defeat communism wherever we find it.

The responsibility for balancing the budget and the ability to control spending is always in Congress. The President can only ask and recommend. If Congress has the right at this time to place an arbitrary ceiling to the budget estimate, then those who support this will have many opportunities during the next fifteen months to control and reduce government spending on individual appropriation bills.

It is my belief that we must begin to place more reliance on the private sector to build our economy rather than on government spending programs. To do this we must release our people and the free enterprise system from such high rates of taxation. Along with this must come our efforts to see that the present rate of spending does not get out of hand. It is my belief that the way to cut down spending is to investigate each budget item and to bring individual items in line rather than sweeping across-the-board cuts which throw out good with the bad and many times leave unwise items in. It is my hope that the tax bill, which passed the House on a vote of 271-155, and the debate surrounding it has focused the attention of the Congress on the demand of the public to control spending.

In closing, we can agree there has been a trend of increasing spending and of increasing national debt needs reversing. This can be done only by an aggressive two-pronged attack on NECESSARY SPENDING, a careful investigation of requests and on UNNECESSARY SPENDING by programs such as tax cut to develop and strengthen the economy.

The TIE that Binds...

Man and woman began their married life in church and according to God's holy word are joined together. With the Bible as the basis for the beginning of a new life together, it seems only reasonable that a continued study of God's word would strengthen and serve as a guide to any couple. The Bible can truly serve as a tie that will bind two together in accord. The church as God's agency on earth can help you in Bible study, and with the guidance of the Holy Spirit can help you to understand God's will in your life.

"And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make fat thy bones; and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters fail not." Isaiah 58-11

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Stars as the Farmer's Daughter

Inger Stevens, one of the Scandinavian imports who she tried hard to be the all-American girl. She played the role of the "Farmer's Daughter," a Minnesota farm girl, on the ABC-TV series "The Farmer's Daughter," which premiered Friday, September 20, 9:30-10:00 p.m.

Inger Stevens, who has not only won acclaim for her fine performances but also someone who can make Swedish-accented Katy Holstrum honest and genuine in the eyes and ears of the viewer.

*On some stations at various times and days.

INGER STEVENS stars as Katy Holstrum, the headstrong Minnesota farm girl of Swedish descent who goes to Washington, D.C. to join the Peace Corps but becomes, instead, the governess to a congressman's two young sons in "The Farmer's Daughter," new half-hour comedy series which premieres Friday, September 20, 9:30-10:00 p.m. (EDT), over the ABC-TV Network.

If you've been planning to buy and plant tulips this fall, don't delay any longer. It'll soon be too late to get them into the ground before winter freezes begin.

Spring-flowering bulbs should be planted not later than late October, says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent.

If you haven't bought your bulbs yet, here are a few tips. First of all, remember that you get about what you pay for in quality. Large bulbs are generally better than small ones.

Make sure the bulbs are not diseased. Don't buy any that are moldy, discolored, or soft. Buy the specific colors you want. It's probably best to buy bulbs individually rather than in variety packs. Mixtures sometimes contain too many of one color.

Choose either domestic or imported bulbs. They are equally good.

As for planting — Tulips grow best when they get long hours of direct sunshine and plenty of moisture. They prefer well-drained sandy soil. Plant on high or slightly sloping ground where excess water will drain away.

And here's tip for early blooms. Plant specie type bulbs on a southern exposure — near a building or wall. You'll be the first in the neighborhood with tulips next spring. For late spring blooms, plant bulbs in a northern exposure late in the fall.

Brown patch on lawns may cause much concern in all areas of Texas. Even though it is much more common in high rainfall areas, it begins to occur here during September and October.

The disease first appears as brown circular areas from 4 to 48 inches in diameter. Because the fungus is most active on the outer border of these circular patches, the infected areas may take on a "smoke ring" appearance. During the latter stages of infection, circular patterns may run together and no longer be evident.

Leaves usually start dying back from the tip and when they are sufficiently infested they may be easily pulled from the stem. After a few weeks, the grass tends to start growing back in the center of the brown patches. Rarely does the occurrence of this disease cause loss of stand.

Proper lawn management reduces the chances of a lawn being attacked by this fungus disease, points out Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent. Watering lawns in the late afternoon should be avoided, as should letting thick mats of grass clipping accumulate. Water should not be allowed to stand on the lawn, even if it is necessary to fill in low areas with soil.

Certain chemicals arrest growth of the disease organism but none have been found that give complete eradication. Actidione R2, Terraclor, Ortho Lawn and Turf Fungicide, Terison-OM, Panogen Turf Spray and Merbam provide some measure of control. Read and follow carefully the manufacturers' recommendations on the labels of these products.

For additional information, ask your county home demonstration agent for a copy of the bulletin "Home Laws."

Does your fruitless mulberry tree turn yellow and lose its leaves? Certain leaf spot type diseases may be causing the trouble, says your county home demonstration agent.

The leaf diseases first appear in the spring, and will continue to build up and cause more trouble throughout the season. These spots may differ in size and color and they lower the value and vigor of the tree. Trees damaged by leaf spot are also likely to be damaged more by drouth, winter injury and pests than uninfected trees.

If the tree has a high value, a preventative spray program to reduce the damage from leaf spots is the use of two tablespoons of Zineb or Captan per gallon of water plus a spreader-sticker. A combination of the two may prove more effective and either material may be used with safety during any part of the year.

In the case of bacterial leaf spot it may be necessary to spray with streptomycin or fixed copper. A combination of the two may be more effective. The use of spreader-sticker and avoidance of making applications during hot weather will tend to lessen the damage from fixed copper spray.

The use of fertilizer and water when needed will help improve the health of mulberry as well as other trees. Foliage should not be wet during watering process for this tends to spread leaf spot diseases.

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury CHEVROLET

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan

Besides looks, ride and power - what's so special about it?

(It's so reasonably priced)

Kind of leaves the high-priced cars some explaining to do, wouldn't you say? Long and luxurious—with a fresh-Christened look. Richer roomy interiors with subtle new blendings of colors and fabrics. Like the ultra-soft vinyl upholstery in the new Chevrolet Impala Super Sport Series.

A choice of seven engines, no less, with output all the way up to 425 hp.* And a choice of four smooth transmissions to go with them. And underlying it all, the opulent feel of this '64 Chevrolet's Jet-smooth ride.

Matter of fact, the most noticeable difference between this beautiful new 1964 Chevrolet and the high-priced cars is the price itself.

Let your dealer show you how much luxury that reasonable Chevrolet price now buys.
