Friday nights football game here in Morgan Stadium will hold great significance for both teams evoked as the Breckenridge Buckaroos invade the domain of the Burkburnett Bulldogs for an 8 p. m. encounter.

For the Bulldogs it will be their last chance to escape the league cellar and for the Buckaroos it will be an all out effort to pull someone into the cellar with them.

The Bulldogs have scored but one win in conference action and the Buckaroos have yet to taste victory. The Bucks looked more impressive last week, giving Graham a 20-33 tussle, while the Bulldogs were falling to a 26-0 Brownwood onslaught.

The Buckaroos have one thing in their favor—speed. Monty Stratton leads the speedsters at a 9.8—"100" clip. Stratton runs very effectively from the left half slot. Tim Ball directs the ball team from the quarterback slot. The biggest man on the line is Lydell Dauster, a 220 pound tackle.

The Bulldogs, when at full strength, have speed and power. The big question is, "are they at full strength?" Friday will tell.

John Nyby and Henry Bauch will probably carry the offensive load. On defense, Pete Glovers' presence will again be felt.

I feel that the Bulldogs will "romp and stomp," but just barely overcome the Buckaroos by a conversion.

Elsewhere in the conference just for fun, I'll pick the winners.

Graham over Rider—Steers stamped.

Brownwood over Vernon—Lions beat Lions.

Stephenville over Mineral Wells—Jackets stang.

Lincoln's Few Appropriate Remarks

Most of us grow up believing that President Lincoln made his great speech at Gettysburg with little or no preparation; that on the train he jotted a few notes on an envelope or a scrap of paper. Many also believe that newspapers ignored the speech.

These beliefs are explored and exploded in a magazine article, "A Few Appropriate Remarks" at Gettysburg," by Tom Mahoney in an American Legion Magazine article condensed in the November Reader's Digest. Neither belief is correct.

All who have trouble finding the right words can take comfort in knowing that President Lincoln worked at intervals for more than two weeks on the 10 immortal sentences that he spoke 100 years ago this November 19. He wrote half of them in Washington, completed a draft the night before in Gettysburg and finished another the next day just before going to the battlefield.

He changed "this we may in all propriety do" to the more forceful "it is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this." He made changes even as he spoke, forgetting "poor" in "our poor power" and "under God" for a total of 270 words. Of these 190 are one syllable. He spoke less than five minutes.

Newspapermen can take pride in the fact that an Associated Press reporter stood just in front of Lincoln, borrowed copy that he held in his hand and telegraphed the complex text all over the country. Many papers, big and little, published the speech in full the next day.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

NORFOLK, VA., TIMES-ADVOCATE: "Look at the contents of your wallet. Think you have everything you need? The odds are that—like eight out of 10 of your neighbors—you aren't carrying the one most vital piece of information about yourself: your blood type. Should a sudden emergency arise, it could save you and your family, untold grief. A card in your wallet, identifying blood type and possible RH factor, is peace of mind insurance."

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

It is interesting to note the constant see-saw on Capitol Hill on proposals to spend federal money on various "aid-to-education" programs.

The big city writers, with a dash of inspiration and a clatter of typewriter keys, usually inject into reports of the controversies that arise over these programs a religious angle. The use of religion to explain away anything is quite handy, although not a new device.

So, the notion spread around by these erudite people is that those who believe in parochial schools will not vote any money unless parochial schools are cut in on the expenditures. The others want money for public schools, but will not vote one cent for parochial schools.

But real heart of the controversy seems to have escaped attention. That revolves around money. And that in turn revolves around how much such education costs. Nobody has yet answered that question.

From the smaller communities of the nation there comes a great deal of objections toward more federal taxes being used to go into the sphere of local education. This is largely engendered by the waste of funds that is witnessed.

For example, in the building of the new multi-million San Francisco State College, the sum of $2 1/2 million was spent on a garage so that students could park their cars. Obviously, this was not money spent to help some poor, but brilliant students attain the education needed for the space age.

In many communities, funds and facilities taken from the taxpayers to provide junior college education are used to set up cooperative tax-free business enterprises.

At one time, on most campuses a book store of sorts was operated in order to serve as a clearing house for used textbooks, so that financially limited students could buy used texts at a reduced rate, and also have a market to which to sell texts no longer needed.

Today, in many instances, from these humble beginnings, and aided by untold tax funds, they have become full line retail establishments competing with private enterprise.

And in many parts of the country the independent businessmen have seen the waste that has gone into school operation when control has been wrested from local school boards and given to county administration. And where the control has been seized by a state "education" board, situation is even worse. After all, it was a state department that put $2 1/2 million dollars into student parking at San Francisco State.

So the word goes around.

And that word is somewhat along these lines, "We ain't seen nothing yet if the federal boys get their hands into the school districts." There is the feeling that federal school "aid" could even eclipse the hundred billion dollar federal foreign "aid."

NOTICE

Several years ago we began giving Gunn Bros. stamps.

Our primary reason for choosing this stamp was having a redemption store in Burkburnett.

This redemption store was closed November 16, 1963 without notice to the stores giving Gunn Bros. stamps or to the public. Thereby forcing our customers to go out of town in order to redeem their stamps.

For this reason we have discontinued giving Gunn Bros. stamps.

However, we will continue to give stamps on current accounts —if paid by December 10, 1963.

Which type Chevrolet pickup do you need?

Chevrolet now makes four different types, each with its own distinct advantages. Whichever one you buy will be a lot more truck than your money bought the last time!

FLEETSIDE. Based on sales, the best liked pickup in the world. Outstanding feature is its large body extending clear out over the wheels. Two body sizes. Two wheelbases. Best riding truck, by far, with coil springs all around and independent front suspension. Cab and body have double-rib construction. Chevrolet Fleetside—best for all-around use.

STEPSIDE. Has flat interior body walls and convenient side steps between cab and rear fenders. Comes in same two sizes as the Fleetside plus one bigger size. Big model has heavier frame, 4-speed transmission and leaf-spring rear suspension for maximum payloads. Standard engine is 230-cu.-in. Six. A 292 Six or 283 V8 is available at extra cost.

RAMPSIDE. Nobody else makes a pickup exactly like this one with a ramp at the side. The ramp makes loading easy because of its 16-inch rise. Truck also has a conventional tailgate. Body and frame-floor assembly are very rigid because they are welded together. Has larger 95-hp air-cooled engine this year. Independent coil spring suspension all around.

EL CAMINO. If you want a pickup as good looking as any car on the road, this is the one! It can work hard, and look like a million dollars doing it—the only pickup in the world with Body by Fisher! You can order an El Camino as plain or as fancy as you wish: bucket seats, air conditioning, 4-speed transmission, power brakes are some of its extra-cost options.

★ I am Thankful... for good health, and for the food that I have each day. I am thankful for those near and dear to me that I can love, and in turn love me. I am thankful for the freedom of my nation, and that I can worship as I please. I am thankful that God loved me so much, that he provided a way for my salvation. I am thankful that he is a forgiving Father. I am thankful that I can attend Church and worship my Lord each Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Mexico, New York

I don't want to start a sizzling feud with other columnists, but I saw the column and I absolutely disagree with every word in it! A healthy 72-year-old parent has the God-given right to make her own decisions. This is the point everybody forgot! I was frangly annoyed, okay honey, let's sizzle—to see children plus professional counsellors plant themselves on the judge's bench to proclaim rules for somebody perfectly competent to make her own. You want to stay where you are? Stay. You want to move? Move. You crave more visits from your children? Tell them. . . . One pit we topple into, so deludedly, is to decide what Mother or Dad "should do." A measure of privacy and the right to make our own decisions are the two solid nuggets in self-worth. Hang on to them.

TIGHT PINCH AGAIN

I want to thank you for the information on how I can make some extra income on my own time. I wrote to you about six weeks ago that I can't make ends meet on my Social Security. It ought to be called Anti-Social Security for men like me. Thanks again. You suggested a good help.

Tight Pinch, Rocky Mount, N. C.

WHERE TO LIVE?

In one of your columns you wrote about recommended retirement places and costs. I kept this for a friend, then mislaid it. Will you repeat some of those details on retirement houses, also apartments.

Carless, Long Beach, New York

Better to mislay a column than mislay a friend! The houses I described are single dwellings with full utilities such as garbage collection, water and water lines, full plumbing (no septic tanks), gas and electricity, paved roads and everything we get in "city" living. Shopping center, U. S. Postoffice, house-to-house mail delivery, public library, lots of free recreation, arts, hobby groups, little theatre. Homes start at $7,800. . . . The apartments rent for $55 and 65 a month, year - round. Unfurnished. They're near the shopping center and all churches. One good community runs its own free bus line all day long so that residents can freely hop around to visit friends, attend club meetings, go marketing. Is this what you mislaid. If not, write again asking specific questions. Or tell your friend to write to me at Natonal Senior Center, Lehigh Acres, Florida. These days, each person should be able to get the right house in the right place at the right price. All you have to do is know where to look!

LOST MY LETTER?

Did our letter to you go astray? We asked for the leaflet on Homemaker Services and much needed extra income for us. This was three weeks ago.

Four Smart Houswives, Illinois

MILK-ON-TAP with a pull of the spigot — and savings in price and refrigerator space — is offered by new 10-quart milk containers now appearing across the country. The jumbo containers feature a sanitary plastic bag within a corrugated box. Bag-in-box combinations made by Owens-Illinois are being used for everything from oysters to waffle mix.

have not yet received the Homemaker bulletins I requested in bulk. You won't have to wait much longer! The American Medical Association advised a large shipment is enroute to my office. Sit tight, with me. We'll have them on the way soon.

TRUE OR FALSE?

I heard that a very plush and new nursing home that cost over a million and a half dollars is serving such bad food that the patients went to strike and refused to eat. It's the Name Deleted home. Can this be true?

Practical Nurse, Wayland, New York

Alas, True. All that dough and all of its indigestible! To your P. S. asking if I listed it on my nursing home list, let me say, I did not. Why?

DOUBLE CHIN
Q. I am not especially overweight but I do have an ugly pad of fat under my chin. Can this be removed?
A. Yes, a fat pad of this sort can be removed surgically, but the operation may leave a rather obvious scar. The nature of the "fat pad" should be assessed by a physician—it might be some sort of tumor that should be removed, regardless of the possibilities of leaving a permanent scar.

AN OLD WIFE'S TALE
Q. If the prospective mother douches with a weak vinegar (acid) solution, will the sex of the baby be influenced, provided, of course, conception takes place?
A. There seems to be a widespread notion that alkalinity in some way assists the male-producing cells and acidity the female-producing cells. This may be a throwback to the supposed daughter-producing propensity of sour-tempered women. In any case, the whole idea is nothing more than an old wife's tale.
Answers appearing in these columns are of necessity brief and general and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all physicians. Remember—the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the junction of the patient's personal physician.

There is no need to leave a sick person alone while you make a hurried and worried trip to pick up the medicine. We'll deliver it promptly to your home.

No-slip waders
Cut two thick rubber bands out of an inner tube. Now slip the bands in a figure 8 around your instep and ankle. You'll find that duck hunting in soupy mud, boots or waders won't slip off.

Den 2—Pack 15
We met November 6, 1963 in the home of our Den Mother, Mrs. Florence Gann.

Ronnie Gann and Jerry Williams conducted a formal ceremony and led us in Pledge of Allegiance. Our theme for this month, "The World of Sound," we ducted some experiment sound. We tied a string spoon and put the other end in our ear and heard a wonderful ringing sound when spoon was struck with a tin can and string, and we made tin can telephones to talk to each other.

Ronnie Gann made call apples and served them. Roy Boswell, Donald Gordon McCluskey, Bobby Beck, Jerry and Roger Wilk and Den Chief, Eddie Gann, Ronald Gann, Keeper of the Buck
