GALLSTONES

In the upper right part of the abdomen is a small pouch called the gall bladder. It is a temporary storage center for bile, and is a part of the digestive system. Sometimes lumps of solid matter composed of bile pigment and salts form in the gall bladder or in the ducts leading to it. These are called gallstones.

There may be only one small gallstone, or there may be hundreds. They can be so tiny that they look like sand or they can be as large as a golf ball. Gallstones occur more often in women than in men and more frequently in persons past 40.

Exactly why we get gallstones is still somewhat of a puzzle. They are generally thought to be the result of changes in composition of the bile, or stagnation of the bile, or infection. Poor eating habits may be a factor.

Gallstones often lay quietly in the gall bladder or bile ducts. But if a large stone starts to move, you'll know immediately that something's wrong. The pain will be severe, and will cause the sufferer acute agony. The attack may be over in a few minutes or it may last for days. Sometimes it becomes mildly chronic and may be interspaced with acute episodes.

Of course, not all sharp pains in the upper right abdomen are from gallstones. Only your doctor can tell with proper diagnostic techniques.

Gallstones sometimes are called a penalty for living the good life, as they may be associated with rich foods and fats in the diet. Doctors often recommend plenty of water and outdoor exercise, such as golf and gardening.

You can't diagnose gallstones yourself. Your abdominal pain may or may not originate in the gall bladder. Let your doctor decide, and recommend treatment.

CABO BLANCO, Peru — The work is fun and the fishing's great. This sums up the outdoor columnist's life, especially when it involves flying down to this fishing frontier to field-test the tackle industry's latest innovations. For a week I traded blows with a stable of the ruggedst finny fighters anywhere.

In the pounding surf where I spent the first three days, one could travel 100 miles north and south before finding an interruption in this bright sandy stretch completely free of orange peels and empty beer cans. Cabo Blanco marks the western-most point of Peru where the upsurging Equatorial Current meets head-on with the Humboldt moving down along the coast. Anchovy schools, each numbering in the tens of trillions, drift with the currents and provide the basic diet for varieties of exotic, but gamey, fish. Rooster fish, smook, and sierra mackerel ply the surf in unbelievable abundance. Sometimes you cast, set, pump, release until arm-weary. But these are the waters needed to give tackle the "acid" test. I put Garcia's new salt water Mitchell 600 and its unique Ambassador 8000 through their paces. The latter reel features the first automatic transmission in fishing gear. During a normal retrieve after casting, line is gathered at a fast five-to-one ratio. Should a fish strike, the Ambassador 8000 will enable anglers to cover more water with its fast retrieve, and keep more fish because of the reel's powerful low-speed fighting gear. I rate it as an ideal casting reel for fish in the ten-to-100 pound class.

It was Cabo Blanco's "roosters" which tore apart every lure that was retrieved slowly just below the water's surface. These rooster fish average about 25 pounds and occasionally reach 100. Metallic blue-gray in color, the fish gets its name from the long spines of its dorsal fin, resembling a rooster's comb. One large rooster which crowded its way on to the beach at the end of my 30-pound test Platyl monofilament line, rated the Cabo Blanco Fishing Club's Award.

The Club is a delightful place, created a dozen years ago by and for sports fishermen. Clean, and comfortable, it is almost as well-known for its meals and bar as its fishing. The chef performs above and beyond in preparing your catch or South American specialties.

At sunrise the next day, I boarded Miss Texas and moved into deeper water to troll for marlin and broadbill swordfish. Instead, I got into several altercations with bigeye tuna. These missiles, pound for pound, could whip the lines off a striped bass or pull the crazy comb off a rooster fish. They tell me bigeyes come 500 pounds but I am thankful we didn't cross paths. My careless thumb still smarts from burns the line gave me when a 25-pound youngster took off for Japan. After a few more encounters with bigeye tuna, I was pleased to deal with a polite dolphin of about 30 pounds, which meant an excellent dinner and another of the Club's Awards. After a day of tangling with dozens of big tough fish, I am convinced it is impossible to break a properly-fished Garcia-Conolon hollow fiberglass rod. Car doors, I suspect, account for most broken rods.

The last day at the "cabo" was perhaps my best. Heading in aboard Miss Texas, we sighted a broadbill swordfish, circled about, and crossed his path with a sewn fillet. Ten minutes later, I landed the season's first sword, a middle sizer of 250 pounds. This was frosting on a very successful week. Now back to the States—contented, fished out—via Panagra jet from Talara, Peru.

Six Flags to Host Baptist Youth Festival

Plans for the state-wide Baptist Youth Festival to be held at Six Flags Over Texas on June 2, gained momentum with the announcement that an almost complete roster of program personalities has been confirmed.

Principal speaker for the giant Youth Rally to close the all-day activities at the family recreation center between Dallas and Fort Worth, will be professional football star Bill Glass.

Glass, a Baptist preacher studying at Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth, is a defensive end for the Cleveland Browns. He was a member of the 1962 National Football League All-Star defensive team and an All-America football star at Baylor University.

The festival program, which places emphasis on spiritual values combined with good, clean Christian fun, has already enlisted many outstanding choir groups as well as leading personalities in the field of television, motion pictures and sports to appear on the program.

Among them are All-American tackle Scott Appleton and the "Golden Toed" Tony Crosby, both active Baptists and stars of the 1963 National Champions University of Texas football team.

Gregory Walcott, leading character in NBC's "87th Precinct" series; Miss Pam Baird, pert singer and actress who starred in the "Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm", "Good Morning, Miss Dove", "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker" and a host of other motion picture and television productions; Bob Turnbull, key performer in many TV shows such as "Arrest and Trial", "Going My Way", "The Millionaire" and "Dr. Kildaire"; Ray Hildebrand, popular singer and song writer whose record of "Hey Paula" was the nation's number one song hit for four weeks last year and sold over a million copies; Miss Linda Loftis, talented singer and beauty who was named "Miss Texas" in 1961 and runner-up in the Miss America Pageant that year.

Ten youth choirs from Baptist churches throughout the Lone Star State will present special musical programs, and the Hardin-Simmons University theatre group will offer a dramatic presentation depicting the roles Baptists have played in the early history of Texas.

Arrangements for the big day and tickets are being handled through the local Baptist churches.

All the regular rides and attractions at Six Flags will be in operation throughout the day, in addition to the special schedule of five different Youth Festival events and testimonies.

Newsletter From U. S. Senator RALPH W. YARBOROUGH

Dear Fellow Texan:

In the past two months, natural disasters have struck our nation in the greatest magnitude. Alaska and her sea-ravaged neighbor states down the Pacific Coast are digging out from under the debris caused by the most monumental earthquake ever recorded on instruments and the unforeseen tidal wave that followed, wiping out entire cities, towns and villages. Wichita Falls residents are rebuilding after a tornado swept their town causing tens of millions of dollars worth of damage.

These recent events have caused me to explore the possibility of making federal funds available for the replacement of public schools damaged by such acts of God.

Three to four schools a week in this country are destroyed by disasters, either by flood, windstorm, tornado, hurricane, or by accidental fires that burn them down. The replacement of these schools in a great many cases, where the tragedy also has wiped from the tax rolls the land values in the community, poses a difficult financial problem to the affected communities. This would be particularly true in Wichita Falls where some 200 homes were utterly destroyed or damaged, weakening the tax base there. It would be true in a town or city in Alaska where the tax values were practically all wiped out.

I am co-sponsor of Senate Bill 2725, of which Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon is principal author, which will, if enacted, help restore the school plant damaged by disaster and thus permit an early resumption of school operation.

This bill has been introduced in the Senate and referred to the Committee of Labor and Public Welfare and will come before the Education Subcommittee, of which I am a member.

It provides financial assistance in the construction and operation of public elementary and secondary schools in areas affected by flood, drought, fire, hurricane, earthquake, storm or other catastrophe which, in the determination of the President, is of sufficient severity and magnitude of warrant disaster assistance by the federal government. In order to protect the rights of the states, it provides that the governor of the state certify the need for disaster assistance.

This bill will help the local districts that have had their school facilities wiped out, had their tax base weakened so that they are unable to provide as good facilities as they had in the past. I think this is a sound bill to help those school districts damaged by disaster.

Hibiscus will come back after freezing to the ground if the roots are not frozen.

News From The County Agent

Fire blight, the most destructive disease of pears in Texas, also attacks hawthorn, spirea, pyracantha, flowering almonds and mountain ash, and it occurs in all areas of the state.

Each spring tell-tale signs of the disease begin to appear, says County Agent B. T. Haws. Blossoms, twigs and leaves are attacked and after infection by the bacterial disease, they turn black and cling to the tree. Invasion of large branches, trunks, collars and roots may result in death to a part or all of a tree in one season, explains the county agent.

The bacteria live through the winter in deep-seated cankers under the bark of large limbs. With warmer weather, these cankers omit a bacterial ooze. Pollinating insects move thru this material and carry it to blossoms during the flowering stage, says Haws. Blossoms become infected and entire limbs may be killed by this initial infection. During the year, blowing rains may also scatter the bacteria to other parts of the tree.

Control is difficult, the county agent explains. A combination of pruning out diseased branches, removing the diseased blossoms and a spray program will give satisfactory control where only a few trees are involved. It is more desirable to remove the twigs during the summer, he adds, when the disease is not active. If cankers or infected limbs are removed, pruning equipment should be sterilized after each cut is made. Cuts should be made well below the infected zone, and in the case of canker removal, well into healthy tissue and down into the roots if necessary. The county agents recommend treating the wounds with a good white lead or commercially prepared tree paint.

Streptomycin has shown considerable promise for fire blight control. It should be applied when 10-25 percent of the blossoms are open and at 5 to 7 day intervals until a total of 3 to 4 applications are made, Haws said.

The control program may have to be carried on for several years in order to completely clear up infections.

THE HIGH ROAD

L.W. PRENTISS

Roads Are Built by People

Although the highway industry has made some remarkable advances in the utilization of labor-saving machinery, it is still very true that roads are built by people.

A recent report by the Bureau of Public Roads estimates that highway construction in 1964 will provide employment for 870,000 workers. This includes 370,000 employees of highway contractors working at construction sites and 500,000 persons in off-site jobs in the production, supply and transportation of highway materials and equipment.

An additional 500,000 people are employed full time by Federal, State, county and municipal highway agencies to plan, design, supervise, maintain and operate roads and streets.

The total annual payroll of the 1,370,000 people employed in highway construction and by governmental highway agencies has been estimated at $5.9 billion.

As a recent report by the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics puts it, "All major parts of the economy are involved directly or indirectly to some degree in the construction of highways, so such construction activity generates employment throughout the economy."

Highway construction generates employment not only in all major sectors of the economy but also in all sections of the country. Unlike certain other industries which are concentrated in one area, highway construction activities are, by their very nature, widely dispersed. The Nation's 3.5 million miles of roads traverse every county, and it's a rare county (if, indeed any such exists) which does not have some road work to do every year.

Road-building is a big industry in itself, but the chief employment benefits are the indirect ones that result from the stimulus that new roads give to the economy. New roads are magnets for new stores and factories, new homes and apartments, new schools and churches.

As the late Commissioner of Public Roads, Thomas H. MacDonald, commented many years ago, "We were not a wealthy Nation when we began improving our highways—but the roads themselves have helped us create a new wealth, in business and industry and land values; so it was not our wealth that made our highways possible. Rather, it was our highways that made our wealth possible."

control of the grub. For best results, the mixture should be fed at least 75 consecutive days between May and September 1, the specialists said.

By feeding the systemic, better control of flies was also noted. Residual effects of the insecticide in manure reduced fly populations in the pasture to a considerable extent, they said.

B. T. Haws, county agent, advised cotton producers to shoot for a cotton crop in 150 days. He says a bale of cotton per acre can be produced and harvested in five months if the crop is kept on its normal growth schedule. Good management, he concludes, is the key to profitable cotton production. Be prepared to do the right thing at the right time and in the right way.

VETERANS

Questions & Answers

Q—Several years ago I received a widows' pension under the "old" law. Later, I started to work and my income exceeded the limitations allowed. I plan to retire soon and will reapply for benefits. Will I still be entitled to them under the "old" law.

A—If you were receiving the pension on or before July 1, 1960, and are otherwise eligible, you will resume payments under the "old" law automatically, unless you elect the current pension system.

Q—Is there a special provision on eligibility for VA hospitalization for mental illness.

A—For purposes of hospitalization, veterans with service during World War II or the Korean Conflict, who developed an active psychosis within two years from the date of their separation from such active service, and before July 26, 1949, in the case of a veteran of World War II, or February 1, 1957, in the case of a veteran of the Korean Conflict, are deemed to have incurred this disability in active service and hence are admitted to VA hospitals under the first priority group.

Q—Since the Civil War is now 100 years ago and all the veterans on both sides are dead, how come more than 1,000 widows are still alive to collect pensions?

A—Many of these old veterans married women many years their junior.

The Texas Department of Public Safety was established in 1935.

BEACHED... and forgotten!

This old forgotten boat is almost buried in the reeds. Can this boat in any way be compared to our talents? What of these talents that God has given us? Have they been beached, forgotten, buried?

Heaven expects us to help in this matter of creating a better world where brother helps brother by using to the fullest extent the talents He has bestowed upon us. God always provokes and prods mankind to do good works, and accomplish great things. And He says that if we dedicate ourselves to this matter He will help. But the decision to use our talents and develop them is our choice.

Attend church this Sunday and begin to learn how God would have you use these gifts He has given you.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

THE AMAZING ALL-PLASTIC GREENHOUSE

Glass was literally "thrown out the window" when Charles Fischer, a New Jersey grower, decided to build an all-plastic greenhouse. Mr. Fischer chose to construct his massive greenhouse of vinyl panels because the material has nearly the same total light transmission as glass and would save about a third of his construction costs.

Although the huge all-plastic greenhouse - occupying 15,500 square feet - is now the only one of its kind, more are sure to follow. Mr. Elder feels that the vinyl all-weather material would fit well into most greenhouse operations, with a rare result: something really new under the sun.

SKIRT THE QUESTION

There's no question action is what catches fish, especially in the dawn or twilight fishing of summer. Soup up your "lazy" plugs by drilling a hole in the end and glueing therein a short piece of 1/4-inch dowel. Slip a plastic skirt over dowel. Tantalizing motion of skirt IRRESISTABLE to big bass and pike.

EMERGENCY ROW

Ever lose an oar and have to row somewhere when wind was high? Difficult to make any progress at all. Next time try this: Sit as far as you can in the bow of the bow and row from there. Deep grip of bow on water will help keep course a straight line, prevent boat being blown willy-nilly.

CATFISH BAIT

Old hands along the Mississippi vow no better catfish bait exists than a striped meadow frog . . . dead or alive.

ICE PLUG

This winter make an ice plug out of scrap tin or aluminum. Will save hours of chopping next ice fishing season. Shape light metal into a cone. (One cone fits easily into another for storage.) Next winter when leaving the lake, push the sharp end into chopped hole. Next fishing day, pour teacup of alcohol into cone. Light. Heat melts sides from ice. Cone slips out. Hole remains.

SKIN ITCH DON'T SCRATCH IT!

Scratching spreads infection, causing MORE pain. Apply quick-drying ITCH-ME-NOT instead. Itching quiets down in minutes and antiseptic action helps speed healing. Fine for eczema, insect bites, foot itch, other surface rashes. If not pleased, your 48c back at any drug store. TODAY at CORNER DRUG STORE.

The sale, which was to last two weeks, was extended one week because of the tornado April 3rd, and 1,477 boxes of cookies were sold.

Sharon Wooten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reavis Wooten, sold the most cookies with a total of 96 boxes to her credit. Sharon belongs to Troop 50. Mrs. Scott Newton is the leader.

Joy Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Nelson of 309 Ellis, was runner-up with a total of 91 boxes. Well done, Scouts!

May 16th is the date of the 8th Grade Banquet, which will be held in the B. H. S. Cafeteria.

It should be quite a gala affair, and a very exciting night for the kids.

Are you planning to attend the 1964 Boomtown Rodeo? There will be big doings on those days in June, the 25-26 and 27th Watch for the Indians and maybe a few reptiles, in town!

The Midget ball players begin their league play Monday, May 18th, at 6:00 p. m. in the park near the Youth Center, when they attempt to score against the Grandfield Bombers. The Bombers will meet the First National Bank Bankers in that first game.

At 8:00 p. m. the Owens-Brumley team will play the Wolfe Ford nine.

A concession will be handy in case you would like to have a Coke, candy or snow cone, and since there is no admission to be a part of the exciting night, why not plan to attend and support the team of your choice? It is a wonderful way to spend an evening.

Brownie Scout Troop 40, under the leadership of Mrs. Lyda Miles, held a tea, honoring their mothers, Monday, the 11, at the Lutheran Church.

Each mother was presented with a pink and silver corsage made by the girls. Pink tissues and silver doilies were used to make the corsages. As it was the first birthday of the troop, a cake with a single candle was cut and served along with punch, to the 60 persons present.

It was a really big day and one year membership star pins were presented to approximately 16 scouts.

Fly-up Wings were pinned on the Brownies flying up to the Junior scout troops. These lucky girls are, Della Bryan, Barbara Cotton, Karen Dake, Kitty McNish, Alma Miles, Debbie Ames, Debra Arrington, Janet Martin, Linda Mallone, Karen Greer, Debra Clendenon, Christina Cox, Deborah Coble and Kathy Stephenson.

What a lovely way to celebrate a birthday!

Don't forget the dance to be held in the parking area of the Piggly Wiggly Super Market on May 16th, by the Sundowners Square Dancers! It begins at 7:30 p. m. and will last until—until, well, come and see!

A Cake Walk will be staged also and you may go home with a home-made cake.

All proceeds go to the Youth Center and can you think of a worthier cause? There will be no admission asked, but all donations will be gratefully received.

I noticed that the Ranch House Motel had a bit of a fire during the last few days. Part of their nice large sign on the Oklahoma Cutoff road was badly damaged.

CHILDBIRTH IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

CHILDBIRTH IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Few families would care to go back to "the good old days" of birth. Death of mother was common, often because of lack of drugs adequate for fighting infection in 1915 one of every 100 died in childbirth, or more than 100 of her progeny.

Many of these mothers were saved by only a few worth of today's medicines.

Now only one mother in 100 dies. Much of the credit for improvement is due to the prescription drugs. They cost surprisingly low. In fact, only 15 prescriptions in a thousand cost as much as $10. The average one costs only $2.26. Now we say: "Today's prescriptions are the biggest bargain in history."
