Bareback Bronc Riding Is One of the Regular Events At the Boomtown Rodeo June 25th, 26th and 27th

BAREBACK BRONC RIDING, one of the most rugged events in Rodeo, is also one of the newest. A non-competitive exhibition "filler" until about 15 years ago, this event today may bring a champion rider over $16,000 a year—but he earns it the hard way. The rider is separated from his horse only by his Levi's and a heavy, leather-rigged cinch with a one-hand grip. Johnny Herring Guest Of Philco At World's Fair DALLAS—Mr. Johnny Herring of Herring's Hardware, Burkburnett has just returned from the New York World's Fair, where he was a guest of Philco Corporation.

Mr. Herring saw Philco's 1965 television, radio and phonograph lines at a national dealer meeting Saturday morning at Radio City Music Hall. Several thousand persons attended the meeting.

Starting with a special of the Ford Wonder Rotunda on Sunday, Philco dealers took in the Fair. A fleet of 50 buses made the round trips all day long between the three Manhattan hotels, where the dealers stayed, and the Fair.

Bell Telephone Co. To Change Billing Date

Burkburnett telephone customers will receive a credit for local service on their June bills, according to C. A. Deuschle, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Reason for the credit is a change in billing date for the Burkburnett office.

Burkburnett's new billing date will be the 3rd of the month. Previous bills have been dated on the 17th. Everyone will receive a credit for the period from June 3 to June 17.

June bills will be received about the 10th, Deuschle said. It takes about seven days after the close of the billing period to process statements and mail them to customers.

"The billing date change will help us continue to render Burkburnett bills efficiently and accurately. There is no change in rates involved—only the billing date changes," he added.

A new million dollar program of grants to higher education has been announced by M. J. Rathbone, Chairman of the Board of the Esso Education Foundation. The money is to be available for experiments which will test more effective use of existing human and material resources at the undergraduate level. The new program is in addition to the Foundation's regular annual grants to higher education which have amounted to a total of $15 million since it was established in 1955. In Mr. Rathbone's words, "Because of the tremendous growth in the number of young people wanting education beyond high school and the country's need for better educated manpower, all segments of the American community have much at stake in higher education's total effort to improve the quality of education for more and more students."

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

History as it may be written.

And so it came to pass that in the great land there came into being a great priesthood known as Potomac Poohbahs, who while riding tax furnished limousines, brooded wondrously over many problems.

And they worshipped an all powerful god who could solve all problems. That god was known as the Golden Calf until much of the gold was gone, and was then known as the United States Treasury.

C. W. Harder known as the United States Treasury.

And it came to pass that the meat growers of the nation were sorely beset because of all the nations of the world, only this great land permitted dumping of foreign meat on its shores.

And there sprang up some heretics such as Rep. E. Y. Berry of the province known as South Dakota, and Sen. Roman Hruska of the province known as Nebraska, who clamored for protection against foreign dumping into the land.

And this caused great consternation among the Poohbahs of Agriculture and State who forthwith gathered at the temple of the mighty god, U.S. Treasury, and consulted long. And forthwith there went forth a decree that from now on the great god, U.S. Treasury, would buy up some of the meat produced in the great land, to permit domestic producers to survive, and still permit those from other lands to dump their meat into the land.

And as the housewives of the land sallied forth to market and paid higher prices, and as the U.S. Treasury paid out more and more housewives all chanted "Praise be to the Poohbahs who are all wise. Now we pay double, both at the counter and at tax time."

And there also came to pass a problem about jobs for the young people. A mighty host, known as AFL-CIO had decreed that apprentices shall not be trained.

And so the Potomac Poohbah known as Labor Secretary pondered and pondered.

And he thenceforth said that the solution of the problem was to decree young people be kept in school two years longer with U.S. Treasury footing the bill, and voila, there would be less unemployment. In times that followed this was extended until all peoples of the land were compelled to stay in school until old enough to receive pensions from Social Security and there was no more unemployment in the land.

And everybody rejoiced in the wisdom of the Potomac Poohbahs and the omnipotence of the great god, U.S. Treasury.

All this is found in archeological diggings along the Potomac. But there is still to be learned what happened to the great god of the ancient great land, the U.S. Treasury. It seems to have disappeared without a trace.

Attic Remodeling

With efficient remodeling an attic can provide both storage area and storage space. The Southern Pine Association suggests the situation storage on opposite sides of attic where there is no ceiling headroom for storage with the lofty mid-section. The division can be made with a framework of lumber and two appropriate points of paneling and doors in the division.

BIG ONES DO GET AWAY

"You should've seen the big one that got away!"
"Contrary to the opinions of many wives who have heard this expression from hubbies returning home empty-handed, there may be a little more truth in the statement than fiction.

Anglers are among the most honorable and truthful groups in our society, state the guys at Mercury outboards, who, incidentally, just happen to indulge in this popular pastime themselves. They add that the tired, discouraged soul who turns in this well-worn excuse may deserve a better break before the bar of marital justice.

Why do we get so many alibis and so few fish of lunker proportions?

Simply this. The average angler usually isn't able to cope with a trophy situation when it occurs.

Though man may have the intellectual edge, the larger and older a game fish becomes, the more difficult he is to handle. Through sheer weight alone a large fish can push tackle to its maximum capacities. This means that the big fish can literally "horse" the fisherman in the early stages of a tussle and thus gain the sanctuary of obstacle-strewn hangouts. Rocky ledges, sunken logs and other obstructions automatically spell trouble.

To keep such fish out in open water requires heavier gear than we ordinarily use in day-to-day fishing.

Another problem is knowing when a large fish has been subdued enough to remain fairly docile for landing. These big, tough old rascals inevitably summon up enough strength to make a last minute lunge for freedom, and often cause a lot of broken hearts.

It takes several such episodes before a man gains enough experience and patience to operate expertly in the lunker division, say the Mercury folks.

Be tolerant, the next time you hear about "the one that got away." It could happen to you . . . and it probably will.

Saddle Bronc Riding Is One of the Exciting Events To Be Seen at the Boomtown Rodeo June 25-27th

From the Levi Strauss Collection

SADDLE BRONC RIDING is one of the oldest, most exciting events in Rodeo. When the horse breaks from the chute and his front feet hit the ground, scoring begins on both horse and rider. The cowboy, wearing dulled spurs, must keep his heels high on the horse's shoulders until completion of the first jump, must not touch saddle nor horse with his free hand, and must keep both feet in the stirrups at all times or be disqualified. He must stay aboard for 8 or 10 seconds, depending upon local rules, and spur the horse from shoulders to flanks throughout the time period.

SUNDAY MORNING . . .

What a wonderful day . . . what a wonderful time. This is a time to be happy . . . this is a time of joy . . . this is a time to worship the Lord in His house. This is a time for all of the family to enjoy being together. Today, the sun shines bright . . . next Sunday it may rain, but all are days of joy for this is the day to be with the Lord in His house.

"I was glad when they said unto me,

Let us go into the house of the Lord."

Psalm 122:1-10

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

ROGER W. BABSON

LIABILITIES OF WORLD WAR III
Up until the present time, I had not been immediately concerned about the possibility of World War III: but with the development in South Vietnam, I sent to Wellesley for my expert on international affairs, Donald W. K. Chun.

Conditions in Cuba
With Cuba so near to us here in Florida, it receives considerable space in the leading daily papers. Of course, none of us in Florida want to do anything to help Castro. We are very much opposed to his position regarding our reconnaissance planes flying over Cuba, and are provoked over his cutting off water and other supplies from our important base at Guantanamo Bay in East Cuba. We have owned this base since we freed Cuba from Spain 66 years ago.

On the other hand, everyone in Florida, especially in Miami, feels it would be a mistake to attempt another blockade of Cuba, particularly against Britain's ships. It has been many years since I personally have been in Cuba, but delegations which have been recently feel that if we can avoid using force, Cuba will die on the vine, so to speak.

Importance of Vietnam
Mr. Chun feels strongly that the real trouble spot in the world is South Vietnam. Laos and Cambodia compound the difficulty. Cyprus, and even the African trouble spots, are not to be compared with the Southeast Asia problem. Congress should give President Johnson and Secretary McNamara the money necessary to protect South Vietnam. It is a key spot for checking the Communist spread in Southeast Asia. As long as the Peking government can be held to the Chinese mainland, I believe there will be no war between the United States and Russia.

If, however, Vietnam should be lost to the Communists, the Chinese might be able to break through to the rich resources to the south. This would not only give the Chinese the necessary food for their people, but would bring several other nations immediately into the conflict to protect their own economic interests in Southeast Asia.

Southeast Asia
To begin with, France has trope before the elections are over in November. Furthermore, Russia is now buying foodstuffs to make life more liveable for her own people and for those of her satellites. If we should lose Vietnam and if the Chinese Communists should break through to the resources of Southeast Asia, the situation could worsen drastically.

What About Formosa
I assume that our warships are now patrolling the waters in the vicinity of Formosa. At present our chief interest is Formosa — more than it is Chiang Kai-shek, who is satisfied with things as they are since he represents China in the United Nations. If, however, Red China should be admitted to the UN, as De Gaulle and certain other leaders desire, it would be a great disappointment to Chiang Kai-shek and to his wife. I do not see clearly how both Formosa and Red China could have representation in the United Nations, but this may be possible. Today, Formosa serves as a guard to the United States. We fought hard to get it; we would long hesitate to give it up.

This brings me back to the nub of my discussion on the possibilities of World War III. As long as we are able to hold South Vietnam and to keep the status quo, I have no fear of World War III in the reasonable future. If, on the other hand, the Communists should break through, it could so dislocate France, Britain, the Netherlands, the Philippines, and especially Japan, that it might start World War III. In another weekly column, I will discuss Japan in detail.
