MY TOWN YOUR TOWN OUR TOWN

BY BUDDY BYARS

The Burk Burnett Chamber of Commerce would like all newcomers to know we welcome you moving to our community, and want you to have a very pleasant stay with us.

Once you open your car door, you are no longer a stranger, but a member of a growing group of aggressive people who are here for the sole purpose of making this place a little bit better to raise your family and have in-funks come to see you, so that they might say, "I want to show you our new home we are helping to build."

The people of this community, who like myself, have made two trips to Oklahoma, and one to the county fair, in my life time, don't realize how fortunate we are in having the people of Wherry and Capehart and the people who live here in town that have traveled to the four corners of the world, to visit with, fellowship with, and learn the faraway customs, for their children to visit with ours and ours with them. Also to gain the knowledge they are so ready to swap with us. Their prayers will be answered if we will let them become a part of our community, so that they might hold on to the things they hated to leave when they stared their world travels.

I want every merchant in this town, who would like to meet the new teachers, to be on hand for forty-five minutes October 31st, from 9:30 till 10:15 at the High School Cafeteria and help your Chamber of Commerce serve refreshments and to get acquainted Jerry Thomas will say a few words to our new found friends who will try in nine months to adjust our mistakes of six years and present us at the end of the school term with the smartest, most courteous child ever known.

OAKLEY, KANS., GRAPHIC "...our U. S. Supreme Court recently handed down a decision which shakes our system of government as we have practiced it. The Court announced, that states unconstitutionally adopted the federal system of representation by people and area. But, our form of democracy has worked pretty well under this system, one of our checks and balances. The urban areas don't lose representation. The Supreme Court sits in a lofty position and pronounces lofty decision. In meaning well in its decisions for the people, has it really lost touch with them?"

CANTON, PA., INDEPENDENT-SENTINEL: "There are more than 30,000 persons killed in automobile accidents every year, according to reliable estimates. The American public have been, and still are, strangely unconcerned over this death rate. They seem to take it for granted that motor vehicles and dead pedestrians go together, and even if, at times, the occupants of the automobiles get killed, the accident is usually termed 'unavoidable'."

Summer cooking make your kitchen "like an oven"?

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

There are some who say Chief Justice Earl Warren should be impeached. Others say he should be hanged. But it is difficult to find a sound legal base for either one of these proposals; neither do such suggestions reflect a good American image.

Several states have already approved a move to amend the Constitution to set up a new type of supreme interpreter of national law. C. W. Harder composed of the chief justices of the 50 states. It can be expected this movement will gain momentum.

Viewed objectively, and realistically, there is only one conclusion to be reached in reviewing the recent Supreme Court decision on the election of state legislatures. The Warren Court has sown the seeds of anarchy in the United States.

The nation was never set up as a simple pure democracy, whereby the will of 51% of the people could demand and enforce anything. Rather, to protect the rights of minorities and of property, a republican form of government was established. The United States Senate was set up to represent property rights, but without the power of taxation. The House of Representatives set up to represent all people, was given the power to initiate tax and spending measures.

When the Constitution was drafted, this concept did not come easily. The Jeffersonian group argued for a simple pure democracy. Alexander Hamilton opposed this idea, once declaring heatedly, "The people, sir, are a great beast."

Hamilton's feelings were borne out but a few years later during the French Revolution.

It is also largely forgotten that Hitler proceeded on a perfectly legal basis under the Weimar Constitution which provided no checks or balances. As a forceful demagogue he acted with majority of Germans voting for him.

Many states, when setting up their constitutions, followed the U. S. Constitution. The lower house is elected on representation by numbers with representation in the upper house according to districts. In these many states, this system has kept the farm interests from passing discriminatory legislation against the cities, and has also kept cities from passing legislation to the detriment of agriculture.

But now the U. S. Supreme Court, in a decision that is more in the field of writing a new constitution, rather than interpreting it, has declared this system illegal. And this is done at a time when law is being disregarded by mob demonstrations, with even some destruction of property and the maiming of people as expressing the will of the majority.

Thus, the U. S. Supreme Court now emerges as the great enigma of modern man. And if the court is to remain consistent in its pattern of promoting anarchy in these United States, it should now declare the United States Senate illegal.

in a village in Old England a boy who was considered stupid. Men found delight in offering him the choice between a three-penny bit and a penny. The lad always chose the penny. One day a stranger asked the boy if he chose the penny because it was the largest piece. The boy replied, 'Naw, not that. If I took the three-penny bit, they'd quit offering it.' Those who always want the biggest for themselves usually end up getting nothing."

CAMILLA GA., ENTERPRISE: "We read recently a quotation from W. Somerset Maugham which went — 'If a nation values anything more than freedom, it will lose its freedom and the irony of it is that if it is comfort or money it values more, it will lose that too.' It might be well for us to ponder those words of wisdom. We have moved a long way from the original concept of our founding fathers who gave to their government rather than expecting something back from it."

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

THE recent defeat of the proposed salary increase for federal civilian employees did not discourage those who feel at the public trough. A new proposal has passed both houses of Congress and has been signed into law by the President increasing the salaries of cabinet officers from $25,000 to $32,500 and the pay of Congressmen from $22,500 to $30,000, with proportionate increases for other public officials and employees of the federal government. It should be noted also that many of these public officials, specially Senators, Congressmen, and Cabinet officers, enjoy a great variety of perquisites and allowances, some of which are tax exempt and which greatly increase the income of these persons far beyond the figures noted above. Until there is a scarcity of able men and women who are willing to serve in the top positions in Washington, we believe the further expenditure of money for higher salaries is highly undesirable.

In a period of great prosperity, we are, nevertheless, increasing the federal debt many billions of dollars every year. No man in his right mind will borrow money and pay interest in order to increase his own salary, but that is exactly what Congress and the President have done. Forty odd years ago, Congressmen were paid $3,000 per year, and there was no dearth of competent men seeking to represent the people in Washington. In those days serving the public in that capacity was considered a high honor.

During the last year for which figures are available, the federal government paid 18.9% of the cost of our colleges and universities; the state governments paid 22.9% and local governments 2.6%. Adding these three figures we find that government paid 44.4% of the cost of operating our colleges and universities.

Of the remaining cost, student tuition fees paid 20.7%, private gifts and grants 6.4%, endowment and general income 9.4%, dormitories, cafeterias and dining halls 17.5% and student aid 1.6%.

Change to cool flameless electric cooking!

Women who cook electrically will tell you that electric cooking makes a big difference in kitchen comfort during hot weather. That's because flameless electric surface cooking units transfer heat by direct metal-to-metal contact with utensil bottoms. They send their heat through the utensils and into the food, not into the kitchen air. Electric oven cooking is cooler, too. There's no flame, so no intake and exhaust of air is needed to support combustion. The oven is insulated all around, including the bottom, to keep heat inside where it belongs. Fun and Safety

Fun and safety are combined in a new bicycle accessory called "Spinwheels"—colorful 12-inch discs that serve as hub caps on the wheels of any bicycle—even lightweights.

They have 1/2" red or blue spiral stripes, with alternating white, glass-beaded reflector stripes which flash back the lights of oncoming traffic. The discs spin with the wheel, producing exotic circles of color.

The rugged aluminum Spinwheels keep fingers, feet and clothing from getting into the wheel and also protect the spokes from damage. They come in pairs—one for each side of one wheel—and can be attached in minutes without dismantling the bicycle.

The youngsters like the racy look that the discs give their bikes, and parents approve of the safety features of the reflector stripes.

Officers of Darwin Products, Inc., Chicago, point out that they are not advocating sending youngsters bicycling off into the dusk and darkness but, since many of them do, they would like to make it safer for them and, at the same time, provide an exciting new bicycle accessory.

ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON DISCUSSES THE "COLLECTING" CRAZE

I doubt that there has ever been such a craze for collecting things as there is throughout the country today. Coins, old furniture, stamps, glassware, paintings, books and many other articles are being sought and hoarded on an almost unbelievable scale. What is behind this scramble for collectors' items—why has it reached such a fever pitch?

INFLATION FEARS MAY BE BEHIND IT

It is my opinion that people have always loved collecting material things that have caught their fancy. History indicates this, especially through archaeological studies. But today there seems to be an extra incentive, and I believe that it is a conscious (or sometimes unconscious) fear of inflation. When you stop to think of it, inflation has been going on for longer than statistics have been available. It is punctuated by only temporary periods of deflation, then it resumes. So the assumption by most people that more inflation will come seems reasonable enough.

Even the most casual economic observer knows that money itself becomes less valuable intrinsically as the cost of the goods it will buy increases. Therefore many seem to feel if they start hoarding some articles these are going to be worth more in terms of dollars in days to come and they will be better off than if they hoarded the dollars themselves. You probably wonder whether I believe in such collecting as a type of hedge against possible further declines in the purchasing power of the dollar.

A LINE ON FASHION...

by MR. FRANK of New York

MR. FRANK of New York is a designer of leading importance in the world of fashion and one of America's leading couturiers. He is a strong believer in every American woman's right to a distinctive fashion look of originality to complement her innate, wholesome beauty.

The New American Middy Story

The Long and Short of It...

The middy, this year, has three distinctly different looks that will perform miracles for any figure. These three important "middy looks" are the blouson middy, the fitted-contoured middy and the straight-tapered middy.

My long and short skirt versions of all three "middy-looks" were created in response to the many hundreds of requests from women all over America who wanted to combine high style and beauty with a versatile usefulness. Illustrated here is the blouson-middy look for late afternoon and evening. Each three-piece ensemble features a long and short skirt, interestingly detailed, coming and going. The black ensemble, with two lustrous Lyons-type velvet skirts, is topped with a blouson middy of lined chiffon hand-embroidered with crystal beads and pearl-studded paillettes.

The white blouson middy ensemble is opulently hand-crocheted with iridescent paillettes and crystal beads, and worn over alternate crepe skirts. Next time, I will discuss the straight-tapered and the fitted-contoured middy,

The answer is "Yes—if your collecting is done with intelligence, restraint and know-how."

What Are The Safest Bets?

Antiques always make a good investment, but you must know what you are doing. Avoid stuffed furniture, for example, books that may be old but otherwise undistinguished, most of the ancient prints that adorned living room walls in earlier years, stamps of foreign nations that have been turned out pretty much for the collecting trade, and so on. For a start in antique furniture, it is still a good idea to check up on things that may have come down to you as family heirlooms. Sift the things in your attic, or on your family farm.

Keep an eye out for fine mahogany furniture, sandwich glass pieces, early costume jewelry, articles of gold or silver, old coins, and U. S. stamps. Even a broken down article of furniture is often valuable after it is restored, particularly if the wood is fine and the piece is of the right period. Restorers of antiques can usually replace missing parts. Take any doubtful glassware to an expert it may be only a copy, but it could be Sandwich glassware, and that is always valuable.

Be Selective With Coins and Stamps

Amateur coin collectors now number in the millions, and they will often buy up freshly minted coins at a foolish premium. A perfect example of this is the recent withdrawal of Kennedy half-dollars by hoarders. So many have been issued that they will never be any more valuable unless the price of silver is allowed to go so high that it would be worth while to melt down any silver coins—something the government will certainly try to avoid. Keep a few contemporary coins in mint condition if you have a large scale collection; but pay greatest attention to historic coins that can never again be minted.

Foreign stamps are not usually worth very much; the exceptions are rare. But U. S. stamps in good condition and of sought after issues should always be worth money. If you have some interesting early U. S. stamps, you can get an idea of their value by consulting a stamp catalogue at your library. Or you could seek professional advice, but be sure your man is responsible and honest.

Concentrate On Irreplaceable Things

There is one basic rule to remember when assembling things to hold as inflation hedges: Concentrate on items which can never be increased in supply. An astute collector or dealer recognizes that there will never be any more old U. S. coins, Sandwich glass, genuine Heppelwhite furniture, — or, for that matter, waterfront property or underground natural resources.

Have You Said "Thank You"?

In recent weeks, the main subject of conversation has been the heat and the drought. Most people have talked about it; a few have prayed about it. Now that the "rain of heaven" has come, have you earnestly thanked God?

There are several ways we can thank God for His blessing of rain which we desperately needed:

1. IN PRAYER.
2. IN FAITHFUL WORSHIP AT GOD'S HOUSE.
3. BY SEEKING IN THE POWER OF GOD'S SPIRIT TO LIVE A PURE LIFE.
4. BY DEDICATING TIME, TALENTS, AND SUBSTANCE TO THE WORK OF GOD.

All of life and its blessings is a trust from God. In gratitude we should dedicate all of life to doing the will of God.

What about You?

Johnson was the adult leader in charge of the activity. 4-H Club members serving on the committee with her were: Ken Johnson, Diane Bentley, David Johnson, James Cantrell and Phyllis Morris.

The annual Wichita County Home Demonstration Club Day Camp was held Wednesday, Aug. 19th in the Youth Center in Iowa Park. The camp was planned by the Wichita County Home Demonstration Council committee on Recreation. Mrs. Jack Marshall was chairman.

If interested in a hot bread to add a bit of interest to cold meals this summer, why not try muffins. Miss Wirges suggests a few ways to put a touch of magic into muffins.

For surprise muffins, fill muffin cup 1-3 full of batter, drop in 1-2 teaspoon jelly and 1-3 more batter. From the outside it looks like any other muffin, but when broken open—Viola! It's a already jellied.

Peanut butter muffins will delight the younger set—and use another food that is abundant supply. Simply cut 1-3 cup peanut butter into 2 cups of muffin mix.

Cheese muffins have 1-2 cup grated cheese added to 2 cups of the mix.

And you can have cinnamon star muffins by sprinkling the tops with a mixture of cinnamon and sugar before baking.

An Added Touch of Beauty

Robert Louis Stevenson said:
 "The world is so full of
 a number of things,
 I'm sure we should all be
 as happy as kings."

God's world is filled with loveliness, but we need to add our own touch of beauty, so that we might be builders of a better world with Him.
 Each of us was given talents which would enable us to contribute to the world and mankind something great and lasting and beneficial. May each of us use these talents to the Glory of God.
 Add a touch of beauty to your life
 this week by attending church.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
