Bulldogs To Host American Legion Post 264

Receives Child Welfare Citation

Joseph Janeke, recently elected State Judge Advocate for the American Legion for the State of Texas, presents a citation for outstanding work in Child Welfare to the Commander of Post 264, Burkburnett, Mack Mallone, as Jim Johnson, who has done much work in the past as Child Welfare Officer, looks on. Mr. Janeke received the plaque for the Post, at a recent convention of the American Legion.

Recently elected State Judge Advocate of the American Legion, Joseph Janeke, presented a citation for outstanding work in Child Welfare, to Post 264 Commander Mack Mallone, in ceremonies held at the Burkburnett Legion Hall, Oct. 3rd.

Janeke received the citation for the Post at a recent American Legion convention. It was presented and signed by the National Commander, Daniel F. Foley, who is also National Child Welfare Director and chairman.

Members of Legion Post 264 are very proud of the award and justly so. It is one of few posts in this part of the country to receive the honor.

Some things these Legion members have done to earn the citation are sending many Burkburnett boys and girls to Austin for boys and girls State. Furnishing a meeting place and sponsoring at least one or two boys or girl scout troops, and aiding them financially.

Distributing Christmas food baskets to needy families and providing welfare to the more unfortunate persons of Burkburnett all year, is another way these members of a fine organization earn praise and citations. Whenever and wherever their help is needed, they are there.

The Woman's American Legion Auxiliary has co-sponsored and assisted in many welfare projects and is very proud of its part in winning the citation.

Present Child Welfare Officer for the Burkburnett Post, Jack Alexander, who succeeds Jim Johnson, is a very capable person, but says Johnson still does much of the work.

United Nations Day Oct. 24th

Secretary-General's Message to Youth

All peoples of the world, whatever their way and conditions of life, their colour or their beliefs, have legends — varied in form, but similar in substance — about the struggle of good with evil. Such legends are usually imbued with dreams of a golden age and with sublime ideals. There can be few of us who do not still remember legends and tales of this kind which we heard or read in our childhood or youth, and who did not dream of becoming magicians and bringing happiness to men.

But real life has always been harsher than these dreams. The world has suffered natural scourges alternating with bloody wars; men have been plagued with diseases, and many have gone hungry or suffered other privations. Only recently the world was convulsed by the Second World War, a war whose horrors are still fresh in our memory.

Are men doomed to go on being the victims of such scourges? Must we resign ourselves to believing that, as things have been, so they will be? No, certainly not!

Man's reason has always prevailed in the end. Reason has taught man to create, and raised him to the highest level of development. Man has learned to master nature, to create priceless material and spiritual riches, and to lay the foundations for all to enjoy unprecedented material well-being. And reason must lead man to renounce war and to put an end for all time to violence and injustice in the world.

Nineteen years ago, after the most bloody and destructive war in history had come to an end, the United Nations was founded for these very purposes. To save succeeding generations from the scourge of war, to establish conditions for universal justice and to provide decent conditions of life for all peoples — these were the lofty purposes laid down in the Charter of the United Nations. They are not the dreams of an idealist nor the fantasies of legend, but fully realistic even if difficult tasks. The present generations must clearly understand all these aims and actively prepare itself to strive for the realization of these goals, and for the future happiness of today's youth.

That is why I appeal to all young people, on this United Nations Day, to dedicate themselves to the sublime cause of giving reality to the ideals of the Charter; I appeal to them to work for the triumph of peace and friendship on earth and for the happiness of mankind.

U THANT,
Secretary-General

Blood Banks and Blood Money

It is generally agreed that nine-tenths of the six million pints of blood collected a year in the United States is given freely by voluntary donors to non-profit community or hospital blood banks and collection centers. There is a clearinghouse system by which blood collected locally can be credited to a patient in a distant hospital.

The system is estimated to save Americans some $80,000,000 a year in medical costs and, more important, to save between 250,000 to 500,000 lives a year. These figures were reported at the recent meeting of the American Association of Blood Banks in Washington, D. C.

Strangely enough, this non-profit, voluntary, humanitarian operation is now threatened by the decision of a Federal Trade Commission examiner in Kansas City, Missouri. Acting on the complaint of two commercial blood banks there, he has ruled that the local non-profit community blood banks, organized by doctors and hospitals, is in "restraint of trade" in encouraging the use of its service and discouraging the sale of blood.

The full Federal Trade Commission has not, as yet, approved the ruling, and perhaps never will. But, to protect our vitally needed non-profit community blood banks across the nation, Senator Edward V. Long, of Missouri has introduced a bill to grant them exemption from the Federal anti-trust laws — such as is presently enjoyed by labor unions. And since American blood is distinctly non-partisan when it is being shed for our country, we think it should be regarded in the same light when it is being given and conserved to save the lives of any and all who may need it. Thus, we applaud the support given the bill by Republican leaders such as Senators Dirksen and Tower who have joined hand with Senator Long's fellow Democrats. We hope that this humanitarian bill, advocated by the American Medical Association and the American Hospital Association as well as the American Association of Blood Banks, will not be overlooked in the press of last-minute legislation and the scramble for adjournment.

Bee stings are less annoying to seasoned beekeepers than mosquito bites as most beekeepers build up immunity to their effects.

NEW TECHNOLOGY:

Flexible Skills — A Must For Today's Engineers

New York — (HK) — The day has passed when a man could learn one set of engineering practices and expect to use it, unchanged, for the rest of his life. Today, as new technology develops, the engineer as well as the machines he builds must be adaptable to change.

Fortunately, most men find this a challenge and an opportunity, not a threat. They want to learn. The problem is how to bring the learning to the man.

Steelways, official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, said the 100-year-old steel industry begins Century Two this year confident that this problem is being met — that flexible engineering skills will be developed by both industry and engineering schools to meet the vast technological changes of the next 100 years.

In fact, the magazine said, a study of five steel companies indicates that the problem of bringing learning to the man has now become a concrete reality. It said these companies already have taken steps to update and upgrade the skills of present engineering employees while engineering schools are revising curricula to prevent manpower obsolescence.

The Steelways study of company pioneering in employee training — though no two companies go about the problem in the same way — showed that development of flexible engineering manpower consists of a four-fold program:

- ... orientation to the job.
- ... engineer's skills must be developed and shaped to the job.
- ... they must be encouraged to update their knowledge and skills as their jobs change.
- ... if they have aptitudes, they must be upgraded and prepared for advancement.

The problem facing engineering schools is how to educate engineers for a future whose specific needs can be dimly foreseen. Educators first read the warning signs in World War II when, in several instances, engineers could not cope with new fields such as atomic energy and radar, and scientists had to be put to work designing and building hardware.

More and more schools, however, have revised their curricula to meet this goal. The new flexibility, the publication added, means that the engineer entering industry may require more training in current practices than did a graduate of the traditional engineering curriculum; but this is part of the price of an engineering education designed to be proof against early obsolescence.

Many Uses for Steel Speed Residential Construction — Cut Maintenance Costs

WIVES ATTENDED, TOO!

A "NIAGRA" OF SALES TALENT: When it comes to national sales conventions, New York Life Insurance Company believes it's an innovator. It believes it started this American institution in August 1898 when some 100 top agents from all parts of the country met in Niagara Falls to exchange selling secrets and ideas. (Wives were invited, too.) Recently at a convention in the New York Hilton for 260 of its top agents from all over the country, the company made another innovation in its educational sales conference concept. The meeting had no talks or panels on the art of selling. Instead, for 3 days a leading scientist, economist, medical researcher and other prominent national figures outside the company discussed the world's complex intellectual problems. (Wives attended, too.)

New York — (HK) — Today there are a few places in a house where steel is not at home. Recent ground-to-gable developments in the use of steel for residential construction have been so numerous that few people are aware how widely the nation's basic metal is used to speed construction and help produce minimum-maintenance homes.

Anyone planning to build or remodel owes it to himself and his home to investigate these ideas. For example, start at ground level. The one-day foundation is one of steel's many time saving innovations. Where the excavation and pouring of conventional concrete foundation walls is costly and can be delayed by rain or cold, a foundation of steel beams may be bolted in place in almost any weather. Steel posts are set in corner holes, concrete poured around them and beams fastened to the posts.

Steel beams and columns in the frame of a home on any site minimize the possibility that the house will ever acquire "the sags," that aging sickness of many wooden structures. Not only are structural steel columns available in the conventional "H" shape but also in square, round, rectangular and oval. The great strength of steel beams permit long expanses of unbroken space for living rooms and playrooms which are much in vogue today.

Doors are another building component in which steel is making rapid progress in home construction and remodeling. The tight fit of an outside steel door eliminates the need for a storm door because air leakage is almost nil, making it a heat-saver in winter and retainer of cool air in summer. Folding steel doors for interior use are growing in popularity because of space-saving advantage.

Residential siding has become available in dent-resistant steel. Shaped like conventional wooden clapboard, it is made of corrosion-resisting galvanized light-gauge sheet steel and factory-coated with long-lasting plastic paints in many different pastel colors. Galvanized steel siding has greater tensile strength and will resist 3 1/2 times greater impact than aluminum without denting. Vinyl-coated steels also are used for siding.

The economy of corrosion-resistant galvanized steel has made it a favorite for gutters and downspouts, not only in initial installation, but in replacement as well. Their life span may now be increased indefinitely by painting them with zinc-dust base paint.

"The Legend of the Unicorn"

Phoenix, Ariz. — (HK) — In Arizona, where night-prowling coyotes howl gleefully at the bright moon, and the shifting sand and desert-like climate are vivid reminders of far-off Saudi Arabia, the legendary Arabian Oryx has found a home.

A small number of the critically dwindling species — deliberately captured and transplanted to another country to establish a breeding herd — now occupy shelter houses and corrals at the Phoenix Zoo.

UNIQUE VENTURE

The timely establishment of a protected herd of oryxes in Arizona represents a unique venture in wildlife conservation.

Expressing the gratitude of the Government of Saudi Arabia to all the individuals and organizations involved in the project, Muhammad Said Basrawi, Consul General of Saudi Arabia in New York, said recently, "The Saudi Government salutes the conservationists who have joined together to save one of the world's rarest animals from extinction. We regard this endeavor as another symbol of the friendly cooperation which has so long existed between our two countries."

ARABIAN ORYX
Long Way from Home

"Operation Oryx" had its beginning a few years ago.

For centuries the graceful animal, a member of the antelope family, freely roamed most of the Arabian peninsula — living in the measureless deserts feeding on typical desert vegetation, and able to go for long periods without water. Little was known about the animal except the imaginative suggestion that the sight of an oryx in profile — when its two horns seem to merge as one — gave rise to the legend of the unicorn.

MECHANIZED MAN

As man became more mechanized, the oryx, despite its fleetness and natural camouflage, fell easy prey to hunters. Within a relatively short period of time the species almost vanished. Today, only a few can be found haunting the remote desert of the Rub Al Khali, the so-called "Empty Quarter," which stretches across the southeastern border of Saudi Arabia.

CAPTIVITY BORN

In 1961, the "world herd" project was started with three oryxes trapped on an expedition to the Aden Protectorate. They were sent to the Phoenix Zoo because the region's climate most nearly approximates that of Saudi Arabia.

The ruler of Kuwait gave the zoo another oryx and the London Zoological Society added a fifth. Two more were born in captivity at the zoo.

But the World Wildlife Fund — which was created to save endangered species facing extinction — believed that the herd should number about 12 for safety's sake. Last year a small party traveled to Arabia to search for more of the elusive oryxes. None were found.

IT'S A GIFT

Then, the Municipality of Riyadh — in an expression of the Saudi Government's own concern for the preservation of the species — made a gift of four oryxes to the World Wildlife Fund for safekeeping at the Phoenix Zoo.

This year, the quartet, comprising two male and two females, made the long trip from Saudi Arabia to Arizona via Naples, Italy, under the constant care of conservationists and zoologists.

Southside P.T.A. Met Monday Night

The Southside Elementary PTA met Monday night. The guest speaker was Mr. A. E. Brown, principal of the Shepard-Burk School. His topic was "Together We Help a Child by Supporting Quality Education." Room count was won by Mrs. Jergenson. Coffee and cookies were served afterwards.

Mrs. Tommy Reese Hostess To Friendly Homemakers Oct. 14

Mrs. Oscar McBride called the meeting to order. Mrs. Monroe Gray brought the opening exercise, reading the Club Collect. Prayer by Mrs. Charles Lanig.

The roll call was answered with one requirement of a good home, they were as follows: Love, Co-operation, Patience, Trust, and give as well as take. Plans were discussed to entertain the Hardin Club with a Salad luncheon Nov. 12 in the Community Room of the Burkburnett Bank.

It was announced that western Hill club, Wichita Falls, will entertain the Friendly Homemakers Nov. 5th at a coffee in Wichita Falls.

Some program suggestions for 1964 were Etiquette, Manners and poise. Conserving nutritive value in food. Fit for clothes. Tips for vacation outings. Low cost meals, home storage, variety and mixes.

Mrs. Charles Lanig gave the program on normal weight. She said different ages need more calories to attain normal weight. Children age 7-9 need 2100 calories per day. 10 to 12 need 2500. 13-15 need 2600 as they develop they need extra fruit and milk. 16 to 24 need to cut down on calories, leave out some sweets and starches. 45-65 need 2100 calories per day, leave out all sweets, need rest, leave off alcoholic and soft beverages, eat low calorie foods. Persons to allow normal weight need to check with their doctor and eat 3 meals a day. Do not leave off one meal and eat more the next meal. Establish good eating habits.

The next meeting will be Oct. 28th in the home of Mrs. J. G. Cheney. The roll call will be answered with Mistakes I Make when Driving.

Mrs. Floyd Landes was welcomed as a guest.

Those present for the meeting were Mesdames Charles Lanig, Haskel Draper, Monroe Gray, J. G. Cheney, Earnest Masters, Dru McBride, Oscar McBride, visitor, Floyd Landes, and hostess, Tommy Reese.

Isolationism For Texas Studied By Burk Study Club At October Meeting

Isolationism for Texas" was the subject of the October meeting of the Burk Burnett Study Club. Mrs. E. D. Potter, Mrs. Jack Mthis, co-presented themselves in the worst light—a curiously contradictory trait, since the ordinary American is more proud of his country than any other national.

U. S. newspapers, magazines and other information media seem bent on publicizing the worst in our culture and playing down our good.

Much of the world knows the United States only through what goes on in its back alleys, bars and divorce courts, while the true inner glow of its life remains untransmitted. The tender care expended on its children, the millions of volunteers giving freely of their spare time to community welfare, the crowded churches and Sunday Schools, the community supported concerts, museums and town libraries. Let us not forget to be thankful for the privilege of living in such a country as America.

Maxine Creel spoke on "Legislation in Texas." The TSTA Legislative program to be presented to the Fifty-ninth Legislature convening, January 12th, 1965, will include a request for a $45.00 per month increase in minimum base salary. A bill to provide five days sick leave accumulative to a maximum of 30 days. She reminded all members to vote in coming elections.

An illustrated talk was given by Mrs. Howard Henderson on "Famous Cattle Brands" and "Ranch Histories."

The three crosses brand was brought from Spain with the first cattle by Hermando Cortez. The ornamented F "Old Spanish Brand" of Stephen F. Austin, the father of Texas, among the first brands recorded in the Republic, in Brazoria County in 1833. The running W Brand of the famous King Ranch of South Texas. The DDD Brand of the famous Waggoner Ranch of West Texas.

In 1521, fighting bulls were imported to Mexico from Spain, those too tough to handle were chased into Texas, where they had to get tougher and grow longer horns to compete with the buffalo. Wild herds gave birth to the Texas Cattle industry even before the railroads came.

The president, Mrs. Glen Bear, presided over the business meeting. She announced that the second Study Club is being organized, and assisting with these clubs are Mrs. Philip Carpenter, Mrs. Hugh Preston, Jr., and Mrs. James Frye.

Mrs. Bear urged the members to observe Bible Week Oct. 14-20 by reading their Bibles more each day.

Mrs. Philip Carpenter, third vice president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, attended the State Board directors meeting and work shop in Austin, Texas.

Davis Cup Travels in Style

Presentation of the aluminum cases is made to USLTA president J. B. Dickey (center) and U. S. Davis Cup team captain Vic Seixas (left) by John D. Harper, president, Aluminum Company of America.

Tennis was played in Western Europe and England for centuries before it was brought to America in 1875 by a woman who observed the British playing it in Bermuda. In 1900 Dwight F. Davis, an American statesman, had a beautiful silver cup designed to be awarded to the winner of an annual contest between England and the U. S.

Later the Davis Cup contest was opened to all nations, with the finals to be held yearly in the country who last won the cup.

During its earliest period most of the winners were Britishers. The French won it in '25 and held it for about 6 years. On one or two other occasions the Germans made a determined try, only to lose it in a final heated match. But for the last quarter of a century or so the U. S. and Aussies have dominated Davis Cup play.

The constant travels of this coveted cup has left its mark on the cup itself. Dents and scratches on this handsome trophy have pointed up the need for a way to protect it in its peregrinations.

Two new aluminum cases—one to hold the cup and pedestal, one to hold the engraved tray and base—were recently presented by Aluminum Company of America to the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association. They were fabricated by metal-working craftsmen at Alcoa's New Kensington (Pa.) works.

The new aluminum cases will give maximum protection to the cup, which travels thousands of miles annually for display at major matches—and makes occasional overseas visits when held by a foreign challenger.

WRITE-IN Billy HILL FOR SHERIFF

Wichita County, Tex.

TO ALL THE VOTERS OF BURKBURNETT AND COMMUNITY

I am Billy Hill, and as you know I was soundly defeated for the Sheriff's Office June 6th, in the Run-off Election, but I am not one to give up easily, nothing has ever been given to me, and any of you that has ever worked in the oilfields know what I mean.

I am 38 years old, and a resident of Wichita County since 1944. I married my wife, Lois, in 1947. We have two teen-age daughters, Pat, who is 15-years-old, and a sophomore at Rider High School; and is a majorette in the band. Paula is 13-years old and is in junior high at Zundy Junior High School of Wichita Falls. We are members of the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Wichita Falls.

I have worked for two companies in the past 20 years, the first of which I was employed for 18 years, a partner of that firm, as well as general manager, and in charge of personnel.

I received a 20-year Safety Award this year for operating a motor vehicle upon our highways without ever having a chargeable accident, and traveling well over one million miles. This is no qualification for being your sheriff, but sometimes it's the little things that count, in getting to know one another. I am a member of several fraternal bodies, Vice President of the Wichita County Mounted Patrol, a non-profit riding club, made up of some 60 business men from Wichita Falls. I was Transportation Coordinator for Civil Defense in Wichita County in 1961 and 1962, and a Special Deputy Sheriff of Wichita County for three years.

Did I surprise any of you folks when I was within 2,000 votes of the Sheriff in the May 2nd Primary? Yes, I think I surprised a lot of people, including the sheriff. I was politically unknown when I entered this race, but the people that knew Billy Hill voted for Billy Hill because they knew that he was a hard worker, and would fight for what he thought was right, and was capable of being the leader that this office needed, and would treat each individual alike, regardless of race, creed, or color, or what part of town he might live.

I do not wish to talk about the run-off election as I feel I was hurt greatly by the action of the Grand Jury three days before the election. I am proud that I was not elected, as I feel no public official elected by default or by not being elected by the majority of the people, can ever have that feeling of self security, that is so essentially necessary in serving the people on a high level, in any office, more especially the Office of Sheriff.

This is the reason I did not go in front of the Democratic Committee and ask for the nomination to be their candidate for Sheriff. I chose instead to try my chances on a write-in campaign, although I knew that no one in the history of our county, had ever been elected to a public office by a write-in vote, but I thought it over and discussed it with my wife and children and we decided that if anyone should ever be elected by a write-in vote, that it would prove, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that he was the people's choice, and would give him the confidence that is necessary to operate an office of this type on a high plane, there is no feeling as good as when you know that people place their confidence in you.

I would like you to remember, that I am the only man in this race that did not ask the committee for the nomination for Sheriff, therefore, I cannot see where any of them could have any "beef" coming. They asked for a free "handout" and since they were refused, now they are "hollering" their heads off that the whole thing was "rigged." The reason most of these write-in candidates are in this to start with is to simply get a little publicity, and to advertise their places of business, and to hurt my chances to win.

I do feel, however, that since I was a candidate in the previous election, spent my time and money that I can say what I think. This committee knows how I feel about them. I told their Executive Chairman, that I would never support a Communistic measure like they are trying to sell the people of Wichita County. I simply don't believe that the majority of the voters of our county will support their act on November 3rd. I happened to be taught in school that our Democracy was based on the theory, of the people, by the people, and for the people. I may never be elected to a public office, but, I feel you have to take a stand somewhere.

Of course, I can only speak for one individual, the voice of one American. But thank God, that I live in a country that gives you that privilege to speak out and to express your honest opinion.

Would you please give me a chance to serve you as your Sheriff? Would you please scratch the name that appears on your ballot, that the Democratic Committee has placed there for your convenience, and write my name in, BILLY HILL. . . . I would like to prove to all of our neighbors to the East, to the West, to the North and South, that the people of Wichita County are still interested in good government. . . . THANK YOU.

GETTING OUT... the Vote

Mrs. Jones is active in all types of community work. She is active in politics at the local level. From a list of voters at her elbow she telephones to see if any local residents need the services of the various car pools. Because of this service many who could not otherwise do so, get to the polls and vote.

But more than this, Mrs. Jones is a friend and servant of God. She supports her church and its services because she knows it is the center of all that is good and worthwhile in the Community. It is a place where the souls of men are uplifted and saved.

We, ourselves, would do well to emulate Mrs. Jones. May we urge that you, also, not only vote, but help get out the vote — that you not only attend church, but support it actively with your service.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

W. Babson Weekly Report

have honored that barrier against wage-price inflation, even though President Johnson repeated the call for 3.2 percent ceiling in his economic report last January.

Reason for the Yardstick
Fear of further wage-price upturns first prompted the government to ask for voluntary restraints. It was estimated that productivity—output per manhour—has been going up 3.2 percent a year. Hence, it would be permissible, and reasonable, for unions to ask for a parallel raise in pay fringe outlays. This could be granted without bringing enough pressure on labor costs so that employers would have to lift product prices. Thus it was hoped to avoid wage-price inflation while still allowing reasonable gains in worker incomes.

Although neither the unions nor management had much to say when the productivity yardstick was announced, it was soon evident that neither side intended to comply with the government's request. Most of the important labor contracts signed since that time have gone beyond the guideline in their wage fringe concessions.

Thus far, however, many of the companies involved have been able to absorb the extra expenditures without sharply boosting prices. But advances are in the air, especially in coal clothing and transport.

Auto Pacts Mean Higher Price Ceilings

Just how ready the unions and management are to overlook the productivity guideline has been shown in autos. Industry, the government and the public were brought up short when Chrysler started the ball rolling by giving the United Auto workers a package—including pensions, raises, and working benefits—that topped costs an estimated 4.7 percent a year during the agreement's three year span.

True, this avoided a strike at Chrysler and Ford just before the national elections—but not at the more tough-minded General Motors. It proved once again that the guideline means nothing to either employer or union forces. And the scope of the annual boost in labor costs means that cost-push inflation in the auto industry is on the march. Anything more will mean a severe squeeze on profits. While the wealthy auto makers might be able to absorb some of the costs—and perhaps sop up some more by installing "extras" in their cars—many smaller concerns that will be pushed to keep up with the wage fringe gains will simply have to raise prices.

How Far Will The Price Rise Go?

Whether the new lift in labor costs comes from new and or more liberal pensions, wage hikes, or fringe benefits, the results will be the same. Upward pressure on price ceilings will definitely increase. There have already been quiet boosts at the manufacturers' level, and these will be translated into higher retail prices over the period ahead.

How long will prices and wages continue to mount, how far will they go? The answer as to what is almost certainly going to happen is easier than the matter of when. Here is how I see it: Higher labor costs must be offset—at least to a certain degree—by higher prices. As always, higher prices will mean new demands for raises. So the spiral will continue to rise until—

Until What?

Sooner or later wage price increases will become so unrealistic that there will be an inflationary blow off. Things will be tough when that happens, and the long business climb could be stopped short. I am optimistic enough to believe, however, that this inevitable correction may be all to the good. The blow-off will bring us back to our senses, and the heyday will be over for those who think that inflation can creep upward forever without running away.

From then on—given common sense and a rebirth of religious conviction—we should be in a position to build both our personal and business lives upon much firmer foundations.

Young Democrats Organize In Burk

Danny Taylor was elected president of the Burk Burnett Young Democrats at an organizational meeting Friday night at which Norman Duncan was speaker.

Duncan is an aide to Congressman Graham B. Purcell. He discussed "Why I Am A Democrat" and talked to the young people about political ethics.

Taylor, a senior at Burk Burnett High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Finis Taylor.

Other newly named officers include Johnny Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mitchell, vice president; Jean Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Page, Secretary; Sally Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mitchell, publicity chairman; and Bill Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. (Dub) Zimmerman, representative at large.

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman and the sponsor of the organization, which plans to continue functioning even after the Nov. 3rd general election, is Mrs. Zimmerman.

Friday she read several quotes from the 1964 Democratic Fact Book concerning statements which have been made about youth by the presidential candidates.

The Young Democrats plan to conduct a canvass of Burk Burnett Saturday to distribute literature for all the Democratic candidates. They will meet at the home of the secretary, 701 Sycamore, at 8 a. m.

On Oct. 31st the group will meet at the Zimmerman's at 8 a. m. to decorate their cars with campaign posters and streamers and will have a caravan around Burk Burnett.

PRACTICES WHAT HE TEACHES—Jim Francis, star of the popular television series about a high school teacher, "Mr. Novak," practices what he teaches.

Francis, who plays "John Novak" on the MGM-TV Mr. Novak series, is an ardent believer in the credit union idea and an enthusiastic member of the MGM Studio Club Credit Union in Culver City, Calif.

The MGM Studio Club Credit Union is one of more than 30,000 mutual-help financial organizations which provide members with a convenient place to save and a source for low cost loans.

Francis joins hands with 18.6 million other credit union members in promoting the credit union idea throughout the world. Because credit unions give people of all economic classes a unique opportunity to control their own money and to participate in a democratic organization, they have been formed in some 80 countries. They now are an official part of the United States program to assist underdeveloped countries.

When Fishing For Sunfish

No need to carry bait with you when fishing for sunfish or bream. Just spread out a couple of candy wrappers for flies to gather around. Then, whenever your hook needs bait, swat a fly and use it. Bait will always be handy when needed and good bait, too.

Modern Study Club Met In Home Of Mrs. Lonnie Dolan

The Modern Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Lonnie Dolan, Oct. 12, 1964.

The meeting was called to order by the club president, Mrs. Jerry Thomas and the club collect was repeated in unison. Roll call for this meeting was "What America Means To Me".

Next on the agenda was correspondence reports, of which there were numerous letters from Federation Headquarters, Care and the scholarship fund at TCU where our present Miss Burkburnett is attending college acknowledging receipt of the scholarship.

Special committee reports for the night were reports from the Ways and Means committee chairman, Mrs. Dufe Smith. A rummage sale will be held Saturday, Oct. 24th and a bake sale on Wednesday before Thanksgiving. The social committee announced plans for a hay ride and a hootenanny for club members and their husbands to be held Oct. 31st.

All members were urged to attend the District Workshop to be held in Childress, Tex., Oct. 21st and to start making plans to attend the Federation banquet, Nov. 5th at the Town Hall.

Our devotion for the night was centered around our program theme for the evening "Americanism." The title of the devotion "Use the Freedom You Defend" also encouraged club members to be ever conscious of the coming election and to vote on Nov. 3rd. Whether our candidate wins or loses, our vote will have proven one very important aspect of the American way of life—that the machinery of democracy still works. We can be sure of this because we helped to make it work. Mrs. Darrell Nichols, devotion chairman closed with the thought that "a clubwoman that votes, uses the freedom she defends."

The meeting was then adjourned and delicious refreshments of chips, dips and cake, coffee and Cokes were served to the following attending members: Mesdames Lorraine Askins, Dixie Dillard, Martha Griffith, Dorothy Harris, Rita Hudson, Edith Key, Pat McClure, Evelyn Nichols, Barbara Reed, Frances Smith JoAnn Thomas and Selma Wright by the hostess Jean Dolan and daughter, Connie.

The first Vaudeville theater was the Gaiety Museum, Boston, 1883.

THE "RIGHT TO VOTE"

The mere "Right to Vote" does not guarantee Democracy or the preservation of this Republic.

(The people of Russia have the "right to vote" but the people of Russia certainly have nothing to say about changes in their government, as the cent government change in Russia proves again.)

1. . . . The people themselves must control their government; and not just the name of democracy. They must value the preservation of the ideal of this Republic more than they value their personal material gains.

2. . . . Our youth must be fully educated in their government; not only as to their rights, but also as to their duties and responsibilities.

3. . . . The people must be kept fully and correctly informed as possible, at all times.

4. . . . Government economic control must be strictly limited, so that voters cannot be influenced, or coerced, by control of their means of livelihood.

5. . . . No laws must be passed that would give incumbent office holders an unfair advantage possible opposition.

6. . . . Voters must feel free to vote as they please in general elections, regardless of party affiliation; blind party loyalty is NOT democracy.

7. . . . Tenure of office at the policy levels should be limited.

8. . . . There must be absolute honesty in the conduct of all elections.
