Need For Library Recognized By Most Citizens

Because the library is not a project that can be dictated by officials nor is it a project that can be ordered by people with foresight. We the citizens must realize this and motivate ourselves. The idea is not new. Some clubs have taken the bull by the horns to do research and put plans on paper. They do not claim exclusive rights to do all the work; neither do they seek the credits; they only recognize that a library is needed and work must be done. Consequently, several committees are being held. Each and every committee welcomes spectators and participants to each meeting. They want to make this a Burkburnett project. In simple words, this is an open invitation to anyone who wishes to voice an opinion or lend a helping hand. Leaders of these committees have confidence and faith in every citizen. They believe that a library is needed and wanted. They also recognize that often the most talented need that first spark to get moving. After that the reluctant are often surprised that their "talents, knowledge and efforts" can help and do help. They see it for themselves. The library project is one where individuals can see their endeavors at work.

Robert Eaton Has Scholarship In Paraguay

Robert Eaton, Texas Tech senior from Burkburnett, has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship for a year's graduate study in Paraguay, becoming the second Tech student to receive a Fulbright grant to South America for 1965-66. The foreign language major will do a special study on "The Influence of the Indian Language on Spanish and Portuguese" at the National University of Paraguay at Asuncion. Announced earlier was a similar award to graduate student, Richard Brown, 2612 31st St., Lubbock, who will do research in music in Brazil. Eaton, already fluent in both Spanish and Portuguese and with a working knowledge of several other tongues, expects to add an unusual language to his repertoire during the coming year. His chosen project will involve learning Guarani, an Indian language indigenous to the country and designated, along with Spanish, as one of the official languages of Paraguay. Guarani has been in general use as both a spoken and written language since the early-day Jesuits recorded the folklore and customs of the Indians in phonetic Spanish, Eaton explained. No newcomer to South America, Eaton spent 1963 in Brazil at the University of Soa Paulo where he completed a cultural study under a New York University Junior Year Grant. He plans a career in language research. Interested in languages since he studied Greek and Spanish on his own while still a student in high school, Eaton branched out into other areas in college. In addition to Spanish and Portuguese, he studied German (in which has a minor), as well as French and Latin. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle C. Eaton, 516 Dot Ave. Burkburnett.

LET'S REPRESENT ALL THE PEOPLE

RESTORE STATE AUTHORITY

This country has many diverse geographical, economic, and social interests—a fact so obvious that it seems inescapable. Yet it was ignored by the Supreme Court when it held that seats in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned solely on a population basis.

The problems of a rural farming area are hardly the same as those of the big city. Does the lumberman, the miner, the fisherman fall into the same category, or can all of us be lumped together with the city subway riders and apartment dwellers?

The ever-changing problems can never be solved through the questionable assumption that sparsely settled parts of a state have less at stake than densely populated areas. If state legislatures are compelled to be constituted on a "population only" basis, this could result in gross discrimination against lesser populated districts.

In a truly representative government one house—if so decided by its citizens—should represent all the elements of a state and should not be forced into drawing its membership chiefly from the densely populated areas.

Therefore, we believe that strong support should be given to the proposal before Congress to restore to the states their traditional authority to apportion their legislatures on a basis reflecting geographic as well as population factors.

If we are to maintain our republican form of government in its truest application, the "population only" theory must be cast aside.

WELCOME VISITOR

What interests the readers of weekly newspapers? The Suburban Press Foundation conducted a survey to find the answer to that question, and Editor & Publisher has printed the results. They cast a revealing light on the wants of the millions of people who live in small towns and the countryside.

As one would expect, local news led the field in readership, with 92.9 per cent of those polled saying they always read it; 6.5 per cent saying they read it sometimes; and only 0.6 per cent confessing they never read it.

Next—and close behind—came editorials and local columns. A mere 0.7 per cent said they never read these. Third in reader interest was advertising. Only 2.7 per cent said they never read it. All the rest said they always or sometimes read it.

Actually, the whole weekly paper is very thoroughly read. Even the poorest read classification—sports news—drew a combined "always" and "sometimes" readership of 89.1 per cent.

The weekly paper is one of the most welcome of visitors to rural homes. It stays for seven days, not just one. And the whole family has a lasting and hearty appetite for just about everything in its columns.

ARE YOUR SELFISH ENOUGH?

Are you selfish enough? Most people are not; and so they do things that are injurious to themselves and to others.

If selfishness is being concerned about one's own welfare, then—obviously— all people are selfish. Even the man who calls himself an "altruist" is only helping others in order to satisfy his own selfish desires—to gain entrance to the Kingdom of Heaven or to enjoy the feeling of well-being that he gets from what he thinks is "doing good."

But the question is: "Are you selfish enough?"

The man who steals is only a little selfish. His concern for his own welfare is so shallow that he's willing to put his entire life in jeopardy for a few moment's satisfaction.

The man who tries to take advantage of other people, to "use" them, isn't selfish enough either. His concern for himself is so small that he fails to take into consideration the long term consequences of his acts.

The truth of the matter is just this: the man who is the most selfish will achieve the greatest amount of good for the greatest number of people.

How can that be the case? It's simple: In a highly-advanced civilization, we are all dependent upon other people for many things—the production of food, clothing, luxuries, etc. Without exchanging with others, no one can have anything.

All individuals choose in terms of their own self-interests, some more efficiently than others. The efficiently-selfish man has taken the time to examine this process. He has come to realize that unless he genuinely helps others to pursue their self-interests, he won't get what he wants from them.

A businessman offers the best bargain he can—in order to make sales and profits for himself. An individual seeks to improve himself—so that those individuals he admires will choose to be his friends. A man lives the most decent life possible—so that his wife will love him.

The short-sighted individual attempts to cheat people, to take advantage of others, to get as much as he can from others without giving anything in return. But this course of action brings only a small profit and for a short period of time. Meanwhile, the individual with perspective looks into the future and establishes relationships—business and others—that are built securely. He develops his own personality to be meaningful to others, so that they will willingly exchange with him.

Now, which of the two is the most selfish? The man who cares so little for himself that he lives carelessly for the moment? Or the man who loves himself so much that he gives the best he has so that he can have as much as possible for himself over the long term?

The truly selfish individual thinks enough of himself to consider always the long term consequences of his acts. This man is not found among the ranks of the cheaters, the stealers, and the "gimmick" artists.

Now, appraise yourself. Are you selfish enough?

General Program Augmented In 1964 Offers Library Services And Construction Assistance

DOORMAN WINFREY
State Librarian, Austin

Texas citizens do not have adequate public library services and persons living in rural areas have none. However, two major factors have brought about a change in this state. One is the nationwide Library Development Act of 1956. Another hope is the 1964 Library Services and Construction Act which grew out of the 1956 Act.

Minutes in two years; thus federal appropriations are limited to fiscal years 1965 and 1966. Both Titles apply to urban and rural areas after July 1, 1964. The state library administration agency in each state prepares state plans and submits these to the U. S. Commissioner of Education for approval.

Title I (Services)

Federal Level
Funds may be used for books and other library materials, library equipment and other operating expenses, including costs of administering the state plan for construction.

The Act authorizes $25 million for fiscal 1964 and such sums as Congress may determine for fiscal years 1965 and 1966.

The minimum allotment which must be matched is $100,000 for each of the states.

To remain eligible for a federal grant, a state must maintain its expenditures for all public library service at least at the same level as in fiscal 1963; and state and local expenditures for public library service must not fall below the 1963 level.

Title II (Construction)

Federal Level
Construction is defined as meaning the construction of new public library buildings and the expansion, remodeling and alteration of existing buildings for libraries and initial equipment of such buildings. Architect's fees and the cost of the acquisition of land are also included in the definition.

State plans will describe criteria used for insuring that construction projects are for facilities to serve areas as determined by the state library administrative agency, which are without library facilities necessary to develop library services.

The Act authorizes $20 million for fiscal 1964 and such sums as the Congress may determine for fiscal years 1965 and 1966. The basic allotment is $80,000 for each of the states.

The Library Services and Construction Act will pump into the life-stream of Texas public libraries a total of two and one half million dollars per year. To spend this money to best advantage is a heavy responsibility. As the chief administrator of the Act and spender of the tax money, Texas State Librarian's aim is to encourage and help develop the very best public library service possible for all the people of Texas. Our policy will be to further develop the leadership of the Texas State Librarian in the improvement and extension of public library service in Texas; to work with the Texas Library Association on the development and acceptance of standards for public library service in Texas; to encourage cooperative programs with the aim of developing more effective and efficient service in public libraries.

Population Brackets

What does your library have to gain from the new Library Services and Construction Act?

For both Title I and Title II of the Library Services and Construction Act the State Plan has divided library population service areas into three groups. The first group, or large population centers—termed Metropolitan or Major Resource Centers—are those areas with populations of 200,000 persons or more. The medium-sized population areas—those of 10,000 to 199,999—are considered Urban or Resource Center. The third group—those of less than 10,000 are considered the Rural Area Centers.

For consideration under Title I or Title II of the Act, libraries in each of these population groups would be expected to have local service extension programs, be in readiness to carry out their proposed program, and have the local matching funds ready and available.

Services Under Title I
Through its Field Services Division, the Texas State Librarian will develop and strengthen the following services under Title I of the Act:

- (a) Library consultant Services. Consultants in library service and development are available to librarians, library boards and interested groups. Specialists offer their services in cataloging and children's and young people's literature, as well as general library operations.
- (b) Workshops. Workshops covering various aspects of librarianship, trustee duties, and friends groups are conducted or sponsored in conjunction with others interested in library development.

(c) Governor's Conference on Libraries is being planned.

(d) Professional Library Collection. A special collection of professional library material is being developed at the State Librarian. This collection will furnish interlibrary loans and research on librarianship and is designed to meet the needs of librarians who do not have access to library school collections.

(e) Librarian Placement Service. The Field Services Division will act as a clearing house for librarians needing personnel and librarians desiring employment. Employment listings will be published in Texas Librarian's free of charge.

(f) Texas Libraries. Important library information is available through this source which is published by the State Librarian and distributed free to all public libraries. The statistical directory issue of the publication includes annually, the information on all public libraries in the state, derived from the annual reports of such libraries to the State Librarian.

(g) Library Development Film. A sound and color film highlighting the services of the Texas State Librarian and role of the local public library in the Texas public library community will be available for showing in the interest of public library development.

(h) Texas Reading Club. Each summer the State Librarian, in conjunction with local public libraries, sponsors the world's largest reading club. Young readers are required to read a certain number of books to be awarded a certificate. Reading logs and certificates are furnished free and local library plans the presentation ceremonies.

(i) Speakers. Speakers from the State Librarian can be called upon to talk before library, club and civic groups on all phases of public library development.

(j) Duplicates Exchange. A duplicate materials exchange will be developed for books and periodicals between public libraries.

(k) Small Libraries Project Pamphlets. Pamphlets of the American Library Association, Small Libraries Project will be distributed to Texas public libraries. Other worthwhile printed material will be distributed.

(l) Book Improvement Loans (Extension Loans). The book collections of public libraries will be improved by book loans for three, six and twelve months or indefinite periods. Special collections will also be sent to qualifying libraries.

(m) Multi-county cooperative demonstrations will be formed to furnish demonstrations of what total library resources can provide for the area.

(n) Libraries submitting services project applications to State Librarian may be able to have percentage of their budget matched in order to extend their services through provisions of Title I. That percentage of matching help will be determined by the number of libraries participating in the program the amount of libraries operating budget and the extension of services planned.

Title I Funds, Allocation

Funds for the entire state for the provision of all the foregoing Title I services amount to $1,239,425. Most of these funds are to be used as matching expenditures in metropolitan, urban and rural area libraries as indicated in (n) above.

In the first group of libraries, the metropolitan (major resource centers) will receive a total of $246,000. A metropolitan library which qualifies for Title I funds will use these funds to select their own books or special equipment will be purchased by the Texas State Librarian for use in the participating library and will be on permanent loan. Such equipment might include teletype machines or reproduction equipment. A portion of these funds could also be used for binding needs of the library's present collection, rather than books or equipment.

In the Urban Resource Centers, the medium population group, the total amount of funds available is $271,000. Libraries participating in this category may select their own books or select books from the Texas State Librarian Book Pool of the cataloged and processed books. This type of library may also select special equipment purchased by the Texas State Librarian or use their funds for binding present collections.

The Rural Area Centers, which have been allotted $221,000, might select books from the Texas State Librarian Book Pool or from the booklist prepared by State Librarian, or be able to select small items of equipment purchased by Texas State Librarian, such as card catalogs or typewriters. This group of libraries might also use a part of their funds for binding needs.

Title I funds will be allocated to each library on the basis of its operational budget, and amounts available to individual libraries will be dependent upon the number of libraries participating in the program. Therefore, Title I funds are not matched to the amount of local funds by a specific percentage as in the manner that construction funds are matched.

Services Under Title II

Title II of the Library Services and Construction Act provides assistance to both urban and rural areas toward the construction of new public library buildings and the expansion, remodeling, and alteration of existing buildings for public libraries. Initial equipment for such buildings, architects' fees and the cost of the acquisition of land are also included.

The Texas State Librarian, through its Field Services Division, will implement the construction and remodeling of library facilities as authorized by the Library Services and Construction Act of 1964 based on the following:

1. Information about funds for library construction and remodeling may be requested by any library in Texas.
2. Request will be made on an application blank furnished by the Field Services division.
3. The application blank will seek information concerning various phases of library operation.

a. Hours of Service. The minimum standard hours for service to the public must be maintained.

b. Library Appropriation. The library must receive at least 50 percent of its income from municipal and or tax support.

c. Size of building. The minimum standard amount of floor space must be provided for proposed construction.

d. Cooperative System. The library requesting funds must submit a plan showing how and to whom local services will be extended.

e. Annual Report. The library must regularly submit its annual report to the Texas State Librarian.

f. County Certification. If the library is a county system, the county librarian must hold a valid certificate from the State Board of Library Examiners.

g. Wage Payments. The contractors and sub contractors on these matching funds projects must submit to the Texas State Librarian signed statements to the effect that all laborers and mechanics employed on the project are being paid wages at rates not less than those prevailing on similar construction in the locality as determined by the Secretary of Labor in accordance with the Davis-Bacon Act and the Contract Work Standards Act.

h. Library Board. The library must operate under a duly constituted board. This board may be advisory, as in case of a county library, but must have an approved set of by-laws.

4. The application blank must be signed by a duly constituted member or members of the library board and will include an assurance that the building will be used for library purposes.

5. The Field Services Division will allot funds to the various construction and remodeling projects after reviewing applications.

6. The Library and Historical Commission will act as a fair hearing board for all complaints concerning the awarding of matching funds for library construction. Any local agency whose application has been turned down may request in writing a hearing before the Commission.

7. All construction projects will be under the general supervision of the Texas State Librarian. As required from time to time reports will be made to the Texas State Librarian. Library consultants will be permitted to visit the projects and make recommendations. These recommendations are subject to review by the local agency, the Field Services Division, and the Texas Librarian and Historical Commission.

Title II Funds, Allocation

These Title II Construction funds to be allocated to metropolitan, urban and rural libraries total $1,440,000. Metropolitan Centers, where Major Resource Centers are to be located, will be eligible to receive Title II funds of $730,000. On construction of library buildings in this metropolitan group LSCA funds will match 35 percent of the cost of the project up to $300,000.

The medium population group or Urban Resource Centers, are eligible to receive a total of $480,000 and local funds can be matched to 35 percent of the total cost of the project up to $150,000.

The rural, or Area Centers, comprised of population areas under ten thousand, are eligible to receive $230,000 and a local project will be matched 25 percent of the total project cost up to $25,000.

It has been estimated, even with the extension of funds to urban and metropolitan areas, that the rural libraries of Texas under both Titles, will have increased their amount of help from $274,252 in the last fiscal year to a possible $451,000 in the coming fiscal year.

Details and application forms for either the Construction Program (Title II) or the Services Program (Title I) may be secured from the Field Services Division of Texas State Librarian, Austin.

Farmers and ranchers planning to stock their ponds this spring should remove adult fish from the pond before introducing fingerlings, says B. T. Haws, county agent.

Additional stocking of a pond previously stocked is seldom the solution to poor fishing problems. Bass fingerlings introduced into a pond having a few adults are almost certain to be eaten by the larger fish. Adult bass will also eat catfish and sunfish fingerlings. One common mistake often made after stocking fingerlings is putting in a few large fish that someone has caught, hoping to produce a few big ones in a hurry. These larger fish will eat the fingerlings just as would the old adult fish. Trash first may be easily introduced by going to a nearby creek or pond and using fish for stocking. State and Federal fish hatcheries are the best place to get stocking fingerlings.

Education in the future will need to place more emphasis upon wise use of leisure time. It is estimated that the average person 35 years from now will have twice as much leisure time as the person of the present. Either we start planning today for wise use of this time or we pay the consequences.

The increasing concern for training of our citizens in wise use of leisure time is not just a desire to make people's lives more pleasant for them. Monotony in work and in off hours is a social danger no less than disease, disorder and illiteracy. Our failure to embrace this belief is raising crime rate, increasing population in mental hospitals, multiplying physical and moral weaklings rejected by the armed forces, and raising the percentage of youths who want security at the very onset of their careers and who are afraid of trial and adventure.

Burkburnett High School Choirs Presented Concert Wed., May 5th

The choirs of Burkburnett High School presented a spring concert for the student body and faculty in the high school cafeteria at 1:30 p. m. May 5th.

The choraleers, composed of freshman and sophomore students, presented the first half of the program. Their numbers included two spirituals, "No Hidin' Place Down There" and "I Want to be Ready," and the anthem, "Now The Day Is Over;" the Rodgers and Hammerstein number "Do Re Me;" "Tumbling Tumbleweeds," a western number; "This Old House" in animated style; and the American folk novelty, "Done Caught A Rabbit." The accompanist for the Choraleers is Karen Johnson.

The junior-senior choir, the Varsityers, sang the four-part anthem, "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes" from the Biblical quotation; a religious selection based on Psalms 126, "O Turn Unto Me;" and the spiritual by Walter Ehret "I Want Jesus To Walk With Me." The girls of the choir were featured in the number "I Heard A Little Child Pray." The entire choir presented the nostalgic seachante "Shenandoah." Each section of the choir was featured in solo parts in "Oh Careless Love." Finishing their part of the program, the choraleers did the Scottish folk tune, "Coming Through The Rye," and the now popular "Hootenanny." Accompanist for the junior-senior choir was Kathy Sykes.

To conclude the program the seventy voices of both choirs joined to do "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," under the direction of Mrs. Sydney Askins, director of both choirs.

During the concert, Carole Yarbrough, choir sweetheart for 1964-65, was presented to the student body. Carole, a senior, was elected to the honor by members of both choirs.

The Men In Your Life

Your Lawyer

Any home owner or breadwinner is wise to include a lawyer as one of the most important men in his life. Not only is our system of laws more complex than ever, but often an attorney's services are required during emotionally trying times, so he should be a man you know and trust before his services are actually needed.

And a lawyer's services are many. For instance, there are many ways to buy a house, and the attorney familiar with the family's needs and wants is best equipped to give sound legal advice in such matters as titles, risks worth taking, construction technicalities, special loans for which you may be eligible, and many more. Even when renting a house or apartment, anyone who signs the lease without consulting his lawyer proceeds at his own risk.

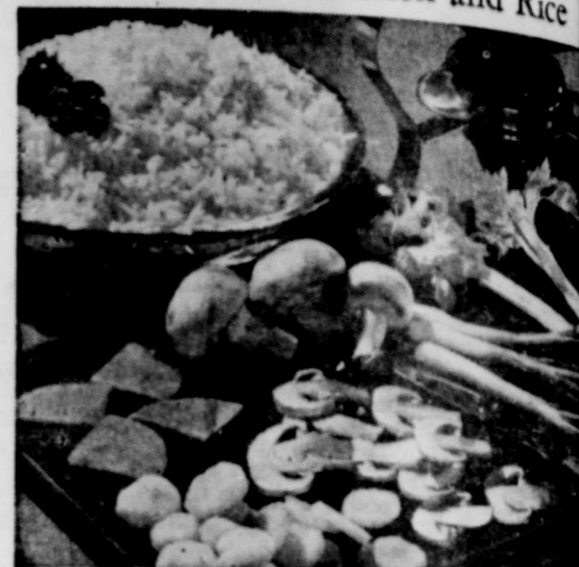

Making a will is another case in which the better a lawyer knows the family the better judgment he can apply in drafting the papers and guiding the family in the right direction for its personal needs. In setting up trusts for children of minor age, for example, a lawyer's personal knowledge of the family's estate is indispensable.

There are other important men in your life. One is a funeral director. Prudent families long ago decided it is wise to select a funeral director in advance of any emergency which might arise. He should be a man, like the local member of National Selected Morticians in your community, in whom you can place your complete confidence in his professional knowledge and good judgment. Planning in advance of need provides a measure of added protection for your loved ones.

The importance to your family of reputable professional men, such as a lawyer and a funeral director, cannot be understated. As important is getting to know these men on a personal basis.

Burkburnett Junior High School and will appear tomorrow in an assembly program for the Shepard Burkburnett School.

Almond Chicken and Rice

Cooking in a chafing dish can be as much fun for the host as it is for her guests.

For example, when Almond Chicken and Rice is the chosen, the ingredients can be artfully arranged on an attractive tray and placed next to the chafing dish for at-the-table cooking. Almond Chicken and Rice is a quickly cooked entree which combines chicken and crisp tender-cooked vegetables with a seasoned sauce that is delightful served over hot fluffy rice. Late sauced snowballs.

The rice for this Oriental-inspired entree can be cooked in a chafing dish or it may be reheated cooked rice. Let rice, unlike other foods, never tastes left over. Cooked rice, covered, in the refrigerator for a week; at zero degrees in freezer for at least 8 months. Cooked rice and thawed rice cooked rice are easily reheated — simply add 2 tablespoons liquid to each cup of cooked rice, cover and steam 4 to 5 minutes.

 4 teaspoons soy sauce
 1/2 cup water
 1/2 cup blanched almonds
 1/2 cup thinly sliced green onions
 3 cups hot cooked rice

Drain bamboo shoots and water chestnuts, reserving 1/2 cup the liquid. Slice water chestnuts thinly. Cut chicken into strips. Brown chicken, bamboo shoots and mushrooms lightly. Add water chestnuts, celery, mushrooms, and almonds. Served liquid and salt. Cover and simmer 3 to 5 minutes or until chicken is barely tender. Mix cornstarch with sugar, soy sauce and water and add to chicken mixture with half of the almonds which have been lightly browned in remaining oil. Cook until thick and clear, stirring constantly. Pour into serving dish, garnish with remaining almonds and green onions. Serve over rice. Makes 6 servings.

Can This Be The Tropical Bahamas?

An industrial explosion is transforming Freeport on Grand Bahama Island into the first balanced economy in all of the Bahamas. On the near side of the harbor is the latest addition to the industrial complex, United States Steel Corporation's new cement plant, said to cost $60 million. The plant, among the world's largest, uses Grand Bahama's native limestone to produce up to 4.8 million barrels of cement annually. The unprecedented boom has involved investments now worth $300 million in industry, land, marinas, homes, medical research, shopping centers, and a jet airport. All this is happening only 80 miles across the Gulf Stream from Fort Lauderdale and Palm Beach, Fla. The island has leaped ahead of every other island in the Bahamas in rate of growth.

Population experts predict a 10-fold growth — to 50,000 residents — by 1970. Meanwhile tourism continues to shoot ahead as 109,000 visitors traveled to the island last year. The boom is in its infancy, say the experts. The greatest growth lies ahead.

BBQ Safety

The thought of mouth-watering steaks, hamburgers and chicken over hot coals is enough for any family to roll out the barbecue grill.

With the flavorful meals these grills prepare, unfortunately, come dangers of burns and gas poisoning. Sentry Insurance suggests these safeguards in using barbecue grills:

- Use the grill in a well ventilated area. Grills meant for outdoor use should never be used inside unless there's a flue, allowing deadly carbon monoxide fumes to escape. Never bring the grill into closed quarters during a rainstorm. Even small hibachi grills, used at cocktail parties, have been known to emit enough carbon monoxide to asphyxiate a roomful of guests.
- Never use kerosene, gasoline or lighter fluid to start the fire. The best bet is electrical fire starters which carry the UL safety label.
- If you prefer one of the liquid fire starters on the market, add the liquid before—never after—the fire is ignited. Keep the liquid away from children and never allow them to start the fire.
- Keep small children and pets away from the barbecuing area. They could burn themselves or push the grill over onto someone else.
- Wear clothing with no dangling shirttails or frills that could easily catch fire. The chef should wear a large, fairly heavy apron.
- Use proper grill equipment. Heavy gloves and a bottle full of water should be on hand to spray on coals when fat drippings cause flames.

Texas motorists paid for many miles of new highways last year. But they never were built.

Governor Connally emphasized this point today in accepting the first of a quarter-million litter bags given to the Texas Highway Department by the Galveston Chamber of Commerce and the Galveston Convention and Tourist Bureau.

The bags will be distributed to motorists at each of the eight Tourist Information Centers located at points of entry on key highways of the State and in the Capitol rotunda.

"The Texas Highway Department is charged with the construction and maintenance of the State's superb 66,000 mile highway system," Governor Connally said. He added:

"But the truth is that more than $1.5 million taxes levied on highway users is wasted each year to pick up litter thrown along the right of way by careless motorists. This money could be better used to build more miles of new highways, and to protect the taxpayer's $4 billion investment in our existing system."

The bags were donated by the Galveston Chamber of Commerce to encourage litter control among out-of-state visitors. They also bear a message of invitation to visit the Galveston Island resort area.

D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, pointed out that approximately 12 million visitors come to Texas each year.

"These visitors represent an industry of more than one-half billion dollars a year," Greer said. "We hope that Texans will become conscious of our litter problem and help us present a 'clean house' for our paying guests."

The Texas Highway Department has distributed litter bags through the Tourist Information Centers for many years. However, this is the first instance that any organization has donated such a large number of bags for free distribution.

Some 400 thousand tourists visited the Information Centers last year. Besides litter bags, nearly two million pieces of travel-oriented literature were handed out. In addition, Information Center personnel encouraged tourists to extend their trips to visit other Texas scenic and historical attractions.

Presentation of the first litter bag was at a ceremony held in the State Capitol. Edwin D. Hunter, president of the Galveston Chamber of Commerce, presented the initial bag to Governor Connally. He said:

"Galveston merchants who are financing the purchase of these bags are very happy to try to solve the State's litter problem. We are intensely interested in the tourist program. Only by presenting clean, inviting attractions can we hope to encourage out of state visitors to come to Texas again, and again and again."

OUTMODED EQUIPMENT

This young man certainly won't get much real cleaning done with this broom. A modern street cleaning machine would do the job so much better. His straw broom makes us think of how we try to get along without God, without spiritual values, without church. Our life would be so much better if we would exchange this life for one that knows God and practices His precepts. Without church and God we have little or no spiritual equipment. Hearing God's word preached, being with his people, working in His church, helping others through the church all give us the spiritual equipment we need for meeting life. We invite you to attend this week and make a habit of coming to God's house.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE
The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

L. Turner Assault Ship Guadalcanal

Apprentice Dwayne USN, son of Mrs. Turner of 416 S. Ave. is currently aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Guadalcanal in the Dominican Republic.

Since U. S. forces have taken part in the operation, Atlantic Fleet ships have evacuated more than 3000 American citizens and other nationals seeking safety. The evacuees were taken to San Juan, Puerto Rico, where commercial transportation was available.

In cooperation with other U. S. Armed Forces, Navy ships and aircraft have carried in more than 30 million pounds of food and medical supplies—making it the largest humanitarian effort of U. S. Armed Forces since the Berlin Air Lift of 1948.

The Guadalcanal carries 1,650 combat troops (Battalion Team) and 30 medium transport helicopters. These helicopters are used to land the Marine assault forces on the beach or behind enemy lines.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my appreciation to friends and neighbors for the cards, flowers, visits, etc., while I was in the hospital. Your thoughtfulness meant so much to me and will always be remembered.
D. L. ALEXANDER

One thing that makes you feel your years is staying up late waiting for your daughter to come home from baby sitting.

Make prompt setting of the grass sod which is brought in for St. Augustine lawns. It will bear considerable neglect in not being planted straight from the nurseries into the new locations but it will be delayed in its new growth.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lee are working on the improvement of their home landscape, with an emphasis on outdoor living. To have a pretty back yard Mr. and Mrs. Lee have both evergreen and deciduous plantings. Their rose garden is separated from other plantings so it will be easier to care for and roses will show their true beauty and will be healthier.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee have also done an excellent job restoring old furniture into valuable possessions.

Those still setting new plants in little bands or containers into the borders would have less wilt if the plants are set out at night or late afternoon. A little shade should be provided against the midday sun.

Wasps are a common problem this time of year. They build their nests in and around homes—beneath eaves, on porches, behind shutters, in trees and shrubbery. And sooner or later someone get stung.

Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent says it's difficult to discourage these insects once they've decided to set up housekeeping. But it can be done with the persistent application of the proper insecticide. Just follow the directions on the label.

Chlordane, dieldrin, and DDT are effective for this purpose. So are most aerosol bombs recommended for ant and roach control.

Go after the wasps at night when they are less active and most of them are in their nests. Apply the insecticide directly to the nests.

Or it may be possible to dislodge hornets' and yellow jackets' nests and dispose of them in a sack. But before you go poking around, plug the opening of the nest with absorbent cotton that has been soaked in chloroform or carbon tetrach-

HOW TO GET MORE FUN OUT OF HOME MOVIES

by Skip Miller
THROW AWAY YOUR ERRORS

According to Elbert Hubbard, an editor's job is to separate the wheat from the chaff. When all's said and done, that's precisely what every movie-maker must do before presenting his film to an audience.

To edit, we must cut... Eliminate the blanks, whack out obvious over-exposures and under-exposures, do away with jiggly-wiggly parts and needless scenes.

There, now we're down to the meat of our movie.

Today we use a self-adhesive device called Quik Splice, a sort of first cousin to Scotch Tape but with pre-punched sprocket holes. No scraping. No loss of frames, even if we make a mistake. No loss of tempers. In a jiffy, it's done.

"Ah, yes," you say, "but how do you find the scene of Johnny climbing onto the pony to splice onto a scene of Johnny whispering into the pony's ear?"

The answer, believe it or not, may be found in one of Mom's empty egg cartons. Number the empty compartments with a corresponding number on the inside of the egg carton lid.

Now, using your movie projector, or any good editor-viewer (some models slip onto the projector itself), look at each movie scene passing in review. Let's say the first film on the roll is a scene of Suzie in her playpen. That's scene #1. Put this in section #1 of the egg carton. Next is Dad washing the car. #3 is Johnny riding his pony. #4 shows Suzie eating ice cream. #5 is Johnny, whispering into the pony's ear. Then comes a shot of Mom getting the picnic basket out of the car.

There, we have six scenes, in succession.

We want to rearrange those scenes so they will tell a story, instead of merely being happenstance snapshots. To do this, get a ruled notebook and put the original scene number at the left, followed by a very brief identification of the scene. For example, opposite #5 would be "Johnny pony ear." That's had English but good identification.

Now comes the artistry. We must tell a story. It must have a beginning, a middle and an end. And it must be of interest even to a stranger.

"Johnny Conquers Fear" might be our title. The story involves the day we went on a picnic, then took Johnny for a pony ride. We helped Johnny conquer his fear of being way up there on top of that tall pony by having Johnny tell the pony precisely what to do. To keep from frightening the pony, we asked Johnny to whisper the instructions in the pony's ear.

Since one of the key scenes (Johnny whispering into the pony's ear) is toward the climax of the story, that #5 scene may become scene #26 in our final movie. Scene #1 could be a shot of Mom packing the picnic box, followed by other scenes of the family leaving home, then arriving at the picnic area. Having decided which of those original scenes shall be #1, #2 and so on, we now assign a new number to each scene, on the right side of the notebook sheet. This is the order in which the scenes will be reassembled into the final movie.

luride. The fumes will stune the insects inside and you can work with less danger of being stung.

Remove the nest quickly. Burn or bury it. Or put it into a can containing a few table-spoons of chloroform or carbon tetrachloride and seal the can tightly.

You probably won't be able to get all the wasps the first time. Any that escape will immediately begin to rebuild the original colony.

Removing the nests, spraying or dusting will eventually discourage all comers, says the agent.

Cultivate plants in the established borders after rains. However, avoid cultivating soil which is too wet to crumble lightly, as it does great harm to soil texture to handle it while it is wet. Usually three days after a rain is a safe time to cultivate the soil.

The rule for fertilizing roses is set for immediately after the bloom has finished. The canes of climbers may be pruned back at this time also.

Looking at U.N.

FEW Americans are aware of the financial burden of the United Nations to our country.

Since 1945, when the United Nations was founded, America has paid almost 40% of all the expenses of that organization, which is now composed of 115 members. Half of these 115 member nations are currently behind in their financial contributions. It would require 120 million dollars for them to pay up. Soviet Russia has refused to pay its $2.6 million dollar assessment for U.N. "peace keeping" operations in the Middle East and the Congo. Six Russian satellites and France have likewise refused to pay. Seventy-million dollars is now owed by these nations on the peace keeping assessment.

Although our delegate to the United Nations made a lot of bluster about compelling Russia and the other nations to pay up, when the chips were down we lost our resolve. Thus the United Nations has written its own obituary and Americans should know that it cannot be the effective organization which it set out to be 20 years ago.

Although committed to our participation in the U.N., Secretary of State Dean Rusk in an address at Columbia University last year sounded a note of warning. He stated that it has now become "theoretically possible that a two-thirds majority of the U.N. Assembly could be formed by countries which have only 10% of the world's population and contribute only 5% of the assessed U. N. budget, and could recommend courses of action for which other nations would bear the primary responsibility and burden." Our disproportionate share of the expenses of the U. N. and the gradual whittling away of our influence in that body should be sufficient to convince us that sweeping reforms will be needed if our future participation in the United Nations is to be in the interests of this country.

A "Rain Tire" for Spring

Two test cars traveling at about 30 miles an hour skid on highly polished concrete, kept wet to give it added slipperiness, at a tire proving ground in Laredo, Texas. One, equipped with new "rain tires," tracks smoothly around the 90-degree turn. The other, equipped with standard tires, skids laterally out of control.

Automobile accidents will happen. But scientists and technicians everywhere are working endlessly to avert them.

The latest accident trap to be tackled by the experts was the wet road problem. Their answer? A brand new "rain tire."

Introduced just in time to beat those drizzly April showers, U. S. Rubber's new safety tire is already appearing on many new cars, as well as being available to motorists through dealers.

Called the Royal Laredo, this super low profile tire has been nicknamed the "rain tire" because tests have proved it to be particularly good for wet weather driving. Its traction and skid resistance on wet pavements is 33 per cent better than the present standard replacement tire.

A unique seven-row tread on the "rain tire" has six grooves to carry away water accumulated on the pavement. Standard tires have only four grooves. This ability to carry away surface water is important because the tires on a car traveling at 60 miles an hour in a heavy rainstorm must move 15 gallons of water each second in order to obtain a proper grip on the pavement.

The new tire has nearly three times as many slots in its tread pattern as the present replacement tire. These slots—about 3,500 of them—act like a squeegee and wipe the surface of the road, improving traction under acceleration and giving greater stopping power when the brakes are applied.

The combination of the additional grooves and slots in the tread also greatly reduces lateral skidding on turns. A wrap-around tread gives the tire more positive tracking and steering along the highway under all driving conditions. This tread, about one-half inch wider than current replacement tires, puts more rubber on the road, which, coupled with improved compounding and the use of polybutadiene synthetic, gives 10 per cent better tread wear.

The speed performance is also good because of its super low profile design and a lower cord angle which reduces flexing, thereby reducing heat build-up.

From Congressman Graham Purcell

Dear Friends:

Every few months, some political demagogue will sound off that the Federal Government is wasting huge sums of money on worthless scientific research programs. They list some exotic and sometimes ridiculous sounding (to the layman) title of research program, and never bother to explain the aims or reasons behind the program. This is a political exercise which I feel is a real disservice to the American people, which could be a real detriment to our national scientific advancement if it resulted, as it sometimes has, in the curtailment of a valuable research effort.

With the help of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, I have done some research of my own into some of the programs, and I would like to discuss some of them with you to show what I mean by the above statements.

One of the more eye-catching research project titles which I have come across is "Effects of Urethane on Developing Mouse Embryos." It does sound kind of ridiculous at first glance to the layman for the Federal Government to be subsidizing a study of this sort. But a little study reveals that Urethane is used as an organic solvent for resins, cosmetics, pesticides and fumigants. It is also used for treating some leukemias, bacterial and fungal infections, and varicose vein conditions. Studies made under this project have shown that various doses damage the developing central nervous system in mouse embryos. The applications to humans are obvious. We need to know what drugs and industrial chemicals are capable of producing malformations in human embryos. I am glad the study is being initiated with mice. Of course, no reasonable person would suggest that such a study be undertaken on humans without previous experimentation with animals such as mice.

Another interesting title is "Physiological Adaptation in the Mexican Free-Tailed Bat." It turns out that the Mexican free-tailed bat is a known vector of rabies. This is the reason this species is of particular interest to public health authorities, who must learn more about its biology and physiological adaptations in order to be at all effective in controlling it. This project is aimed at finding out about such things as its adaptation to climate for its winter environment, and many other factors which could be quite useful in controlling this carrier of the dread disease of rabies.

How about this one? "The Development of a Comprehensive Cottage Life Program." This is a study to learn and demonstrate ways to improve conditions in institutions for the mentally ill and mentally retarded as quickly as possible. The project will enable over 300 residents of a State institution for the mentally retarded to function as near their optimum capacity as possible and, even though most of the patients are severely retarded, the investigators hope to return many of them to their families and communities where they can lead independent and semi-independent existences. In addition to developing self-care training programs, the project is aimed at improving intellectual and personality evaluations, and stimulating more effective use of community resources in placing these people in more useful surroundings and following up on their progress. It could be a most valuable aid in our continuing battle against mental retardation and mental illness.

These are just random examples of what I am talking about. I could go on for several pages to list similar project titles and purposes. However, I will limit myself to discussion of one other scientific research project.

Consider what would have been the result if demagoguery had stopped a program which a dedicated scientist began about fifteen years ago. When he started it, his superiors thought it so fantastic that they would not even request any kind of funds for the project. This scientist continued his work in spare time and with spare equipment he could round up. After several years of work, he began to make some progress and funds were granted for him to expand and continue his work. This dedicated effort resulted in the now famous (in our part of the country at least) screwworm eradication program. His study was based on the sex life of the screwworm fly, a study that would have seemed most ridiculous to those not aware of the vast number of cases of screwworm infections in cattle each year which cost the Texas cattle industry, as well as in other States, millions of dollars.

What has been the net effect in Texas alone of this development and the application of the possible remedies which were discovered? The result has been this: In 1962 there were 49,517 cases of reported screwworm infection in Texas. With the full implement of the program, there were only 223 cases in Texas last year, an almost unbelievable achievement. The net savings to the cattle industry have been about $60 million per year. And this would not have been so but for a seemingly wild germ of an idea in the mind of an able and dedicated scientist who had enough faith and fortitude to continue his painstaking research project in the face of criticism.

Cordially,
Graham Purcell

A Classic Stance

As famous as the Babe himself, his batting stance is like an exclamation point to many a great moment in baseball.

One of the greatest is dramatically presented in a TV public service announcement series, called "Great Moments," currently being shown throughout the country. Produced by U.S. Army Recruiting Service, the film shows Ruth calling his shot in the 1932 World Series against the Chicago Cubs. In response to jeering Cub fans, Ruth, with a count of three and two, defiantly turns to the crowd and points to where he'll hit the next pitch—over the bleachers and out of the park. The jeers turn to a full-throated cheer as the ball sails along the predicted route.

Other "Great Moments" in the Army series include Edison's development of the incandescent lamp, Nathan Hale's defense of freedom, and the California Gold Rush.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McMurtry and daughters of Midland, Tex., spent the weekend here with his mother, Mrs. F. M. McMurtry. Bobby also bowled in the State Tournament at Wichita Falls, while here.
