Babson Asked About Most Important Lesson Learned In His 90 Years

This is my ninetieth birthday and letters have been coming to me from far and wide asking me what are the most important lessons that I have learned during these ninety years.

Importance of Religion and Foolishness of Denominations

The older I grow the more I feel the fundamental need of sound religion, for myself and for those who work with me. Among my employes various nationalities are represented. It has never concerned me in the slightest what a person's background or ancestry might be; but I am interested in what he or she is. And nothing molds character more wisely than deep religious convictions. My personal cook for over 30 years was a Buddhist. My private secretary's father and mother were born in China; but he was born in the Hawaiian Islands, hence is an American—and a very devout Catholic. The keenest financial mind I know is that of a Jewish man.

The head of my organization is an Episcopalian. I myself was brought up a Congregationalist, and eventually became Moderator over 5,000,000 persons. From my relationships with all of these people, I have come to recognize how thin is the barrier that separates many of the denominations and to appreciate the harmony and spirit that links me with those of my co-workers who honor and worship God. As I look back over these associations of many years, I realize that in the realm of religion I apply but one simple test to an individual: Is he or she a praying person?

Value of Education

I have always been a great believer in education as a primary goal for everyone. At the same time, education should make us very humble. One of the finest illustrations of the was my late friend Thomas A. Edison, for whom I did considerable work during my earlier life. Only two weeks before he died he said to me: "Babson we know nothing about nothing!" When I asked Henry Ford his views on education he told me: "Education with courage to act is something to develop. I was not a great inventor and there was nothing so very remarkable about my early cars. In fact, I had little formal education. But I had the courage to break up the basic patents, which I felt were unjust; to reduce the price on my cars (and raise minimum wages to five dollars a day) while my competitors were raising their prices; and to develop the assembly line, which actually constituted the basis of my fortune."

About the time that Mr. Edison and Mr. Ford were working so successfully on their inventions, at a meeting attended by the professors of several colleges it was solemnly agreed that heavier-than-air machines could not be made to fly commercially; that the zeppelin would have to control all-long distance flying. I have the documentary evidence on this in the report on zeppelins prepared by Harry Vissering who brought the first zeppelin to this country. Today, on my ninetieth birthday, I realize that mistakes just as ridiculous are still being taught. From my studies in gravity research I am further convinced that we can never be "sure". We are always in the process of learning.

Importance of Leadership

All of the above has convinced me that everything can be "used" and "abused"; it can be capitalized and produce gain. Some people are natural born leaders; it would be difficult to stop them. Others may have all kinds of degrees from colleges all over the nation and yet not be leaders. School teachers tell me that they can pick out from their primary classes those destined to become leaders when they grow up. Certainly our elementary school system is basically wrong when it groups all students together and treats them the same. As I look back over my ninety years I feel that our educational systems need to undergo some changes. Just now I am reading a book, "The Story of Our Earth," by Richard Carrington. He is an archaeologist who has found the remains of birds, fishes, animals and men who lived 20,000 years ago. This is a truly remarkable book, and makes me feel very humble. Surely this is a world of change; the leaders of every country recognize this and they are the first to make such changes.

My Words Of Advice

On this my ninetieth birthday, I am still receiving very heavy mail and an abundance of friendly birthday cards. To those who desire to live ninety years or more in active good health, I recommend—in addition to those values already mentioned—five other qualifications: 1 Good food; 2) Never getting angry; 3) plenty of exercise; 4) a good doctor; and 5) a masseur.

Observe National Safe Boating Week July 4-10 Says Texas Safety Ass'n

The Texas Safety Association today urged Texas boating enthusiasts to join in observing National Safe Boating Week July 4-10 by brushing up on boating safety.

"Veteran sailors as well as unseasoned salts are often guilty of safety violations," J. O. Musick, TSA General Manager said.

"Safe Boating Week is a good time for all boaters to brush up on safety precautions."

The Association director said that education in the safe equipping and operation of boats is a fundamental necessity in keeping boating fatalities to a minimum.

Across the nation, 1,000 persons were killed and 2,000 were injured in boating accidents during 1964. The National Safety Council has found that most mishaps involved the average boater—the one with the small outboard. Most of them made one or more of the following deadly errors:

(1) No Lifesaving Device.—This is the number one deadly error for boaters. If the hundreds of persons who are thrown or fall overboard every year were wearing lifesaving devices 90 percent of them would survive.

(2) Overloading.—The U. S. Coast Guard has a simple rule: "If the boat looks or feels overloaded, it probably is, so don't take it out."

(3) Overconfidence.—More than 40% of the accidents last year involved operators ages 26 to 50 with more than 500 hours of operating experience. The safe boater, no matter how expert he may be, enters every new situation cautiously and recognizes both his own and the boat's limitations.

(4) Excessive Drinking.—The hazard of drinking and driving belongs to waterways as well as highways. Their judgement impaired, boaters take fantastic chances.

(5) Out In Bad Weather.—Some skippers get caught in storms because they do not keep an eye on changing weather or refuse to come in when threatening clouds appear. Even worse, some set out during bad weather or when it is predicted. All skippers should check the weather forecast before starting out, know where storm warnings are posted, and, most important, always obey them.

(6) Inexperience.—Too many novice sailors jump into their new boats without a whit of knowledge about boat handling. No one should take the helm who has not had lessons in proper boat handling.

(7) Recklessness.—Speeding, sharp turns, and lack of attention all take their death toll. Negligent operation of a boat is inexcusable and illegal.

(8) Carelessness In Maintenance.—The main danger comes from faulty engine and fuel systems, especially in inboard gasoline-run vessels. To make sure your boat is in tip top shape, ask the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary to give it a safety inspection.

(9) Violating Rules of the Road.—Boats are subject to traffic laws that govern such things as yielding right of way, speed and lights. These laws vary according to the body of water—lakes, rivers, oceans. A skipper must know and obey laws applying to the area in which he is operating. It will keep him alive and out of a lawsuit.

(10) Lack Of Common Sense.—The seaman who wants to stay alive knows he can't depend on others to do his thinking; he must take extra precautions just because they're common sense.

MRS. CLIFF CANNON

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety reported today that DPS estimates indicate that 31 persons will die in traffic accidents in Texas during the three day Fourth of July holiday.

Garrison said the estimate was compiled by the DPS statistical Services on the basis of past experience and the present trend of traffic deaths. Last year, 33 persons were killed during the Independence Day holiday.

He said "Operation Motorcade" would be placed into effect from 12:01 a. m. July 2nd through 11:59 p. m. July 4th, in order to focus attention on the added dangers of holiday travel. During this statewide emphasis program, fatalities will be tabulated by the department and the totals will be announced officially three times daily as a means of trying to keep safety uppermost in the minds of the traveling public.

"Over one-third of the deaths during the last Fourth of July holidays were the result of one car accidents," Garrison said. "In this type of accident there is no other guy to blame. It indicates that the most effective work in the drive to cut down on deaths, injuries and economic loss can be done only by the drivers themselves."

As a part of the DPS' operation, which calls for maximum enforcement and public support, additional personnel from other uniformed services of the DPS will augment the regular Highway Patrol force.

Garrison added that numerous agencies, organizations and individuals will help in the coordinated attack on traffic accidents by taking part in "Operation Motorcade." He pointed out that the Texas Council of Safety Supervisors and the Texas Motor Transportation Association will conduct a "Holiday Road Patrol" in which a fleet of 35 to 40 cars will be used over the state to assist stranded motorists and thus help relieve highway patrolmen for enforcement work. The Texas Highway Department will conduct an information and education program instructing drivers on freeway driving and stressing the need for a three dimension focus of attention to the front, rear and sides) in operating a motor vehicle. And the Texas Safety Association will stress the need for courtesy and caution on the highways, coordinate local safety council holiday safety emphasis programs and continue their information program pointing out the need for cooperation with law enforcement officials in order to cut down on the number of traffic deaths.

Mr. and Mrs. George McClarty drove to Amarillo Sunday to visit their son, Dr. Billie George, wife and family. The children, Kim, Mark, Kelley and Karen returned with their grandparents for a trip to Six Flags over Texas on Tuesday.

WHAT PRICE PATRIOTISM?

They were men of means and well educated — yet they signed the Declaration of Independence knowing full well the price they'd pay. What happened to them?

Five signers were captured by the British as traitors and tortured before they died. Twenty had their homes ransacked and burned. Nine of the 56 fought and died of wounds or the hardship of the war.

Carter Braxton, a wealthy trader, saw his ships swept from the seas by the British Navy. He sold his home to pay his debts and died bankrupt.

Thomas McKean was so hounded by the British that he was forced to move his family constantly and to keep in hiding. His possessions were taken and he was reduced to poverty.

British soldiers or vandals looted the properties of William Ellery, George Clymer, Syman Hall, George Walton, Button Gwinnett, Thomas Heyward, Edward Rutledge and Arthur Middleton.

At the Battle of Yorktown, Thomas Nelson Jr., noted that the British General Cornwallis had taken over the Nelson home for his headquarters. Nelson urged General Washington to open fire. The home was destroyed and Nelson died bankrupt.

Francis Lewis had his home and property destroyed. The British jailed his wife and she died within a few months.

John Hart was driven from his wife's bedside as she was dying. Their 13 children fled for their lives. His fields and grist mills were destroyed. For more than a year he lived in forests and caves, returning home after the war to find his wife dead and his children vanished. A few weeks later he died from exhaustion.

Robert Morris and Philip Livingston suffered similar fates. Such are the stories and sacrifices of the American Revolution. These men HAD security, but they valued liberty more.—Sunday News.

What must be a unique survey was recently conducted by Lloyd's Bank of London. It had to do with the use that was made of 100,000 paper clips. It revealed: 14,163 twisted or broken during phone calls; 177,200 used to make temporary clothing repairs; 5,434 as toothpicks, 5,308 to groom fingernails; 3,196 as pipe cleaners; 19,143 as chips in card games; thousands dropped on the floors and swept away. Only 20,000 were used to clip papers together.

A government survey says that railroad capital spending in the first quarter of this year will reach a $1.7 billion annual rate as compared with a $1.4 billion rate in the comparable period of 1964.

The family physician has the key role in the care and treatment of mental retardation — a condition "fully as subtle and complicated as that of open heart surgery or organ transplants" — according to a report from the American Medical Association Conference on Mental Retardation. In terms of magnitude, it points out, mental retardation is the most handicapping of all childhood disorders. Yet perhaps 50 per cent of the cases are preventable.

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

ROGER W. BABSON

WHY SHOULD YOU MAKE A WILL

It is surprising — and even shocking — to realize how many seemingly intelligent people go through life never getting around to making a will. Talk with these people and they will agree with you that they really ought to do something about it. Most of them, in fact will assure you they are going to have their wills drawn... "very soon"—they just haven't had the time.

Delay Is Dangerous

The only reason for anyone to delay making a will appears to be the natural reluctance to face the fact of death. This subject is never a pleasant one but ignoring it doesn't do away with it. Regardless of one's age the unexpected can happen, and tomorrow just may not be soon enough to get to the important business of drawing a will. This is something that should be taken very seriously by young people as well as older ones. Remember that your estate consists of more than your home and surrounding land or other real estate you may own; it includes also your stocks, bonds, savings accounts, automobile, furniture, and all of your personal possessions.

Far too many people put off making a will until it is too late—with the result that their estates are often distributed in whole or in part to persons to whom they never intended to leave anything. As just one instance we cite the case of a friend who was always intending to draw up his will—"next week." Before that next week arrived, however, he was taken suddenly with a heart attack while crossing the street and died without making a will. By order of the probate court, legal notice of his death was published in the papers. More than 30 people appeared from nowhere and made claims as "relatives." Most of these were persons whom neither the deceased nor his family had ever heard of. But soon over 30 lawyers were suing for their clients' "share" in the dead man's estate. Because of the numerous claims in this particular case, each of the 30 or so unknown "relatives" was finally paid a small sum just to get rid of them. The result was that the widow—instead of receiving her full share of the state—found the total had been cut back to the point where she got only half the amount—simply because of her husbands carelessness in not making a will.

Go To A Good Lawyer

In making a will, do not be content to take the advice of your insurance agent, your minister, your doctor, or some friend who may offer to "save you money." Whether you are a man or woman, a teenager or an older person, you should make out and sign a will which has been prepared for you by a good lawyer. Don't try to cut corners on this; the fee you pay him, whether it is $25.00 or $50.00, is the best investment you can make.

It is vitally important to realize that only a professional lawyer—skilled in drawing up wills—knows how to do the right thing by you. Such a lawyer will avoid the pitfalls that some of your well-meaning but less experienced friends might fall into. He will be careful to protect your interests and those of your heirs without taking any undue risks. Be sure to tell your lawyer everything about yourself, what you want to accomplish and how much property you have with which to do it. Don't cover up anything in the mistaken idea that if he lawyer knows how much you really are worth he may overcharge you! Choose your lawyer carefully in the first place, then trust him with the details.

Do It Now

Our main purpose in this column has been to impress on readers the tremendous importance of making a will. The whole subject, however, is much too complex to cover in one short article; hence we plan to follow this up with a few more suggestions next week including codicils. Let us simply close this article with the reminder that our advice to readers to MAKE A WILL applies to all of you. If you have someone you love and want to protect, get started on that protection now!

Lawn disease problems have increased due to heavy rains and cooler weather. Brown patch specimens and leaf spotting organisms have been causing much of the damage.

Brown patch and leaf spotting are both caused by fungi. Lawn control can be most successful when preventive measures are taken against these microbes.

Building up a thatch of fallen grass clippings should be avoided. This material becomes colonized by micro-organisms that may affect the grass under certain environmental conditions.

The grass should be kept in healthy condition by adequate watering and fertilization. Watering should be done early enough in the day to allow the grass to dry by nightfall. A damp condition favors the fungi.

A protective fungicide such as zineb can be applied if leaf spot becomes a problem. It should be used at regular intervals according to the manufacturer's recommendations. If brown patch has been a problem in the past, a fungicide can be applied one to two weeks prior to the usual time it occurs. Terraclor, Actidione R2, Orhot's Lawn Disease Control or other similar materials are recommended for this application.

Some petunia specimens have been affected by a damping-off fungus this year. Damping off is similar to root rot and occurs in young plants.

The micro-organism causing the disease builds up in the soil and can be removed by a soil sterilant type causing such as Vapam or VPM. If no living plants are growing in the beds the soil sterilant can be used to control weed seed, fungi bacteria and nematodes. Seeds or transplants can be replaced in two to three weeks after treatment.

Some material can be applied in the form of a drench around living plants if control measures are preferred after plants are established.

$8.7 Billion Received In Benefits From Health Insurance Last Year

Nearly four out of five Americans have health insurance, and last year these insured persons received $8.7 billion in benefits.

These were the key findings of the Health Insurance Council's 19th annual survey. The Council, in a report issued today, said that at the end of 1964 more than 151 million persons had hospital expense insurance. Of these persons, 93 percent also had surgical expense insurance and 72 percent had regular medical (non-surgical) expense protection.

The Council survey on the extent of voluntary health insurance in the United States is based on reports from insurance companies, government agencies, Blue Cross, Blue Shield, and Medical Society plans. Complete results of the survey will be available soon in booklet form.

The 151,123,000 persons with hospital insurance represent 79 percent of the civilian population. The total is four million higher than in 1963 when, revised figures show, 147,168,000 persons (78 percent) were protected.

Benefit payments in 1964

made by all insuring organizations for hospitals, surgical and medical care totaled $7.7 billion, up $820 million over the 1963 total, the Council reported. In addition, persons with loss of income insurance received $1,012 million in benefits from insurance companies.

The grand total in health insurance benefits came to $8,697,000,000 for 1964, a record high, and an 11.5 per cent increase over the 1963 total of $7,801,000,000.

Council statistics show that growth in coverage and benefits has been considerable over the 1954-64 decade. Fifty million more persons were protected by health insurance at the end of 1964 than in 1954 when 101,493,000 persons were insured. Of this number 84.6 percent also had surgical insurance and 46.6 per cent had regular medical protection. Benefits in 1964 were nearly six billion dollars more than in 1954 when they totaled $2,720,000,000.

NEW FRONTIERS

We are preparing a completely new way of life for our children. Every day we hear talk of rockets and missiles. This is truly the space age. However, history has taught us that man's need for God is ever present, and new frontiers have never changed this.

TAKE YOUR FAMILY TO CHURCH

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

News From The County Agent

The Montague Fruit Field Day will not be held this year due to early hail damage at the station. I talked to Mr. W. A. Randolph his week, and he told me they would still have lots of fruit.

It might be a good idea to give your pecan trees another spray for the pecan nut casebearer due to heavy rains earlier. The second generation of the nut casebearer is showing up in some of our pecan orchards. Anyone of several insecticides may be used: 50 per cent DDT, Sevin, Malathion, Toxaphene or Guthion.

Stock your ponds with whatever kind of fish you like to catch, advises County Agent, B. T. Haws.

If you are a catfisherman only, there is no other reason to stock other species; the same goes for bass or sunfish.

Many sources recommend stocking a forage fish along with large mouth bass. This practice is not necessary in Texas and is even detrimental in some cases. The female bluegill, a forage fish, can spawn as many as four times a year in Texas, resulting in thousands of small bluegills that reach edible size.

If a pond owner desires sun fish in his pond, the most suitable species is the redear. The redear spawns only once a year and thereby lengthens the time before overcrowding occurs.

The pond should always be stocked with fingerlings that are approximately the same size such as those obtained from the state or federal hatcheries.

Applications for stock fish should be made any time. However, fish are delivered only once each year during the summer or early fall.

Pond owners should never "hedge" on the size of the pond in an effort to get more fish. Just as range land has a certain capacity for a specific number of animals, a pond can only support a certain number of pounds of desirable fish.

For more information concerning your pond, Agent Haws suggests Bulletin B-123, "Improve Your Farm Fish Pond," which is available free of charge at his office.

It looks, at the present time, that we will have lots of cotton insects this year. There will be two cotton insect meetings held in the county on Thursday, July 1st. Mr. Emory P. Boring, Area Entomologist from Vernon, will be in charge of the meetings. You are invited to attend one of the following insect meetings: 10:00 a. m. in the Chester Brown home located 1/2 mile north of Valley View, and 2:00 p. m. in the Burkburnett Co-op Gin Office in Burkburnett. Mr. Boring will be able to answer any questions on cotton insects. The General public is invited to attend one of these meetings.

The District 4-H Horse Show will be held in Vernon on July 9-10 at the Santa Rosa Rodeo grounds in Vernon. 18 Wichita County boys and girls will enter horses in the show.

"The old problem of catching more weeds than fish can be remedied if proper practices are followed," adds the county agent.

Weed control should begin at the very start of pond or tank construction. Unwanted weeds are most prevalent in tanks with an excessive amount of shallow water. If the water is shallow enough for sunlight to penetrate to the bottom, then unwanted weeds are sure to grow.

To overcome this problem,

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

In 1951 the Texas Forest Service launched an extensive program in tree improvement research. It was the first Southern state forestry agency to undertake this type of research. Much credit for financing the program is due units of the forest products industry. A laboratory and greenhouse on the campus of Texas A&M University is the operations center for this program.

PUGGY

new tanks should be constructed so that there is very little water with a depth less than three or four feet.

If the pond has already been constructed, two other weed control practices may be used effectively.

One method used to control weeds that grow beneath the surface of the water is proper fertilization. Commercial inorganic fertilizer used to increase fish production can also help keep weeds under control by increasing plankton production. Plankton, a bloom in the water, may retard plant growth by reducing the amount of sunlight that penetrates the water.

However, if these plants are already a problem, chemical herbicides probably offer the most satisfactory means of destroying them. A large number of chemicals herbicides are effective in controlling certain aquatic plants.

Cobland Janlee Lawn Oliver 5018005, a four year old Registered Holstein cow owned by Gene Robertson, Burkburnett has produced a noteworthy record of 14,550 lbs of milk and 522 lbs of butterfat in 305 days.

Texas A and M College supervised the production, weighing, and testing operations, in cooperation with the official breed improvement programs of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

This level of production may be compared to the average U. S. dairy cow's estimated annual output of 7,800 lbs of milk containing 2.6 percent butterfat.

From The Office Of Sen. John Tower

This week, I want to report to you on the new Housing legislation that will soon come before Congress.

I am ranking minority member of the housing subcommittee of the Banking Currency Committee in the Senate. This is the subcommittee that shapes housing legislation in the Senate, and this year the Congress must pass a new housing law, since the old housing act will expire. As the ranking minority member of the subcommittee, I have been particularly active in trying to see that the final bill that is presented to the Senate floor is a reasonable product and one that I can vote for. I must say that I am not completely happy with our labors, and I have not yet made up my mind how I will vote when the bill comes to the Senate floor, probably next week.

Several aspects of the bill, as finally approved by the committee are displeasing to me. In the first place, the bill is extremely costly. It has an estimated cost of $7 billion, not counting the long term cost of some $8 billion for the proposed rent subsidy provision of the bill.

The bill provides a $2.9 billion authorization for urban renewal capital grants, $125 million for urban planning grants, and $210 million for the so-called "open spaces" grants. It provides $400 million for grants for water and sewer facilities, $200 million for neighborhood facilities, and $100 million for the advance acquisition of land.

It provides $188 million for low rent public housing grants. It provides up to $12.5 million for FHA insurance and land development. It gives homeowners in urban renewal areas grants of up to $1,500 to fix their dwelling, if the income is less than $3,000 a year. And it has other features that we do not have time to discuss here.

The rent supplement approach advanced in the bill, as it came to our full committee, is what I objected to most. I am pleased to report that the rent supplement provision was drastically limited in committee, so that, as it now stands, only those of lower income would be eligible. As it started out, the supplementary payments could have gone to persons with a wide range of incomes. It would have worked essentially in this manner: If a tenant met the criteria set forth by the government, one fourth of his rent would be paid by the federal government or more truthfully it would be paid by the taxpayers. Thus, if a qualified person had an income of $4,000 per year, and pays $1,200 in rent, under terms of the rent supplement section of the housing bill, the government would contribute $300 of the $1200. If his income is $6,000, and his rent is $1,800, the government would contribute $450.

The rent supplement program would give the Housing and Home Finance Agency the authority to enter into 40 year contracts with sponsors of rent supplement housing.

I would much prefer that small pilot projects be tried before we commit $8 billion in money that must ultimately be paid for by the taxpayers.

In the beginning of any new program where federal money is involved, there is always going to be a certain amount of confusion and waste. We see this now in the so-called anti-poverty program. We will see it in the rent supplement program, if it is finally enacted. But we ought to keep that confusion, and that waste, to an absolute minimum. Small pilot programs could tell us whether rent subsidies will, in fact, solve some of our housing problems, or whether it might create more problems than it will solve.

The rent subsidy program could, in my estimation, act as a roadblock in the effort to get more Americans into their own homes. I would like to see more Americans become homeowners. I would like to see as few stumbling blocks as possible placed in the path of the potential home owner. I do not believe rent subsidies will encourage home ownership.

I am happy to report, however, that the committee did accept my amendment to allow tenants in public housing projects to purchase the units in which they live. My amendment provides for the utilization of accumulated rent payments, over a three year period, as a down payment on the tenants housing unit. This provides an easy way for the tenant to become a home owner.

As I said before, there is much in the bill than I can support. There are some aspects of it that I cannot support. My final decision will have to await the outcome of floor action in the Senate. It is quite possible that amendments will be offered and adopted that will make the housing bill much more acceptable.

We all recognize the need for assistance in public housing. We all want to see adequate housing for all our citizens. I think most of us recognize the value of home ownership. Home ownership builds stability into a community. It builds stability in the nation as a whole. Because of present day construction costs, it is obvious that many of our citizens do need financial assistance if they are to become homeowners. If governmental action is required to assist in this problem, I am more than willing that this course be taken.

FORD GALAXIE 500
EXTRAS AT NO EXTRA COST:
A great family car, the Galaxie 500 has the same solid construction and spaciousness as XL's and LTD's. You get: A thrifty new 240 cu. in. Big Six (150 hp). Fully synchronized manual transmission. As in all '65 Fords—you get more luggage space than in major competitors' cars.

The Galaxie 500 also shares these standard features with the LTD and XL:

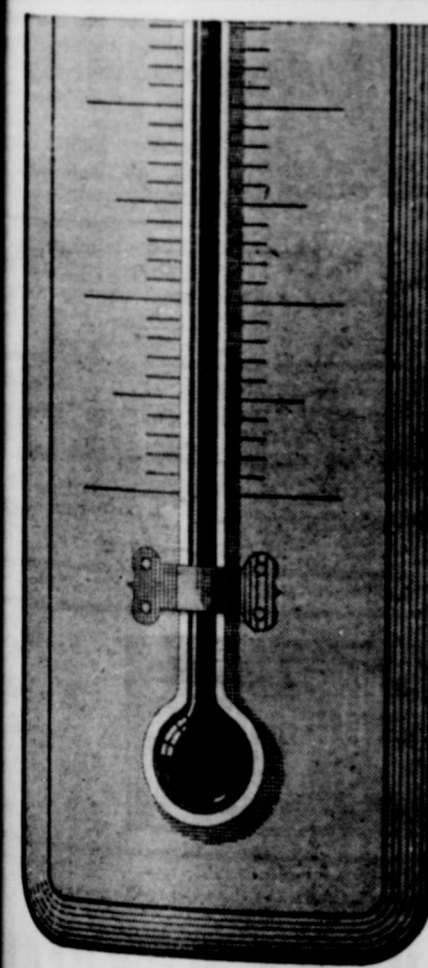

- Electric clock... backup lights. Illuminated glove box and ash tray. Constant-speed electric windshield wipers. Fully aluminum muffer and galvanized underbody members. Handy reversible keys. Keyless door locking. Minimum routine maintenance schedule. Self-adjusting brakes. Long-life battery. Safety-Yoke door latches. Heater-defroster. Front seat belts. And more.

There's no extra charge for any of these features—and no obligation for test-driving any of the hot-selling 17 full-size Fords for '65. Visit your Ford Dealer soon.

Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which 1965 Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, XL and LTD Hardtops) with 289-cu. in. V-8 engines and automatic transmissions rode quieter than a new Rolls-Royce. These tests were certified by the U. S. Auto Club.

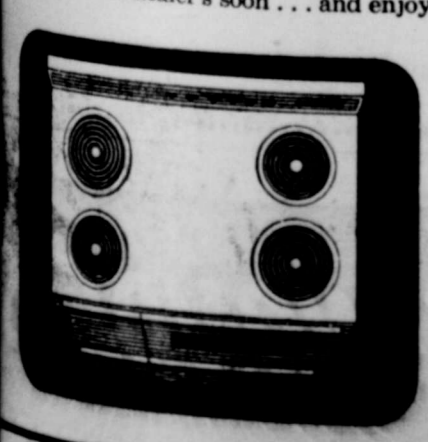

EXTRA SAVINGS

Top all of Ford's extras with even more savings. Right now most Ford Dealers are holding special Summer Sales with excellent buys on a wide range of models. Another saving—the new excise tax cut. Save at your Ford Dealer's soon.

How to keep your kitchen cooler while you're cooking...

COOK FLAMELESS ELECTRIC! With flameless electric cooking, pots and pans sit directly on electric heating elements, and absorb the heat before it can escape to warm up the kitchen. Air circulation isn't needed to support combustion, so flameless electric ovens are fully insulated on all four sides, top and bottom to "lock" cooking heat inside where it's used and wanted. This means your air conditioning equipment will have an easier task... work more efficiently and economically because it doesn't have to overcome heat wasted into the kitchen air by cooking flames. See the new electric ranges at your dealer's soon... and enjoy a cooler kitchen... electrically!
