Ribbon Winning Is Habit For Friberg 4-H Girl

If you're looking for a 15 year old girl who has a proven ability to stick to a project and make it pay off, go out to the Friberg Methodist Church, turn left and then knock at the door of the first house on the left.

Connie Swinford probably will answer the door if she's not busy feeding cattle, sewing on some school clothes or working out a week's menus for her family.

She has been immersed in 4-H club work since she was nine. That was the year she showed her first steer and walked off with the championship at the Fort Worth Stock Show.

"I was sure surprised. I didn't expect to win at all," Connie said. The family dashed home from Fort Worth in time for Connie to get her fourth perfect attendance pin at Thornberry Baptist Sunday School (she has 10 now) Then they packed enough clothes to stay in Fort Worth the rest of the week.

Connie's winning steer was named Silver and he was sold for $6,000. It was quite a wrench for her to part with the animal she had raised from a calf and she tearfully pleaded with her father to buy him for her.

Since then it's been easier to raise and sell the Herefords that have brought her many ribbons and thousands of dollars. Connie can be matter of fact about the animal she now has in the pasture.

"We may sell him or freeze him, I don't know which," she says.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swinford, built a special recessed case in the den of their home to display Connie's ribbons and trophies. It was large enough until lately when it began overflowing. She has won 65 ribbons, 11 banners, 9 trophies, 2 plaques and 15 rosettes which indicate champion or reserve champion status.

In 1962 Connie showed a champion group of three Herefords in the Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston stock shows — a most unusual feat particularly since she chose them from a group of five calves she fed. She sold one animal at both the Fort Worth and San Antonio shows and replaced it with one from the original

J. H. Bentley Children Raise Bumper Cucumber Crop Near Burk Burnett

The six children of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bentley of Rt. One, Burk Burnett, have been busy this summer raising a bumper cucumber crop.

The children, ranging in age from 8 to 17 have done all the work themselves on the 5 acre plot.

They decided to raise cucumbers after reading an ad requesting people in this area to plant this crop for sale to the Best Maid Co., of Fort Worth.

In this, the third week of picking, 8,956 pounds of cucumbers have been sold to the Best Maid Co. They expect to continue harvesting through September.

While one youngster goes home and prepares lunch, the other five continue picking cucumbers.

Diane, Louise, Marian, Jimmy and Johnny are all members of the 4-H Club. Robert, 8, is looking forward to joining as soon as he is old enough.

While the reporter wilted in the hot August sunshine, the Bentley's worked happily and cheerfully together and seemed "cool as cucumbers."

Diane, 17; Louise, 15; Marian, 13; Robert 8, and twins Jimmy and Johnny, 10; are shown above in their cucumber field, south of Burk Burnett.

Lynn Hatcher, 5, was crowned Wee Miss Wichita Falls for 1965. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dean Hatcher, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. Richards of Burk Burnett and Mrs. Flora Hatcher of Randlett, Okla. Friends of Lynn's can see her on television Friday, August 13th at 10:00 a. m. on "Donna's Notebook," on channel 3.

TAX PAUPER

The next time you are pressed to pay a bill and you are reluctant to part with the greenery without a struggle, I suggest you mail this letter along with it, just to show your creditors how difficult it is for you to pay off:

"Dear Sirs: In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to federal laws, state laws, county laws, city laws, corporation laws, liquor laws, motoher-in-laws, sister-in-laws and outlaws.

"Through the laws I am compelled to pay business tax, school tax, gas tax, water tax, sales tax, liquor tax, food tax, furniture tax and excise tax. Even my taxes are taxed.

"I am required to get a business license, car license, truck license, not to mention marriage license, driver's license, dog license and gun license. I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life; to woman's relief, the unemployment relief and the gold digger's relief.

"For my own sake, I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglary insurance, business insurance, earthquake insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment insurance, old age insurance and fire insurance. My business is so governed that it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns it.

"I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, reexamined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire, or home of the human race. If I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down and robbed until I am almost ruined.

"I can tell you honestly that except for the miracle that happened, I could not enclose this check. The wolf that was at my door just came in and had pups in the kitchen. I sold them and here is the money."

THE POWER OF A FLOWER

We don't know if anyone has ever tried to measure it accurately, but it strikes us that the tensile strength of a flower petal is really quite phenomenal. Strong winds may whip them and hard rain drench them, yet when the storm has passed an amazing number of blossoms will have survived to greet the sun. And, as everyone can tell you who has tried to determine their romantic fortunes by plucking a freshly opened daisy, until they are ready to drop of their own accord those delicate filaments cling quite tenaciously to the stem.

There is another kind of durability in a flower which is in some ways more amazing. That is its capacity to impel and impart an enduring sense of tenderness in the human heart.

No doubt the very fact that it must soon wither is an element in a flower's appeal. For this is the way of all living things. Yet the transient blossom reflects the eternal beauty of resurrection in its promise to return again and again in its season.

The lasting tenderness a flower imparts is reflected in the thoughtful way a man removes a faded boutonniere from his buttonhole, the gentleness with which a woman discards a wilted corsage. And this profound influence is most dramatically apparent at funerals—where flowers pay tribute to the departed and provide solace to the bereaved—despite the unthinking disparagement of the tradition among "moderns" who suggest that practicality can somehow take the place of sentiment.

For our own part, we shall have to depend on the flower to speak for us, to say to the friend who always, it seems, takes his leave unexpectedly, the things we should have said when we had the chance.

Max Ascoli writes in The Reporter: "All delusions or illusions to the contrary, the Communist adversary still wishes us ill; his ways of wishing us ill are infinitely varied; ours of responding pitifully few. But the major difference between us still comes from the fact that they are more adroit in the most insidious practices of warfare. That is why President Johnson was so right in Vietnam when he started repaying them in their own coin. We have also had a tendency to interpret the divisiveness in their ranks as being automatically in our favor. Not a single instance has been provided so far that this is so . . ."

THE AMERICAN WAY

How can you master coercion?

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

ROGER W. BABSON
CONSUMER GOODS AND WAR

Since President Johnson gave his talk on the attitudes of our government regarding Vietnam, there has been a general feeling that the public might get excited over a possible shortage of consumer goods and rush to the stores to stock up. This is what happened after the Korean War really got "hot."

Conditions Different Now

When people talk today about possible shortages of consumer goods as a result of war-scared buying, they should remember that the situation is quite different from what it was fifteen years ago. At that time, the country had not made up the big World War II deficiencies in cars and household goods owned by our citizens. So when the Korean War grew in size, men and women who had thought they had plenty of time to replace worn-out refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, radios, etc, panicked and cleaned out merchandisers' shelves.

Now, when we look into our neighbors' homes, we find that the so-called invisible consumer inventories of nearly all kinds of hard and soft goods are close to record levels. And most yards and garages have not just one, but two or more, shiny automobiles. Certainly, even a much bigger war in Vietnam than President Johnson now talks about could hardly bring on a wave of consumer buying like that touched off by the Korean scare.

Merchandisers Should Avoid Panic Stocking

Merchandising methods too have changed markedly since 1950. Huge shopping centers, vast centrally located warehouses, computer-operated inventory-control systems were just on the drafting boards for most store chains when the Korean War broke out. Today such modern merchandising tools are commonplace. Economists have said lately that the new methods of storekeeping have gone a long way toward warding off the old fashioned sequence of boom and bust. Improved warehouse ties—interconnected with all stores, and with a central control by electronic data processing—have made it possible for merchants to avoid overstocking of inventories. By keeping their shelves relatively clear of pile-ups, the need for hasty liquidation of stocks—bringing competition pressure on other merchandisers—has been largely eliminated.

However, regardless of the marvelous new systems of merchandising and inventory control that have been developed, it is not the wires and the computers that operate the vast chains and the beautiful shopping centers. It is the men behind the systems that still "call the shots". If they panic and decide to overstock their warehouses and shelves, we could still have an old fashioned inventory "bust."

Events Hold The Answer

At this moment it seems pretty certain that the war in Vietnam will be greatly stepped up during the months ahead. That should mean a greater emphasis on the production of goods that will be used to advance the war effort. As consumers see production being directed more and more toward the materials of war, they may crowd into the stores to add to their already bulging home inventories.

Nevertheless, we do not believe that any wave of consumer scare buying would last long or be of great size—for the reasons given above. The real danger in any rush to the stores would be its effect on the attitude of the managers of the big chains. If they should "tell" their computers to load up on all kinds of goods, we could see a sharp run-up in prices and a build-up for later trouble. Nor do we believe that a sudden "peace scare" is impossible. The Communists may make moves toward negotiation, if they find their "summer monsoon" offensive has not defeated the South Vietnamese or scared the Americans off. And sudden peace news would immediately halt, any consumer rush to buy goods at climbing prices.

Panic In Consumer Goods Could Result

Indeed, if the merchants should lose their heads in any war scare build-up of inventories, they could be laying the groundwork for later forced liquidation. With the present modern warehousing and electronic control methods, such an overstocking of goods certainly is not necessary. Hence, regardless of developments in the weeks ahead, smart merchants will not "go overboard" in adding to inventories.

After serving as president, John Quincy Adams was elected to the House of Representatives in 1830 and served for 17 years.

F. D. Fleming THE FREE WAY Gripes and Grins

BARRY SUGGESTED IT:
 President Johnson has been severely criticized by clergymen, Communists, liberals and lint-heads for his firm stand in Viet Nam and in the Dominican Republic. But one thing is certain. The rest of the world is becoming aware that, for the first time in many years, the United States has given notice that it doesn't intend to be pushed around. And, come to think of it, isn't the President doing just about what ex-Senator Goldwater has been advocating for a long time?
THE NEW MATH:
 The new farm-owner was chatting with his neighbor across the fence. "You raise some mighty fine crops over there," he said. "Well," replied the neighbor, "the place belongs to my mother, and my brother and I farm it for her on thirds. She gets half the crops, my brother gets a quarter and I get a quarter."
HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF:
 What, Virginia, you thought President Johnson's war on poverty was something new? Oh my, no. No indeed. Back in 1935, we had the WPA. That was short for the Work Progress Administration. It was the biggest and most expensive do-gooder experiment the U. S. had ever undertaken. It lasted about eight years and in that time it spent $10.5 million. That was where men really mastered the art of leaning on their shovels. The "Shovel Brigade," some called it. And talk about inefficiency and feather-bedding! You know, things like having the rock for road ballast broken and tamped by hand instead of by machine. And down in New Orleans, a vermin-eradication project wound up costing $2.97 per rat. In Montgomery, Alabama, it cost $21,093 to erect street signs on street intersections. It cost $78,570 for the rehabilitation of a ditch in Denver, Colorado; and at Bowie, Arizona, they built a swimming pool 50 feet deep. But from the way things are beginning to shape up, that WPA was peanuts compared to what President Johnson's war on poverty will be when it gets going.
WELL, THAT'S BUREAU-CRACY: Interviewing a woman applicant, a Social Security claim representative asked: "Were either you or your husband married before?" The woman glared indignantly at him. "Before what?" she snapped.
THE MORE ABUNDANT LIFE: Relief is gradually becoming an honorable career in America. Its a pretty air life if you have neither conscience nor pride. The politicians will wear over you. The state will give a mother a bonus for her illegitimate children, and if she neglects them sufficiently, she can save enough of her ADC payments to keep herself and her boy friend in wine and gin. Nothing is your fault. And when the city fathers of a harassed community like Newburg suggest that able-bodied welfare clients might sweep the streets, the liberal editorialists arise as one man and denounce them for their medieval cruelty. I don't know how long Americans can stand this erosion of principle.
 Jenkins Lloyd Jones.
ANOTHER DROP OUT: First Student: "If the principal doesn't take back what he said to me today, I'm leaving school." Second Student: "What did he say?" First Student: He said: "You're expelled."
THE CAMPUS FAR LEFT:
 Across the country, a new radical leftist movement is getting a foothold on many a college campus. Leaders of the new young radical left in most cases appear thoroughly un-American, and some of them are Communist, according to J. Edgar Hoover. Fidel Castro is their idol, and their roster of heroes includes Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria, Mao Tse-Tung of Red China, and Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam. This campus far left is using civil rights and the war in South Viet Nam, both highly emotional issues, to snare idealistic, impressionable, and easily-led students. Among the most militant of these Red-tinged groups are the Du Bois Clubs, the Progressive Labor movement, and Students for a Democratic Society. The public in general, and parents in particular, should be fully informed concerning the leadership, the tactics, and the un-American philosophies of these Moscow-inspired outfits. To accomplish this, the pitiless glare of publicity's spotlight should be trained on the whole unsavory mess.

THE COIN CLIPPERS

Among the countless lies the Great Society tells the people is that we have a shortage of silver coins because we have so many coin machines. And so little silver. Actually, we're long on silver and short on integrity. Actually, we have a coin shortage because the silver in a half dollar (the government has already withdrawn silver dollars from circulation) is worth 43.7 cents; the silver in a quarter is worth 21.8 cents, and the dime, 8.72 cents. As inflation continues, the value of the silver in the coin will be worth more than the coin. This history repeats. And our government, crooked as most governments throughout history have been, now contemplates calling in the good silver coins, melting them down and mixing them with nickel, copper, surplus wheat or whatever is available. In the olden days, the Kings clipped the coins and stole theirs that way. So, save your silver coins, boys, some day they may save you from having to take an automobile full of money to town to buy a bottle of milk. The road we're traveling is the road to bankruptcy, runaway inflation and a share-the poverty dictatorship.

Blueprint For Tyranny

Head American comrat Gus Hall, who should be tried, convicted and hung for treason, but who instead spends much of his time speaking on college campuses, said in 1963 in an address to the Political Commission of the Communist Party.

"What is needed is a system of basic Federal laws—that will apply and supersede all state laws... (emphasis ours). Such laws should include:

1. Reapportionment of all electoral districts on the basis of population and a uniform basis for voting and registration in all states.
2. A federal law protecting the rights of labor to organize, to strike and to use its finances and strength in political campaigns.
3. A Federal law that will remove special privileges from monopoly.
4. A Federal law prohibiting discrimination and segregation.

5. A Federal minimum wage law.
6. A uniform Federal system of unemployment insurance, old age benefits and sick benefits.
7. A Federal law restricting the use of city and state police.
8. Federal traffic, tax, marriage and divorce laws.
9. A Federal law establishing uniform standards of education in all states.
10. A Federal law prohibiting the advocacy of war.

The above blueprint for a governmental tyranny is not greatly different from that of the Socialists, the Americans for Democratic Action, CORE, COPE, AFL-CIO and other segments of the Great Society.

Is It Treason?

If and when we find ourselves in an all-out war against the Communists, there will be Civil War in this country and martial law will be declared. There will be many traitors who they are will depend on who is in power. For if it prosper, none dare call it treason."

J. Edgar Hoover, in office and in health, will take care of our comrats, if patriot are in charge. But the greatest menace now and then, is not the comrat but the "liberal" mice who've nested with the comrats all these years; who've promoted and carried out the communist programs; who agree with the goals of the Communists but not with some of their methods.

Are these pinks, do-gooders, and fools guilty of treason? Treason is not at all complicated. It merely involves "giving aid and comfort to the enemy." One merely needs to decide what is aid and comfort and who is the enemy. Q. E. D.

This pint-sized pastry chef points with pride to her first culinary achievement, baked to perfection in an electric oven. Home economists suggest that mothers encourage youngsters to learn cooking as a practical, fun hobby.

Kiddie-Cooks Learn Fast If You Start Them Early

Most kids love to eat. But a surprising number of boys and girls also like to cook.

Home economists have found that students enrolled in elementary school cooking classes often show a facility for learning food preparation. They suggest that with a little help from mom, cooking can become a worthwhile hobby even for pre-teens.

If you plan to introduce your youngsters to cooking, the experts advise that children learn as much from attitudes as from instruction. If you consider cooking a chore, chances are they will, too. If you find it pleasant and interesting, they'll react positively and learn more quickly.

One of the recommended ways to begin is with baking, because that involves fun food like cookies, cupcakes or pizzas. The modern features of an electric oven that simplify cooking for a housewife — automatic heat controls and timing devices, oven accessibility, see-through doors and quick and easy clean-ups — make learning to bake easy and enjoyable for youngsters. For simplified instruction and good recipe books, try one of the new cookbooks for children.

Kiddie-cooks will find range-top cooking equally easy and satisfying. Since automatic ranges eliminate pot-watching and prevent messy burns and boil-overs, children won't consider cooking a chore. But scrambling that first egg or turning the first pancake will be quite a thrill.

If children show an interest in cooking, say the experts, it should be cultivated, not ignored. When a mother is busy or ill, it's helpful to know that one of the youngsters can fill in for her at mealtimes.

Cooking lessons are also an excellent way to teach health and safety habits. They demonstrate that cleanliness is important in food preparation, that neatness and organization aid in kitchen efficiency, and that sharp instruments and hot utensils must be handled with care.

Through cooking, too, children learn the nutritional value of different foods, how to arrange and serve food attractively, and even the basic arithmetic involved in figuring and measuring ingredients.

heats the food... not the kitchen

Every time you cook during hot weather, you'll appreciate the cool comfort of flameless electric cooking. Electric range surface units transfer heat to utensil bottoms by direct metal-to-metal contact, with no intervening air space. Heat goes into the utensils and the food, not into the kitchen air. The flameless electric oven needs no oxygen for combustion, so there's no flow of air through the oven to heat your kitchen. Result: Your kitchen stays degrees cooler when you are cooking hot meals. IDEAS FOR CHILDREN'S ROOMS AT N. Y. WORLD'S FAIR

Highly practical, but imaginative, group of children's rooms is being exhibited by U. S. Rubber Pavilion of American Interiors at the 1965 New York World's Fair. Interior designer Brown, F.A.I.D., was commissioned to design rooms that would solve the most common problems which plague homemakers. These rooms have charm and color. They have lots of built-in space and the materials used are durable and washable!

Mr. Brown, who has teenaged children of his own, declared: "Kids today, like their parents, are more discerning in their selection of furniture and decoration. They deserve more than hand-me-down furnishings. These rooms were designed to be eminently practical, but include uses of color and textures which appeal to today's youngsters."

Fair visitors to the U.S. Rubber exhibit will see Brown's interpretation of the ideal boys' room, designed for two brothers about seven and nine years old. Bold colors — gold, black and green — trim and custom-designed drop shades combine to make the room the envy of any young man. The arrangement of furniture allows for comfortable living as well as sleeping. Bolsters and bunk beds create studio couches for daytime use. A shelf-style desk, covered in washable plastic, gives an uncluttered look. Built-in bookshelves above the desk are attractively lined with the same material.

Visitors to the U.S. Rubber exhibit at the Fair will be able to see, in one location, advanced design ideas, from one of America's top interior designers, come alive with the newest styles and colors of modern materials.

AVOID INJURIES—USE SEAT BELTS

Seat belts are the most effective single item of protective equipment available to the motorists, according to the American Insurance Association.

The Engineering and Safety Department of the American Insurance Association points out that if everyone used seat belts, more than 5,000 lives would be saved each year and injuries would be reduced by one-third.

Seat belts should be used at all times, even on the shortest trips, since most fatal accidents occur at speeds 40 miles per hour and within 25 miles of home, the American Insurance Association said.

Researchers have announced that fishing is one of the very best ways to "clear the cobwebs" from our minds and rid ourselves of work-a-day tensions. Millions of fishermen have known that for years. Fishing means relaxing to most fishermen. Ever notice the contented look on a man's (or woman's) face as he sorts through his tackle box, picking out a favorite ABU-Reflex or other lure?

Some fishermen, though, fall into the unhappy habit of basing a "good day's fishing" on the number of fish they catch. No fish, or only a few, and they are likely to get upset — sometimes downright irritable. These folks are missing most of the fun of fishing — and they certainly aren't relaxing. Catching a "limit" of fish overshadows all thought of getting as much fresh air, sunshine and enjoyment as possible. They overlook the pleasure of making perfect casts with Garcia tackle and the natural beauty of unspoiled surroundings.

Even getting ready for a fishing trip should quicken the pulse, and the anticipation of the out-of-doors should take the mind off everyday problems. Next time you sit down to wind some new Super-Platyl monofilament line on your Mitchell or Ambassador reel, or try some back yard practice casting, consider how you measure your fishing fun.

Fishing is not a competition — even though there are many contests (for youngsters, especially) which emphasize catching a lot of fish. Putting a fish back for the future is lots more rewarding than bringing it home and ending its recreational value forever. Fishermen who develop the reputation for returning some fish to the water never have to "prove" they caught a "limit" by showing a full stringer or creel, either.

Fishing offers something new and a lot of excitement each time you go afield. It offers a real chance to become completely absorbed in the fun at hand, "away from it all." So if the fish are few, remember there's always another day. You're bringing home a revitalized spirit (and probably a big, healthy appetite) every time you go, and that's a full stringer in any man's sport.

Well-designed porch can become family's favorite room all year. Stock awning windows of ponderosa pine keep porch airy in summer (even when it rains) and comfortable in winter (when porch is heated). Low-maintenance floor and furnishings reduce housekeeping chores.

Awning Windows Make A Porch for All Seasons

Selecting the right windows for the right job is half the battle in good porch design.

A thoughtfully designed porch—with versatile windows that provide maximum ventilation — lets a homeowner adapt quickly to the weather changes that can disrupt life on the porch.

Many homeowners have discovered an awning window of ponderosa pine is ideal for an enclosed porch. The window, which is available in stock sizes, is exceptionally easy to open and close, provides maximum ventilation, keeps out rain and assures year-round comfort.

Unlike many window types, awning windows provide 100 percent ventilation. They can also be opened and closed quickly in series simply by turning a rotor handle.

Awning windows were the perfect solution for Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hawkins, who built a porch and patio addition to their New Jersey home overlooking a naturally wooded lot. Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, who had given up their home at the seashore, greatly missed having their own porch. When they decided to build a porch on their house, they wanted one that could be used as an extra room all year.

The porch was added by breaking through a dining room wall that formerly contained a window. Awning wood window units were installed in all three exterior walls of the porch. The walls were paneled with wood.

Ponderosa pine was selected for the windows because the wood is a natural insulating

Smart Money

When you consider it carefully, you'll find Series E Savings Bonds are a very smart place to put your money.

For one thing, they pay you a guaranteed rate of interest—$4 back for every $3 you put in. Which gives you a pretty sound basis for building a future.

Bonds also help make sure you'll have a future in the first place. Because they do a lot to strengthen Uncle Sam's hand in this mixed-up world of ours.

In addition, Bonds are loss-proof: the Treasury Department gives you new ones free if yours should be misplaced, stolen or destroyed. They offer certain tax advantages: you pay no state or local income tax and can defer federal tax until you cash them.

And they convert easily into cash when you need it.

Tens of millions of smart Americans buy Savings Bonds regularly. Do the smart thing and join them.

The U. S. Treasury's newest ambassador!

Mrs. Adaline Lieberg of Pocatello, Idaho, has been chosen "Mrs. U. S. Savings Bonds of 1964." A busy wife and mother of 2 children, Mrs. Lieberg is even busier this year as she tours the country on behalf of U. S. Savings Bonds.

Louise McDonald, David D. Wilson Marry Sun. Aug 8th

The First Methodist Church in Burkburnett was the setting at 3:30 p. m. Sunday for the marriage of Miss Louise Ann McDonald and David Dukes Wilson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin T. McDonald of Burkburnett. She attended East Texas State University.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white satin dress with a jacket of imported French Chantilly lace embroidered with pearls. The motif of lace and pearls was repeated in the skirt which fell into chapel train. Her headpiece of satin, lace and pearls held a veil of illusion and she carried glamelias, French carnations and lilies of the valley on a lace covered Bible.

Maid of honor was Miss Linda Cox of Lake Dallas. Bridesmaids were Miss Sylvia McDonald, Burkburnett, and Miss Pattie Ellen Drake, Wichita, Kans.

They wore street-length blue satin dresses with bell-shaped skirts. Their headpieces were blue satin bows with veils and their bouquets were nosegays of French carnations.

Flower girls were Carolyn Jane McDonald of Burkburnett, the bride's sister and Karen Tidwell of Oklahoma City, the bridegroom's niece.

Glenn Wilson of Gainesville served his brother as best man while the bride's brother, Oliver McDonald of Burkburnett, and Jimmy Creel of Burkburnett were groomsmen.

Music for the ceremony was presented by Mrs. J. B. Riley Jr., soloist, and Mrs. Maxine Creel, organist.

At the reception in fellowship hall the table was covered with blue taffeta and white lace accented by a blue and white arrangement of gladioli in a silver bowl. Refreshments were served by Miss Carol Yarbro and Mrs. Glenn Wilson.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Dukes Wilson, Broken Bow, Okla., the bridegroom's parents; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. McDonald, Wichita, Kans., the bride's grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Curt Tidwell, Oklahoma City, the groom's brother-in-law and sister; and Lt. and Mrs. Thomas McDonald, Ft. Campbell, Ky., the bride's brother and sister-in-law.

Following a honeymoon in South Texas the couple will live in Gainesville where the bridegroom will direct the Junior High School band. He is a graduate of East Texas State University.

It is no Secret...

One of the great joys that children have is in telling a secret. This is one way that secrets have of becoming known.

However IT IS NO SECRET what God can do for you. This was never intended to be a secret, for God wants all to know the good news.

Isaiah said: "The Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings . . . to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord."

Attend church regularly and hear God's word preached.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

From The County Agent
 Stocking rates coupled with good range management practices are keys to efficient ranching. B. T. Hays, county agent, explains that stocking should be based on rainfall and not on erratic and unexceptional conditions are one year out of five or six. With good range management, farmers should pasture during August and again at the end of the growing season to maintain stocking rates. The amount of forage produced in pasture is in proportion to rainfall retained on the land and intensity of grazing. Research reveals that a minimum of 2,000 pounds of plant material per acre is required to reduce soil erosion and maintain soil temperature. In order to keep pastures in a good state of production, Hays recommends that producers adapt a "low base herd" grazing program. In this type program the herd size is maintained so that about three-fourths of the forage is utilized. During good years when excessive forage is available, calves can be kept on pasture longer before going to market or fast gaining high grade stockers may be purchased to utilize extra forage. If drought conditions are encountered the herd can be culled down to the low herd size. When deer and antelope are grazing the area, livestock stocking rates should be adjusted to maintain forage for their use. It is important that livestock and wildlife not be in competition for available forage, Hays says.

Homeowners who find shrubs and ornamentals dying during the warm season may discover a fungal disease at the "root" of their problem. The fungus is known to infect 2,000 species of wild and cultivated plants. There is no satisfactory chemical control for the disease but homeowners are advised to use plants which are resistant to the root rot. Each year animals in the area are lost grazing on sorghums, sundangrass, sudan, sorghum hybrids or Johnsongrass. The cause may be prussic acid poisoning, says the county agent. These grasses contain a glycoside which may break down into prussic acid in the digestive tract of the animal. The poisoning material is most likely to be present in young, immature stands, or in second growth following periods of drought or mechanical harvesting. There is also danger in the fall, following the first frost, reminds Hays. Cattle or more susceptible to the poison than sheep or goats. Horses and swine are rarely injured. An affected animal may stagger and act sleepy before suddenly dropping dead. Severe muscular twitching sometimes occurs. Death results from suffocation, since the poison prevents the exchange of oxygen from the blood to the tissue. A drench of molasses diluted with water may help a poisoned animal, but a veterinarian should be called at once to give additional treatment. To prevent prussic acid poisoning: Do not graze at any time until growth reaches at least 18 inches. Do not graze regrowth that has been stopped by lack of moisture, frosted pastures, or regrowth after a frost. Forage containing prussic acid can be fed safely if it is cut and allowed to cure completely in the field, or if it is put up as silage and not fed for several months. Mature plants with few suckers are seldom dangerous if growth has been normal. Grain sorghum or Sudan stubble regrowth grazed in late fall can be dangerous. A good way to check grazing safely is to turn one or two low grade animals into the field and watch them for a day or two. Be sure water is available to them, or the symptoms may be delayed. If the test animals remain healthy it's probably safe to turn the main herd into the pasture.

what's your LOBBY?
 Peek into a businessman's attache case and you're likely to find a slot racing car. Executives of all ages spend their lunch hours at downtown slot racing tracks and carry their cars along with their business papers. The same men can be found at neighborhood tracks evenings and weekends in hot competition with their sons. Two of the fastest cars on the race tracks as well as the slot racing variety are the Porsche 904 and the Ferrari 275P. Monogram Models, Inc. now offers them in kits in both the popular 1/24 and 1/32 scales. The new 1/24 size Porsche is powered by the big Tiger X-200 motor. The 1/32 Ferrari has the very fast Tiger X-100 power plant. Travel photo tip: Put people in your shots of historic buildings to make your photos come alive. IT'S UP TO YOU
 By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.
 Rigidity vs. Flexibility
 ONE important factor in the maintenance of continuous prosperity is flexibility of prices. We all know that as prices fall, more goods are sold, and conversely as they rise, sales fall off. Rigidity of price tends to produce glut in the market places resulting in unemployment, but if prices are flexible, lower prices will always bring expanding sales and more employment. This principle can be well illustrated by referring to British history a little more than 50 years ago. At that time, labor unions were responsible for helping unemployed members. If unemployment appeared in a given trade, union leaders would carefully consider the price at which the goods were being sold. Often they would say to their employers, "Our products are not selling rapidly enough and some of our members are unemployed. Would there be any way that prices could be reduced so the public would buy more and our men could go back to work." Of course, employers were eager to expand the market so they took great interest in the matter. It often happened that union leaders would agree to a temporary reduction in wages so that prices would be lowered. This resulted in more sales and idle men were returned to their jobs. Conversely, when the entire output of the industry was passing rapidly into consumption, union leaders would say to their employers, "Now it is time for a wage raise. Our product is in demand and selling rapidly. You can afford to pay our men more." Usually, they were successful in obtaining a wage increase. This flexibility in the wage scale making possible price flexibility, resulted in maximum output and employment. A little later, Prime Minister Lloyd George conceived the idea that it would be an excellent thing for government to take over the support of unemployed workers. As soon as that was done, the unions lost interest in the volume of sales, and from that time on, they have never proposed or submitted to a reduction in wages in order to reduce prices and expand sales. Since then, the wage scale has continually risen and, unemployment has become an insoluble problem. Before that, it appeared now and then, but never in severe proportions and it could always be cured by flexibility in the wage price structure. Since the latter became rigid and was frozen in its rising pattern, rigidity was substituted for flexibility and unemployment became chronic. STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Verril Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Gov. John Connally's future plans are the talk of the capital.

On his decision hinges the political future of many Democratic candidates for numerous federal and state offices.

No one in his party wants to run against the popular Democratic party leader and top-vote getter, but there is talk of his possible retirement. This would change the complexion of many races in 1966.

Connally has indicated that he will make his plans known before the General Election in November. This in order that other state political figures, whose moves depend on his, can set their own sails.

In the latter category are Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Atty Gen. Waggoner Carr. Both want to run for governor.

A race by Smith and Carr for the higher office naturally would place their own jobs up for grabs—and plenty of candidates would file for these posts.

Connally says that neither the four year term amendment, which will be voted on November 2nd, nor the possibility of a federal appointment will play a part in his decision whether or not to retire.

Other speculation is that he may run for the U. S. Senate next year against the incumbent Sen. John Tower.

There also is talk that, regardless of Connally's decision, U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough may enter the Governor's race next year. He could do this without relinquishing his present post.

So goes the talk in the state capital where speculation always runs high.

NOT SO BAD—Dr. James Schless, director of the state's TB hospital system, isn't claiming perfection. But he doesn't think the number of persons leaving the hospital against medical advice is alarming.

"We don't bat a thousand," said Schless, "but a layman looking at the figures could easily get the wrong impression."

Figures he referred to reveal that out of the 2,914 persons who left the state's TB hospitals last year, 601 of them left without medical advice.

Dr. Schless says most of those of the 601 were non-contagious. They were cured and they are not a menace to public health. But they left before receiving the 18-24 months of treatment necessary to give them a 98 percent chance of never having TB again.

Those who leave before getting past the contagious stage usually are returned quickly by health authorities. After "going over the hill," such patients usually are quarantined.

ORANGE POLLUTION — State Water Pollution Control Board has asked officials of the City of Orange to try again to get voter approval of a bond issue to provide funds for correcting the city's pollution of the Sabine River.

Orange voter recently turned down a $3,000,000 bond issue by a mere 29 votes. It would have corrected the city's sewer troubles.

Mayor Neil Miller, Jr., admits that the city's sewer system is polluting the river at six points within the city limits. He said the city must submit the matter to voters.

INTERSTATE HIGHWAY — Plans for development of a section of Interstate Highway 10 west of Fort Stockton in Pecos County have been approved by the Texas Highway Commission.

Area extends from 5.9 miles west of Fort Stockton to 7 miles east on the present U. S. 67.

HIGHWAY HEARINGS — Texas Highway Commission, working on its busiest docket in years, heard 19 county delegations request $82,167,010 for highway construction projects.

By far the largest requests came from Dallas and Harris counties.

The Falcon Tourist Route Association gained a generally favorable reaction from the Commission when it asked that a 207 mile route from San Antonio to Zapata be given a single number.

They preferred that it be designated as U. S. 283 or Texas Highway 16. Route through Bexar, Atascosa, McMullen, Duval, Jim Hogg and Zapata counties now has a number of designations.

SALES UP — June retail sales in Texas were up 2 percent over May, reports the University of Texas' Bureau of Business Research. Ordinarily, June sales are down an average of six per cent from May. Bureau's only explanation for the rise was the fact that June was the state's first month of consistently sunny, pleasant shopping weather.

Committee Appointments — Additional interim committees have been named by House Speaker Ben Barnes and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith.

Barnes appointed Reps. Paul Floyd, Wayne Gibbons, Gene Hendryx, George Hinson, Randy Pendleton, Tommy Shannon, Richard Slack, James Slider, Terry Townsend and Ralph Wayne to the Legislative Council.

Smith named Sens. A. M. Aiken, Dorsey Hardeman, Grady Hazelwood and Bill Moore to the Budget Board.

He also appointed: Sens. Tom Creighton, Ralph Hall, Jack Hightower, Abraham Kazen, Jr., and Don Kennard to study elections.

Sens. Criss Cole, Martin Dies, Jr., Bill Patman, Walter Richter and Franklin Spears to study the nursing profession.

Sens. Roy Harrington, Andy Rogers and Pete Snelson to study college faculty compensation.

Texas Tourism Gets New Boost — A Texas movie entitled "TEXAS—Land of Contrasts" soon will be available for showings before civic groups throughout Texas and the nation.

It is a professional job produced within the Texas Highway Department, except for the guest commentator. Its estimated value is $70,000. But the department self-produced it for $9,300.

The 28-minute production was filmed by Hal Stegman. Script was written by Keith Elliott. Dave Smith, Austin public relations executive, is commentator.

More than 100 copies of the color film now are being made by the Department.

In discussing the film Herb Petry, chairman of the Highway Commission, said: "This is Texas as it really is — a Fun-

AUGUST IS DANGER MONTH FOR VACATIONING MOTORISTS

STAY ALERT WITH A LOAD!

REMEMBER—WHEN PULLING A LOADED TRAILER, YOUR CAR TAKES LONGER TO STOP OR ACCELERATE, IS HARDER TO CONTROL. BE SAFE—ADJUST YOUR DRIVING!

More motor vehicle deaths occur in August than in any other month, the American Insurance Association points out.

In 1964, 4,810 persons died in car accidents during August, almost four per cent more than in October, the next most dangerous month for driving.

According to the Association, the high total for August is attributable mainly to the large number of vacationers who take to the roadways during that month. If you plan to be among them, the Association advises, observe all the rules of driving safety and most important of all, don't overload your car or trailer.

Said Tom Taylor, director of the Travel and Information Division, "Texas is so large that to depict its many wondrous attractions in a single 30-minute film is virtually impossible. This therefore, is the first of a series designed to make Texas better known to both residents and outsiders as a recreational center."

First to sign up for a showing was the Texas Press Association. TPA scheduled the film for its 15th Annual Advertising Convention in Galveston on September 11th. Bob Warner, former newspaperman now a Highway Department information officer, will handle the Galveston presentation.

Oil Has Played Major Role in Last Three World Conflicts

Not the petrol," perhaps even Al-berst realized at the simple statement de-claration which would the Axis powers to and hurry the end of World War II—Twenty years ago in 1943 by a German Field Mar-shal Rommel's Afrika Korps explanation for the defeat in El Alamein to be echoed, in Japan many times.

Japan's strategy was predicted on quickly seizing the rich oilfields of the Dutch East Indies, French Indo-China and Burma. To a great degree, this was accomplished by early 1942.

But as the Axis powers' lines of conquest extended, their increasing demands for fuel were harder to meet.

As the Nazis met setbacks in Africa and Russia, Hoge reports: "Romanian oil production was pushed to the limit, and the synthetic fuel program was enlarged — but it was not enough. Hitler was forced to take special measures to conserve fuel, including the cut-back of German bombing raids against Britain."

It was a significant swing. Several months after the Casablanca Conference in 1943, Germany's oil industry was made the No. 2 target of Allied bombers—her aircraft industry was No. 1.

And after the Normandy invasion in 1944, Gen Carl Spaatz issued this directive: "The primary aim of the U. S. Strategic Air Command is now to deny oil to the enemy armed forces."

"When the European war was over," writes Hoge, "the Allies learned how well Spaatz's bomb-ers had accomplished their mission. Nazi leaders told interro-gators of a Germany paralyzed by oil shortages, without fuel to run her air force, armor or transport."

Even at the time of the Nor-mandy invasion, it was learned Nazi oil stocks had been so low that much of their front line transport had depended on horses.

Japan was having similar fuel problems. "As American units recaptured the islands of Southeast Asia," the author re-calls "Japan found herself be-ing cut off from her sources of tin, rubber, and oil."

Hoge terms the recapture of the Philippines the turning point in this battle of supply. After the fall of these islands, what was left of the Imperial Fleet returned to Japan. Left in the South, it could not have been supplied with ammunition; but returned to Japanese water, it could not be refueled.

When the atomic bomb ended the possibility of even one last battle in defense of the homeland, Japan's oil stocks were down to about seven per cent of what they were at the start of the war, Hoge reports.

At war's end, he adds, it was reported that Japan had left only a single tank of aviation fuel.

Neal-Groat Vows Read Friday Aug. 6th In Burk Church

The First Methodist Church in Burk Burnett was the setting for the marriage of Miss Margaret Ellen Groat and Allen Arch Neal Friday night. The Rev. Theo Wright, pastor, was officiant.

Mrs. Dorothy Groat, 1310 8th is the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Neal of Burk Burnett are the bridegroom's parents.

White gladioli, an archway decorated with greenery and candelabra decorated the church.

Mrs. Maxine Creel, organist, and Mrs. Floyd Atherton, vocal-ist, were the musicians.

William D. Groat gave his sister in marriage. She wore a gown fashioned of Chantilly lace with a scalloped, scooped neck-line embroidered with tiny se-quoins. The controlled silhouette skirt had a scalloped hemline. A Dior bow held her full de-tachable train. The bridal bou-quet was of white carnations centered with an orchid. Her veil was of illusion.

Mrs. William Groat was ma-tron of honor. Her pastel blue floor length gown was of peau de soie. Two velvet bows held her veil of blue net and her bouquet was of white car-nations.

Jenn Woods of Burk Burnett was best man and ushers were Leonard Muller of Burk Burnett and Allen Chitum. Candlelight-ers were Mrs. Harvey Roth-rock and Miss Sandra Akridge.

Mrs. Jerry Ayers, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Jean Fowler, Mrs. Allen Chitum and Miss Shannon May were reception assistants. The table was covered with blue satin and white net. White candles and white crepe myrtle were the table decorations. Mrs. Dorothy Groat was hostess for the re-ception, held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride was graduated from Hanford Union High School in Hanford, Calif. She is employed by the Wichita Falls Clinic Hospital. She has attended Bud Hall's Beauty School.

The bridegroom attended Midwestern University and Mur-ray State College. He was grad-uated from Burk Burnett High School and is employed by Southwestern Drug and Shep-pard Exchange.

The couple will live at 1310 8th St., after a wedding trip to Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. William D. Groat, 1713 Deer Parkway, were hosts for the rehearsal buffet Aug. 2nd.

First coeducational college in the U. S. was Oberlin Col-lege founded in 1833 in Ohio.

Some $500,000 worth of chrysanthemums are sold annually in the U. S.
