Postmaster's Mailing Tips Are Offered

"Last Christmas the post office handled more mail than ever before, yet the operation was the most efficient in history," Postmaster W. T. Zimmerman said today.

Nationally about 99 per cent of the Christmas mail reached its destination before Christmas Eve.

"ZIP Code use and the cooperation of the public in mailing early were the main reasons for our success. With the same or better cooperation this year, we expect to handle an even greater volume of mail with less effort than during the 1964 Christmas rush."

The Postmaster had advice which would help mailers prepare for the upcoming mailing season.

A. Up date last year's address list and include ZIP Codes. The phone book is usually a good source for local addresses.

B. Prepare a gift list as soon as possible. Shop early to take advantage of full stocks. Be sure to have on hand enough shipping materials; boxes, tape, wrapping paper, etc.

C. Use first class postage on greeting cards. This assures their being forwarded if the recipient has moved or that undeliverable cards will be returned if a return address is on the envelope.

The postmaster emphasized again this year that poorly wrapped and loosely packed cartons are the major cause of parcel post damage. He urged that cartons be packed tightly by using stuffing material to fill up the empty space around the merchandise. He also asked that all mailers make an effort to address their letters, cards and packages as clearly as possible and that they make every attempt to mail often, not waiting until the last minute to deposit all their gifts and greetings.

Frustrated in their attempt to cop Win No. 8 from the Corpus Christi Volunteers last Nov. 6, the Kings try to get back on the winning trail against the Richardson Rockets here this coming Saturday night at 8 p.m. The Kings ended up on the short end of a 12-0 score at Corpus Christi when only 16 players answered the roll call prior to game time.

In the first meeting between the Rockets and Kings, the home town semi-pro team came out on top by a score of 28 to 18. Since that time the Rockets have won six straight. Richardson has been notoriously evasive as to a rematch with the Kings.

In fact, much of the blame for the topsy-turvy bottom-half of the Kings schedule lies with the Rocket management.

Thus the Kings have a double barreled reason for wanting to beat the Rockets. The Rockets latest victims include a win over the Corpus Christi Volunteers, which should provide some comparison of the Kings current strength.

The Kings have welcomed back several regulars of the past such as: Jim Campbell, Jerome English, Jim Smith, Scott Hodge, who have missed the last three or four games because of various reasons.

The Richardson forward wall is huge and once again the Kings find themselves outweighed.

The game shapes up to be probably one of the best of the year.

THANKSGIVING, 1965

How swiftly the years and seasons pass! That may be the truest of truisms, but it is one that frequently enters the minds of all of us. And, probably, it is felt with the greatest weight each fall and winter, as the holiday season approaches.

Now another Thanksgiving is almost here. This, with the 4th of July, is the most thoroughly American of all our holidays. It celebrates the very beginnings of this nation. And, when properly observed, it honors the courage, skills and dedication of long-gone men and women who faced and conquered dangers and difficulties of an unbelievable scope.

This is a year of plenty. Most dinner tables will be piled high with the traditional Thanksgiving feast. There will be, inevitably, an emphasis on the material aspects of the day. Speakers will dwell on the abundance that is known so generally throughout the land.

But abundance is not enough. The strength of peoples and powers lies in the qualities possessed by those who celebrated the first Thanksgiving—Independence, a profound sense of individual responsibility, a deep spiritual belief, and dedication to freedom for all.

This is what we should remember Thanksgiving day—and every other day of the year.

MULTIPLYING LIKE MICROBES

There seems to be no end to the ambitions of federal agencies to seize more power—frequently at the expense of the authority, responsibility and traditional rights and obligations of state and local governments.

Take, for instance, a recent Washington Merry-Go-Round column carrying the by-line of Jack Anderson. According to it, the Federal Power Commission, with the cooperation of the Office of Emergency Planning, is considering ways and means to eventually regulate gas and electric rates right down to the retail level. Mr. Anderson observed: "My own theory of government evolution is that bureaucrats aren't born but multiply like microbes, spreading wherever resistance is low." He cited the FPC as an example of bureaucratic growth and mentioned that this was "accompanied by a proliferation of paper work."

This report is given a special interest, in that the column has been frequently critical of the efforts of investor-owned utilities to avoid burdensome federal regulations. That aside, it is impossible to see how there can be any conceivable justification for federal regulation of utility rates at retail. Under state regulation, the companies are permitted a rate structure which allows only for the costs of providing service, plus a modest profit—usually about 6 per cent. Service standards are of the highest. And, over the years, electric rates have substantially—and sometimes dramatically declined.

If the states are not to become ciphers, and the people are not to be put at the mercy of vast and faceless Washington bureaucracies, the drive to extend federal authority to every phase and factor of our national life must be curbed.

David Lawrence writes: "We have built space ships that can orbit the earth many times in one day. We have developed person-to-person communication in our everyday life. Why cannot the inventive mind of man find ways to transmit the doctrines of self-discipline and human love from nation to nation?"

The Journal of the American Medical Association says that there may be an increase in influenza this winter and adds that most people can avoid the disease by proper immunization. The forecast is based on the two to three-year periodicity of the disease. The last major outbreaks were in 1962-63, and on the west coast in 1963-64.

Time magazine reports: "At most, there are 600,000 married men with families in the U.S. who can be classed as long-term, hard-core cases of unemployment. Though the commonly cited figure for the jobless is nearly 5,000,000, among them are close to 1,000,000 youths under 24, more than 2,000,000 'short-term' jobless and many others who are seeking only part-time work."

The nation's gas industry will spend $7.5 billion during the next four years on construction of new production, transmission, distribution, storage and general plant facilities. In the 1961-64 period, the outlay was $6.6 billion.

A good listener is not only popular everywhere but after a while he knows something.—Wilson Mizner.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The Morning After

THANKSGIVING, 1965

By Harry Browne

Any schoolboy can tell you that the Thanksgiving celebration is derived from the first Pilgrim feast of thanks.

Forgotten, however, are the reasons WHY the feast was held, WHY the pilgrims first straved and then prospered.

According to Governor Bradford's own log, the first thing they did upon arriving at Plymouth Rock was "to erect ye first house for common use to receive them and their goods." The "common house" kept all the food and production. All property belonged to the people "in common." In other words, the Pilgrims were practicing the communist idea: "From each according to his ability, to each according to his need."

But within three months, half of the Pilgrims had already perished. And after two years of starvation and misery, the Pilgrim leaders decided to adopt the seemingly-heartless policy of making each man fend for himself.

Henceforth, each family would own its own parcel of land—and no one would be responsible for anyone else. PRIVATE PROPERTY had arrived at Plymouth Rock.

Bradford states: "This had very good success; for it made all hands very industrious, so as much more corn was planted than otherwise would have been . . . The women now went willingly into ye field, and took their little-ones with them to set corn, which before would allege weakness and inability."

Now no one had to resent working for others. Each produced to the limit of his ambition and ability — because WHAT HE PRODUCED WAS HIS!

This is perhaps history's most dramatic contrast between private property and communism. The Pilgrims found that it was not the adversities of nature that caused their misery. Their problems stemmed from taking away from a man what he has produced. The Pilgrims had thought that survival was too critical a matter to leave to the free market—and felt it must be controlled in common. As a result, very few survived.

When the Pilgrims discovered the secret of private property, it's no wonder they held a Thanksgiving feast to celebrate the rewards of their discovery.

It's too bad we don't understand the principle as well as they eventually did. Before they realized the source of their problem, they blamed the climate, the adversities of nature. They should have blamed their faulty system.

Today, when a water shortage hits New York City, blame it placed on a slight falloff in rain—rather than recognizing the problem to be the city-owned Water Department. In other words, today's pilgrims set up common ownership and then wonder why it doesn't work.

The coin shortage is blamed on "hoarders", coin collectors, vending machines and parking meters—instead of recognizing that, again, we have mistakenly delegated power to the state to hold "in common."

Such matters as our money, our water, our education and protection are too critical to be given to politicians to play with. They should be turned over to the free market. Then, if one firm falls down on the job, another competitor will be right there to do a better job and gain our patronage.

The Pilgrims found out that common ownership does not work. We're still learning however.

This Thanksgiving Day, give an extra prayer of thanks that your turkey was not raised "in common" by benevolent bureaucrats.

"SERVING BURKBURNETT SINCE 1907"

The trend in home furnishings is towards the deepening shades of early fall. These are the colors that in nature are sharply defined during the spring and summer months, but seem to take on tones of surrounding colors in the lengthening shadows of autumn.

The result is a gold with traces of green or brown; a rust mottled with yellow; and the brilliance of spring green tempered with a fall bronze.

Indoors as well as out, these are the colors that are the easiest to live with all year long. Thanks to modern chemistry these shades can be brought inside the home in carpeting that is as practical as it is pleasing to the eye.

Technical advances in even man-made fibers as Herculon olefin now make it possible to duplicate the new mottled fall shades as well as the still popular sharper spring tones in easy to care for carpeting.

When these fibers were introduced in carpeting a few years ago color choices were limited to the standard blues, greens, golds and beiges. Because olefin fibers are inherently moisture- and dirt-resistant, pastel shades of these colors were added and gained quickly in popularity.

Pale greens, beiges and even white carpets were installed in such unlikely areas as school corridors, hospitals, busy restaurants and apartment building hallways to prove the indestructibility of these Herculon carpet fibers.

Today ingenious homemakers are expressing their delight in the unlimited color choice as well as the durability of these new carpets in installations that include such unlikely areas as kitchens, bathrooms and laundry rooms as well as living rooms, dining rooms and bedrooms.

Patterns range from loop pile to high and low pile combinations, shock and harmonizing tweeds to lush cut pile that simulates more expensive velvet weaving techniques.

In addition to the perfectly blended fall colorings, today's homemaker can choose carpeting that duplicates nature's year 'round palette with bright reds, pale pinks and lavenders, midnight blues and even the grays and blacks of winter.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance 277 Park Ave., N.Y., N.Y., 10017

A. Where I work, the employees pay 50 cents a month for each $1,000 of life insurance under our group plan. What average age does this premium rate cover?

A. Except for very young employees in your group, a premium rate of 50 cents per month does not cover the cost of insuring them. The additional cost is undoubtedly paid by your employer.

Nor is the premium rate for a group life insurance plan computed on the basis of the group's average age. Since mortality rises sharply among older employees, the group premium must be calculated according to the individual ages of all employees in the group. Two groups with the same average age can have entirely different mortality rates.

For example, according to one life insurance table, the mortality rate at age 40 is about 3.53 deaths for every 1,000 policyholders. So, if everyone in a group of 2,000 employees were 40 years old, there would probably be about 7 deaths in the group during the year.

But suppose that half of them were 20 years old and the other half were 60. The average age of the 2,000 employees would still be 40 years, but there would probably be about 22 deaths during the year. That is because, according to the same table, the mortality rate at age 20 is about 1.79 deaths per 1,000 policyholders, while at age 60 it is about 20.34 deaths per 1,000.

The employees' ages are a major factor in computing group premiums, but there are also other factors — including any unusual occupational risks that may be involved in the particular type of business.

Q. Can the beneficiary of a life insurance policy assign his or her rights to someone else while the policyholder is alive?

A. Yes, but such an assignment may have little or no value if the policyholder has reserved the right to change beneficiaries. Even an irrevocable beneficiary's rights may depend on whether he outlives the policyholder.

Health and Safety Tips From AMA

DIABETES

Almost everyone knows something about diabetes. And a lot of what we think we know isn't so.

The experts have estimated that there are more than 1,730,000 known diabetics in the United States, and that there are about 1,426,000 more Americans who have diabetes and don't know it. These figures are plus untold hundreds of thousands more who may develop diabetes if they don't follow a balanced diet, keep their weight down and have periodic physical examinations by their doctors to detect early changes in how their bodies use sugar.

What is diabetes?

It is a disorder in which the body cannot make full use of some of the foods we eat — mainly the carbohydrates or sugars and starches.

Diabetes can be controlled by planned diet, exercises and, in many cases, insulin or oral medication. Well-controlled diabetics can lead active and useful lives.

Most likely candidates for diabetes are overweight persons past the age of 40, particularly those who are related to diabetics, and especially older women.

But diabetes can bit anyone of any age.

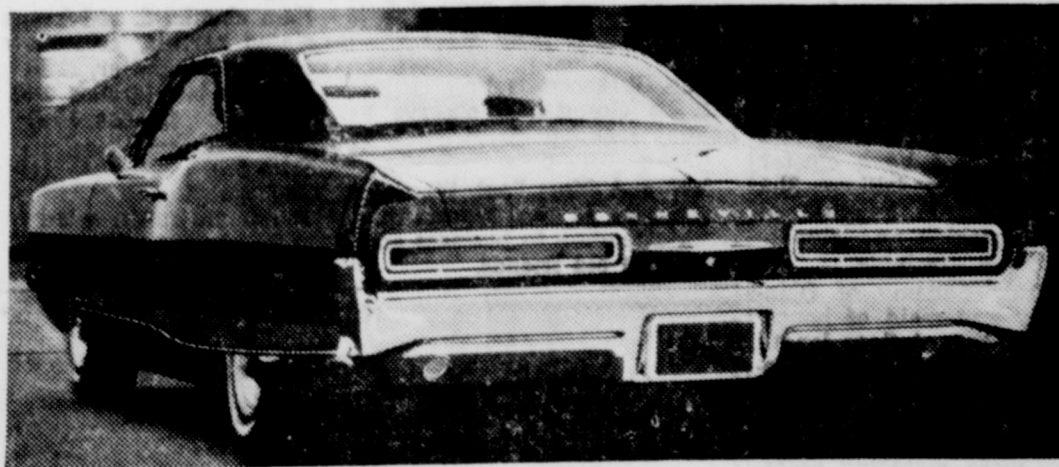

Symptoms in advance cases include increase in thirst, constant hunger, frequent urination, loss of weight, itching, easy tiring, changes in vision and slow healing of cuts and scratches.

To encourage Americans to find out whether they have diabetes, the week of Nov. 14-21 has been named Diabetes Week. To find out whether you have diabetes, visit your doctor and ask to be given a test. Many communities will have special detection programs during the week. Call your county medical society or diabetes organization for information.

"BE YE THANKFUL"

Sometime before the Israelites were to move into Canaan, Moses reminded them not to forget that IT WAS GOD WHO HAD BLESSED THEM by delivering them from bondage, and granting them a home "in the land that floweth with milk and honey." Deuteronomy 6:3; 8:10-20.

For long years the Israelites had wandered through the wilderness, homeless, unsettled, without the peace, contentment, and temporary security of a native land. Perhaps they, as we, looked forward to the land of bliss, free from sorrow. We should never forget God's goodness to His children during the age of Moses, AND WE MAY BE ASSURED OF HIS CONTINUED GOODNESS TO HIS CHILDREN, DURING OUR CHRISTIAN ERA.

The Israelites were sometimes unthankful for God's blessings. LET US NEVER FORGET THAT OUR HEAVENLY FATHER gives us "every good and perfect gift." James 1:17. How abundantly God has blessed us! "Count your many blessings." Then say: "My cup runneth over," Psalm 23:5.

Only those who completely and faithfully obeyed God were permitted to enjoy Canaan's blessings. WON'T YOU FULLY AND STEADFASTLY OBEY GOD, SO THAT YOU MAY ENJOY HEAVEN AND ITS BLESSINGS?

South Vietnamese Refugees Learn To Never Look Back

WHAT LO QUANG RU IS LOOKING AT is a road leading to the South. Her eyes never leave it. The South can mean a home. Lo Quang Ru has none. Her village was sacked by the Viet Cong. Before that, they killed her husband. Every day she and her children walk until they reach the point of exhaustion. Occasionally, they are lucky and find a place to stay, a scrap of food to call a meal. But, more and more frequently they meet only others like themselves—people fleeing desperately for their lives. Along the way, Lo Quang Ru's children witnessed the atrocities of a nightmarish war that seems never to end. To quiet their fears, she tells them never to look back, that up ahead is a world that is good and where there is much to hope for. To fulfill that hope, Catholic Relief Services, the overseas aid agency of American Catholics, operates a network of relief and welfare stations for Vietnam's innocent war-victims. You, too, can help by bringing or sending your serviceable used clothing, shoes and bed linen to the nearest Catholic church during the annual Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign in November.

they were directed to the Haven by a trail of trash. There they found beans cooking over an open fire. A delicious meal of beans, cornbread, pickles, onions and iced tea was served in tin cans from a burlap covered table.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brookman won the terrible dressed contest, their prize being a bar of soap. Carolyn Gray and Gary Bean furnished entertainment for the Hobos. In addition to members and husbands the following guests called at the "Haven" during the evening; Mr. and Mrs. Vester Dixon, Lewis Gray, J. B. Riley, Gad Garland, F. F. Felty and Ted Shelton.

THANKS

I would like to thank this opportunity to say "Thank You" to the member organizations of the Community Council and every citizen in the Burk Burnett area for their participation in the City Clean-Up project sponsored by the Jaycees with the cooperation of all Council members. Joe Salter should be commended for his leadership in organizing such a project, also the City and County for their help. A very special "Thank You" goes to Harry Dodson and LaWanda Henry of the Burk Burnett Star and News, Clarence Bizet of the Wichita Falls Record News and Times, also to Channel 3 TV for their wonderful news coverage. The publicity we received not only stirred up a great deal of enthusiasm among our own citizens but also let the surrounding area know that the citizens of Burk Burnett were working together to perform a difficult task. Never before in the history of Burk Burnett has there been a project which required the cooperation of so many at one time and the response has been tremendous, much more than we had anticipated.

Burk Burnett has just had its face washed and underneath we found some very fine looking people, so again let me say a very special "Thank You" to you all.

LAND OF PLENTY

THANKSGIVING FOR...

- PROSPEROUS NATION
- FOOD
- A STRONG NATION
- FREEDOM OF WORSHIP

Pages could be filled with ways that God has blessed us, and we should be continually thankful for God's goodness. At this time, however, we should pause from our daily workday habits and in unison, give special thanks to God, that we still have freedom of worship.

Attend church this Thanksgiving weekend

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Who Is Sybarite? It Might Be You

One of the biggest questions at the recent National Hair Fashion Show in New York was who (or what) is Sybarite? The two young ladies pictured above tantalized the gathering as they walked in their ancient Greek costumes among the hair stylists. Finally, the sandal-footed daughters of Zeus revealed their secret: Sybarite is a line of hair care products made for the "lover of luxury, of the finest."

The ingenious manufacturer, Royal Beauty Laboratories, Inc., New York, N. Y., researched history books to learn of an ancient Greek City in southern Italy called Sybaris. The inhabitants, Sybarites, were known for their love of luxury and pleasure. As a result of all the curiosity the gals stirred up, hairdressers, who use the new beauty products, are preparing to be besieged by luxury-conscious women who want the "Sybarite" look.

Current Literature Club Met Thursday In Chambers Home

The Current Literature Club met Thursday, November 11, in the home of Mrs. W. W. Chambers, with Mrs. J. S. Vandenberg as co-hostess. The Vice-President Mrs. Hugh Jones, conducted the business meeting in the absence of the President.

Plans were made for gifts to be taken to the Retarded Children's school and to the State Hospital. A report was given on the Ben-fit Buffet and Style Show. The proceeds will go to the Library Fund and local club projects. Gifts are sent each month to the Therapy Ward of Sheppard Air Force Base Hospital.

Mrs. G. C. Gresham was nominated as Poet Laureate of the club.

Mrs. W. C. Vann, Education Chairman introduced the program "Too Late for Tomorrow", stressing the seven stages in the span of a woman's life and learning as: Babyhood, kindergarten, grade school, high school, college, adulthood and the golden years. Mrs. Leo Foster brought a part on "The Classroom," bringing out the fact that a person never gets too old to learn. Mrs. Hugh Jones spoke on "Extension Programs" and the opportunities women have to further their education through the ESO Program of General Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Joe Salter spoke on Arts and Crafts, stressing the fact that everyone has some kind of talent, and that one hour daily spent in developing that talent,

BAIT FOR MUDDY WATER
Many bass fishermen fold up their tackle and quit fishing when the water gets muddy. Fish can't see the bait, they say. True, but when muddy conditions exist, try out your noisy surface lures. The bass may not be able to see your bait, but they sure as heck respond to the racket that a surface lure kicks up.

Veterans News

A reminder that only six months remain to obtain the newly re-opened National Service Life Insurance was made today by Jack Coker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco.

This insurance is being offered those veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict who either failed to take out the insurance originally or allowed it to lapse in whole or in part.

Deadline for the sale of the new GI policies in midnight, May 2, 1966.

The eligible veteran must have a service-connected disability or a nonservice-connected disability so severe that he cannot purchase commercial insurance at the highest rates, Coker said.

News of St. John The Divine

A Rummage and Garage Sale will be held by the Women of the Episcopal Church of St. John the Divine November 19 and 20 at 705 S. Barry St. during the hours of 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The women and friends of St. John the Divine are busily collecting clothing, furniture and dishes for sale.

The Women of St. John the Divine met November 8th after the 7 p.m. Holy Communion service. Mrs. Joyce Etheridge showed slides on the results of United Thanks Offering grants in Central America, Puerto Rico, Dominican Republic and the Virgin Islands. The Women voted to give all the proceeds from the Rummage and Garage Sale to the fund established to carpet the sanctuary. The members of the church are hoping to have the carpet installed by Christmas Eve Midnight Service. Final plans were made for the General Fall Clean-up on November 12 and 13th for the rummage sale. A request was made by Mrs. Joyce Etheridge that everyone bring fruit and vegetables to the Church Wednesday evening, November 24th to decorate the Church for the Harvest Festival and Thanksgiving service to be held Thanksgiving Day.
