The High School Speech Department is trying for a new start this year of 1966. We hope to be the biggest and best club in Burk. To start the New Year off, we are going to sell some wonderful, practical and patriotic pillows with the traditional colors of orange and black. There are two sizes of pillows. One size is a throw pillow and the other size is a stadium pillow. The pillows will be put on sale starting January third. Everyone in Burk should have one of these pillows to show their support for Burk High. The proceeds from the sale of the pillows will go for the speech trips to distant cities such as the one to Jesuit the last of January.

We, the speech class of Burk High, appreciate your support in the past and we are hoping to have your support in the future.

ODE TO BURKBURNETT

By Joy Gresham Hagstrom
POET LAUREATE OF THE TEXAS' FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

There is a special liveliness That dwells within the heart Of Burk Burnett, for everyone Desires to do his part.

The people wearing friendly smiles Possess the common aim Of bettering the little town, And honoring her name.

Progressive leaders forge ahead To fill tomorrow's needs, By urging all to higher goals Through noble words and deeds.

There is a park where folks relax Beside the swimming pool, For they discerned that idleness Is surely Satan's tool.

A library will rise to hold A written treasure store, For they discerned that idleness Is something to deplore.

The Federated Study Clubs Will never pause or fret, Till all the finer things of life Are brought to Burk Burnett.

Play Day Is Set For January 9 By Riding Club

The first meeting of the 1966 season of the Burk Riding Club was held Tuesday evening under the leadership of the new President, Stanley Cornstubble in the Community Room of the Burk Burnett Bank.

Following the business session, decision was made to present trophies to the six high point winners of the Play Days to be held during 1966.

The first Play Day of the year will be held Sunday, January 9th at the Riding Club arena. Ribbons will be presented to the 3 top winners in each class, boys and girls in Pee Wee, Junior and Senior Divisions. There are eight events each Play Day and everyone who is interested may participate. A small entry fee of 25c per event is charged. Spectators are not charged.

We are hoping for a big turnout, weather permitting. Soft drinks and candy will be available at the concession stand.

Postal Receipts Here Increase

Postmaster W. T. Zimmerman announces that the Burk Burnett Post Office continues to experience a healthy growth in receipts and volume of mail handled.

He is happy to say that there was approximately a 10% increase in the last quarter of 1965 over the same period a year ago; and approximately a 5% increase of first half of Fiscal Year, 1966 over first half of Fiscal year 1965.

This increase certainly indicates a healthy growth in the economy of the area served by this office.

This increase in volume was handled by your Postal employees without any appreciable increase in manhours, resulting in a savings to your Post Office Department.

Your Postal employees will continue to strive to give you the maximum quality service possible at the minimum cost.

basic intent of the Federal Reserve Act would be destroyed. Even more important, the U.S., in the eyes of the Free World, would be viewed as an irresponsible inflationist. The impact on the dollar and on our prestige worldwide could be disastrous.

Not Without Hope

One of the first and truly biggest jobs for the U.S. today is to contain the Red tide in Asia. War's escalation could bring huge demands for financing our effort there. The interest rate on U.S. bonds must be high enough to attract buyers. The Fed's action in hiking rates may accomplish just that. And, in the long run, if more costly interest keeps prosperity from spinning off course, the price will be a small one. But we must not forget that three decades ago an aroused people beat back a move to pack the Supreme Court. If a packing in the Reserve Board becomes an issue in the months ahead, we can again have real hope that the public will rise to the defense of the independence of our money and credit "watchdogs."

EXPLORING NEW WORLDS

When it comes to pioneering, the oil industry need take second place to none.

Consider, for instance, a remarkable ship that is now at work several miles at sea off Santa Barbara, California.

It is the largest center-well, hull-type drilling vessel in the world — 365 feet long by 75 feet wide. It's diesel electric engines produce 6,800 horse power. And all of that muscle is for work alone — the ship must be towed into position.

The derrick is 151 feet high and has a capacity of nearly a million and a half pounds. As of now, the drilling in search of undersea oil is taking place at 600 feet and still deeper waters may be explored later. Almost incredibly complex controls make the operation possible. Just about every tool and technique used is new and is being tested against the sea.

Sixty men can live aboard in complete comfort. A platform provides a landing place for helicopters that bring men and emergency supplies in a few minutes from shore bases. Heavy supplies are brought by barges and boats, while fast speedboats transfer crews which reserves for the future.

This dramatic and expensive operation goes on in an area which is as yet unproven. And the reason for it is that oilmen believe — and hope — that there are vast quantities of oil somewhere within the far ranges of the Pacific Coast undersea shelf. Their jobs is to try to find it. They are true pioneers — explorers of strange worlds that are new to man, under the seas and in the far corners of the earth. It is just part of their constant search and research that maintain our current oil supplies and reserves for the future.

THE DAY OF RECKONING

Probably comparatively few of us realize the extent to which federal spending and debt have risen in a very few years.

The publication Washington Report tells the story briefly. In 1963, appropriations were $1.2 billion greater than in 1962. In 1964, they were $3.4 billion greater. And in 1965, they were up $16.7 billion over the 1962 figure.

The national debt followed this trend. In 1963, it rose $7.9 billion over the 1962 level. In 1964, it was $13.9 billion above that level. And in 1965, it was higher by a staggering $19 billion. Just the cost of interest in 1964 on the existing debt was $11.6 billion.

Moreover, as Washington Report observes, new programs enacted this year will generate calls for even larger appropriations in 1966. And it is the general rule that estimates of the ultimate cost of such programs are commonly too low.

A family or a business that continually spends more than it earns winds up in the bankruptcy court. Government, with its power to tax and appropriate and defer, can last a long time before the day of reckoning must be faced. But can it last indefinitely?

MUCH MALICE — NO LOGIC

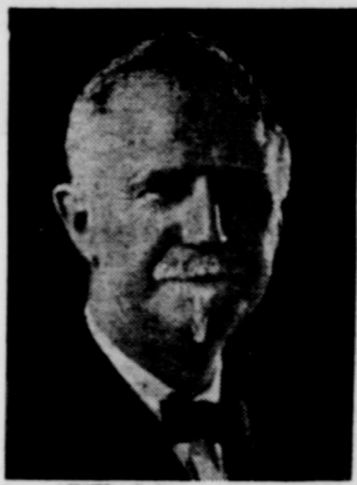

Some public power patisians seem to be attempting to make hay out of the blackout that struck the Northeast at short time ago.

There is much malice in that effort — and no logic. To begin with, the failure began in a huge government-owned system in Canada and spread from there to United States' systems. It simply demonstrated that things can go wrong with just about anything devised by the mind of man, no matter how great the precautions.

Socialized power is just as susceptible to trouble as any other. England, where all power service is provided by a state monopoly, provides an example. When the first cold snap hit in mid-November, the system just couldn't handle the load. Voltage was lowered and service entirely cut off in some parts of London. According to reports, the government planners had not expanded generating capacity fast enough to meet growing demand. The industry was still conducting its "summer" overhaul of generators — which added to the power shortage. Ironically, they had been conducting an extensive advertising campaign to increase electric use. That has been halted.

The blackout in the Northeast is the subject of the most intensive possible study by experts from the investor-owned utilities and interested government agencies. Every possible step will be taken to prevent a recurrence there or elsewhere. And the old public versus private power controversy has nothing whatsoever to do with it.

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

RIISING MONEY RATES

Babson Park, Mass., January 6 — Everybody wants money. Businessmen are borrowing it. So are house owners, consumers, towns, and speculators in common stocks and real estate. Bank loans to business have climbed 20% in the most recent twelve-month period. Just how rapid a rush into debt this is can be measured by contrasting the 7% to 10% advances in commercial loans that took place in the three prior years.

Swamped In A Sea Of Debt
Everybody is in favor of prosperity. As Al Smith once so aptly put it, nobody wants to "shoot Santa Claus". It is widely understood today that without abundant money supplies made available through borrowings, the business boom of recent years would run out of steam and grind to a halt.

But, unfortunately, it is not so widely understood that money supply created by borrowing means that for every dollar of loan there must be an offsetting dollar of debt. Debt which must one day be repaid. Furthermore, history clearly shows that the gravest economic difficulties beset the businessman and consumer alike when credit (debt) becomes overextended. Any upset to the economy could start a rush for the liquidation doors. And a prosperity that was floating along merrily on a tide of credit suddenly would become swamped in a sea of debt.

Battle Of The Rate

That is what the U.S. money managers were worrying about when they hiked the rediscount rate from 4% to 4½% on December 3. For some time, debt had been expanding more rapidly than the output of our economy. The Federal Reserve Board is charged by a law that was written over a half century ago with the duty of providing business with sufficient credit to meet legitimate needs for growth . . . but not so much as to touch off a runaway inflationary boom.

But human nature hasn't changed. Just as in the late 19th Century—in the days of William Jennings Bryan who visualized the "hard money" men of that era as crucifying the nation on a "cross of gold" — the "easy money" men of today sprang immediately to attack the Conservative Members of the Federal Reserve Board as foes of the "little man" and as "boom killers."

Real Danger

To understand why the money managers acted contrary to the expressed point of view of the President and of many congressmen, one should scan the history of U.S. banking. We started well enough with a federal central bank; but the great populist, Andrew Jackson, soon returned banking to "the people", in the form of state banks. The record of boom and bust was so notorious that a National Banking System was voted in 1863. This too saw a succession of credit expansions and disastrous debt contractions. Finally, the Federal Reserve Act set up the present system providing that the governing board be independent of political influence. Hence, if any Administration should "pack" the Board with "easy-money" governors, the

News From The County Agent

Wichita County stockmen were today advised to be on the lookout for the annual invasion of lice on their livestock. These pests can take a real bite out of profits unless they are controlled, says County Agent B. T. Haws.

He suggests that livestock producers get a copy of Extension publication MP-691, "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry."

Haws says the publication is "chuck-full" of information on insecticides formulations and how to use them in controlling flies, lice, mites, ticks, fleas and cattle grubs. It contains a dilution chart for mixing sprays and dips and outlines control programs for beef animals and non-lactating dairy cattle, dairy animals, sheep and goats, swine, horses and poultry. The bulletin also offers suggestions for controlling house and stable flies.

To get a head start on lice this fall and winter, Haws suggests starting a sound program now. The above bulletin is a good guide for such a program and is available without cost from his office.

The time of the year to have calves dropped depends on local feed, labor and climate, says County Agent B. T. Haws.

Producers should have their cows drop calves as early as conditions here in Wichita County will allow. Some cattlemen prefer to time breeding so the cow will drop their calves in the spring of the year.

This practice has several advantages and disadvantages, some advantages are:

Cows are in good shape for breeding due to abundance of early spring feed.

Dry, pregnant cows winter with less feed expense than cows with calves at side. There is little trouble at calving time due to an abundance of feed.

Calves may be held over to clean up stubble fields and other cheap roughages, then sold the following year.

Some disadvantages are:

Milk flow is stimulated to the extent that calves cannot take care of all the milk from the cows. This causes extra labor in milking the cows or risking spoiled udders.

Many scours develop. At about the time the calves get old enough to consume all the milk, dry weather begins and the milk flow decreases. As

Spoiling the Customer with "Service"

Like proud but indulging grandparents, the captains of American industry are spoiling today's consumer. They learned long ago that the synonym for "success" is "pamper" and for "growth" it is "coddle." Of course, another name for this indulgence, and perhaps the more proper one, is "service."

No one is benefiting more from this attitude than the American consumer. The lady of the house has only to hint that she would like another dial on her dishwasher and presto, she will get three. She has asked for, and gotten, ovens that clean themselves, teeth that get brushed automatically, and breakfast cereals that do all but play a tune.

Even the world of investment has shared in this era of emphasized "service." For example, the mutual fund industry was founded on a simple, unadorned principle, but its expansion has been predicated largely on giving the investor many unique services not readily available in other investment media.

As a result, the growth of the list of services available to a mutual fund shareholder, according to the Investment Company Institute, has kept pace with the rapid growth of the industry itself—from 1 million shareholders with assets of $7.5 billion in 1955 to 3.5 million and $32 billion today.

Satisfying the shareholders' wants began with the very concept of the fund idea: diversification of investment and continuous professional management, linked to immediate redeemability.

Since that time many other services have been added. These include the systematic accumulation plan which allows the investor to invest moderate sums of money (as little as $25) on a periodic basis; the withdrawal plan which allows the investor to withdraw money from his investment to help supplement current income; the automatic reinvestment of income and capital gains distributions, and assistance in tax reporting since the shareholder is advised of the federal tax status of his distributions from the fund.

a result, calves do not continue to develop rapidly.

There usually are more flies, lice, ticks and screwworms in the spring and summer.

But regardless of the season when calves are dropped, it is advisable to keep the cow herd in good thrifty condition to produce thrifty calves, concludes Haws.

COLD NOSE IS OFTEN NATURAL

The belief is almost universal that a warm, dry nose on a dog indicates that the animal is sick. However, unless this dry condition continues for several days, there probably is nothing to worry about.

Short intervals of dry hotness can merely indicate that the nose glands that regulate the moist discharge are only temporarily off the job.

MY NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

By Harry Browne

As I sat down last night for the difficult annual task of preparing my New Year's resolutions, I was determined to make the job easier and more realistic.

Last year, for example, it was only 28 minutes after midnight before the resolutions began to tumble, one by one.

After much soul-searching, I decided that this year things would be different. I would throw tradition and "morals" to the wind and decide upon only one resolution—and a very selfish one at that. Confident that this is one resolution I can keep, I lettered it out boldly on a large piece of paper.

I resolve to pursue my own self-interest as effectively as possible in everything I do!

There. It's done. No more kidding around with a lot of fancy ideals that can't be lived up to. From now on, I'm all for myself.

So now that my resolution is written, I must set about to implement it. Now, how am I going to effectively pursue my own self-interest?

To Start With . . . Let's see . . . where do I begin? There are lots of things I want in this world to satisfy my own self-interest. But I obviously cannot build new cars, a beautiful home, and everything else I want with my own two hands. That means I'm going to have to use the fruits of other people's labor and capital and talent and effort.

Obviously, those other people are just as concerned about their own happiness as I am about mine. So how am I going to get them to expend themselves on my behalf? . . . Hm . . .

I could let them build the various properties and then steal from them. . . . No, that's no good. Then I'd spend the rest of my life in fear of their getting their property back from me.

I could get subsidies from the government. . . . No, that's no good either. If I do that, from any agency of government, I'll have to abide by its rules and I'll lose the opportunity to enjoy my life the way I want to. . . . Hm . . .

I guess there's only one course of action that will truly be effective in pursuing my own self-interest. I'll have to offer individuals something in return for the things I want from them.

To Accomplish . . .

This means that I must be respectful of their wishes, their desires, their feelings. For, if I am, I can find out precisely what they want and what they are willing to give up in return. Then I can make mutually-profitable exchanges with them to secure what I want to pursue my self-interest.

It means I must not lie—for only by being truly honest with myself and others do I have any chance of earning their respect in order to do business with them.

It means I must not steal—for that would put my whole life in jeopardy for a few moment's pleasure. . . . obviously not in my self-interest.

It means I must do everything possible to help others make a profit so they will respect me, so they will pay me, so they will help me pursue my self-interest.

You know, it looks like this resolution is turning out to be something a little different from what was intended.

But, you know something else, I think this year I've got more of a chance of keeping it and making something out of it. For this year's one resolution has more realism attached to it than all the hundreds of un-kept resolutions of years gone by.

I resolve to pursue my own self-interest as effectively as possible in everything I do!

Yes sir . . .

Horse Sense—and the Mustang Six

I don't know much about engines.

If mine's smooth, powerful and gives great gas mileage, I'm satisfied.

That's why I got a Mustang Six.

You don't have to be an engineer to appreciate the Mustang Six. Just get comfortable in one of those deep-foam bucket seats, fire up that husky 200-cu. in. powerplant . . . and let yourself go.

Nor do you have to be an investment banker to realize you've made a great buy. Standard Mustang Six luxury includes: all vinyl upholstery; plush wall-to-wall carpeting; padded instrument panel and many other extras at no extra cost.

Sound sweet? Mustang makes lots of nice sounds. Optional stereo-sonic tape is one. Another is the jingling in your pocket, thanks to Mustang's meager appetite for gasoline.

Ten New Auto Accessories For 1966 Are Listed

Many new automobile accessories have been revealed recently. Accessories for the car can be as personal or impersonal as you please, seasonal or usable all year-round, exclusively for an automobile trip or helpful however you may travel. Here's a modest roundup. All of them are in the moderate price range.

"Mr. Sandbag."—It dispenses the sand so needed to give traction when the car is stuck in a rut or snowbank. Dustproof and waterproof, it's made of yellow vinyl, with a heavy-duty zipper that opens all the way for easy filling. Partly unzipped, the bag forms a convenient pouring spout.

Auto Vacuum Brush—Mounted on a gun-type handle, it plugs into the cigarette lighter and reaches where regular-size vacuums can't. It has a 10-foot cord and—useful in cleaning the darker corners—a built-in flashlight.

Car Shelves—This organizer divides the glove compartment into six cubbyholes, giving such items as maps, handbooks, and sunglasses their own made-to-fit slots. Made of molded styrene, it fits all cars.

Traction Treads—Placed under tires, these 2"x4" grippers help the car get up and out of snow, mud, sand or loose gravel. Made of heavy-duty copper-and-steel, they're rust-guarded to last for several years.

Map-Meter—This pocket-sized accessory is designed to add accuracy to trip planning and scheduling. It rolls across a map, tracing a route from departure point to destination and registering the exact total mileage on its open-faced dial.

Electric Vacuum Clothes Brush—It looks and works like a miniature vacuum cleaner, pulling dust and lint into its small detachable bag. Operated by flashlight batteries, it fits easily in the palm of the hand—or a corner of a suitcase.

Flashlight-in-the-Round—It's small (3 inches in diameter), but it throws a bright, sharp beam. Fashioned of gold leatherette, it fits in pocket, purse or glove compartment. It's hermetically sealed and it operates without bulbs or batteries.

Defroster Gun—Its radiant-heated air streams clear windshield quickly—front and rear.

It plugs into the cigarette lighter, operates by push-button control, and cuts through ice, snow, steam or sleet.

Fog Mit—Chemically treated, it slips on the hand like a mitten. After a few swipes with it, the inside of the windshield won't steam or fog for weeks. Its binding is luminous so the mit can slip over the car's rear bumper to help signal an emergency stop. As a household item, it's good for cleaning mirrors.

For the motorist and the car that really do have everything—a Mink-Coat Key Case. It's a real mink, felt-lined miniature fur coat that folds around a set of keys. It has four key-hooks and an inside ID label that reads, "This coat custom tailored for _____." It comes in leopard, too, with a real-mink collar.

Where and how do you get these new items? Look for them at your service station or auto accessory store, or write Women's Representative, American Oil Company, 910 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, for further information.

Technical Sergeant John Emmons Is Chosen Airman Of The Year

SHEPPARD AFB — Technical Sergeant John W. Emmons was chosen Outstanding Airman of the Year at Sheppard Technical Training Center and will represent the Center in competition with all other Air Training Command installations for the honor of representing the Command at the Air Force Association convention in Dallas, March 23-25. The sergeant, noncommissioned officer in charge of the Sheppard Technical Training Center Small Arms Range, Ground Training Division, 3750th Air Base Group, was selected for this honor by a board of officers at the Center. During the past year 94.1 per cent of base personnel using either the carbine or .38 caliber revolver qualified. This is the second highest qualification rate ever achieved at this base; the highest was in 1964 with a percentage rate of 96.5, which was also achieved under Sergeant Emmons' supervision. In this same period, through the efforts of Sergeant Emmons, several improvements in the range facility were made. These included installation of an adequate heating system in the office building, construction of a roof over the rifle and pistol ranges, renovation of some buildings and construction of two new ones from materials obtained through Redistribution and Marketing. When the sergeant began his assignment at the range in February, 1963, it was unsatisfactory in ATC inspection; but in inspections dated Feb. 15, 1964, and Oct. 25, 1965, the ratings were outstanding.

During his tenure at the range, he has achieved a perfect range safety record. He conducts safety briefings there and enforces strict adherence to the safe range procedures. All personnel firing for record are thoroughly briefed on the handling of loaded weapons and safety while firing.

He has qualified for the Sheppard pistol team, and participates as a member of the team during his off-duty time. The energetic sergeant has assisted the various law enforcement agencies within the Wichita Falls area in the Small Arms qualification of their personnel. This is invaluable because many of these agencies do not have adequate facilities. He also has been asked by the Wichita Falls Police Department to serve as technical advisor in planning and constructing their new firing range.

In his off-duty time, he has participated in the Wichita Falls Boys Club as assistant coach to a baseball and football team. These boys were between 8 and 13 years of age.

During the past 12 months he has completed an Extension Course Institute course, Management for Air Force Supervisors and a Group Study Course in Introductory Social Studies.

Sergeant Emmons received his high school diploma through General Education Development Program at Deering High School in Deering, Mo.

Both Sergeant Emmons and his wife participate in the Parent-Teacher Association and are active members of the West Side Baptist Church, and the base chapel activities.

Prior to his assignment at Sheppard Technical Training Center, Sergeant Emmons completed tours of duty at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala.; Davis-Monthan AFB, Tucson, Ariz.; and Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. Other duty completed included tours in the Pacific and China during World War II, Germany and Korea. Sergeant Emmons, his wife, and five children, John Jr., Michael, Robert, Steven and Sharon, reside at 124B Century Street in Capehart Housing. Both the sergeant and Mrs. Emmons, the former Miss Nelda Doss, are natives of Sheffield, Ala.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Man's first reactions to another is based on outward appearances, and only time will help him to know the heart of another. God knows, immediately, every attitude of the heart, whether it is good or bad.
"Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God."
 There are many rewards for those that follow the Lord. "Let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord." Attend church Sunday and share in the joy of worshipping the Lord.
