Youth Group Of Council Holds Recent Meeting

The Youth Committee of the Burk Burnett Community Council met at 7:30 p.m. Friday, February 11 in the Texas Electric Reddy Room. Ken Blankinship, Chairman conducted the informal meeting.

Blankinship introduced Mrs. Fleming, Nurse of the late Dr. Davey, who spoke briefly on the March 9th Bloodmobile, and pointed out that the March 9th date has been designated as a remembrance day for the late Doctor and asked that everyone who could donate a pint of blood or bring someone who could. A goal of 100 pints for the day has been set. Mrs. Fleming pointed out that it was the Late Doctor's dream to collect that amount in one day in Burk Burnett. The Bloodmobile will be in the Burk Burnett Bank from 1:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. March 9, 1966.

After a brief welcome and outline of the purposes and aims of the Youth Committee, Blankinship introduced John Strayhorn of the Youth Board of Directors who gave a short history of the center and plans and programs now in operation. Strayhorn pointed out the present facilities are inadequate, and presented plans for their expansion, as well as recommendations for expanding the program of activities.

Members of the Youth Committee unanimously agreed on the plan and recommended that the Board prepare detailed plans for presentation to the Community Council at an early date.

Following the business meeting a short social period was held for members to become better acquainted.

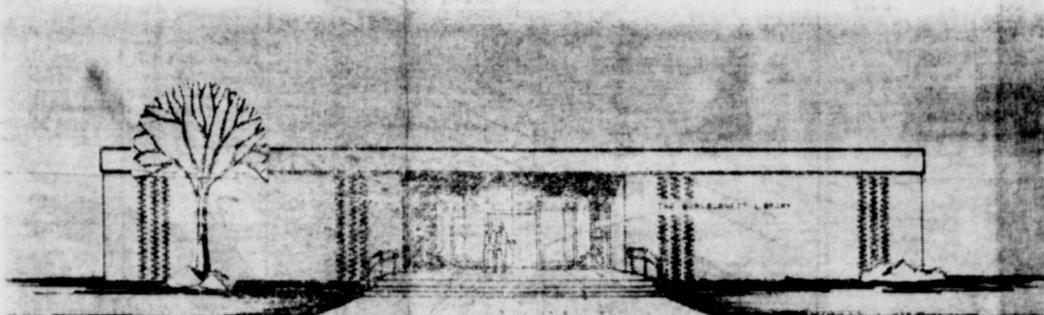

Two new members were welcomed to the Youth Committee, The Sundowners Square Dance Club, Mrs. Roebert Barnett, Representative and Little League Baseball, Mr. Jingle Hayes, Representative.

Little League Players Deadline Set March 1st

Parents who wish for their boys to compete in this coming summer's baseball program, please take notice.

Advance preparation for this summer's baseball program has been underway for the past several weeks. The third meeting of 1966 was held at the Burk Burnett Bank last Feb. 9, 1966. H. R. (Jingle) Hayes the incoming President for 1966 presided at this meeting. Jack Aaron, last year's President and acting Ex-Officio rendered valuable suggestions as to the needs of the 1966 program.

One of the main topics discussed was the problem of registration of players each year.

The task of formulating a program which involves not only several leagues, but the participation of several hundred boys requires not only the efforts of many volunteer workers and coaches within the program, but the absolute cooperation of parents both prior and during the competitive season.

There has been a deadline set for the 1966 season. This deadline applies to any boy who wants to play baseball this coming summer.

The target date is March 1, 1966. After this date any boy who does not have an application filed with the Baseball Commission accompanied by the $3.00 necessary for insurance, will not be eligible to compete in Burk Burnett's Baseball Leagues this summer. This deadline will be enforced.

Applications have been distributed and may be secured from any school Principal or at the Burk Burnett Bank. Completed applications may be remitted to the same sources. The question arises as to why the rush since league play cannot begin until school is out. Some of the answers are:

1. Although league play will not begin until school is out, practice can begin at any time, depending upon the coach.
2. Teams cannot be equalized until coaches know which boys will be back to compete within the program.
3. Boys who have not played for any Burk Burnett team before will have to have an application registered in order to be drawn for a team.
4. In some of the older age leagues a certain number of boys have to be enrolled in order to determine whether you can even have a program in that league.
5. Boys who move up to higher age leagues must also have an application registered before they can be drawn for by coaches.

So parents you can help those who are giving of their time to make summer baseball possible by seeing that your boy files his application between now and March 1st.

The next scheduled baseball meeting is to be held at the Burk Burnett Bank at the Community room March 3, 1966 at 7:30 p.m.

Progress Is Recorded In First Twelve Months In The Life Of Local Improvement Program

It has now been twelve months since the Federated Study Clubs voted to enter the Sears Roebuck Community Improvement Program and chose a library and museum as their pilot projects. At this time, the library has every prospect of becoming a beautiful reality by early fall; the museum is still an idea in the thoughts of many club women and other citizens. It is impossible to evaluate the results, community-wise, of the historic vote of our Federated Study Clubs.

Today, the community not only has the prospect of a library, but it has a Community Service Council, representing 41 organizations, dedicating at least part of their energy toward improving the community. It has a Parks and Recreation Board, which is expected to provide professional guidance for recreation activities. It has a Youth Center, whose board is working with renewed vigor and hope. Undoubtedly, additional activities will come to light which might be termed by-products of the program instituted by the Federated Study Clubs.

Post Office To Close On Washington's Birthday, Tuesday

Harlem Stars To Meet Local Team

The world-famous Harlem Stars will play the local Burk Burnett Drillers Saturday night in the Junior High School gym at 8:00 p.m. The Drillers will have three former All-American players in the line-up. They are John Henry Young and O'Neal Weaver from Midwestern University and Bubba Bailey from North Texas State University. The drillers have posted a fabulous 136 wins and 12 losses in the past five years including the State Championship in 1961. The Harlem Stars, not only feature comedy but display some of the finest basketball skills.

Neal Tullis, Commander of Frye-Vaughn American Legion Post No. 264, has announced that Department Commander Clayton Mann of Wichita Falls will be principal speaker at a meeting here Thursday night at 7:00 p.m.

Commander Mann will be accompanied by Hogan Chase, 13th Dist. Commander; Jake Mann, District Vice-Commander; Wilbert Grote, District Adjutant; and Fred Brookman, past department service officer.

Commander Tullis urges all Legionnaires and veterans eligible for membership in the American Legion to attend this meeting.

FIRST IN WAR — FIRST IN PEACE —

BEAUTIFYING AMERICA

As one of America's first conservationists, George Washington is as well known for the trees associated with him, as he is for the places where he is reputed to have slept. Two pecan trees given to Washington by Thomas Jefferson in 1775 are said to be the oldest trees now standing on the Mount Vernon Estate.

Many of the original plantings have perished from the rigors of nature and neglect. Today the grounds have been completely landscaped using Washington's writings as a guide.

On this 234 anniversary of his birth it is fitting to recall his love of beautifying the landscape.

Even when steeped in the exigencies of the Convention meetings in Philadelphia, Washington took time to write "... Endeavor to keep the Willow in the Serpentine Walk upright by means of stakes, and tow yarn or grass or something else to tie them thereto that will not rub, or fret the bark ... and have you thinned the carrots, which were too thick? ... What have you done to the Gravel walks?"

While many were cutting down trees indiscriminately, he cut trees only in the woodland reserved for his timber supply and fuel. At the same time he kept on planting and transplanting trees for landscaping and timber. His interest in beautifying the estate was so great that he asked for progress reports while fighting the Revolutionary war.

George Washington, conservationist and forester, utilized trees in many ways — to help construct an embryonic nation — to provide fuel and to enhance the landscape, so that today Mount Vernon stands in living testimony to the harmonious relationship of man to the astute use of nature's gift — the tree.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Fits Like A

FROM THE GUEST PEN

A FRIGHTENING THING

By Rosalie M. Gordon
Editor, America's Future

You can get all kinds of arguments in America today about how much or how little of our freedom is being slowly, or rapidly, encroached on by an ever-bigger and more powerful national government in Washington. But a little-noted episode reported by UPI and AP during the Christmas holidays from Chattanooga, Tenn., sounds as though it should have taken place in Hitler's Germany or Communist Russia, not in the U.S.A.

It concerns an employee of the Tennessee Valley Authority, Mr. C. Jack Ferris, Jr., who is an Air Force veteran. Mr. Ferris was questioned by Secret Service agents because of reports that he had made "strong statements" about President Johnson. According to the Associated Press, a Secret Service agent in Nashville admitted that Mr. Ferris "was contacted by us regarding certain remarks he made, or, to put it another way, for certain remarks allegedly attributed to him." The agent said that the case was now closed and any further comment would have to come from Washington, which refused comment.

Mr. Ferris recalled that he had described the President as "tyrannical, dictatorial, domineering and overbearing." But the Secret Service agent, said Mr. Ferris, asked if he had called the President a communist, which he had not, and also asked Mr. Ferris if he was a member of the John Birch Society, which he also was not.

It is quite possible, of course, that whoever reported Mr. Ferris' remarks to the Secret Service embroidered them to the point where the Secret Service thought an issue of presidential protection was at stake. But it is a frightening thing in America to contemplate a patriotic citizen, a veteran of the Air Force who once had security clearance for work on the hydrogen bomb, being questioned at all, and then questioned as to what organizations he belonged to, because he made perfectly normal criticisms, no matter how unjust they may be considered by some, of the President.

With this episode coming in the midst of the claptrap we have been treated to about the right of "free speech" of the communist stooges amongst us, it would seem that the President himself ought to curb the eagerness of his Secret Service agents, before there is no free speech left in America for anybody but communists.

CITY BEAUTIFUL

Not long ago a eastern city banned the use of clotheslines in front of houses. Although a rebellious home owner challenged the validity of the law, it was upheld in court.

Legal experts reacted vehemently, both pro and con. For the clothesline case touched on a sensitive issue: may a city restrict the use of private property for the purpose of beautifying the community?

The issue arises in countless ways. May the owners of roadside property be forbidden to erect billboards? May the owner of an unsightly junk yard be forced to enclose it with a fence? May a home owner be required to keep his premises from becoming an eyesore to the neighborhood?

Clearly the city may act for reasons of safety or health. It may insist, out of regard for your neighbors' welfare, that your home must not become a firetrap or a source of disease.

But the law long looked askance at regulations that were even partly motivated by considerations of beauty. Safety and health were considered matters of necessity, but beauty only a matter of luxury—not urgent enough to justify government tampering with private property rights.

Besides, it is relatively easy to agree on what is safe and what is healthful. But what is beautiful? If the city could regulate in the name of beauty, couldn't it—for example—tell a home owner what color to paint his house? where to plant his shrubbery? As one judge put it:

"Individual taste, good or bad, should ordinarily be let alone by government."

Nevertheless there has been a gradual trend toward letting aesthetics play a larger role in municipal regulation. Beauty, if not yet as necessary as safety or health, is at least considered more necessary than it used to be.

"Our sensibilities have become more refined and our ideals more exacting," wrote one court. And "an eyesore in a neighborhood of residences might be as ruinous to property values as a disagreeable noise, or odor, or a menace to safety or health."

States differ as to just how large the role of beautification may be. But they do agree that it may carry some weight. "Beauty may not be queen," a judge observed, "but at least it is no longer an outcast, beyond the pale of protection."

Ground Beef Goes Glamorous

Budget-minded ground beef, made into individual meat loaves and served with a savory mushroom sauce, does indeed take on glamorous airs. For ease of shaping and to assure moist tenderness in cooking, evaporated milk is used to blend and bind the meat mixture. This double-rich milk performs a second role in this delectable combo, for it is the base of the mushroom sauce, so smooth and so good.

Beef Loaves with Mushroom Sauce

1 pound ground beef
 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
 1 can evaporated milk (1 1/2 cups), divided
 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
 1 teaspoon salt
 Dash of pepper

6 strips uncooked bacon
 1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms
 1 tablespoon flour
 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

In a medium size mixing bowl combine ground beef, crumbs, 1/4 cup of the evaporated milk, onion, salt and pepper. Mix lightly but thoroughly; shape into 6 loaves about 1 inch in diameter. Wrap each with 1 strip bacon, securing bacon in place with a toothpick. Fry on all sides to desired doneness. Remove from pan and keep warm. To make mushroom sauce, pour all but about 1 tablespoon drippings from pan. Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Fry mushrooms in the 1 tablespoon drippings until lightly browned. Remove from heat. Sprinkle evenly with the flour, blending smoothly. Stir in mustard, Worcestershire sauce, mushroom liquid and remaining evaporated milk, stirring to keep mixture smooth. Cook and stir over medium heat until thickened. Add pepper to taste, if desired. Pour over beef loaves and serve immediately. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Questions-Answers

(Editor's Note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.)

Q—In figuring income to determine eligibility for a veteran's non-service-connected pension, can the veteran deduct 10 percent of his Social Security income?

A—The veteran does not take the deduction himself. He reports all his income to the Veterans Administration including Social Security payments, annuities, private pensions, etc. The Veterans Administration then calculates the 10 percent exclusion as provided by law.

Q—I am receiving additional disability benefits for a child who is attending the University. How long may I receive this additional benefit?

A—The additional benefit may be paid up until the child's 23rd birthday as long as he (she)

A NEW BIBLE... for ME!
 She really is delighted because her church is presenting her with a new Bible.
 She understands and appreciates this gift, because in earning it she has committed many verses to memory, and thus learned to value God's word. The churches desire that all would study and learn to love God.
 Plan to attend church this Sunday and share in this knowledge and joy

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

'Miss Burkburnett' Pageant Has 14 Young Ladies In Competition

A "Miss Burkburnett" for 1966-67 will soon be selected. The Modern Study Club of Burkburnett, who sponsors the event annually, has set the date as March 11, 1966, at 8:00 p.m.

As it has for the past three years, the Pageant will be staged in the beautiful High School Cafetorium. In addition to a $100 scholarship from the Modern Study Club, the new Miss Burkburnett will receive a $25 Savings Bond from the First National Bank, a beautiful plaque, a bouquet of roses and will be sent to the Miss Texas Pageant in Fort Worth to represent our town.

Winner of the Miss Texas Pageant will receive $1,000 scholarship and the right to represent the Lone Star State at the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City in September. Miss America will receive a $10,000 scholarship and an estimated $75,000.00 in modeling and personal appearance contracts.

To date there are fourteen entrants who will compete for this honor. These girls will be presented in evening dresses and bathing suit competition and a three minute talent routine, to a panel of five judges, and you their audience in what promises to be a very exciting evening.

The Modern Study Club is proud to present the following contestants and their sponsors: Stephanie Slusher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Slusher, Gray's Investment; Patricia Carol (Patti) Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. VALENTINE PARTY IS HELD BY THE BURKBURNETT STUDY CLUB

"Cupid Inspires Party" was the theme honoring the husbands of the Burkburnett Study Club Members Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Preston, Jr. Hostesses for the Valentine Party included Mrs. Howard Henderson, Mrs. Francis Felty, and Mrs. Glen Bear. Part of the decorations were pictures made during membership or weddings of the members and their husbands fashioned into Valentines. After the buffet dinner, Mrs. Jack Smith entertained with a program of Sweet Talk in Song and sang "Lollipop and Roses" and "I Only Have Eyes for You" accompanied by Maxine Creel at the piano.

Mrs. F. C. Royce showed a film essentially concerned with throwing light upon the subject of man himself—more particularly upon the functions of his senses and their importance to him. "Gateways to the Mind" dramatized the use of the sense organs that act as the channels through which the human mind receives all of the information upon which it constantly functions. Most people think of the senses as five in number. This assumption is corrected by the film which is concerned with the exploration of over fourteen "true" senses. About one-third of the footage was in animated form which showed very clearly many of the complicated functions enabling the brain to receive sensory information. Those present were Maxine Creel, Dr. and Mrs. Philip Carpenter, Messrs and Mesdames M. E. Bean, Lamoin Champ, James Bohner, Francis Felty, James Frye, Howard Henderson, Jack Mathis, E. D. Potter, George McClarty, F. C. Royce, Jack Smith, Harold Van Loh and W. T. Zimmerman.

Modern Study Club Has Recent Meeting In Burkburnett Bank

The Modern Study Club met in the Community Room of the Burkburnett Bank, Monday, Feb. 7, 1966 with Mrs. Penny Palmer as hostess.

The meeting was opened with the Club Collect and the Salute to the Flag.

Roll Call was answered with "My Favorite Book."

Business on the agenda was the "Miss Burkburnett Pageant." It was reported that we had fourteen lovely contestants thus far in the Pageant that is to be held March 11th at 8:00 p.m. at the High School Cafeteria. The entries are Donna Hudson, Vickie Turner, Marie Farris, Sharon Gellner, Patti Johnson, Shelley Kaiser, Candy Logan, Susie McCrary, Judy Monson, Gwen Morris, Betsy Norman, Stephanie Slusher, Sandra Sullivan and Sue Tigrett.

The program for the evening was a book review by Mrs. Helen Reasoner. The title of the book was "Ye Jiggs and Julips" by Virginia Cary Hudson. It was quite humorous and enjoyed by all.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following club members: Mrs. Gary Bean, Mrs. Albert Dillard, Mrs. Lonnie Dolan, Mrs. Charles Griffith, Mrs.

Ted Harris, Mrs. Ralph Hayes, Mrs. Randall Hudson, Mrs. Jerry McClure, Mrs. Sandy Mitchell, Mrs. Darrell Nichols, Mrs. Bill Reasoner, Mrs. Eddie Reed, Mrs. Jerry Thomas, Mrs. Selma Wright, the hostess Mrs. Charles Palmer and two new members, Mrs. Lewis Gray and Mrs. Tim Wood and one guest, Mrs. Leslie Terry.

First Methodist Kindergarten Has Valentine Party

The students of the First Methodist Kindergarten were given a lovely Valentine party on Feb. 14 by their mothers.

The party was held in the Fellowship Hall which was decorated with Valentine motif. Parents and pre-school brothers and sisters were guests. Refreshments of heart-shaped cookies and punch were served to guests and teachers, Mrs. Cokendolphe and Mrs. Halsey. A game of musical chairs was played and everyone had a wonderful time.

Several of our students will soon be moving because of changes at Sheppard and there will be openings for new children coming to our area.

For further information you may call either teacher or the church office.

Dashing new American out-accelerates Corvair, Falcon, Dart at Daytona! Chalks up 24.5 mpg, too!

And it's still the lowest-priced car made in the U.S.A.!

Our '66 Rambler Americans are full of surprises.

Two of them just knocked off Corvair, Falcon, and Dart, finishing 1, 2 in the Class VI Acceleration Test in the NASCAR-supervised '66 Pure Oil Performance Trials. Proof of more power for safe passing.

How did American do it? With a surprising new Six. The biggest, newest, most powerful standard Six in its class. Yet the same car that won the Acceleration Test, posted a remarkable 24.5 mpg in the Economy

Test. (And that was with automatic transmission!)

The Rambler American 220 two-door (shown below) still carries the lowest price of any U.S. car. And now during his "Big Win Weeks" celebration, your American Motors/Rambler Dealer is pricing his Americans lower than ever.

"Big Win Weeks"
now on at your American Motors/Rambler Dealer. Win a '66 car in his free drawing. Enter today!

Americans don't really come with Rally stripes. They just drive that way!

NUTRITION NEWS FOR THE ELDERLY?

Is there anything new, nutritionally speaking, for the growing number of older persons? What is the state of their nutrition? What, if anything, needs to be done about it. What can be done?

Dr. Donald F. Watkin, of the National Institutes of Health, offers his suggestions in the Journal of the American Public Health Association for April 1965. Essentially, he sees a need for making better use of existing knowledge to keep the aging body "tuned up," so to speak, as one tries to keep an automobile in tune to prolong its life and promote smooth operation.

Essentially, the best we can do today with knowledge at hand is to teach, and if possible, to motivate people in their earlier years dous amount of erroneous information published about nutria," says Ed Holder, outdoors editor of the Port Arthur News and a student of nutria behavior. "Much of it is true. But some of it is merely propaganda, exploited by some, out to pick up a dollar."

For a long while the nutria was considered worthless. It had things to its own liking. Nobody bothered it. So it went happily on its way. It ate everything from swamp grass to the farmer's crop, including mama's flowers and garden.

Then the nutria suddenly had an imposing enemy—man. A profitable market was created for its pelt and hunters started seeking them in earnest. This is another reason why nutria populations no longer are exploding.

Nutria trappers sell the animals "on foot" or simply the dead carcasses. Buyers skin the animals, stretch and dry the pelts, and eventually the skins make their way to furriers.

Those who complain most about the nutria damage are the duck hunters. They claim the nutria is destroying the marshes. But Holder debunks some of this talk.

"The truth is simply that the nutria has made duck hunting more difficult, but has not appreciably hurt duck habitat," he explains. "In fact, in some areas the opening of patches in the marsh has probably helped ducks more than it has hurt them. I've seen nutria clean came from an area and watched wild millet grow in the same area the next year, feeding thousands of ducks."

Nutria make fascinating targets for hunters. In the water, the cagey nutria can be quite elusive. Now they've become so educated that hunters go after them at night, with lights. This because in daylight they promptly dive at the first sign of danger.

Most sporting method is to hunt them with a .22 rifle. Hunters move thru canals cut in the marsh, watching for the telltale head.

When a nutria swims, only a portion of the head protrudes above the surface, presenting a difficult target. A nutria is a hardy animal and can take a wallop from a .22 slug in the body without stopping. Only truly vital spots are in the head or spine.

Nutria are regarded as "slow," but Holder says this is a misnomer. On land one can move almost as fast as a rabbit. But in the water it is no great shakes of a swimmer. It dives slowly too. But it can swim under water for a great distance.

Nutria are natural enemies of dogs. Most dogs seem to go wild when they smell nutria. Labrador retrievers, carried into the marsh by their duck-hunting owners, often attack the so-called "rats." Many suffer severe injuries from the encounter.

A nutria isn't, by habit, a vicious creature. It will run from both man and beast. But when cornered it is a valiant and fast fighter, using teeth and claws to defend itself.

For the much-cussed nutria, it is indeed a new and different role.

NUTRIA

That misfit, the nutria, seems to have met its match.

Despite man's diligent efforts to eradicate this pest, it continued to thrive and multiply. But now nature seems to be getting things in hand again, at least along the Gulf Coast, where the nutria are most abundant.

On a recent trip to Port Arthur, for instance, we were told we couldn't go on a nutria hunt because, believe it or not, there weren't enough nutria. Talk about a switch!

A few short years ago people were bemoaning the fact that nutria were taking over the land. Then along came Hurricane Carla and suddenly there weren't many nutria anymore. Nature had done what man couldn't do.

Actually, this rat-looking creature is a victim of poor press relations more than anything else.

Texan Is Named As Instructor Of Year At Sheppard AFB

Sheppard AFB, Texas — An instructor in fighter aircraft mechanics, recently chosen as December Instructor of the Month for both the Department of Aircraft Maintenance Training and 3750th Technical School has also been named as the department's Instructor of the Year at Sheppard Technical Center.

He is TSgt. Lee R. Taylor of Shamrock, Texas.

In winning the yearly award, he competed with the eleven other department instructors of the month.

MSgt. Clyde E. Davis, his immediate supervisor, commented on Sergeant Taylor's instructor ability.

"His knowledge and experience as aircraft maintenance dock chief with a U. S. Air Force fighter unit at Royal Air Station, Bentwaters, England, and earlier aircraft maintenance duties at Elmendorf AFB, Alaska, have enabled him to present a professional image to the future aircraft mechanic," said Sergeant Davis.

"This, coupled with his tireless efforts and his easy, cheerful approach to his duties, have favorably influenced many students to respect this career field," he said.

Sergeant Taylor's primary concern for the students' well-being and progress, and his continuous efforts to improve course content and instructional aids were also noted.

A veteran of 14 years, Sergeant Taylor began his Air Force career in February, 1952 with basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas.

After graduating from the Jet Fighter Mechanic Course at Amarillo AFB, Tex. he was transferred first to Elmendorf AFB, Alaska, returning to Amarillo in 1964 from 1960-1963 he was at Bentwaters RAF Station, England.

Back at Amarillo in 1963, he was assigned as an instructor in the Jet Fighter Course after completing instructor training there.

In 1956 he came to Sheppard AFB to join the aircraft maintenance training staff in the One and Two Engine Jet Aircraft Mechanic Course.

Florence Pinkston Circle Has Study Of Bible At Meeting

The First Baptist W.M.U., Florence Pinkston Circle, met Monday night, February 14th, in the trailer home of Mrs. George Gray, she acted as hostess.

Mrs. John Brookman, presided, and opened the meeting with prayer. Reading of minutes and treasurer's report was given by Mrs. C. D. Gee.

For the Community Mission in January, each patient of the Harrelson's Nursing Home was visited and presented fresh fruits.

A note from Mr. and Mrs. Harrelson was read, thanking the Circle for their thoughtfulness and kindness to the patients.

An informative talk on Stewardship, "The Theology of Christians," was given by Mrs. J. C. Gay. An interesting Bible lesson, from Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Song of Solomon, and Job was reviewed by Mrs. Clyde Taylor. Dismissal prayer by Mrs. R. L. Quattlebaum. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Gray to the following Mesdames: R. P. Thaxton, C. D. Gee, J. C. Gay, John Brookman, Clyde Taylor and R. L. Quattlebaum.

Home Is Good Buy If It's Easy to Sell

What's the first thing you should think of when buying a house?

Selling it. The answer is not as far-fetched as it may seem. Census Bureau figures show that a record 36.3 million Americans — almost 20 percent of the total population — moved at least once during 1962-63. If the high mobility trend continues, a lot of people will be putting up a "for sale" sign almost before they've had time to settle down in a new house.

Most of the migration, says the report, was among servicemen and their families, executives in national corporations, professional people — those most likely to be transferred, often on short notice, from one location to another. For homeowners in this category, the problem is usually selling a house fast without having to accept a sacrifice price.

If you fall into this group, the best way to safeguard your investment is to buy a home that meets your needs while offering the best possibilities for quick and profitable resale. Here's a checklist of things to look for:

Good Planning and Design — A well-planned house satisfies the needs of the entire family. There should be an efficient kitchen with modern equipment, ample bedroom and closet space, more than one bathroom, an area for children's activities, good traffic patterns, abundant storage space and adequate garage.

Low Maintenance — Appraisers say this is one of the strongest buyer preferences and does a great deal to increase house value. Exteriors such as mineral fiber siding, which has an acrylic color coating that requires practically no care, are a valuable asset. They allay fears of high operating costs and too much time spent on maintenance.

Quality and Durability — You may move again next year. Then again, you may live in the house the rest of your life. Quality materials like heavyweight, wind-resistant asphalt shingles save the cost of roof repairs for present owners and protect prospective buyers. Heavyweight shingles, which are guaranteed in writing up to 25 years, also increase the home's market value.

Location — The neighborhood should be attractive, well kept, and occupied by people who take pride in their homes. The house should be convenient to good schools, shopping areas, transportation, cultural and recreational activities. Be sure utilities and road systems are fully operative, and determine your possible liability for future assessments.

OUR HEALTH

By J. M. Amberson, M.D.

Respiratory Illness

In the United States, respiratory illnesses cause more time loss from work—and recreation—than any other disease. An estimated one-billion cases occur each year, with an accompanying economic loss of $5 billion. The common cold, pneumonia, croup and influenza, are among the ranks of respiratory illnesses, and are most frequent during blustery winter months like these.

The common cold is the most "common" of all respiratory illnesses. Rare indeed is the person who doesn't catch cold at least once a year—and many of us have two or three in one year. Colds are spread in the acute stage directly from person to person, but in most instances the virus is carried through the air for some distance. And it's startling to realize that one person in five with an ordinary cold or sore throat comes down with some further infection before he gets well. For example, at least 75 percent of all cases of lobar pneumonia give a history of an initial cold. Many babies with a cold develop a middle-ear infection.

Medical advances, such as the "flu" vaccine and penicillin, are helping to prevent or cure respiratory illnesses. It is generally agreed that the antibiotics should not be used to treat an acute cold but should be reserved for complications. Certain simple principles should be emphasized: avoid close contact with cold-sufferers, coughers and sneezers; never share a drinking glass; keep general health good—these are a few vital common sense tips.

The most infectious stage of a cold is within the first 48 hours. That's when you should be in bed, if possible. You'll be more comfortable, less likely to develop serious complications and will not spread the malady to friends and fellow workers. If a minor sore throat accompanies the cold, Chloraseptic, a non-prescription oral solution, has been found very effective in relieving throat pain and discomfort. Chloraseptic usually relieves minor sore throats within seconds after spraying or gargling. Clinical researchers have found:

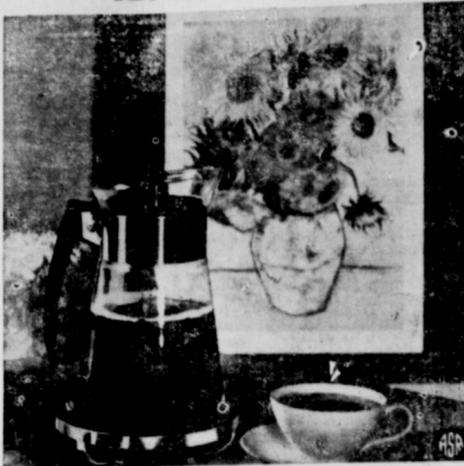

It is always sound advice to consult your physician if you run a high fever, if your cold and sore throat seem to linger on, or if accompanied by aches and pains and malaise.

Art For The Home

"I am thinking of decorating my studio with a half-a-dozen sunflowers," wrote Vincent Van Gogh to his brother from his farmhouse at Arles in the south of France. This modest handful of wild flowers, painted in vivid style by Van Gogh, has become one of the most beloved masterpieces in art history. Museums report over 400,000 copies of the painting have already been sold.

Thanks to an amazing new European process, a full-size reproduction of "Sunflowers," capturing all the brilliance of the original, is now available on canvas. It is offered free to art lovers by a leading food manufacturer. The print can be matted, framed, or mounted to bring spirit and color to any room or office.

In addition to "Sunflowers," reproductions of three other famous oil paintings, all 18"x24", are available: "Free As the Wind," an exciting painting of wild horses by August Albo; "October Morn", an autumn landscape by Robert Wood; and "Sunset Shore", a seascape by Robert Wood. Each separate print may be obtained by sending 3 innerseals from any size (except 2 ounces) of Instant Maxwell House Coffee along with name, address, and ZIP Code to: Oil Paintings, P.O. Box 1614, Kankakee, Illinois 60901.

Student Council Helps In March Of Dimes Drive

The Burkburnett High School Student Council played an active part in the recent March of Dimes drive. The Council officers, George Province, Roger Johnson, Sally Mitchell, Donna Hudson, Jimmy Creel and Donna Greer were aided very ably by the members in planning the students drive against birth defects.

Four members made radio talks publicizing the drive. Also in the halls at school and at the basketball games, donations were taken in exchange for a bag of peanuts. February 5, members set up stations in town taking donations also. The total amount taken in by the Council was $76.35.

The members of the Student Council say, "Thank you, the people of Burkburnett, for taking such an interest in this drive against birth defects."

First Aid For Rover

If your pet has an accident, your knowledge of first aid can mean the difference between keeping and losing him. Dogs are prone to accidents with automobiles, yet accidents can range from garden chemical poisoning to burns from a barbecue.

Here are some common sense tips from the dog authorities at the Purina Pet Care Center in St. Louis that will help in the interval before the veterinarian arrives.

• Place a muzzle around the dog's jaws since injured dogs sometimes react with hostility.

• Any excessive bleeding should be controlled by a pressure bandage or pressure applied to the open vessel.

• If there is danger of broken bones, move him gently onto a board which can be an excellent stretcher.

• Burns should first be covered with clothes soaked in cold water, then covered with ointment or coated with towels.

If you suspect a dog has swallowed poison, you can induce vomiting by mixing a half teaspoon of powdered mustard made into a paste with warm water and giving it to him. If an injured dog will drink, always offer lukewarm water with a small quantity of salt in it. This will help reduce the shock which often follows accidents.

Can You Answer These Questions About Sin?

QUESTION: What is the penalty of sin?
ANSWER: "The soul that sinneth, it shall die . . ." Ezek. 18:20. . . Sin when it is fullgrown, bringeth forth death." James 1:15, ASV

QUESTION: What kind of death does this mean?
ANSWER: ". . . but your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, so that he will not hear." Isa. 59:2 ASV (THIS separation of a soul from God is spiritual death, just as separation of the spirit from the body is physical death. James 2:26.

QUESTION: Doesn't sin refer to robbery, adultery, lying, etc., and not to little mistakes, we make from day to day?
ANSWER: ". . . sin is the transgression of the law." 1 John 3: 4 (A servant who was negligent was told — "Thou wicked and slothful servant . . ." Matthew 25:26.) (Jesus also said he would say "Depart from me ye cursed, into the eternal fire . . ." Matthew 25:41 ASV, to those who had done nothing worse than to fail to assist those who were in need.)

QUESTION: But God will not punish anyone, since he is a God of love, will he?
ANSWER: ". . . at the revelation of the Lord Jesus from heaven with the angels of his power in flaming fire, rendering vengeance to them that know not God, and to them that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus: who shall suffer punishment, even eternal destruction from the face of the Lord and from the glory of his might." 2 Thess. 1:7-9 ASV.

ishes thus form an invisible chemical shield against oil and water stains.

Since these stains cannot penetrate the fibers, they bead or roll off of the surface. If allowed to dry instead of being wiped off promptly, most of the stains can be removed with laundering or spot cleaning. Exceptions are ball point inks, lipsticks and grass stains.

The stain-repellent finishes are usually applied to the fabrics at the textile mill. However, such a finish is now available in spray cans, so homemakers can apply it after laundering their washables. Factory finishes are expected to last the life of the fabric, but the spray type may need to be re-applied after several washings.

If your child has lead or color pencil marks or smudges from carbon paper on his clothing, Miss Wirges suggests that you use a soft eraser to remove them. If this fails, work detergent into the stain and rinse. If the stain is not removed, put a few drops of ammonia on it and repeat the detergent treatment. Rinse well and repeat if necessary.

Mrs. Jim Roberts is chairman of the Wichita County Clothing Committee who plans and develops all clothing plans. This committee will meet in February to develop plans for workshops, special meetings and publicity. The committee welcomes suggestions from any interested homemakers.

What happens to the bacteria count when homemakers launder their washables?

Many inquiries have been received along this line, and to answer these inquiries the U. S. Department of Agriculture began new tests with actual family washes.

This was done as part of long range research on survival of bacteria in home laundering, using both hot and cold water, says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent. Earlier studies indicated that large numbers of bacteria survive laundering with both hot and cold water.

In recent tests with cold water detergent, comparisons were made with and without disinfectants. The same concentration of disinfectants were used with cold water which proved effective with hot water.

With no disinfectant, far more bacteria survive in cold water than in hot water washes. When scientists added the appropriate amount of chlorine in the wash cycle, or quaternary disinfectants in the rinse, bacteria count was cut to 40 or less

Home Builders Class Of First Methodist Hold Recent Party

One of the loveliest parties was held in the home of Mrs. D. M. Lowrey, February 9th at 2:30 p.m., when the Home Builders Class of the Methodist Church met for their party.

Mrs. R. H. Henry presided over a short business meeting, which opened with a song, "Sweet Hour of Prayer", and a prayer given by Mrs. Revier.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Hugh Jones reading Matt. 20th ch. through the 16 verse and the 84 Psalm. A Call to Serve was the subject.

Two beautiful stories were told by Mrs. Revier and Mrs. Jones.

During the social hour the hostess served refreshments to per square inch of fabrics at the end of the spin-dry cycle, regardless of water temperature.

When laundry was washed in cold water with a cold water detergent, on the other hand, the addition of phenolic or pine oil disinfectants in the wash cycle was relatively ineffective in reducing the bacteria level.

Water temperatures ranged from 57 to 64 degrees Fahrenheit during cold water laundering and 122 to 140 degrees during hot water laundering.

FHA Girls Have Recent Meeting

A meeting of the F.H.A. girls was held Monday, February 7, at 7 p.m. in the Home Economics building. It was decided that a bake sale would be held Saturday, February 12, at 9 a.m. Also, a car wash will be held Saturday afternoon.

The F.H.A. will hold a chili supper Monday, February 21, for the girls and their Dads. All members are urged to attend!

Plans are being made for a fashion show to be held in the latter part of April. The girls will model clothes they have constructed during their home economics course or outside of class. This show will be open to the public and there will be no admission fee.

The girls are selling cookbooks now. Anyone who is interested in one is asked to please notify us.

Leopard skins used for show come mostly from South America.
