SPOT REMOVER PRO

Tommy Key, employee of the Ideal Cleaners, was presented a Spot and Finishing Award by Joe Hensley, proprietor. The citation was awarded to Tommy by World Drycleaning Magazine for his professional skill, which he proved by removing a difficult spot from a swatch of material affixed to one of the magazine pages.

Tommy Key Receives Drycleaning Award From Magazine

Tommy Key, who works for Ideal Cleaners, has been honored for his professional drycleaning skill by World Drycleaning Magazine.

Tommy, who accepted a challenge by the magazine to remove a difficult spot from a swatch of material attached to one of the pages, received the Spot and Finishing Award, which was presented to him by his employer, Joe Hensley.

The magazine dared its 32,000 readers to remove the spot without damage to the material. Tommy proved his professional skill by doing just that.

He said he studied the spot and finally decided it may have been shoe polish. On the first application of a chemical, he successfully and safely removed it.

Tommy has been working at Ideal Dry Cleaners for two years. He began under the High School DECA program. Though he has graduated, he will continue to apply his skill in the service of Mr. Hensley and his customers at 407 E. 3rd Street. The youth's plans for the future are indefinite, though he admits his enjoyment of the drycleaning profession.

Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlis D. Key. The family resides at 501 E. 3rd.

GRADUATES

This class of beginning typists graduated from a 12-week course at the Community Service Center, Tuesday, July 2nd. The class was instructed by Ken Blankinship, who donated his time and talent. Ken is a qualified teacher. Mrs. Ken Blankinship, director of the Center presented the graduates with Certificates of Completion.

DEMONSTRATION

Mrs. Kenneth Houk, a clerk-typist at Sheppard Air Force Base with many years of experience, demonstrates the IBM Electric and Executive typewriters to the class of beginning typists.

It was graduation night, Tuesday, July 2, for 16 members of the 12 week typing class held at the Community Service Center.

Mrs. Carol Blankinship, Director of the Burkburnett Community Service Center, presented Certificates of Completion to the beginning class in the community room of the Center.

Upon completion of the course, the students averaged a speed of 20 words per minute. Many plan to continue their studies and prepare for clerk-typist work.

Some of the students operate businesses and need the typing to improve their efficiency of operation, while others wanted to learn for their personal benefit.

Ken Blankinship, a qualified teacher, donated his time to instructing the class.

Students completing the course and receiving certificates were: Yvette Ellis, Sedelta Harmon, Lillian Prince, Eulalia Morse, Lois Bean, Beth Bryan, Alice Muller, Mary Ann Hobbs, Willie Jones, Effie Elliott, Ethel McCasland, Wilma Laine, Vera McBride, Effie Tyna, Mildred Case and Kathryn Kormas. Mrs. Blankinship expressed her wishes that this would be only the first of many adult classes at the center for the improvement of our community.

She said, "Through this most democratic of all governmental agencies, we are what we want to be. We are locally organized, locally governed and what we do or do not do is of our own choosing."

"Through your efforts," she went on, "you have demonstrated to our community that given the opportunity, our citizenry will take it."

Mrs. Blankinship then extended to the class the congratulations of the board of directors and the entire Community Action Corporation, for the effort and time put forth in the improvement of themselves.

As a special attraction to the class, Mrs. Kenneth Houk, a clerk typist at Sheppard Air Force Base, with many years experience, gave an interesting and informative demonstration on the IBM Electric and Executive typewriters.

Mrs. Blankinship expressed her desire that the Community Service Center will be able to hold more such classes in the future.

THEY BALANCE

INDEPENDENCE DAY — 1968

In the midst of turmoil throughout the world, we should reflect on the fact that that which had its beginning 192 years ago, still endures, making the United States one of the oldest continuing forms of government on the face of the earth.

The Declaration of Independence statement that "a recent respect of the opinions of mankind" has been and is uniquely suited to the needs of all.

That freedom which had its start at Independence Hall in Philadelphia continues to be our responsibility as heirs to the principles of this Declaration.

We must continue to support honest law enforcement without any personal privileges or exceptions. If we demand free speech we must not suppress it in others. If we wish our savings and property to be free from seizure, destruction or theft, we must zealously protect and secure these rights for every citizen.

As Herbert V. Prochnow, former president, First National Bank of Chicago said, "If you demand that the government of the people, by the people and for the people, you must exercise your right of franchise at the ballot box. If you demand that the government give you complete economic security, you must not forget that a nation's greatest strength comes when each person to the best of his ability stands on his own feet and courageously seeks to discharge his responsibilities."

Freedom is everyone's responsibility. And it isn't free.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

POSEYVILLE, IND., NEWS: "Freedom is not something to set up on a pedestal like a trophy to admire. Freedom is something to use to make life worthwhile. . . . It is the opportunity to work and to impose self-restraint and to respect the rights of others. Only those who can use freedom wisely can have freedom long."

WARRENSBURG, MO., STAR-JOURNAL: "Effective law enforcement is (a) prerequisite for an orderly society. Public officials, charged with the responsibility of maintaining law and order have no alternative in carrying out the obligations of their office. They must act with courage and firmness."

BOYNE CITY, MICH., CITIZEN: "It is generally conceded by knowledgeable postal employee themselves, particularly the helpful ones, that bureaucratic regulation is the cancerous affliction which destroys initiative and efficiency in the service."

Health Hints

How To Stretch Your Health Care Dollars

It has always been popular to complain about the cost of medical care. No doubt you have heard countless complaints from relatives and friends—or made some yourself—about the rising costs of health care.

Here are a few suggestions to help stretch your health care dollars:

- *Select a family doctor before you are sick and don't be afraid to discuss medical fees and services before treatment is given.
- *Telephone your doctor about minor health problems. If he wants to see you, go to his office rather than request a house call.

- *Have routine annual physical examinations, and periodic check-ups.
- *Don't insist on being hospitalized unless your doctor recommends it.

- *Don't ever try to treat yourself, and don't delay getting treatment.
- *Be sure you are protected with health care coverage.

News From The County Agent

Hay crops receiving adequate amounts of plant nutrients usually are of higher quality and higher digestibility. That is, if crops are harvested before they begin to mature.

Fertilized crops grow faster and can usually be harvested in times of favorable weather conditions. If hay is cut before plants mature and become course, the stems and leaves dry faster than when plants have coarse stems. And a hay conditioner also speeds up drying.

What happens when hay is rained on? The main loss is in color, if the quality was high when the crop was cut. Coarse stem plants lose more leaves than young, fine stem plants. Mold and mildew deteriorate quality — and are more likely to occur when plants have grown a coarse stem.

To grow good quality hay crops, farmers should start with a soil test to determine fertilizer. Although nitrogen improves growth and color, other nutrients such as phosphorus and potassium are usually needed for optimum growth and quality.

High quality hay can increase the production and profit from animals which consume it.

Grain sorghum planted over an extended period this season has made conditions ideal for development of damaging sorghum midge populations, says County Agent E. T. Haws.

To control the midge it is necessary to realize that damage occurs at the time of spikelet pollination (bloom) and once pollination has begun in sorghum fields, the producer must determine when the population has reached economic levels.

The life-cycle of the sorghum midge is one which is relatively hard for the producer to break. The midge will attack grain sorghum, sweet sorghum, Johnsongrass, sudangrass, broomcorn, sorghum alnum and certain wild or uncultivated grasses.

The small, orange-colored, fragile-looking gnat or fly of the adult is about 1/8-inch long. The adult females lay their eggs in the floret or seed husk of the host plant at the time of blooming. Early planted sorghum, combined with volunteer sorghum, serve as developing grounds for the midge build-ups.

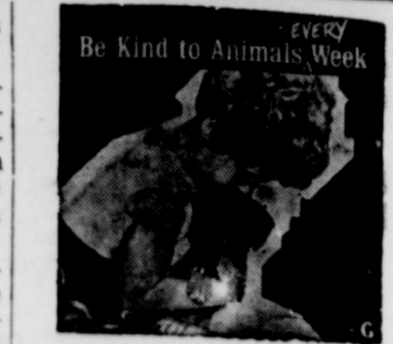

The early populations are not economically important as they are not damaging enough. Early, uniform plantings is the best means of avoiding heavy midge damage. Although the early grain sorghum infestations are not damaging, they can lead to more problems as later plantings are made.

Midge damage closely resembles blighted or blighted sorghum heads resulting from disease, infertility, drought, high temperatures at booting time and a lack of plant nutrients in the soil.

Proper timing of applications to control the sorghum midge is most important. The first application should be applied when 90 per cent of the heads are out of the boot. A second application should be made in three to five days. In fields where the yields are high, a third application may be advised.

GRAHAM PURCELL, REPRESENTATIVE, 13TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

Dear Friends,
Gun control legislation has become one of the foremost topics of my mail from Texas. A great deal of support has grown up in recent days for strong control of all types of firearms. I have heard new appeals for support of the Administration's proposed legislation, which would extend the Federal gun control provisions embodied in the Omnibus Crime Bill, (which banned mail order purchases of handguns, sales to non-residents and sales to juveniles), to shotguns, and rifles as well. In addition, the new Administration bill would impose additional controls on ammunition.

At the same time, I am also receiving strong appeals from those who have consistently opposed any Federal regulation of gun sales, whatsoever.

I, or any other Member of Congress, have a duty to apply objective principals toward examination of any given problem facing the Nation. I mention this because I strongly feel that Congress must not allow itself to be "stampeded" into action by traumatic and sensational events.

I feel that my position on this issue, taken before the recent tragic assassinations of prominent figures, was logical, and realistic in view of my part experience, which has included the 7 years I spent as District Judge in Texas, in addition to the six and one-half years I have spent here in Congress. Regardless of the emotion of the moment, we should closely examine and study all aspects of any proposal before the Congress—that has been the secret of the success of the ability of our legislative system to deal with national problems for the nearly two centuries of our Nation's growth. Our system is such that every side of every issue should have an opportunity for a hearing, and every objection should be examined and considered. In the past, when we have acted rashly and too quickly, we have usually been wrong.

Accordingly, I want to mention again my beliefs.

I adopted some time ago the position that the responsibility of the Federal government in the field of gun control legislation should be to see that the interstate sale of guns should comply with the state and local laws where the purchaser is a resident.

I have supported, and I still support legislation which would require that the prospective purchaser of any firearms through interstate shipment send an affidavit with this order giving his name, address, age, and the type of gun that he is purchasing. A copy of this affidavit would be sent by certified or registered mail to the chief law enforcement officer in the locality of the purchaser. The gun should not be shipped until the receipt for this affidavit had been received by the dealer. The dealer would also be required to keep a copy of the affidavit with his record of shipment. This would ensure that the local law enforcement officials knew who was receiving a gun well in advance of the time it was actually mailed. He should check on the purchaser and make sure that the purchaser complied with regulations in the area, and deal with that particular purchase appropriately if it was in violation of the law. This makes a great deal more sense to me than setting up another giant bureaucracy within the Federal government to try to deal with this problem that is traditionally handled on the state and local level. In recent days, I have heard it mentioned that we require drivers to have an operator's license to drive a car, that we require licensing and registration of automobile, and that common sense requires that we should, therefore, register firearms. I don't disagree with this, but want to point out that there are no national license plates for cars, except those owned by the Federal government nor is every driver required to carry a Federal driver's license. I don't think that we should run to Washington to control everything that needs to be controlled in this nation. Many states and localities have strict firearm controls, which include registration and licensing. I believe this is where the people should be seeking action now. I am not opposed to strong gun control legislation; but I do sincerely believe that this is one more area where we should

A Thing Of The Past . . .

A thing of the past. Do you know what it is? Maybe, but ask your son or daughter. This is an old Bull Wheel which played such an important roll in the development of the city of Burkburnett. You will find it in Boomtown U. S. A. Oil Park. Only a part of the past you will find being preserved there. Boomtown U. S. A. deal with the problem without abdication more power to the Federal government, and without adding to the already enormous problems of the Federal establishment.

In my opinion, enforcement of the laws already in existence is just as vital toward curbing crime as enacting even more legislation to deal with this critical problem.

Cordially,
GRAHAM PURCELL

Joe was down by the river bank watching the parson baptize his friend, Sam, in the icy water. When the pastor raised Sam to the surface Joe asked him: "Is the water cold Sam?"

"Nooo-oo-o," chattered Sam. "Better duck him again. Parson," advised Joe. "He ain't stopped lyn' yet!"

Ex-GI Cabbie 'Fares' Well in Berlin

Tom Williams, 27, of Fresno, Calif., is one of West Berlin's 5,000 cab drivers. A former PFC who was drafted in 1960 and stationed in Berlin until his discharge three years later, Tom decided to stay a while and study architecture under the GI Bill. The formalities took time, so he worked at various jobs before finally taking up cab driving. He has now registered at the Berlin Academy of Fine Arts, and hopes to pass an entrance examination in September.

Meanwhile, being bilingual and a U.S. citizen, he is in great demand, particularly by tourists who want to be driven into East Berlin, an area that is closed to West Berliners but open to West Germans and all foreigners.

Tom and his wife Jutta, a free-lance illustrator of books and women's fashions, have a six-year-old son, Andre; he goes to the John F. Kennedy School for bilingual schooling. They live in a modest, cozy apartment in the city's Grunewald area. His work keeps Tom busy 10 hours per day, except on Thursdays which he has free to spend with his family.

Tom Williams is fond of swimming, boxing and jazz music, and has taken up judo. He is also an excellent woodworker, and sells home-made jumping jacks to a Berlin arts and crafts shop. However, when he starts the courses in architecture, Tom's taxi-driving and sideline activities will be limited only to such time as can be spared from classes.

The tourist marveling at New England scenery, finally asked a New Hampshire farmer where all the rocks came from. The native replied, "The great glacier brought them here."

"Well," demanded the stranger, "where's the glacier now?"

Drewled the farmer, "It went back for more rocks."

Today's best value in better living

Summertime is the time your electric service hits a peak in value. Most likely, electricity cools all or part of your home. Your refrigerator works overtime, supplying extra quantities of ice cubes and cold drinks. With the children out of school, your dishwasher is on a busier schedule. And hot weather means more loads of soiled clothes for your washer and dryer. Electricity works harder for you in summer than in any other season. As a result, your electric bills are usually higher in summer. But when you consider the work electricity saves you and the relief it brings from the heat, you'll agree it's your biggest value in summertime better living.

CROP PROFIT NOTEBOOK Vegetable Plants Now Protect Themselves Against Insect Damage

Vegetable growers throughout the country are adopting a new method of insect control. Sprayed on the plant in the usual manner, Cygon 267 insecticide is actually absorbed by the foliage. In this way it provides three-way insect control: on contact, as a surface residual, and systemically from within the plant itself.

At the same time authorities have found that no harmful residues remain when the crop is ready for harvest as long as growers follow application instructions.

Latest registrations make it possible to use Cygon 267 on the day of harvest to control aphids, leafhoppers, leaf miners, mites and lygus bugs on green, snap, lima and dry beans; aphids on peas; and aphids and leaf miners on peppers.

A 3-day-before harvest restriction has been placed on applications of Cygon to control aphids on cabbage.

One-week restrictions apply to the use of Cygon to combat aphids on cauliflower and broccoli; aphids, leafhoppers and leaf miners on head lettuce; and aphids, leafhoppers and leaf miners on potatoes, tomatoes and watermelons.

A two-week restriction applies in the case of aphids, leafhoppers and leaf miners on leaf lettuce, spinach, collards, Swiss chard, kale, mustard greens, endive and turnips.

An additional benefit to growers is the fact that Cygon's low mammalian toxicity makes it possible to handle this material without wearing cumbersome protective clothing.

This method of long-lasting systemic insect control provides economical weatherproof protection against damage to our vital produce.

Applications of Cygon 267 may be made on peppers and 20 other crops to provide three-way insect protection.

SEN. RALPH YARBOROUGH'S NEWSLETTER

Last week the Senate passed and sent to President Johnson the tax increase—providing a 10 per cent "surcharge" addition to personal taxes, and cutting federal spending by $6 billion. I voted for that tax bill but with great reluctance, because I think it means an unfair distribution of the tax burden.

I voted for it because I'm convinced our economy is in danger; our dollar weakened. The drain on our nation's finances—$30 billion this year alone. The war has made it necessary to find new funds, and President Johnson chose the surtax.

The surtax is graduated; thus the man earning less than $5,000 a year, with a wife and two children is not affected. The tax is retroactive to April 1, and it expires June 30, 1969. The married man with two children who earns $7,500 a year should pay $51 more in taxes this year, and $34 next year. The $10,000-a-year man with a wife and two children pays $84 the first and $56 the next year.

In framing the surtax the Bureau of the Budget did the individual taxpayer a great injustice. The new tax does not do anything to tax the profiteering by a few who are making vast fortunes off the war.

Speaking to a House Committee eight weeks ago, Vice Admiral Hyman Rickover said many companies are making fat profits off contracts for supplies to support our men in Vietnam. Congressman Patman of Texas—chairman of the Banking Committee—also expressed alarm over these profits.

In World War II, we had an excess profits tax, devised by President Roosevelt. He told Congress, "We are making even our humble citizens contribute their mite. It is our duty to see that our burden is equitably distributed, so that a few do not gain from the sacrifices of many."

On April 10, I supported South Dakota Senator McGovern's proposal to tax excess war profits. Unfortunately, only 16 Senators voted for this war profits tax.

In the last two years, the individual taxpayer's share of the cost of running the government—including the war—has risen from 41 to 49 per cent. Nearly half or the $350 billion spent in the last two years came from your personal income tax payments.

During the same 24-month period, corporation taxes as a percentage of our total receipts fell nearly 2 per cent, from 22.7 per cent to only 20.8 per cent. Your share and my share went up, but the corporate share of income taxes went down. And Admiral Rickover notes that defense contractor profits have jumped 25 per cent in recent years.

I voted for the President's tax bill because there is not enough time before Congress adjourns to pass any other tax bill this year. But it is unjust to tax the average American without also putting a realistic tax increase on the concerns that make money off the war. No one should get rich off the war in Vietnam.

Excessive speed continues to reign supreme as the Number One cause of highway deaths. In 1967, according to a survey by The Travelers Insurance Companies, excessive speed was involved in 39 per cent of the 42,200 highway deaths.

BURKBURNETT STAR & NEWS

Have you read this WARNING TO CHRISTIANS

Almost 19 centuries ago, the inspired apostle Paul wrote the following words of warning and admonition to the Christians of Galatia.

6 I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel:

7 Which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ.

8 But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed.

9 As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed.

— Galatians 1:6-9

From this reading we know there were religious teachers in the first century who added to the gospel of Christ, who subtracted certain teachings, who changed others.

The scourge of perverted gospels has persisted to our own age. Yet Jesus declares:

"Every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up" Matthew 15:13).

And the closing sentences of the Bible warn:

"For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book: And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book" (Revelation 22:18,19).

HIS FAVORITE...

Ah! Just smell that... This is his favorite... prepared just the way he likes it. He's in for a real treat. Everyone has certain foods that they prefer over others and this is his. Many people have favorite scriptures... these words can excite and satisfy the soul as certain foods satisfy the taste palates. The soul needs nourishment too. The church offers the best opportunities to satisfy your spiritual needs.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Styling Changes From Top To Bottom

Progress Of Electric Range Spans 50 Years

The old and new is contrasted in this early electric range and modern new self-cleaning Hallmark Hi/Low model by Hotpoint.

Progress in electric cooking has come a long way since the introduction of the open-coil, high oven ranges that were popular when mother wore a bustle.

For one thing, the open-coil surface units on the early electric range models had a life span of only two to three years. And while they were the most up-to-date heating elements available at the time, they are a far cry from today's long-life, high-speed, Calrod surface units which heat up so swiftly they can thaw and cook a pack of frozen vegetables in minutes, or bring a can of soup to boil in a matter of seconds.

Hotpoint home economists point out that today's modern electric ranges offer many other cooking features undreamed of in grandmother's day. In addition to the many obvious styling improvements, new ranges from Hotpoint have oven timing clocks which allow the homemaker to start the oven whenever she wants, rotisseries which make it possible to cook meats up to one-third faster than by conventional roasting, and meat thermometers which assist her in preparing a meal exactly the way she wants it.

In the early days, electric cooking quickly gained a reputation for being "cleaner" than the old black coal stove which had dominated the kitchen for generations, and ultimately brought about introduction of the first all-white range. Today's Hotpoint ranges are available in kitchen coordinated colors, including White, Copper-tone, Avocado and Harvest gold, and are a snap to keep clean from top to bottom.

The newest Hallmark Hi/Low model offers a self-cleaning master oven, and panels in the eye level oven can be easily removed for simultaneous electric cleaning in the lower oven. Surface units stand up for quick and easy cleaning of the cooktop, and trim rings and drip pans can be removed for washing at the sink.

Investing: A Full-Time Job

Anyone who has ever tended garden knows that it takes more than just "silver bells and cockleshells" to make a garden grow. Similarly, in the world of investment, it takes more than just money to make investments grow.

You might say then that gardens and investments have at least one thing in common—a need for constant care and, above all, careful planning.

Perhaps this explains why so many people today who want to invest have turned to mutual funds. Figures from the Investment Company Institute, the national association of the mutual fund industry, indicate that there are now well over four million Americans with more than $46 billion invested in mutual fund shares.

The mutual fund idea is a simple one. It provides a means through which people with similar investment goals may pool their money in an effort to achieve these goals. By combining their investment dollars, they are able to engage the services of professional investment managers at a cost which is divided among all the shareholders.

Thus, with an investment of $100 in one popular mutual fund the investor has an ownership in as many as a hundred or more companies. Diversification as broad as this is not possible for the average person to achieve on his own.

Further, the investor in mutual funds receives precisely the same management, the same diversification and the same opportunity for growth and income whether his account represents holdings of $100 or $1,000,000.

The Institute points out that the mutual fund shareholder should always look upon his investment as a long term program, practical and convenient for accumulating capital for such objectives as retirement, building an estate, or providing funds for the education of children.

A Special Rice Pudding For The Family

Rice pudding rates as an all-time favorite family dessert. Couple it with chocolate and add a coffee flavored meringue and the pudding has instant glamour and additional family flavor appeal.

The creamy rice pudding base of this "new look" dessert is a simple combination of cooked rice, milk, sugar and egg yolks. The egg whites are whipped to make a meringue, then flavored with instant coffee. The chocolate layer of the dessert is simply squares of milk chocolate which melt and glaze the rice custard while the meringue browns.

Rice is one of those convenience ingredients that requires no special preparation before cooking. And, if you cook a large batch of rice at the beginning of the week, you can have the ingredients for a meat accompaniment, a quick luncheon salad, or a simple family dessert at your fingertips. Simply store the cooked rice in a covered container in your refrigerator and use as needed.

MOCHA MERINGUE PUDDING

- |                    |  |
|--------------------|--|
| 3 cups cooked rice | 1 teaspoon vanilla                                   |
| 3 cups milk        | 3 eggs, separated                                    |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt  | 4 bars (1/2 oz. each) milk chocolate, cut in squares |
| 1/2 cup sugar      | 3 teaspoons instant coffee                           |

Combine rice, milk, salt and sugar. Cook over low heat until thick and creamy. Add vanilla. Stir a little pudding into beaten egg yolks; stir all into rice mixture and cook 2 minutes longer.

Turn into a buttered 9 by 9 by 2 inch baking dish. Arrange chocolate bars over pudding. Make meringue from egg whites using favorite recipe. Remove beaters from meringue and using rubber spatula, fold in instant coffee. Spread meringue over pudding. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

'Sport Model' Horse Show In Wichita Falls

The Second Annual Texas-Oklahoma Paint Horse Show is scheduled for 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, the 13th of July in Wichita Falls.

The show featuring the "Sport Model" of the horse world is sponsored by the Wichita Falls Jaycee and has been approved as an open show by both the American and Texas Paint Horse Associations. The show this year is expected to draw more than 100 entries from at least 5 states. It has been referred to as the largest horse show of its kind in the entire Southwestern United States. The show will be held in the Wichita County Mounted Patrol Arena on Farm to Market Road 369.

Trophies will be given to the Grand and Reserve Champions in the Halter Division along with trophies to the first place winners in each class. In the Performance Division, trophy belt buckles will be awarded the first place winners in each class, and as an added award, an All-Around Trophy will be presented based on participation in one of the halter classes and two performance classes.

This year, several other classes have been added to the two divisions; in the Halter Division a Mare and Colt Class and in the Performance Division, a Roping Class. Entries in the Performance division compete for jackpot money, and as an added incentive this year, $100 is added to the jackpot for the cutting class and $50 added to the jackpot for the roping class. This added jackpot money is expected to draw many additional entries, and many favorable comments have been made by out-of-state Paint Horse Owners.

This one-day show is being held in conjunction with the Texas Paint Horse Club Halter Futurity, that draws the best young horses in the state to Wichita Falls. Admission to the show is free and everyone is invited to attend.

Officials named for this year's show include: Judge, J. T. Walters of Pawhuska, Oklahoma; Ring Steward, Aubrey

Witnesses To Meet In Ft. Worth July 4 Thru 7

More than 10,000 of Jehovah's Witnesses are expected to meet in Fort Worth's Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum for district assembly on July 4 thru 7.

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society is sponsoring 39 such assemblies throughout the United States with the theme, "Good News for All Nations." Harold P. Bruce, supervising minister of the Central Unit of Witnesses in Wichita Falls, said, "The many different assemblies during July and August with the same program scheduled for each will give the Witnesses a choice of convenient sites to work in with their vacations."

Bruce said, "most everyone will be going to Fort Worth from this vicinity due to it being first in the series and our anxious concern for what is planned on Friday for the Witnesses: that will not only delight you but also no doubt surprise you, for it will have considerable influence on the work that we will be doing during the years to come."

The principal speakers at these assemblies will be the circuit supervisor over about 16 congregations and the district supervisor over about 10 circuits along with representatives from the headquarters in New York.

One of the highlights of the assembly will be the public talk, Sunday 3 p.m., "Man's Rule About to Give Way to God's Rule."
