Burk To Vote On Sales Tax

DOW ESTES

DOW ESTES RETIRES

Dow Estes, who has served as tax collector for the old burkett Independent School District for the past 24 years, has retired.

Prior to his service with the Burk schools, Estes had served as tax collector for the old Fairview School District for 12 years.

During his tenure, he has seen the district grow from about 900 students to an estimated 3,600 this year.

The increase in enrollment, and progress in teaching facilities have shown great increases during his term in office as well.

While the school budget called for expenditures of only $80,000 during his first years in office, the latest budget is for $1,400,000 to operate the 12 grades for the coming school year.

Dow's voice is whose football fans hear over the public address system at Bulldog home games. He has been announcing the games since 1944, and has missed only a few since then.

The public address system, by the way, is Dow's personal contribution to sports in Burk. He purchased it on his own, and sold advertising time to pay for it.

Since it was installed, he returned more than $5,000 into the football program.

But he hasn't quit working entirely. He still fills in at the office when needed, and will continue to do so until a successor is named.

"I wouldn't have changed a thing, if it could all be done again," Estes told The Star Wednesday. "I enjoy every bit of the work, and working with the Bulldogs has been even more fun," he said.

Estes will divide his available time between helping out in the tax office, and running his laundry.

A special election to determine whether the City of Burk Burnett will levy a one percent sales tax has been called by the City Council.

The election will be held on Monday, October 12, according to a unanimous vote of the council Monday night.

City Attorney Joe Janeke prepared an ordinance for presentation at a special meeting of the council Thursday morning, when formal action was taken.

State law calls for a 90-day period between enactment of tax, and actual collection. Thus, if the levy is approved by the voters, it will be collected on and after April 1, 1969.

The sales tax action was just a part of the session. The council also heard Jack Alexander speak to the council about actions of the police department, and requested that a policy be set up.

Alexander told the council, that, in at least one instance, local drivers were required to post bond for traffic violations.

He suggested that local drivers be allowed to sign the traffic ticket and be released to appear for trial.

He agreed, however, that out of town drivers be required to post a bond to assure their appearance in court.

Alexander was told that such a policy had been in effect. The policies of the police department would be reviewed, the council agreed.

Jack Aaron, president of the Burk Chamber of Commerce, appeared with a delegation of downtown merchants to discuss a renewal program.

Aaron requested:

1. That the Council adopt and enforce a building code.
2. That the Council consider the possibility of entering into downtown area, with the following renovating program of our recommendations:

Property owners construct new sidewalks, curbs and gutters. That the state repave or repair Third Street in the downtown area.

That the city consider relocation of signal lights, street lights, construct planters, loading areas, rest areas, and provide a general beautification of the downtown area.

3. The Chamber of Commerce would recommend that an architect be secured for a cost feasibility study.

4. That the City Council adopt a code for uniform signs in front of businesses.

The suggestions met with the approval of the council, and Councilman Albert Dillard, who is also chairman of the Chamber renovation committee, was appointed with City Manager Gary Bean to contact an architect.

The architect would then present a cost estimate of the cost study.

To eliminate or reduce confusion, the name of Hilltop Circle in the south part of town was changed to North and South Hilltop Streets. The action was taken since confusion arose due to duplicated house numbers when the name was changed from North and South Hilltop to Hilltop Circle.

Use of plastic pipe to outside appliance such as barbecue grills and gas lights was approved by the council.

Insurance coverage on the library contents was increased from $10,000 to $40,000 to provide protection to the stocks of books, which has been greatly increased since the first of the year. Coverage on the building increased insurance premium was retained at $90,000. The will amount to $54 per year.

Bulldogs Drop Season Opener

BURK FFA MEMBERS pitched in a helping hand at the Boomtown, USA Oil Park workday. Besides helping the citizens of Burkburnett publicize their town, they learned more of the history and heritage of Burkburnett. Burk Star Photo

There's no getting around it—the Iowa Park Hawks have fielded one whale of a football team for 1968.

And they took their first step toward state laurels in Bulldog Stadium Friday night by beating the Burk Bulldogs 18 to 6.

The Bulldogs offense evidently hadn't jelled for the season, as they were held to a mere 62 yards rushing, although they added another 98 through the air.

Burk committed six fumbles during the evening and the invaders recovered every one, which certainly didn't help the Burk cause a bit.

The Bulldog defense operated well, but they had difficulty in containing James Eke, who accounted for all of the visitors scoring.

He broke loose for 32 yards with six seconds left in the first quarter, then added a field goal and another TD in the second, and a field goal in the fourth.

Burk's offense got rolling in the second half, and they got on the scoreboard late in the fourth quarter on a 45 yard pass play from Robbie Young to Richard Kinnard.

The game may have been a costly one for the Bulldogs, when Johnny Robinson suffered a head injury late in the game.

Robinson was treated at Wichita General Hospital, and held for observation.

He was returned home Tuesday morning, but of course will not be available for action this week, and his return to the football wars cannot be determined.

Drake Andrades was named outstanding offensive player of the night by his classmates.

Defensive honors went to Johnny Robinson.

Friday night the Bulldogs will journey to Duncan.

Duncan, as did Burk, fielded a respectable team last year, but lost heavily by graduation.

Saturday Closing Is Announced By Three Burkburnett Firms

The Board of Directors of the Financial Institutions subject to approval by the Banking Department voted to close the lobby of each financial institution on Saturdays, beginning October 5, 1968; the major consideration for this change was to enable compliance with the Wage and Hour Law.

There will be no change in customers drive-in service, as these windows will continue to remain open from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00. In the future we will observe only the major holidays.

THE CHOICE

If you lived in Czechoslovakia, would you risk staying on in the country, or would you risk trying to get out? That's a question that each American should ask himself and thereupon take a thoughtful, secluded hour to ponder. The terrible truth is that thousands of Czech citizens are making that fateful decision even as you read these lines.

Czechoslovakia has roughly the same area as New York State. And almost as many people are crowded into the country — something more than 14,000,000. In Moscow, the press is trumpeting that there are 40,000 enemies of the USSR in Czechoslovakia who must be liquidated.

Some weeks back there were 2,000 Czechs who signed an appeal to the government to stand firm in the face of Soviet pressures.

Those 2,000 are marked men and women. Prudence demands that they flee, if possible. But who are the other 38,000 marked for extinction, or jail? Who knows. Moscow doesn't dream figures or spout generalities when its army marches. Kremlin-watchers believe that the Secret Police have methodically compiled lists of individuals in Czechoslovakia who are considered "untrustworthy" enough to warrant arrest and that the Soviet press is reflecting the number of names on the list.

Perhaps you have been struck by the fact that you've seen no photographs of the hundreds of Czech refugees who have made their way through the Iron Curtain, to refugee camps in Austria and elsewhere. Know why? Because the refugees are afraid to be photographed. Each has loved ones still inside the Czech border.

The Soviets are in process of imposing the most repressive kind of police state in Czechoslovakia. But that takes time; a bureaucracy doesn't get built overnight. And so there is yet time for some to flee. Until all Czech border police are replaced by Soviet soldiers, it will be possible for many to escape.

Would you try it? Or would you send out the children, and hope that they could find a new freedom in a new world? You could take with you only what you could carry. What would you take?

Thank God that you do not have to make the choice that thousands of Czechs are making. And resolve, anew, that in November you will choose leaders who will protect you against any such horror-filled decision in the years to come.

Spinach Syncopation

Step into our world of fresh savory spinach and you are in tune with many splendid edibles. Spinach, originally spelled s-p-y-n-a-c-h-o, has been enjoyed for centuries. In the 14th century, fresh spinach was commonly grown in European monastery gardens.

Fresh, crisp, tender spinach, contributes vitamins C and A, and iron and is on the market all year. Texas takes top honors as the leading producer of this popular leafy green.

Here is a cookery recommendation color coordinating the deep green of fresh spinach, tossed up with sauteed onions and mushrooms, as a bed for lovely pink grilled salmon steaks. Fresh white potato balls border the platter, and lettuce and tomato salad lend extra tones of green and red to complete the main course.

Listen for applause when fresh spinach is cooked to perfection—just tender—never more!

GOURMET SPINACH

- 2 pounds fresh spinach
- 4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 1 teaspoon minced fresh onion
- 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice

Wash spinach. Cook spinach in covered saucepan in water clinging to leaves until just tender (about 6 minutes). Drain. Saute mushrooms and onion in butter or margarine until lightly browned. Remove from heat. Toss spinach with lemon juice and mushroom-onion mixture. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Sunny Top-Offs For Punch

HALF THE FUN of punch is in the way it's served, so try some sprightly new garnishes when you stir up the next batch. Make fruit kebabs on wooden skewers, or thread a strawberry on a drinking straw for a stirrer. Freeze small pieces of fruit into ice cubes, or make miniature fruited ice rings using individual gelatin molds. Since the other half of the fun of punch is in its refreshing fruity taste, begin with a good recipe, like Festive Apricot-Grapefruit Punch. Start Instant Breakfast Drink, in a new pink-grapefruit flavor helps make the punch an easy one—no squeezing or defreezing.

FESTIVE APRICOT-GRAPEFRUIT PUNCH

- 1 can (4-1/2 oz.) pink-grapefruit instant breakfast drink
- 1 quart (6 cans) cold or ice water
- 3 cups apricot nectar
- 3 bottles (7 oz. each) lemon-lime carbonated beverage

Combine instant breakfast drink, water, and apricot nectar in a punch bowl or large serving bowl; stir until instant breakfast drink is dissolved. Just before serving, stir in carbonated beverage. Serve in punch cups. Garnish with pineapple tidbits, lemon slices, and maraschino cherries, threaded on small peppermint sticks, if desired. Makes about 2-1/2 quarts or 20 servings.

Weighty Matters

Someone once defined dieting as the triumph of mind over platter and it's certainly true that willpower is nine-tenths of the battle. Once the initial impetus is gone—and you've lost the really excess baggage you wanted to—then starts the more difficult part: the day-to-day build-up of healthy weight-watching habits.

To some people the word diet is synonymous with "crash." To others a diet simply means you eat less at the table—and more between meals. To me dieting is merely a policy of "watchful weighing." I avoid the obvious high calorie items like potatoes, bread, sweets, but I'm not fanatic about it. If I'm invited to dinner, I'll have a small (really minuscule) portion of my hostess's bread pudding specialty—rather than insult her by refusing point blank. You can always do a couple of extra push-ups or deep-knee bends that evening anyway!

I think exercise is a healthy habit to acquire since it not only makes you look good but it makes you feel so darned healthy. Americans are weight-conscious but somehow they're not as addicted to body-toning activity like so many Europeans are. And I think it's a shame that we face the world looking a little flabby around the edges.

Today with all the marvelous variety of prepared foods around—especially artificially sweetened, calorie-controlled items—there's no excuse for gaining, instead of maintaining an ideal weight. In soft drinks, for example, the dieter can enjoy a delicious Diet Pepsi-Cola with the honest to goodness taste.

To cut a wide swath in society, it's a social asset to be a well-rounded person—but that should be translated literally. Don't be the kind of woman who's ashamed of her poundage because she weighs a hundred and plenty!

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT EVER INCREASING PROBLEM IN YOUTH

By A. D. V. RENKES

SHEPPARD AFB, Tex.—Happiness is a summer job!

Summer employment for school-aged youth is becoming an ever increasing problem in today's "selective society". So often and too often, these discouraged youth are turned away by employers because of the lack of work available to them or because of their lack of experience or education.

Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex., on the other hand, is doing its share in providing work for the less advantaged youth of the Texhoma area during these long summer months.

Sheppard's Summer Youth Program is employing over 100 such young people from the Wichita Falls, Burkburnett, Henrietta areas to work throughout the base facilities on routine a semi-skilled jobs. Ranging in ages from 16 through 20 years, these "student aids" are helping deminish the base workloads gaining experience and training, and acquiring the monetary needs for next year's education. Positions such as file clerks, messengers, assistant cashiers and medical workers are a few of the many positions being occupied by these young employees.

Through the aid of the Texas

Employment Commission and the Cooperative Program between the Department of Defense and the Bureau of Indian Affairs, the employment of these less advantaged youth was made possible.

The program was open to young people, all races, and of low income families within the ages of 16 and 21 years. The racial breakdown in this year's program was approximately 70 per cent Negro; 10 per cent Spanish American; 10 per cent Caucasian and 10 per cent American Indian.

The area office of the BIA in Anadarko, Okla., was responsible for the recruitment of the employed American Indians on base. It opened the Ft. Sill Indian School in Lawton, Okla., where room and board are provided for the youth. Daily bus transportation to and from the base is also provided for the Indians at a nominal fee.

The three-month summer program will end Aug. 30, after which the youth will return to school for at least another year with a little more experience and training in this "selective society" under their belts.

NEW ERA IN FAMILY PLANNING

If you're like most modern women, chances are you don't ask whether or not you should plan your family, but which method you should use.

Thanks to the fact that family planning has recently entered a new era, your answer to this question is that two highly popular and effective methods have been developed in the past few years. Both are medically approved and available through your physician.

The oral contraceptive, or pill, is one widely used method of family planning. Rapidly gaining in popularity, both among doctors and their patients, is the intrauterine device or IUD. The IUD is a plastic device which is placed in the uterine cavity. Once it is inserted by the physician, it will stay for years in most women, and verification of its continued presence requires only brief, periodic self-examinations.

Because it is an inert device, the IUD does not have the potential for side effects which might result from the potent hormones in the pill that can affect many organs of the body.

The newer double coil type of IUD has recently been added to the older kinds. Because the double coil and the devices for inserting it are sterilized before they're packaged, it has gained acceptance by physicians over other types of IUD's which had to be sterilized in the clinic.

The IUD, which has been tested in studies of thousands of women around the world, compares favorably with the pill. Both have about 97 to 98 1/2% use effectiveness rates.

A trip to your doctor can help you decide which method of family planning is best for you.

September is Better Breakfast Month — what a good way to start the school year! To whet morning appetites, remember that youngsters, too, eat with their eyes as well as with their mouths and spoons. Pictured here is an unusual way of serving a breakfast favorite, Kellogg's Corn Flakes. The golden Corn Flakes are poured into an oval relish dish and flanked by a banana sliced lengthwise, split-fashion. With a short stretch of imagination you will be able to come up with other ways of serving breakfast favorites. And to find out why you really need to eat breakfast, write to Kay Kellogg, Home Economics Services, Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan 49016, for a free copy of "Breakfast Your Way To A Better Day."

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE THE FIRST PERSON ON THE MOON?

BURKBURNETT STAR QUESTION OF THE WEEK

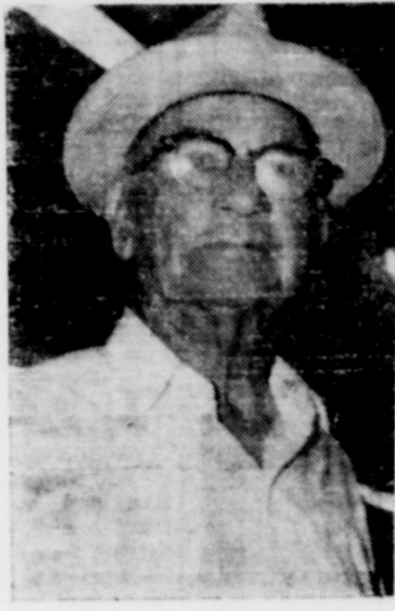

J. A. (DOC) ESTES — If I lost anything there, it would just have to stay lost. I'm well satisfied right here.

LATREECE DUNLAP — Yes, it would be okay if I was sure it would be a round trip.

JOHN COKENDOLPHER — No, because I think there would be too many things to learn and to know for me to make a successful trip.

PORTER KICKERSON—No, I never lost a thing up there.

HOMER BROWN—Well, yes, but for a long trip like that, I guess I'd have to take my lunch.

JOSEPHINE DURHAM—Yes, I think it would be quite an experience.

Air Force Graduate

BILOXI, Miss. — Technical Sergeant Walter S. DeFore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. DeFore of Fitzgerald, Ga., has been graduated from a U.S. Air Force technical school at Keeler AFB, Miss. He was trained as a navigation equipment repairman and has been assigned to a unit of the U.S. Air Forces in Europe at Wheelus AFB, Libya. The sergeant is a graduate of Fitzgerald High School. His wife, Courtney, is the daughter of C. W. Schroeder of Burkburnett, Tex.

Calendar of Events

Welcome to Burkburnett to John Harper and Jim Butcher, proprietors of Helen's House of Hallmark. The new store, featuring Hallmark greeting cards and party supplies is open for business. A grand opening is scheduled for October.

Don't forget, and how could you—but the Bulldogs travel to Duncan, Oklahoma Friday night for their second game of the season.

The outcome should be interesting, for the Duncan coach was Bulldog Mentor Bill Froman's coach at the University of Tulsa a few years ago.

We hope this will be another Stallage-Bryant encounter, with Froman and his crew bringing home a victory.

The Iowa Park teams made a clean sweep in games with Burk during the past week. The varsity Hawks defeated the varsity, 18-6, and the seventh graders edged ours, 8-0, followed by a 34-0 eighth graders win over the Burk eighth graders.

Put wait 'til next year. Burkburnett Garden Club will meet with Mrs. G. A. Herrington, 505 East 3rd St., Wednesday, Sept. 25.

WONDERFUL FEELING!

"Oh! I'm not really steering, but my friend has permitted me to sit here, and I have really had a good time just pretending."

Does this remind you of times when you have "Pretended"? Remember when some friend allowed you to sit behind the wheel of a boat or a new car and... well, you know the rest.

Today we are still pretending, because nothing really belongs to us. The Bible Says... "The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein." Psalm 24-1.

According to this, God is truly our friend and permits us to use the things of this world. For these things, and God's greatest gift, his Son, we should attend worship services each week and give thanks.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Outdoor Living Can Be Fun

Outdoor living is fun. That is, it can be fun when mosquitoes and other insects are effectively controlled.

Whether it's cookouts, games or just soaking up the summer sun, insects can make the difference between an enjoyable time and an afternoon or evening swatting session.

Today's homes are better landscaped, and the lawns are better cared for. But, landscaping means shrubs, trees and plants, and these are all hiding places for insects. In the past people have had to live with these pests, but now, according to the National Sprayer and Duster Association, modern sprays and dusts together with efficient application equipment help to effectively control insects.

There is a wide variety of application equipment, which, if properly used on shrubs and lawns, will help eliminate insects before your outdoor activities. Lawn insects include chiggers and grasshoppers. Compressed air sprayers, ranging in capacity from 1 1/2 to six gallons, may be best for application on small areas, while wheeled units may be most efficient for larger areas. These same applicators can be used to control insects on ornamental shrubs, flowers and trees.

In addition to insects which make their home in lawns there are others which live and multiply in shrubbery and planting around patios. Here again there is a wide variety of application equipment which can be used to eliminate these pests. These application units include inexpensive but effective hand dusters for use in small areas and electric or gasoline powered foggers and misters which blow fine particles over larger areas. For the best results applications should be made one or two hours before your activities start.

Before using dusters, foggers and sprayers, carefully read the label on the material to be used. Mix the material for the correct concentration and follow directions exactly for the most effective results.

Spotlight on HEALTH

WHAT DOES HISTAMINE MEAN?

In recent years "antihistamine" has become a household word. Antihistamine preparations have found their way into the family medicine cabinet alongside bandages and aspirin, bicarbonate of soda and antiseptics.

But despite the wide acceptance of antihistamine medications, the meaning of the word "histamine" remains obscure. We use the word "antihistamine" so freely, it sounds as if we know what it means.

Let's make a new start by defining "histamine."

Histamine is the substance that convinces the boss that you have a heavy cold and should be home and in bed, since it produces your red and runny nose.

Histamine is the substance that causes a hay fever victim to turn into a picture of misery due to his watering eyes and stopped up nasal passages.

Histamine is found in all animal tissue. Exactly how this chemical substance is freed from the cells containing it is not clear, although it is known that one release mechanism is triggered by allergen-antibody conflict.

Histamine can kill you. In response to severe shock, it can cause general dilation of blood vessels with subsequent drop in blood pressure. Extreme cases of shock—called anaphylactic—can be fatal.

In dilating small blood vessels, histamine causes local reddening (as in a reddened nose during a common cold, a red wheal at the site of a mosquito bite), and can also cause contraction of smooth muscles.

Now for antihistamines: Antihistamines are chemical substances that have an action especially antagonistic to histamine. They counteract the histamine effect.

Colds, hay fever, and other allergies are not fought with antihistamines alone these days. But, while they do not prevent or cure the disorder, they are important in relieving discomforts and miseries they cause. Among the antihistamine compounds that have taken a leading role in providing decongestion and relief from cold and hay fever symptoms are the Novahistine antihistamine products of the Pittman-Moore Division, The Dow Chemical Company.

Novahistine products permit the patient to breathe freely. They check formation of excessive irritant secretions. Sneezing and nose blowing, which often spread infection into the middle ear and sinuses, are minimized, and mouth breathing, which dries out and de-vitalizes the covering of throat and larynx, is prevented.

Everyone knows about antihistamines. Now you know what histamine is.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. My husband died three years ago and left me some life insurance. Our two children are in high school and hope to go to college. I'm working now, and both children have after-school jobs, but unless they can get scholarships, I don't know if I can afford to send them to college. Is there any way a life insurance policy can guarantee their college education?

A. No, because your husband's insurance has already been paid to you. If your present funds, including the life insurance your husband left you, are not sufficient to pay for your children's education, you may want to take out additional insurance on your own life. A life insurance policy could provide the funds for your youngster's education if you should not live. Your insurance agent can tell you how much, and what kind of life insurance to get.

Q. I just found out there are stocks, as well as mutual, life insurance companies. What is the difference?

A. A stock company is one owned by stockholders who elect a board to direct the company's management. These companies, in general, issue non-participating insurance (which does not pay dividends to policyholders). A mutual company, on the other hand, has no stockholders. It is owned by the policyholders and issues participating insurance, entitling the policyholder to receive dividends.
