LIBRARY CORNER

Beginning January 1, 1969 the LIBRARY will open at 12:00 noon and remain open until 6:00 P.M. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. It will continue to open at 10:00 A.M. and close at 2:00 P.M. on Saturday. This will enable many people to use the library during their lunch hours.

New on our shelves is a copy of Drew Pearson's and Jack Anderson's THE CASE AGAINST CONGRESS. In this book, Washington's boldest reporting team tells the full story of the nation's biggest scandal — the misconduct of the men and women who are sent to the nation's capitol to write America's laws, but who all too often place their own interests ahead of those of the American people.

SUCCESSFUL TRAPPING METHODS is a book by an experienced trapper on how to trap all species of American fur game. There are chapters on trapping grounds, equipment, and trapping devices. These are followed by separate chapters on skinning and stretching, care of fur skins, tanning skins, and the laws governing trapping.

Believing that the people of Texas were and are conditioned by an unexpected gift of their frontier — great pools of capital pouring from the earth in the form of oil, author David Nevin has written THE TEXANS: WHAT THEY ARE AND WHY. This is a sympathetic portrait of Texas, yet one that is sharply edged and captured the realities of its people.

If you're interested in how to become a fossil-hunter, read the book HUNTING FOR FOSSILS, by Marian Murray. The book contains photographs, charts, information on using maps, and explanations of scientific terminology.

On the religious shelf we find three new books: Malcolm Boyd's BOOK OF DAYS, EVERYDAY LIFE IN BIBLE TIMES, published by the editor of National Geography Society — an informative and inspirational book, and THE LAND, WILDLIFE, AND PEOPLES OF THE BIBLE by Peter Farb,

Registration Of Autos Swells In '68, AAA Says

Motor vehicle registrations in Texas climbed to 6,029,000 by the end of 1968, reports the American Automobile Association.

Estimates predict that there will be 4,695,000 automobiles, a 2.2% increase over 1967, and 1,334,000 trucks and buses, a 2.8% increase, in the state. The total represents a 2.3% increase over 1967, when 5,893,582 vehicles were registered.

Nationally, motor vehicle registrations will jump close to the 100 million mark by December 31, the AAA said, citing reports of the Federal Highway Administration. The government agency predicts an increase of 99,958,000 — or 3,013,124 vehicles more than were registered in 1967.

The 1968 national total breaks down to 82,821,000 automobiles, a 3.0 percent increase, and 17,137,000 trucks and buses, a 3.7 percent increase. This represents a 3.1 percent total vehicle increase over 1967.

California's 11.22 million vehicle registrations are followed by 6.2 million in New York and 6 million in Texas. Ohio and Pennsylvania each will have nearly 5.5 million motor vehicles by the end of 1968. Illinois and Michigan will have 4 and 5 million, and Florida and New Jersey between 3 and 4 million.

These nine leading states account for 50.4 percent of the national total.

Thirty-two states will have registrations of more than one million.

Motorcycle registrations nationally are expected to total 2,127,859, an increase of 174,837 over 1967. Texas registered 88,409 motorcycles in 1967, and is expected to have 100,143 registered by the end of 1968.

NOTICE

The Federal Communications Commission has designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding the mutually exclusive applications all for day-time new standard AM radio stations on a frequency of 850 kc with directional antenna systems as filed by Bill Thacker for Burkburnett, Texas, Howard M. McBee for Lawton, Oklahoma, and Allan Pratt Page for Anadarko, Oklahoma.

The Commission has designated the following issues for said hearing:

- To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from the proposed operations, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.
- To determine with respect to the application of Bill Thacker:
  - Whether a bank loan of $25,000 is available to the applicant, and, if so, the terms of repayment and the security required.
  - The manner in which the applicant will obtain additional funds to construct and operate the proposed station for one year.
  - Whether in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to (a) and (b), above, the applicant is financially qualified.
- To determine whether the proposal of Bill Thacker will realistically provide a local transmission facility for its specified station location or for another larger community, in light of all the relevant evidence, including, but not necessarily limited to, the showing with respect to:
  - the extent to which the specified station location has been ascertained by the applicant to have separate and distinct programming needs;
  - The extent to which the specified station location are being met by existing standard broadcast stations;
  - The extent to which the applicants program proposal will meet the specific unsatisfied programming needs of its specified station location; and
  - The extent to which the projected sources of the applicant's advertising revenues within its specified station location are adequate to support its proposal, as compared with its projected sources from all other areas.
- To determine, in the event that it is concluded pursuant to the foregoing issue (3) that the proposal will not realistically provide a local transmission service for its specified station location, whether such proposal meets all of the technical provisions of the Rules for standard broadcast stations assigned to the most populous community for which it is determined that the proposal will realistically provide a local transmission service, namely Wichita Falls, Tex.

5. To determine the efforts made by Bill Thacker and Howard M. McBee to ascertain the community needs and interests of their respective service areas and the means by which the applicants propose to meet those needs and interests.

6. To determine whether a grant of the proposal of Allen Pratt Page would be in contravention of the provisions of Section 73-35 (a) of the Commission's Rules with respect to multiple ownership of standard broadcast stations.

7. To determine with respect to the application of Allen Pratt Page:

- The basis for the applicant's estimate of first year operating costs and whether such estimate is reasonable.
- In the event the applicant will depend upon operating revenue during the first year of operation to meet fixed costs and operating expenses, the basis for such estimate and whether such estimate is reasonable.

8. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to (a) and (b), above, the applicant is financially qualified.

9. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues which, if any, of the applications proposed in the above-captioned applications would better serve the public interest.

10. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues which, if any, of the applications should be granted.

The hearing will be held at the office of the Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. commencing at 10:00 a.m. on March 12, 1969. Members of the public who desire to give evidence concerning the foregoing issues should write to the Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554, not later than January 10, 1969. Letters should set forth in detail the specific facts which the writer wishes to give evidence. If the Commission believes that the evidence is legally competent, material, and relevant to the issues, it will contact the person in question.

A copy of the application, all amendments and related material for Burkburnett, Texas as filed by Bill Thacker are on file for public inspection at the Chamber of Commerce, 412 Avenue C, Burkburnett, Texas.

SKI-SLANTS

BY BILL BECK - Former U.S. Olympic Ski Team Coach

It's exciting to hear snow reports at the outset of the season, but before you uncover your skis ask yourself if you're in shape for them. The long summer makes many a skier forget the stamina and body discipline one needs on the slopes.

With snow already covering the northwestern mountains and gradually sweeping down across the rest of the country, enthusiasts have only a few weeks left to (get in a ski attitude).

Skiing is a sport for people of all ages and abilities, and no single conditioning program can work for everyone. Active children can dash right from the football field to the ski slopes without any formal exercise. Adults who regularly swim, play tennis, touch football, ride bikes or engage in other energetic sports also have passed the first gates in their race for physical fitness.

If you — like so many recreational skiers — have been taking it easy since that last summer swim, try to devote as much time as possible getting in shape for the exciting snow season ahead.

Whether you are a hot-shot racer or a timid snow bunny, you will be placing the major strain on your legs and lungs. Today's jogging fad is the greatest exercise for a skier's legs and lungs since the invention of the rope tow. Start your training by alternately jogging and walking a half hour daily. Run until you are winded, walk a while, and then run some more.

After a week or so, try jogging on longer, hilly stretches.

In pre-winter training for the Olympics, we used to run down a grassy hill through a series of poles to limber up the same muscles we used later in the slalom and giant slalom races. You can break up your run with short zig-zag sprints between trees or imaginary slalom gates.

There are many body-building exercises which take only a few minutes a day. Sit ups, push ups, high kicks and body twists are great for strengthening leg and stomach muscles.

Sneak in a few minutes of exercise at the office every day. Run up the stairs two at a time instead of riding the elevator. Try sitting at your desk for a while without a chair. Ten-second isometric exercises are quickly rewarding.

But keep on running. It is the one sure way to increase your stamina no matter which other exercise you prefer.

When you finally get out in the silent white world and feel your skin tingle with the cold and excitement as you look down a steep trail of fresh powder, you will want to schuss down with all the speed you developed last season. It's wise to go slow and easy at first and take rest stops along the way.

Ease the early-season strain on long dormant muscles by using skis which cater to your abilities. I found that a good fiberglass ski — such as Rossignol or Fischer — adjusts easily to the terrain and makes minimum demands on a skier's turning power. Release bindings are also vital to early season skiing. Set bindings to release before the strain of a fall reaches your leg. Later in the season, when your legs are stronger to stand greater stress, you will want to stay in the bindings longer.

Use bindings which can be made tighter or looser by simply turning a dial for the right adjustment for weight, ability and snow conditions. Marker bindings, for one, have a clearly visible numbered dial which allows you to make precise adjustments several to your safety.

In my next column I will explain points to follow in choosing the right ski equipment to fit your enthusiasm, ability and pocketbook.

A NEW DIMENSION

As far as most people are concerned, advertising has a two-fold purpose. It promotes sales for a company, and it informs consumers of products and services available in the marketplace. Advertising has another function that is becoming increasingly important. This third function has been well illustrated by a series of railroad advertisements that have been appearing throughout the country in recent months. They show how technological advances in the railroad industry are having a direct and beneficial effect on the way we live. For example, one advertisement deals with piggybacking of highway trailers and containerization. During the past few years, these two innovations have helped immeasurably to hold down freight rates and to unplug the nation's highways. A train of 100 flatcars carries 200 highway trailers "piggyback."

Another railroad development equally significant to all of us is the mass movement of new autos to market on special-design rack cars. One train of these rack cars can haul up to 1,800 automobiles. This means lower shipping costs and lower prices than would otherwise prevail, thus easing some of the strain on family budgets. Constant improvements is the only way to help stem rising costs brought on by inflation.

Thanks to ceaseless innovation and technological advance, average rail freight charges are lower today than 10 years ago—a rare achievement during a time when the price of nearly everything else has soared into the stratosphere. Just as they have advanced technologically, the rails are now developing a new dimension in advertising, a dimension that reveals the direct link between progress in a basic industry and living standards.

Luray, Va., Page News and Courier: "One thing sure, it is absolutely necessary in these days to know how to read and write. Otherwise, a person is condemned to an ordinary existence and in many cases becomes the ward of the welfare department. Many of the demonstrators who shout for change could use their time much better by applying themselves to books than voicing demands for hand-outs which they don't deserve."

Stanton, Texas, Reporter: "Cheer up. The world is not as bad off as it may appear. Auto accidents are not increasing as fast as mileage driven is climbing. Airplanes are safer than ever. And only yesterday we read that in 1966 for the first time in modern history not a single fatal streetcar accident was reported."

Berlin's Microscope World's Most Powerful

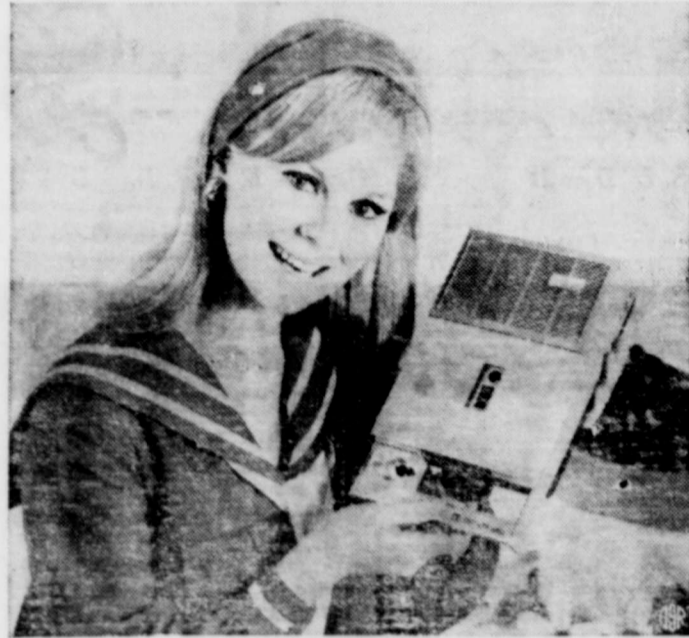

Literally to make mountains out of molehills, all you need is this "Elmiskop 101" electronic microscope, most powerful anywhere, that was developed and is now being manufactured in West Berlin for use in medicine, biology, physics and chemistry.

To start with, this microscope is capable of magnifying tiny objects 250,000 times. Use the binoculars attached to it, and that initial magnification can be increased nine-fold, for an over-all enlargement of a staggering 2.5 million times. In other words, a single human hair can be blown-up to a width of more than 3 miles. The instrument also provides clear pictures of objects that are separated by no more than one/300-millionth of a centimeter.

It took five years and the combined work of 500 highly-trained personnel to perfect the "Elmiskop 101" which has nearly 50,000 parts and weighs 3,200 pounds. (Depending on special accessories, the cost varies between $43,000-$55,000). This is but one example from the optical and electronics branch of Berlin's industrial output which in the January-June 1968 period accounted for some $400 million, or 26.3% of the city's over-all industrial production of more than $1,520 million in the same six-month span. Nearly 23% of these items are exported each year to the U.S. and other countries.

Will Home Music Switch From Records To Tapes With New Automatic Units?

For the swinger in the family—Bell & Howell Cassette model No. 292 features easy-to-grip handle, is a slim 10 1/2 inches long. A DC mono recorder only, it retails for $29.95.

That stack of phonograph records around your house may become as rare as silver dollars one of these days as home music shifts from disks to tapes.

Recorded tapes have these advantages for the homemaker: they fit into smaller space, don't require dusting and cleaning, and, in the new automatic slip-in cartridges, can't be scratched by the family's littlest angel.

A Chicago-headquartered manufacturer of tape recorder/players, Bell & Howell, Inc. has just announced a line of instruments which bring phonograph-record ease of handling to the tape field.

The new tape recorder/players range from a fingertip cassette or cartridge unit which promises to take the transistor radio out of the teen-ager's ear to a decorator styled walnut and brushed-styled stereo deck unit for living room, den or library that plays up to six tape cartridges in one loading as conveniently as the old automatic record-changer. There's even a unit with AM/FM radio and a battery-operated recorder/player ideally suited for office dictation. Prices range from about $30 to $250.

In addition to the eight new Autoload cassette models—five of which have stereo—Bell & Howell has brought out two new reel-to-reel tape decks featuring automatic threading.

"Before these new recorder/players were developed, threading a reel of tape was as much a problem for the tape fan as threading a needle is to the housewife," commented J. H. Trax, vice president and general manager of the company's new Tape Division. "Now that threading has been eliminated, we expect tape to send the phonograph recording spinning on its ear."

The new reel-to-reel units have other automatic features, including automatic reversing to permit continuous play, automatic tape lifters, and automatic head de-magnetizing.

All in all, after 20 years of development, tape recorders have finally been brought to the point where everyone may soon be using them.

Driver Training In The Sky

Student pilots are now taking flying lessons in pairs at Embury-Riddle Aeronautical Institute, the "University of the Air," in Daytona Beach, Fla. They're learning to fly in aircraft such as this four-place business pleasure Dartar Commander using Embury-Riddle's Gemini-Flite instruction technique.

Student pilots in Daytona Beach, Florida, are learning to fly in less time than ever before. They're learning to be safer pilots, too, in modern four-place aircraft, instead of the old two-place "trainers" in which most of today's pilots earned their wings.

The four-seaters ease the transition from flying training aircraft to piloting the high performance business/pleasure airplanes they will be operating after they receive their pilot's licenses.

Embury-Riddle Aeronautical Institute, the "University of the Air," has one of the nation's leading flight schools, is pioneering a new concept in civilian flight training which involves a second student riding along as an observer on training flights. The unique training system is called the "1-1 Gemini-Flite Technique."

According to Jack R. Hunt, president of Embury-Riddle, student pilots learn more when they're not under a lot of pressure. "When the student is operating the controls, he often tends to worry more about what the airplane is doing and not what he is doing. Sitting in the back seat, however, he can learn from the mistakes being made by the student pilot up front at the controls. The next time they go up, they swap places and the other student learns from his mistakes."

The typical student observer at Embury-Riddle is busy concentrating on what's going on up front. He knows that the instructor is talking to him as well as to the student flying the airplane. The observer is expected to answer the same post-flight quiz as the student pilot.

The student observer also participates in pre- and post-flight instruction sessions on the ground. In the air he performs many "copilot" duties which give him an excellent opportunity to increase his own flying proficiency.

A potential problem connected with the Gemini-Flite Technique was noise. While not a serious problem, it is annoying and can make it difficult for the observer to hear what the instructor is saying. Embury-Riddle is now purchasing Dartar Commanders, whose cockpits are specially designed and acoustically insulated to minimize cockpit noise.

The school is now using the Gemini-Flite Technique in all of its flight training programs. Student reaction has been excellent. The students like the idea of "team learning." They feel they're getting more out of each course than before.

An Embury-Riddle flight instructor summed up the program this way: "It's good, psychologically. The students come here to fly and this system lets them spend a greater amount of their time in the air, and increases their 'air awareness'."

Spotlight on HEALTH

HOPE FOR THE EMPHYSEMA PATIENT

BY STEPHEN M. AYRES, M.D.

Director, Cardiopulmonary Clinic, St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, N.Y.

Emphysema, a chronic disease of the lungs, once considered hopeless, can no longer be considered as such. We know a good deal more about the illness now than we did only a few years ago.

What is emphysema? It is a condition in which the walls of the millions of tiny air sacs, called alveoli, become stretched with "trapped" air which the patient cannot expel. In time, the strained walls of the alveoli weaken and the air flow in and out of the lungs is obstructed. This forces an increased burden on the heart which must pump blood through the damaged lung.

What actually causes emphysema is unknown. However, the evidence is gradually accumulating that it is related to airway irritants, and that people inhale these irritants either through tobacco smoking or through exposure to air pollutants. There is also an additional factor which is genetically predisposed.

The best way to treat emphysema is to prevent it. The ideal way is to stop smoking. Young people should be encouraged not to start. If you have a chronic cough, see your doctor. Respiratory infections can often be prevented by use of an appropriate antibiotic.

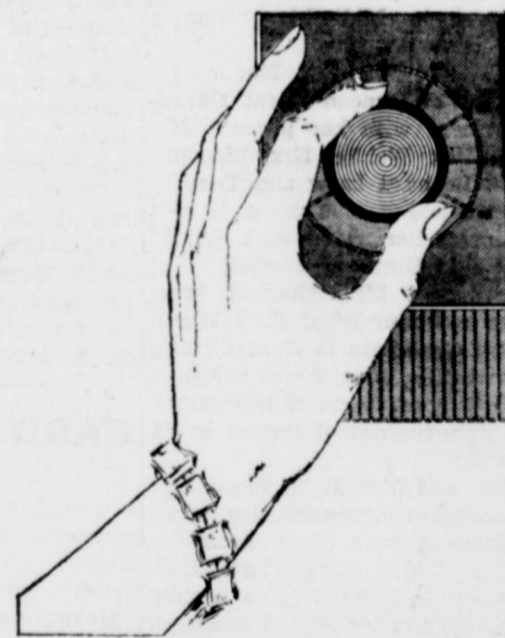

Change of atmosphere, if it is heavily-polluted may be indicated for the emphysema patient. Some physicians advocate breathing exercises.

The use of a pocket-size nebulizer such as the Isuprel Mistometer, which contains measured doses of isoproterenol, clears the airways of the lungs and alleviates the shortness of breath symptom. Most patients should also have a home unit for inhalation of warm, humidified isoproterenol. They are given careful instructions for proper use of each device.

Emphysema is not a hopeless disease. Although it cannot be cured, we can do a great deal to prevent the disease from becoming worse. Skillful, intensive therapy can improve most patients.

COUNTY H-D AGENT NEWS

White sales this time of year can offer bargains in towels. says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent. But how can you decide what to buy to get a bargain?

Check the fiber count, the number of warp (lengthwise) threads plus the number of filling (crosswise) threads in one square inch. More threads per inch means better and faster drying.

The number and height of the loops makes the difference in quality. However, long loops which are far apart do not make a good towel. Long or short loops, close together, make the best towel, according to Miss Wirges. This makes it more absorbent.

The background for the loops should be firm and closely woven. Examine the weave by holding the towel up to the light. The pin holes of light should be tiny and even.

Check the salvage. A good towel has extra threads in the salvage. This makes it stronger. Cheap towels usually have hemmed edges, expensive towels may have one hemmed edge. The hemmed salvage should be sewn with small, even stitches.

If the salvage is properly finished, regardless of the kind, it will give satisfactory wear for the life of the towel. Overedging, which is the over-locked stitching on all four sides of a wash cloth, should be close and evenly stitched to avoid any raw edges or threads from showing.

Check the hems to be sure they are sewn with small stitches, suggests Miss Wirges. In towels with fringed hems, the fringe should be dense and uniform in length with the plain area above tightly woven.

Homemakers serving as demonstrators in housing will begin their planning this month. These homemakers work with the county home demonstration agent to make plans and develop their projects. Mrs. Bee Bryant is chairman of the Wichita County Home Improvement Committee.

Outdoor carpeting, introduced about a year ago in a limited assortment of solid colors, today is available in colorful printed and embossed designs thanks to modern printing and dyeing processes.

Its variety of striking colors, handsome embossed and printed designs, texture variations and do-it-yourself delight - carpet tiles, have made it extremely popular.

The Profit Squeeze

Thus two tax incentive programs which the Federation believes are most important may receive more serious attention in the 91st Congress, although it will be controlled by the opposition party.

One would permit a business to plow back more money into its operations before the Federal income tax bite; the other would encourage location of new business enterprises in rural and economically-depressed areas.

Surveys by the Federation indicate business in rural areas and farm states are particularly hard-pressed in view of lower prices on farm products.

Most of the independent owners believe that enforcement of antitrust laws against unfair competition and monopoly conditions must be improved, and spokesmen for the new Administration have indicated that the President will be more forceful in antitrust matters, especially as they affect inflation.

Federation polls indicate that most independents believe the nation's economic health could be improved by trimming the Federal budget, tax reforms, abandoning some Great Society welfare programs, and more genuine concern over the future of the free enterprise system.

Many will be anxious to see what role the Small Business Administration will take; it has undertaken socio-economic experiments to the detriment of technical assistance and loans to small business.

businesses numbering almost 5 million and employing some 35 million persons, the Federation warns that an increased failure rate among them, due to inflation, tax burdens, profit squeeze etc., could well trigger a recession.

Although profit was not a specific survey question, the "profit pinch" apparent from other statistics is being confirmed by man volunteer comments, such as this one: "Our company has had nearly 30 years of uninterrupted profit, but the last two years have resulted in loss operations in spite of substantial increases in volume and a sincere effort to control costs."

And, "The older I get, the harder I have to work and the more I have to invest to make the same income."

FILM-MAKING FUN

Educational Movies—Easy as ABC!

With traditional teaching methods being questioned on all sides, many members of today's new teaching generation have been searching for more meaningful tools of instruction.

As a result, educators everywhere are learning how easy it is to make their own classroom movies. While films have always been a favorite teaching device, it is often difficult to determine from a catalog which film is right for the subject at hand, and then, there is frequently a long waiting list. This situation combined with a rising interest in genuinely creative teaching are making do-it-yourself educational movies the coming trend for teachers.

The ability to film from infinity all the way down to 1" from the subject, handheld, and to then show minute detail greatly enlarged on a screen are important reasons why the Bolex 155 Macrozoom camera is fast becoming part of an imaginative teacher's standard equipment! Its zoom lens coupled with a coincident rangefinder, accurate automatic exposure, and easy operation makes macrofilming as uncomplicated as normal range filming. No professional experience is necessary.

The obvious application for educators is, of course, the how-to films of a laboratory or some other complex procedure. But students can benefit from a step-by-step visual demonstration of almost any subject, rather than having to slowly read and follow each outlined detail word for word. The Bolex 155 enables teachers to take material from the printed page and to arrange it into an effective presentation of their own. With this kind of filming capability in hand, there is virtually no idea that can't be filmed. The only thing that's required are the ideas themselves — and today's teachers have plenty of those!

day of the death of Mr. Joe Green in Lubbock, Tex. Mr. Green was the brother of Mrs. Carl Foster and Mrs. R. L. Wyatt. Funeral services was conducted Monday in Lubbock and burial in the Burkburnett Cemetery Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bates of Stillwater spent the past week end with parents Mr. and Mrs. Tom Monson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Booher spent Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Easley in Borger, Tex.

News From The County Agent

Due to a 30 per cent increase in the use of commercial fertilizers in Texas over the past five years, per acre crop yields have materially increased, says county agent B. T. Haws.

A continuing search for conditions that will provide profitable returns from fertilizer use is in progress because of the low cost of plant nutrients in relation to other agricultural production inputs. The average price of plant nutrients has increased very little during the past 15 years, and the cost of some nutrients has declined during recent years. This means that agricultural producers should strive to make maximum use of plant nutrients.

One particular soil condition that needs more attention if many producers are to keep their production on the increase is soil variation. Soils vary from farm to farm, from field to field and even within fields. This variation must be recognized and evaluated.

Low production can often be diagnosed by a soil test. Soil testing procedures are being constantly improved and more data are available to calibrate the laboratory test so that results express the level of available nutrients.

When collecting information on which to base next year's fertilization, be sure to include results from previous tests, soil variations, and previous fertilization. Also visit the county agents office to obtain results from fertilizer demonstrations and soil fertility research data and to check recent publications.

"Closing time" as it relates to 1968 farm records, is at hand. This means totaling up the balance sheets on farm and home enterprises and taking a close, hard look at what has happened during the past year. A close look should point up the problems that must be met in planning for 1969 and the years ahead. Records often reflect whether management changes are needed and also whether an enterprise should be expanded or dropped. Furthermore a complete set of records is a must for proper income tax reporting. Regularly kept records can save dollars at tax paying time for deductible expenses are often overlooked, especially if paid for in cash.

Communities Merge 'Best' of Two Worlds

In recent years, multitudes of families traded concrete sidewalks for fresh air, green lawns and wide-open spaces. But, since man cannot live by crabgrass alone, many homeowners fled back to the city. Having recaptured urban assets, they began to miss suburban advantages.

What these homeowners wanted were the combined assets of urban and suburban life—"big city" culture, suburban spaciousness, rustic beauty, modern conveniences and old-fashioned comfort—without the liabilities of either. Their dream might seem utopian, except that it is being met by a sophisticated new type of community planning.

How town planners, researchers, builders and designers are satisfying this difficult demand can be seen in two recently-developed projects: Columbia, Maryland (conceived as a new and total city), and Prestbury, Illinois (which will be a modern reproduction of an Old English town).

Both Columbia and Prestbury offer what might be termed the best of suburbia—quality homes, good architectural design, rustic surroundings, spacious zoning and on-site recreational facilities: lakes, pools, bridal paths, golf courses, tennis courts and country clubs.

Both will offer city conveniences: on-site schools, churches, shopping centers, social and cultural activities.

Columbia, located midway between Washington, D.C. and Baltimore, places primary emphasis on city aspects. It plans a population of 110,000, many of whom will be employed in on-site businesses and industry. A cluster plan of development will provide individual neighborhoods that include private homes, apartments and public facilities, and a downtown area will boast department stores, shops, theaters, and restaurants.

Prestbury, located near the Chicago suburb of Aurora, will be a frankly "prestige" community offering, according to developer R. C. Appel, "the charm and gentle living of the English countryside." All architecture will be traditional (no contemporary design allowed). Public buildings will be of Old English design. Even the name "Prestbury" derives from an old English town. This community is planned for a population of 6,000 zoned into a "core" of single-family homes and six sections of multi-family dwellings including town houses and a 20-story condominium.

Both communities will exercise methods such as house plan approval and deed restrictions to protect the quality of homes. Model homes set the pace through use of high-quality building materials such as Andersen windows.

SURE MUSTA HAD A GOOD TIME IN TOWN LAST NIGHT. I FEEL TERRIBLE THIS MORNING

The Land Around Us... by THOMPSON

100 YEARS AGO, THERE WERE 23 MILLION PEOPLE IN THE U.S. NOW THERE ARE MORE THAN 200 MILLION - AND THERE WILL BE CLOSE TO 400 MILLION IN 2000.

100 YEARS AGO, THERE WERE 74 ACRES OF FARM LAND AVAILABLE TO EACH PERSON. NOW THERE ARE LESS THAN 3 ACRES OF ARABLE LAND PER PERSON.

100 YEARS AGO, ONE FARMER PRODUCED ENOUGH FOOD FOR HIMSELF AND ABOUT FIVE OTHERS. TODAY'S FARMER PRODUCES ENOUGH FOR MORE THAN 39.

100 YEARS AGO, MOST OF THE POPULATION OF THE U.S. LIVED ON FARMS. TODAY 94% LIVE IN TOWNS, CITIES AND THEIR SUBURBS.

100 YEARS AGO, ONE HALF OF THE CROPS PRODUCED BY FARMERS WERE COMMONLY LOST TO PESTS. TODAY FEWER FARMERS USING LESS LAND, PROVIDE MORE AND BETTER FOOD FOR MANY MORE PEOPLE, BY USING CHEMICAL PESTICIDES AND OTHER SCIENTIFIC AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENTS.

FINALIST—Mrs. George Cammack, Dewitt, Neb., won first place in the adult division of the National Grange Cotton Sewing contest. She and two other division winners will compete for the grand prize in November. Mrs. Cammack's entry was a screen-printed cotton dress with raspberry textured coat.

AFTER THE PARTY IS OVER

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Have you ever felt like this little girl after a big, exciting day at the Fair, or a party? You know how you feel — excited, exhausted; but you feel good, too. Sometimes you just want to lie down and think about it. But like the little one in this picture you, also, are too tired to remove your party hat or your shoes.

Sometimes it is delightful just to lie down and think of something good and wonderful and happy. It is good just to be still and sort of day-dream about what has happened.

There are other times in our lives when we need to achieve a sense of quietness and think of God. The Psalmist says, "Commune with your own heart upon your bed and be still." Psalm 4:4. God says in Psalms 46:10 "Be still and know that I am God."

We invite you to attend church and sense the still, quiet holiness that is God's presence in the midst of the congregation.

NOTICE

The Federal Communications Commission has designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding the mutually exclusive applications all for day-time new standard AM radio stations on a frequency of 850 kc with directional antenna systems as filed by Bill Thacker for Burkburnett, Texas, Howard M. McBee for Lawton, Oklahoma, and Allan Pratt Page for Anadarko, Oklahoma.

The Commission has designated the following issues for said hearing:

1. To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from the proposed operations, and the availability of other primary service to such area and populations.
2. To determine with respect to the application of Bill Thacker:

- a) Whether a bank loan of $25,000 is available to the applicant, and, if so, the terms of repayment and the security required.
- b) The manner in which the applicant will obtain additional funds to construct and operate the proposed station for one year.
- c) Whether in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to (a) and (b), above, the applicant is financially qualified.

3. To determine whether the proposal of Bill Thacker will realistically provide a local transmission facility for its specified station location or for another larger community, in light of all the relevant evidence, including, but not necessarily limited to, the showing with respect to:

- a) the extent to which the specified station location has been ascertained by the applicant to have separate and distinct programming needs;
- b) the extent to which the specified station location are being met by existing standard broadcast stations;
- c) The extent to which the applicants program proposal will meet the specific unsatisfied programming needs of its specified station location; and
- d) The extent to which the projected sources of the applicant's advertising revenues within its specified station location are adequate to support its proposal, as compared with its projected sources from all other areas.

4. To determine, in the event that it is concluded pursuant to the foregoing issue (3) that the proposal will not realistically provide a local transmission service for its specified station location, whether such proposal meets all of the technical provisions of the Rules for standard broadcast stations assigned to the most populous community for which it is determined that the proposal will realistically provide a local transmission service, namely Wichita Falls, Tex.

5. To determine the efforts made by Bill Thacker and

6. To determine whether a grant of the proposal of Allen Pratt Page would be in contravention of the provisions of Section 73-35 (a) of the Commission's Rules with respect to multiple ownership of standard broadcast stations.

7. To determine with respect to the application of Allen Pratt Page:

- a) The basis for the applicant's estimate of first year operating costs and whether such estimate is reasonable.
- b) In the event the applicant will depend upon operating revenue during the first year of operation to meet fixed costs and operating expenses, the basis for such estimate and whether such estimate is reasonable.
- c) Whether, in light of evidence adduced pursuant to (a) and (b), above, the applicant is financially qualified.

8. To determine, in the light of Section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the proposals would better provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

9. To determine, in the event it is concluded that a choice between the applications should not be based solely on considerations relating to Sections 307 (b), which of the operations proposed in the above-captioned applications would better serve the public interest.

The hearing will be held at the office of the Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. commencing at 10:00 a.m. on March 12, 1969. Members of the public who desire to give evidence concerning the foregoing issues should write to the Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554, not later than January 10, 1969. Letters should set forth in detail the specific facts which the writer wishes to give evidence. If the Commission believes that the evidence is legally competent, material, and relevant to the issues, it will contact the person in question.

A copy of the application, all amendments and related material for Burkburnett, Texas as filed by Bill Thacker are on file for public inspection at the Chamber of Commerce, 412 Avenue C, Burkburnett, Texas.
