Chamber of Commerce Luncheon Each FIRST MONDAY At Town Hall, Everybody Invited Each Pays For His Meal

VOLUME 62

BURKBURNETT, WICHITA COUNTY, TEXAS (76354) THURSDAY, JULY 10, 1969

NUMBER 44

Almost everyone, friends, neighbors and baseball players, got into the act to help Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie C. Davis observe their 25th wedding anniversary Monday.

It was a total surprise to the Davis couple, and with as many friends as they have, keeping a momentous celebration a secret is quite a feat in itself.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis have singled out Weida Wilkenson and children, Madell Ellis, and the Jim Greene family for special thanks in helping with the event.

Davis, manager of a team in the summer baseball program, said the boys shared in the anniversary, and enjoyed it, and were enjoyed.

The couple has a son, pitching for Mills Grain, champions of the Midget League.

But Mrs. Davis professes a deep love for all the boys. "Everyone," she says.

Mr. Davis, employed at Mathis Chevrolet, hasn't been able to manage a team, but Mrs. Davis admits to holding down the bleachers for the past ten years, ever since they have lived in Burk.

Not only does she have a fond attachment for the youngsters, she remembers them when they grow up, and corresponds with no less than 11 boys now in the services.

The celebration began at the ball park, with a gift or two, and imagine the couple's surprise when they returned home and found the party had preceded them there.

Kids from many of the other teams were there, along with a huge anniversary cake, bought by the boys who had pooled their meager funds.

"I can't help loving these kids," Mrs. Davis told us Tuesday morning, "and I wish every one of them were mine."

Her voice still choked with emotion, Mrs. Davis could hardly conceal her admiration for the men who work with them to make the entire baseball program possible.

So, we'll offer our belated congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Davis on their anniversary, and best wishes for many more, surprise or not.

Most folks have to watch their finances carefully, but a six-cent stamp, or the price of a telegram to your congressman may be a good investment.

The recent proposed cut in federal aid to impacted areas, such as Burkburnett, may result in increased school taxes to make up the deficit.

Under the present proposal, the local school system could lose thousands of dollars in federal aid.

And the only alternative would be in local taxes. So get busy, write or wire your congressman, and let him know that Uncle Sam's help for our schools, as well as schools in other military impacted areas is vitally necessary.

Jim Houston Wins $1,000 In Rodeos

Jim Houston, of Burkburnett, won nearly $1,000 at three rodeos over the Fourth of July weekend, according to the Rodeo Cowboys Association, which sanction the rodeos.

The Denver, Colo.-based association said Houston won $530 by placing second in steer wrestling at Livingston, Mont.; $304 by placing fifth in steer wrestling at Cody, Wyo.; and $162 by placing fourth in the average in bareback bronc riding at St. Paul, Ore.

Houston currently is eighth in the race for the 1969 all-around champion cowboy title, with a winnings total so far this year of more than $11,700, the association said.

GIRL SOFTBALL PLAYERS ARE HONORED AT BANQUET HERE

It was a wonderful evening, with mothers, dads, sisters, brothers and grandparents gathering to honor the girls who took part in the summer softball program.

The gala event was held in the American Legion Hall, and the huge hall was filled to capacity to see the team trophies awarded, and to see each girl receive an individual award.

Also honored were the most improved players on each team, as well as the best sportsman on each team.

The championship trophy was accepted by Jack Aaron, president of the Burkburnett Bank, sponsors of the league's top team.

The Burk Bank Squad, nestled in second place most of the season, defeated Clayton Bait

An Open House for the community will be held at Grace Lutheran Church on Sunday, 6:00-7:30 p.m. The public is invited to inspect the church's new Sunday School building, enjoy refreshments, and in this way share in the importance of this milestone in Grace Lutheran's life.

Dedicated on June 1st, the new building has already been put to use, for Vacation Bible School, Sunday School, and other meetings. Measuring 90'x30' and attached to the church's Parish Hall, the building includes one large multi-purpose room, 10 individual Sunday School rooms, rest room and kitchen facilities, and central heating and cooling. Contractor for the building was the Virgil Mills Construction Co., of Burkburnett.

Located "downtown" on the corner of 3rd Street and Avenue E, Grace Lutheran is a member of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod. Through this membership with approximately 6,000 other congregations throughout North America, Grace Lutheran helps to sponsor the international Sunday radio program, The Lutheran Hour, and the widely shown weekly television program, "This Is The Life."

Bank Deposits Here Continue To Show Gains In Latest Call

Deposits in the banks of Burkburnett showed an increase of almost one and a half million dollars as compared with this time a year ago.

At the First National Bank, deposits on June 30, this year, were $10,020,058.91, as compared with $9,069,901.55, for a gain of $950,157.36, since June of last year.

Deposits at the Burkburnett Bank for the same dates were $3,194,860.29 a year ago, and $3,711,330.54 this year, for a gain of $516,470.25, during the past one-year period.

The statements of financial condition were in reply to a call from the comptroller of the currency.

Total increase for both institutions was $1,466,627.61, reflecting a healthy economic condition for the Burkburnett area.

LOCAL POLICE HAVE BUSY HOLIDAY

The Fourth of July weekend may have been a holiday for most people, but it was more business than ever for the Burkburnett Police Department.

Three persons were cautioned about discharging fireworks during the period, several grass fires were reported, there were two accidents, and a 3-year-old child was injured by fireworks.

The fireworks injury victim was Ray Ann Matthews, of 330 Brookhaven. She suffered deep lacerations in the right leg at the knee, and deep cuts and lacerations on the left leg when a zig-zag bomb discharged by a 16-year-old neighbor boy struck her.

The incident occurred at about 1:25 p.m. Friday. Ray Ann was treated at SAFB Hospital.

No injuries were reported in an accident when cars driven by Clyde Farr and Roger Barnes collided in the 600 block of East Fourth at 7:35 p.m. Friday. Damage to the Farr vehicle was estimated at $25, and to the Barnes vehicle, $175.

In another accident at about 10 p.m. Sunday at Berry and Sheppard, Mrs. Nancy Williams was injured when her auto collided with one driven by Ollie Ratliff.

Mrs. Williams was treated at a Wichita Falls hospital. Neither Ratliff or his wife were injured.

A coin operated novelty vending machine at the Palace Theater was broken into, and merchandise removed sometime Thursday night. No money was removed from the machine.

Sunday, robbery of the concession stand at the Midget League Ball Park was reported. About $25 in candies and drink syrups were stolen, and several baseballs.

Even chickens and ducks were victims of the long holiday weekend. About 20 chickens belonging to a Burkburnett woman were killed by dogs. The owner of the dogs promised to make restitution and to keep the dogs penned in the future.

Five black and white ducks were reported stolen from another Burkburnett residence.

CITY COUNCIL HAS MEETING MONDAY

The Burkburnett City Commission approved an agreement with area cities for mutual aid in fire-fighting, went on record as opposing taxes in income from municipal bonds, and made it known that they oppose proposed rate increases by the Lone Star Gas Company in Burkburnett and other Texas cities.

These actions were taken during a busy session of the commission Monday night. The agreement for sharing fire-fighting equipment will involve Henrietta, Electra, Archer City, Iowa Park and Wichita Falls.

Congressmen representing this area will receive copies of resolutions concerning the taxes in municipal bonds. In the past, income from such bonds were income tax exempt, allowing municipalities to issue bonds at favorable rates.

Recently, Lone Star Gas Company had announced that it intended to seek rate increases in Burkburnett and many other cities and towns. The increase request, now before the Texas Railroad Commission, is being contested by cities which are members of the Texas League of Municipalities.

First steps for the installation of new traffic signals on East Third were taken when the council approved installation of pipe conduits at three intersections.

Proposed Cuts In Federal Aid To Schools To Hamper Local Schools

Proposed cuts in federal aid to schools in federally impacted areas may seriously affect operations of the Burkburnett Independent School system for the coming year.

So said I. C. Evans, superintendent, when he spoke to the Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce Monday noon.

Evans cited the growth of the system from 1950 to the present year.

In 1950, he said, enrollment was less than 1,000 students. The budget for that year was $169,916.10.

This coming school year, with an expected enrollment of almost 4,000 students, operating costs are expected to be well in excess of $1.4 million dollars.

Federal aid to impacted areas has been cut from $300,000,000 to $185,000,000 by President Nixon. Impacted areas such as Lawton, San Antonio, Fort Worth and many others face the same dire financial problem as Burkburnett, and may find other sources of revenue to replace the reduced federal funds.

In addition, the local school district is faced with the problem of financing six additional class rooms to take care of increased enrollment.

Much of the district's financial woes stem from decreased valuation on oil producing properties, loss of 4,000 acres for military development, and the soaring enrollment which has far outpaced the economic growth of the district.

The federal funds are intended in lieu of taxes for students living in non-taxable areas such as SAFB housing areas.

The total of federal students has risen from 18% in 1950, to 67% for the past school year — from 177 federal students of a total of 977 in 1950, to 2,267 federal students of a total of 3,368 in 1967-68.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Goodbye to Miss, Minn, Mich and Mass

First it was the telephone company imposing zone numbers for direct-long distance dialing, and doing away with exchanges like MADison and SYcamore in favor of numbers like 62 and 79, making 10 digits in a phone number.

Then the Post Office started its Zip Code system, urging mail users to attach 5-digits after addresses. To help move the mail faster, was the plea. The campaign to "sell" Zip Code, which once seemed a failure, has done better than expected, partly because of a regulation that requires bulk business mail to be Zip-coded and pre-sorted.

So now we have telephone numbers like (code 317) 678-8352, and addresses like Jonesboro, Arkansas, 72401.

Not yet satisfied, Postal authorities have been pushing new state abbreviations to be used with the Zip Code. Two capital letters only. Mississippi will no longer be the familiar "Miss" but rather "MS." Now it will be Hattiesburg, MS 39401.

All the millions who diligently learned state abbreviations in grammar school must now re-learn them because the postal people say so. Businesses are being urged to make the change, which is probably the first step toward a regulation.

A few states have not been changed; North Dakota remains

ND (but no periods) and Kentucky is still KY. But look at some others: the sunniest states are now CA and FL and the largest AK and TX. Across the Midwest are KS, IA, IL, IN and OH. Under the postal regulations, Massachusetts is MA, which could very well stand for Maine. But Maine cannot be MA, or MI (Michigan) or even MN (Minnesota) so it must be ME. Like "Meane."

The postal people say "these authorized abbreviations will be coming into increasing usage and everyone should be familiar with them." They explain they are for new automated "reading" machines ($385,000 each) which will help move the mail faster. Promises, promises!

The public has grown so resentful of the Post Office as service has deteriorated despite Zip codes, postal rate increases, pre-sorting requirements, increased revenue and more employees, that it may be pressing its luck this time.

Besides, if the Zip code digits tell the postman the geographic region, the major post office distribution point and the local delivery area, why is a state designation needed at all? If five digits can do the job, why add an authorized state abbreviation?

It seems like another good example of the government's well-known propensity to overdo almost everything.

Make a party for the sandbox set in just a shake... with a frosted shake. Serve "as is" or fancy up in various shapes. For the beverages, put out icy-cold cans of the frothy, vitamin-rich shakes. The quintet of flavors — vanilla, strawberry, chocolate, chocolate fudge and coffee — comes in pull-tab cans. Just pop and pour.

If the mother of the house has just a bit more time, she might adventure with these two simple suggestions from the Borden Kitchen for freezing and shaping the shakes. One's an idea for a snowman or other favorite cookie shapes; the second is a tri-color pop from a cup. Here's the how-to-do:

SHAKY, THE FROSTY SNOWMAN: Pour three cans of frosted shake (any flavor) into a jelly roll pan lined with waxed paper. Freeze until very firm; then turn onto a chilled cookie sheet. With a cookie cutter quickly cut out shapes; then decorate with chocolate chips or shot, coconut or raisins to make gingerbread men or snowmen. Return to freezer. To serve, transfer from cookie sheet to plate with a pancake turner.

TRICOLOR POP (makes six): You'll need three different flavored cans of frosted shake — chocolate, vanilla and strawberry are the most colorful — six wooden skewers and six 6-ounce paper cups.

Fill one-third of each cup with a layer of chocolate. Freeze just firm enough to hold a skewer. Insert skewers into this first layer, pour in vanilla shake to fill another third of the cup. Freeze until firm and pour in a layer of strawberry. Freeze until very firm. To serve, simply peel off the paper cup.

WHAT IS TRUTH-IN-LENDING?

The truth-in-lending law effective July 1, covers virtually all credit for personal, family or farm use up to $25,000, and even more in real estate transactions. It's bound to affect you.

How the new law will change America's whole credit vocabulary was explained recently by Kenneth V. Larkin, senior vice president of Bank of America and chairman of The American Bankers Association Credit Committee. His comments should prove valuable to anyone shopping for bargains in credit.

"Everyone should understand that this law doesn't change credit rates," he began. "Its primary purpose is to make sure that the customer is fully informed about all the costs and conditions of any credit contract. Among other things, it requires that all lenders use the same method of stating credit charges—either the annual percentage rate, or up to January 1, 1971, its dollar equivalent. This makes it much easier to comparison shop for credit."

"Before this law," he continued, "banks often quoted charges in terms of dollars per $100 per year, either add-on or discount. Those latter terms refer to two different ways of writing installment loan contracts."

Mr. Larkin explained that "add-on" meant that the finance charge was added to the principal to be repaid, while "discount" indicated that the charge was deducted from the principal at the time the loan was made.

"Under the new law," he said, "a bank that used to quote $6 per $100 per year add-on on a one-year loan will now talk of an 11% annual rate, or $11 per year per $100 on the unpaid balance. The actual cost, of course, is the same."

When asked why this should be, he pointed out that the old dollar rate applied to the total amount borrowed, though the borrower didn't have the use of the entire amount for the whole year. After six months of a one-year loan, half of it had been repaid, so the average amount outstanding was only about half the original total. Since the annual percentage rate is determined by dividing the finance charge by the average amount outstanding, the figure would be almost double that of the old dollar rate.

"Remember, only the language has changed," he cautioned. "The cost to the customer is the same. It isn't just a simple conversion from dollar rate to annual rate, however. When figuring the new rate, some items not usually covered in the old dollar rate must be included—service charges and fees for credit reports, for example, and credit life insurance when required by the lender. Still, the borrower has always had to pay these items, so there is no actual change in cost to him."

Mr. Larkin went on to discuss how the new law applies to bank credit cards and revolving credit accounts. Finance charges on these accounts have usually been expressed as a monthly rate—a percentage of the unpaid balance each month on the billing date. To arrive at the annual percentage rate required by the new law, this monthly rate is simply multiplied by twelve. Thus, a 1 1/4% monthly rate becomes an 18% annual rate.

"You will note that the rates quoted on this type of account are quite a bit higher than those on simple installment loans," Mr. Larkin pointed out. "This is somewhat misleading. In the first place, the customer usually gets a grace period of at least 30 days—up to two months—during which he can pay his bill without any finance charge at all for the credit he uses. Since most people pay off this type of credit in six months or less, the interest-free grace period may amount to a third or half of the period when credit is extended, reducing the effective rate proportionately."

"Of course, the amounts involved in bank credit card and revolving credit accounts are usually smaller and the monthly processing expenses are proportionately much higher," he explained. "With an installment loan, the only processing involved each month is recording your payment. With a credit card, the bank must record each individual purchase, then total these charges at the end of the billing period, compute the interest on any unpaid balance, make out your bill, mail it, and finally, record your payment."

Mr. Larkin noted that mortgage rates are lower than regular installment loan rates because the average cost to the bank per dollar loaned is lower. The amounts of the loans involved are substantially larger, and the repayment periods are much longer. This helps to offset the monthly processing expenses, and the bank passes on the saving to the customer in lower cost per dollar borrowed.

The truth-in-lending law will have comparatively little effect on the description of mortgage rates, according to Mr. Larkin.

"Mortgage rates have usually been described in terms of simple annual rates," he said. "Under the new law, however, if points, finder's fees or other charges are required, these must be included in the finance charge. Although the effect of this requirement is to increase the rate quoted to the borrower, the actual cost remains the same because the borrower has always paid these other charges."

"The truth-in-lending law should foster the informed use of credit by consumers," Mr. Larkin concluded. "The responsibility is still in the hands of the customer, though. Once he has all the information, it is up to him to make a reasonable decision, based on the quality of goods and the terms of the loan involved, as well as on the cost of credit."

"Banks are solidly behind this new law, not only because it will aid their customers, but for purely selfish reasons as well. We know that bank rates are among the lowest available anywhere. With the new law making it so much easier to compare rates, banks can't help but benefit."

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Health Insurance Institute, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. In a recent magazine article I read something about a new type of community health plan being set up in conjunction with Harvard University. We could use something like this in our neighborhood, so I wonder if you could fill me in on the details? Are there similar plans elsewhere?

A. The Harvard Community Health Plan is an innovation which will be implemented late this year. It is expected to provide valuable new data about the problem — common to many cities — of how medical care can become accessible to more people and better organized. It is the nation's first university-sponsored prepaid medical care program offering comprehensive health services to people in a metropolitan area.

Specifically, the Harvard Community Health Plan will operate independently of Harvard University, although it will enlist the resources of the Harvard Medical School, some of its teaching hospitals, major insurance companies and the Massachusetts Blue Cross to offer a total health care program. Subscribers to the plan will be provided with comprehensive care — ranging from diagnostic services to treatment in the doctor's office, full hospital and even post-hospital care. Emphasis will be on the prevention and early detection of disease. It is hoped that the organized health care setting will permit more efficient use of medical manpower and equipment.

Tips From The Pros: The man over the plate is Chicago Cubs catching star, Randy Hundley, showing fellow baseball fan, Brad Moss, 9, the proper way to protect the plate from an incoming base runner. Randy positions himself directly in front of the plate, facing third base in a low crouching stance, feet about shoulder width apart. This prepares him for an impact with the incoming runner. His left foot is firmly placed about three to four inches inside the third base line, leaving a portion of the plate exposed. Randy stresses the importance of holding the ball with both hands. The ungloved hand presses the ball tightly into the pocket of the mitt. This makes the mitt a protective shield for the ball. Both hands are held about knee high and in close to the body. As the runner makes his slide, both hands are placed on the runner to tag him out. Randy is the first in a series of professional athletes to participate in a program of sports instruction sponsored by Peter Pan Peanut Butter. While waiting for his turn at the plate, Brad grabs some quick energy with a peanut butter sandwich.

CATFISH ARE GLUTTONS

Channel catfish are probably the hungriest fresh water fish in the United States. They'll eat almost anything, and stay up all night to do so.

Studies show the kinds of food eaten by catfish number into the thousands and include mammals, birds, amphibians, insects, reptiles, fruit, seeds, leaves and oddities too numerous to mention.

Yet, with such a versatile appetite, catfish are selective about what they'll eat — and when they'll feed. Successful catfish anglers, say the fishing authorities at Mercury outboards, are just as selective in their choice of catfish baits.

"Stink" baits are the most common catfish lure. They're particularly effective in spring and fall. Cheese is usually the base ingredient, additives such as flour or corn meal provide substance, and such things as oil of anise, tarragon, or asafoetida join the mess to provide the correct odor. Stink bait is generally fished on the bottom.

Chicken blood is probably the best catfish bait of all. The main problem is to keep it on the hook. Blood bait is made by letting fresh blood coagulate under refrigeration, and cutting coagulum into strips. To fish blood bait, anchor your boat, place the bait in the water as easy as possible and don't move it after it has reached bottom.

Live baits — minnows, crayfish, frogs — are also effective catfish getters. They can be floated or still fished — although floating will usually produce the most catches. The secret, say the Mercury experts, is to have a lively bait.

Whatever the choice of bait, you're in for some gourmet dining when you've caught a mess of catfish. Cut into one-inch-thick steaks, dipped in milk and rolled in corn meal, then deep-fried . . . there's nothing on the table that can beat them for eating.

REST

A day of play has tired this little one, but now sleep will bring about the needed rest. This is the time for restoring energies, and breaks the day's pace. The Lord set aside a day for rest and worship. This day allows us to be in the Lord's house and renews our energies for the week to come.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Berlin Men Trust City's Lady Drivers

One out of every 22 cabs in West Berlin has a woman driver behind the wheel, and the 200 lady cabbies are gaining increasing acceptance among their 4,300 male colleagues. There is no real competition, because the men usually go on to other jobs after two or three years, and it often happens that their wives or daughters take over for some extra pin money.

Take for example Christel Szymaniak, 35, the attractive blonde who has been driving for ten years and got her hack license in 1966. She drives a Mercedes, works as much as ten hours a day when she wants to, and enjoys every minute of it. The pay is modest by U.S. standards, but higher than what she used to get as a shop assistant, and will average about $125 per week once she saves enough to buy her own cab.

Christel is divorced and has no children, but most of her lady-cabbie friends are married, often to other taxi drivers or owners. They greatly prefer the day shift, though some spell their menfolk from 7 p.m. to midnight so's to have the daytime free for the house and children.

"I like driving because it lets me plan my own time," says Christel. "There's no-one always telling me what to do. And it's possible to take a short break for some quick shopping." How about smart-aleck fares? "No, I have never had any unpleasant experiences; the men as well as women are always most polite. And I'm glad to see even men who are often very critical of their wives' or daughters' driving, get into my cab without batting an eye."

The Working World

By Neil R. Cronin

Neil R. Cronin is Director of Temporaries, Business Schools, Victor Comptometer Corp.

Ready or not, most Americans are forced to retire at age 65. Fortunately, able retirees can still find profitable work if they want it. One of the best ways is temporary help.

The unemployment rate is at one of the lowest levels in history which means experienced, competent help is hard to find. Consequently, temporary help offices are being overwhelmed by requests for their services. Ours is not the only company to enlist the large wealth of talent among retirees.

Neil R. Cronin

Jobs For Retirees
We find that many retired people prefer temporary work because it does not tie them down to a regular schedule and they can stop anytime to protect their social security benefits and then come back the following year.

The same company that forces its employees to retire at a certain age has no objection to using qualified temporary workers who exceed their employment age limits. After all, they do not have to support benefit programs for the retiree.

Another advantage to the company is instant use of an experienced expert who has the maturity to make sound judgments.

Many retirees will find themselves in positions that prove more interesting than their former jobs.

Most Skills In Demand
One difficulty for retirees, of course, is in deciding where to look for employment. Few firms advertise for people over 65 in the want ads. Temporary help firms are easy to find in the yellow pages and the progressive ones welcome retirees. Although the temporary help field uses almost every skill, the biggest demand is for office workers.

Here are some of the critical needs: clerical supervisors, typing, figurework, keypunching, management planning, filing, survey taking and surveying, solicitation, selling or order taking by telephone.

After you make up your mind to become a temporary, take these steps:

Draw up a one-page summary of your skills and experience to guide the temporary help placement manager.

Send the summary with a brief cover letter to an established temporary help office and follow up by telephone after a few days.

If you are not called in for an interview and placement, try another office. You shouldn't have any difficulty if you have ability.

Assignments Vary

Many temporary positions are semi-permanent in nature because of long-term projects or the needs of a company. You can make up your own mind as to whether you want short or long assignments. Of course, it is to your advantage to find a firm that offers flexibility of hours.

If you have been out of action for awhile, choose a firm that offers brush-up courses.

The sparkling musical comedy and opera star, Patrice Munsel, will be seen as La Mome Pistache in the lively and colorful musical, "Can-Can," when it is on stage at the Music Hall in Dallas for fourteen performances, July 8 to 20. Her earlier appearances for the Dallas Summer Musicals in "South Pacific," "The Merry Widow" and "Kiss Me Kate" foretell an exciting performance, both in the well-known Cole Porter songs but also as the leader of the spectacular "can-can" dance. Co-starring with Miss Munsel will be Robert Goss, also an operatic and musical comedy singer, with Suzanne Rogers, David Rae Smith, William L. Massena, Stan Zareff, Ted Forlow, Charles Herrick and Tony De Vicchi also in the cast.

We are ready!

If and when disaster strikes, thousands of telephone men and operators, and tons of equipment are available to help restore communications.

Emergency phone service for police, hospitals and city officials is the first order of action. Then attention is turned to customer telephones that may be crippled.

It's a job we would rather not have to do. But when necessary—whatever the emergency... floods... hurricanes... tornadoes—we're ready. We may be the only phone company in town, but we try not to act like it.

Summer YOUTH ACTIVITIES CALENDAR

The summer tennis program came to an end this week, and it was a rousing success. Scores of girls, and quite a few boys, learned the fundamentals of the game, and some advanced players added to their proficiency. Assistant Superintendent of Schools James Pearson expressed sincere thanks to Mrs. Dee Dillon for her volunteer efforts in the program, forecasting improved high school teams in the future . . . The girls' softball league banquet Tuesday night was a great success. We wish to extend our thanks and appreciation for all the adults who worked so tirelessly in the program . . . Tonight, Thursday, the annual Burkburnett Invitational Girls' Softball Tournament will open. The first game is at 6 p.m. Other games will be at 7:30 and 9 p.m. The same schedule will follow for Friday and Saturday, with continued play Monday and Tuesday if necessary.
