

This Week -- IN JAYTON

By Scoop

Last Friday noon Denny drove me over to the Lubbock airport where I caught a Continental jet about one o'clock for Colorado Springs. We touched down for a few minutes at Albuquerque, and then arrived in Colo. Springs in less than two hours.

This was my very first trip by air, and I thoroughly enjoyed it. Jet air speed is really something to behold. As the pilot turns on the fuel to get airborne the speed seems terrific. But as he turns the nose up and climbs and gets above the earth it seems to almost stop. And at 30,000 feet or more than five miles above the earth, things look small. As we zoomed past the Plains country with the section lines I counted them and we were making a mile every six seconds. But, yet the craft appeared to be barely moving.

The trip over the mountains from Albuquerque to Colo. Spring was very beautiful as we towered above the huge mountains, with their snow caps. My first time to see Pike's Peak, was looking down upon it from about 15,000 feet above its peak.

Colorado Springs, the State's second largest city with about 200,000 residents is very beautiful nesting in under a chain of mountains, the tallest being Pike's peak. It is basically a summer resort town. It has the old English atmosphere in the old original part of town. We were told its founder wanted it to look like London, and it seems to do so.

In the home where we spent two nights, the dining room faced the west with a large picture window. I sat and ate, looking out this window with a beautiful view of Pike's Peak.

I had heard about the severe winter weather there, but it was beautiful sunshiny weather the parts of three days that I was there. There was snow on the ground that had fallen Thursday.

I boarded the jet again Sunday afternoon for the return trip. We got off 35 minutes late, but the pilot made 25 minutes of it up before we got into Lubbock.

On the trip into Albuquerque a fellow passenger was a young man that had boarded the plane at Anchorage Alaska in the wee hours of the morning. With let downs at Nome, Seattle, and Denver, he was getting into Albuquerque in about ten hours.

As I boarded the plane in Colo. Springs, at the front of the passenger stood three large young Negro men, each about six feet eight inches, stooping down, so their heads would miss the top of the plane. I had to crowd by them to get on back into the seating area, as did the other boarding passengers. They were drinking cocktails, and drank a number more on the 45 minute ride into Albuquerque. On back behind them was a large number of young men. I was told by a fellow passenger they were the University of New Mexico basketball Lobos on their way back home from a Saturday night game.

From Albuquerque into Lubbock I sat in the window seat, and a very happy looking couple about 40, sat in the two other seats. Later, the lady told me they were on their honeymoon. She was a school teacher and her husband an attorney. They picked out Portales from the air as we flew over Clovis. That is where they would live. She also told me last year she taught an art class in Lubbock in which were several Ralls women. I did not ask their names.

The Jaybirds To Begin District Play at Patton Springs

The Jaybird boys and girls basketball teams go into district play this next Tuesday night when they take on the Rangers and Rangerettes in Patton Springs.

The boys were looking good for conference run, but Coach Wilt told the Chronicle Thursday morning he will be probably going out Tuesday night minus the service of two of his rugged rebound men, Earl Brownlee, and Dennis Cheyne. Both have injuries that may keep them on the bench, Wilt said.

In warm up games this past week, the boys lost to Albany 75 to 43 and to Aspermont 60 to 32.

The girls posted wins, both over Albany and Aspermont. The paper does not have the statistics on these games.

Mrs. Jack Phillips Funeral Is Held Here Monday

Services for Mrs. Redah Phillips, 57, a lifelong resident of Kent County, were at 1 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist Church in Jayton.

The Rev. M. L. Brewer of Aberrath officiated. Burial was in Claremont Cemetery directed by Campbell Funeral Home of Spur.

Mrs. Phillips, who was a native of Claremont, died at 5:30 a.m. Saturday in Callan Hospital in Rotan after a short illness.

Survivors include one daughter Mrs. Zana Sherer of Wichita Falls; two sons, Joe William and Jim Willie; two sisters, Mrs. Ida Lee Freels of Slidel, La. and Mrs. Bert Jay of San Antonio; and two grandchildren.

4-H'ers Win Trips and $50 Bond for Project Work

A youth who built up a herd of 125 cows in 4-H and a girl who got her classmates to eat better breakfasts attended the recent National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Another lad who specialized in capons captured a bond award.

Eldon McClurg, 18, of Tulia, and Kathy Hinton, 17, of Happy, received expense-paid trips to the congress as state award winners in their 1968 club projects.

James Randolph, 17, of Wickett, the poultry expert, won a $50 U.S. savings bond from Heisdorf & Nelson Farms, Inc., program sponsor.

McClurg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McClurg, swept to top honors in the agricultural program and had his trip sponsored by International Harvester Company.

Miss Hinton, the health award winner, was the guest of Eli Lilly and Company. The two 4-H'ers attended a pop concert played by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, conducted by the noted Arthur Fiedler. They also attended a horse show and went sight-seeing, with a stop at the famed Chicago Museum of Science and Industry.

McClurg showed the reserve champion heifer at the El Paso Fair this year and the first-place heifer at the Houston Show. He was superintendent of his community's livestock show.

In 1967, he was named the outstanding senior boy and high point boy at the county fair. He won the county agricultural, grain, sorghum and cotton trophies in 1968.

"My field crops demonstrations have helped me learn the latest farming methods, especially concerning fertilizers and chemicals," McClurg said.

Miss Hinton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hinton, took a survey of what members of her class ate for breakfast and then organized a demonstration entitled: "Wake Up to a Good Breakfast."

She also was instrumental in having the girls in her club keep charts to encourage better health habits.

Randolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Randolph, has specialized in capons during his seven years in the program, and has had three grand champions. His poultry demonstrations have taken first place in county competition four times. His capons have won poultry awards at the county level every year, in addition to winning four times at the district level and once at the state level.

As well as raising 90 capons, he now has 100 hens.

Some of Randolph's greatest satisfaction has come from junior leadership. "I really enjoyed this since someone else was learning something that I had already learned," he said.

He also has engaged in research, setting aside a pen of capons to study the effect of prolonged exposure to light, and another pen to study the effect of wet wash feed.

He, Miss Hinton and McClurg were selected as state award winners by the Cooperative Extension Service which directs 4-H work.

There Will Be No Surprises From The Thursday Night Board Meeting

The Jayton School Board of Education was to have held its regular monthly meeting (Thursday) last night.

The Chronicle has not been informed as to the agenda for the meeting, except that it is the regular annual time to consider the contract of Superintendent R. N. Pierce. It would take no great display of wisdom to second-guess the board as to what their actions were in this matter. No one will be surprised Friday morning to hear that the board gave Pierce a new three year contract with possibly a small raise in salary.

It is known by many in the community that "Bob" is ambitious, and would not turn down a promotion to a good Class A or higher school, if it represented a good "climb" up the education ladder. But this is not very likely. He is doing quite well in Jayton, and Jayton is doing real well by him.

Perhaps there are a few in the community that are unhappy with the school. We suggest you get out and look around a bit. Check some of the A and AA schools, and few small Class B schools, and then you will be better satisfied at Jayton. No school is to the point it can not or should not be improved. But the local school is doing a far better than average job.

A lot of people deserve their share of the credit; the school board, the superintendent and principals; the teachers and other employees; and the parents and the taxpayers, along with the students—it takes all of them trying to do a good job to have a good school.

A NOTE TO THE BUSINESS PEOPLE OF THE COMMUNITY

Right now, 1969 is a brand new year. We are all wondering how business will be this new year. Most people think business will tighten up a bit, and profits will be just a little harder to pick up.

This newspaper predicts that there will be some merchants who will show good profits in the new year, some will not do so well, and others will be forced to go out of business. And this will be determined in a great measure by the merchant himself, by his business and merchandising practices.

The merchant that survives and make a good profit, will be the one that offers his customers good merchandise, good service, and goes out after their business.

Never were the principles of the old proverb about people flocking to the place of the man that builds the best mouse trap, more true than today. The people today are trading where they find the things they are looking for—service, quality, price, friendship, etc. You can't coerce them and you can't obligate them.

Being a merchant in a small town close to a big city poses many problems, but none of them are insurmountable. And the way to overcome them is simply to use the advantages the small town offers and keep working at the job.

If you check the large town merchant that has real fine business, then check the daily paper, and see he has a strong advertising program in that paper. And he does it just for one reason, and that is because it is good business for him to do so.

What the daily paper does for the merchant in the big city, the weekly does for the small town merchant. There are other good ways of advertising, but the old reliable family weekly is the backbone of them all. People in small rural communities read the weekly paper just like they buy bacon and beans.

The publishers of this little weekly paper think we can help any merchant in town have a better year in 1969. We can plan an advertising program for even the smallest business, that will not cost you more than your business can afford, but it will keep your name before the customers constantly, and remind them they should be trading with you.

We would like for every business in town to advertise in this paper during the year of 1969. You are not obligated to us, you don't owe us anything, in fact — we make this appeal on just one basis — if will be a sound business investment to you, and will help increase your volume and your profits. If this, in turn, helps our business, then we all can be happy.

Jaybirds Get Nine Places On The All South Plains Football Team

Well, the Lubbock Avalanche Journal finally came out with its All South Plains Class B football selections, and, as was expected, the list was heavy with the names of Jayton Jaybirds.

Here is the way they put them:

DEFENSE: Joe McAteer, 175 lb. senior; Honorable Mention, offense: Joe McAteer, end; Bruce Boland, guard; Joe Alvarado, back; and Kim Nichols, back.

Honorable Mention, defense: Earl Brownlee, line-backer; Martin Garcia, deep back.

The Jayton Chronicle says congratulations to all of these boys, and to Coaches Coleman, Wilt and Newton; also to the other members of the squad who helped to make these honors possible.

GIRARD Pot Shots

The Kent County Grand Parents Club which numbered thirty five Grand Pa's and Grand Ma's enjoyed a waffle and sausage supper at the Home Ec. Building in Girard last Thursday night. Mrs. Jewel Hooper, President, opened the business part of the meeting, after the secretary's report dues for another year was paid by the group and after the business session 42 and domino games were enjoyed by all. Truman Murdoch got a vote of thanks for the home made sausage furnished by he and better half or as he says: "The War Department." Any way, the night was a lot of fun.

Visiting recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Brown were Mrs. Cora Bostic and daughter Lela from Rotan.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Pickens are the proud parents of a daughter born the 19th of Dec. in West Texas hospital in Lubbock. Her name is Christi De Ann. Paternal Grand parents are Mr. and Mrs. Durwood Pickens, Rt. 2 Spur and Maternal Grand parents are Mrs. Lela Meers of Seymour and Mr. A. L. Ussery of Mineral Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Crawford from Boswell, Okla. were recent visitors in the home of Mrs. Lois Simpson and A. B.

The re-vamping of the school system in Texas as proposed by the Connally administration is causing quite a "Stir" in Texas. Especially among the rural school patrons and tax payers who more than likely are going to have to dig deeper to pay the tax bill. In a meeting in Hamlin at the High School Cafeteria the night of Jan. 6th some three hundred people met to cuss and discuss the new proposals as laid out by the State Committee. Attending from Kent were: Norman Hahn, Geo. Darden, Bob Gallagher, Raldo Goodall, C. C. York and Mr. Pierce, Jayton School superintendent.

The citizens of Kent extend their deepest sympathy to the family of Mrs. John Phillips, life time resident of Kent County who died last Saturday.

George Smith went surgery in the Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene last Monday. Mr. Smith became ill last week and was in the Hamlin hospital for several days before being transferred to the Abilene hospital.

Mrs. G. H. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Thomas were shopping in Rotan last Saturday, and too Mrs. Brown is driving a brand new Red 1969 Galaxie Ford.

noon, I began to look for my ride home, and suddenly there the entire family was, and both of the boys had their cameras going.

I usually don't mention my church activities, in the paper or this column, but I had a very unusual experience while in Cojo Springs, and since it has no bearing on denominationalism, I think I will tell you about it.

My trip to Colorado Springs was for a series of four services at the Pikes Peak Primitive Baptist Church, at which I was the guest minister. We had a very enjoyable meeting. There was one couple that attended every service and seemed very interested and attentive; they were about sixty five years of age.

After the Saturday night service the man told me "you made several points tonight that I enjoyed and appreciated."

Then after the Sunday service, the man approached me again, with a very serious look on his face and said "There is something I want to tell you. You have helped me a great lot. In fact I had in mind to do something, that I know would have been wrong, but now, I will not do it. I feel now that, after all life is worth living."

SPORT OF SKYJACKING

It begins to appear that the people of the United States are about to make "Skyjacking" our favorite outdoor sport. We can be quite sure the airlines are deep in frustration and defeat since they have not found any way of preventing some lug with a toy pistol - or a real weapon - from stepping into the cockpit and ordering the pilot to land in Havana. Some citizens were discussing the matter and one suggested a trapdoor in the cockpit that could be triggered to drop the hold-up man through and let him make his way to the ground without benefit of parachute. The idea is very interesting, but the bandit, if he survived, would probably sue the airline for violating some constitutional right. Anyway, it's not practicable or he airlines would have thought of it, because up to now no lives have been lost - just an adventure for most of the passengers, and a lot of expense for the airlines; so let's not start a shooting war up there in a pressurized cabin four or five miles above the earth.

GROWING SALES TAX

Sunday's paper had a headline about how plagued the Texas legislators are about money troubles. That makes a whole lot of us. Governor John Connally knew two years or more ago that a crisis was coming; he swept it under the rug as best he could by making a one-year budget and made out with the sales tax, but now has come the moment of truth. The Legislature has got to raise a good many millions of dollars in new revenue. When the cities of Texas were given the privilege of assessing and collecting a sales tax of one cent, the opportunity was forthwith seized upon by most of the cities in Texas - in Lubbock County three cities, Lubbock, Slaton and Abilene are all collecting the limit of one cent. That makes a total of four cents of the sales tax in these towns, and doubtless throws a crimp in any ideas the State might have had to add that fourth cent. But the shock will wear off and doubtless we'll have a full five cent sales tax in a very few years.

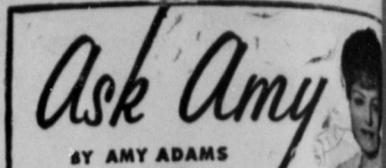

HIGHER EDUCATION, HIGHER COSTS

One proposition in the field of higher Education is a levy of $18 dollars a month against every student enrolled to be used for building purposes. That eighteen dollars a month wasn't a slip from eighteen dollars a year or a semester or a nine-month period - it would mean 182 dollars for a nine month year. That added to the two hundred dollars a year tuition would look pretty high for a lot of people and would start a terrible squawk from a lot more. There was a time when this graduate of two state schools would have howled as loudly as the next about the raise, but when I hear it said humorously that the chief problem at Texas Tech is to find parking space for the students' cars, I reflect that that is only a small item for the affluent parents who are sending the children to college. I should guess the automobile populations on the campuses of Simmons, and SMU and Baylor and TCU are just about as thick as what we see at Tech - and their tuitions are six hundred dollars and up. But back to the $182 proposed for the year's contribution to building fund; the insurance of one of those campus cars for junior is considerably more than the proposed tax, and we won't mention the monthly payment on said car - and of course the gas and oil go on the Credit Card of Pop. We know we can't get something for nothing, and we have to keep on living in the manner to which we are accustomed - we hope, so brace up, and be ready to pony up.

ASK AMY

BY AMY ADAMS

CAUSE FOR WORRY

Dear Amy: I am very pleased with your advice to teenagers and I agree with you entirely. Now I have a problem and I hope you will be able to help me.

For many years I have had a close relationship with my daughter. After her seventeenth birthday, I found out that she was necking with older boys. I told her that she would have to stop this, and she did... for a while. Lately she has been staying in her room, doing nothing and wasting her time. One day, I went up to her room and found her in a compromising situation with one of her older boyfriends.

I am very upset about this. Could you please help me with this problem?

Worried and Frightened Dear Worried:

Assuming your daughter knows right from wrong, mother, it is imperative to secure the help of a psychologist. There is a reason for her wanton behavior, and dealing with her yourself could even be more disastrous.

Dear Amy: I am a woman of 20, married and have one child. I expect another child in July. My husband is a drinker. He drank all the time and beat me every night when he came home. Well, we are now separated. He left me and our child for another woman and her three children. But he keeps coming to the house and tells me how much he loves me.

I try to discourage him by telling him that I don't love him and I don't ever want to see him again. But he waits about two weeks and he's back again.

Could he still love me or is he afraid of what I might do about the way he is carrying on with the other woman?

Mrs. C.A. Dear Mrs. C.A.:

Have the locks changed on your doors so that your husband cannot gain admittance. If your door is not open for him, he might 'sober' up!

Whether he loves you or not does not seem important at this moment, but rather that he act like a decent, respectable human being. If he doesn't straighten out by the time your child is born, see an attorney.

WYNNE CHESTER SAYS:

Be an Angel - Serve "Quail Divine"

By this time of year I've about reached the end of my collection of upland game recipes, and I inevitably find myself searching for a new one to add to the list. Don't get me wrong; my family and I love wild game no matter how it's prepared, but after all variety is the spice of life, and all that. Well, this year I've found a little gem. This one's an unusual recipe, too; just the thing for special occasions. It's called "Quail Divine."

Boil several quail or partridge in salted water until tender. Remove and slice meat. Mix a sauce of 1 cup cream, 2 tablespoons sherry wine, pinch mignonette, teaspoon Worcestershire. Cook a package of frozen broccoli.

Drain and arrange brocc caseero. Sprinkle brocc 1/2 cup grated Parmesan. Spread slices of quail. Pour over it. Sprinkle with cup of Parmesan cheese below hot broiler. Cook brown and bubbly.

Brown and bubbly is that sound delicious? Isn't it? No wonder they call it "divine." Serve this with French bread and a big salad, and the lucky soul partake of it will call you an angel for sure!
