This Week In Jayton

The old proverb "Every-one talks about the weather but no one does anything about it" could never be more true than recently. We have had a lot of weather to talk about. And some of us would like to do something with it, but would probably do the wrong thing. Again Tuesday morning, trees were covered with ice, but the sun came up clear and bright and the ice was soon gone.

They have a peculiar development in Fort Worth. The city has a ruling that if the expenses run more than twenty percent, a charity group cannot make a door to door solicitation of funds. The March of Dimes is in this category, say the city officials, and they have prohibited the drive for funds.

March officials filed a suit in US Supreme court but they upheld the ruling of the Fort Worth City Council.

Medical researchers have issued a new statement that the "pill" is not safe and may cause cancer. Many women as well as doctors are upset with this new report.

Researchers have tested the ingredients in the pill upon small animals. But one factor involved should be taken into consideration--the dosage used in the experiments is in concentrated form and in far greater proportions, than is taken in the regular doses. So the controversy continues.

Wayne Morse, veteran US Senator from Oregon, who first was a Republican, and then a democrat, and then rebelled again, and was defeated, says now he is going to run again. He is quite a colorful character. He was a loud spoken "dove" in the Viet Nam hearings last year.

Over in Lubbock the Commissioners Court has two projects which it is considering. One is the installation of voting machines, and the other is the juvenile detention problem. There is a strong pressure group pushing for each one. "We can't do them both" the Court is telling them. Editorial writers in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal have been telling them they can do them both.

The US Supreme Court has slapped the wrists of draft boards who have changed the classifications of young men for their attitude toward the draft. The high court says that the congress has not given them the authority to change a registrant's classification, merely because they do not like his attitude. They also have other draft problems un-

Renal Rosson Is Candidate For Reelection

State Representative Renal Rosson has authorized this newspaper to announce that he is a candidate for reelection. Mr. Rosson is presently serving as chairman of the Judicial District committee, and a member of the Conservation and Reclamation, Judiciary, Labor and oil and Gas Committees.

He states that "It is also my privilege to be a member of the Texas Civil Judicial Council, and was recently appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives as one of three members to serve on the 18-man committee to study the relationship between the state and the local school districts and the structure of the economic index now in operation in financing the Minimum Foundation School program in Texas."

Cong. Purcell Visits Jayton

Congressman Graham Purcell was in Jayton last Thursday, and visited at the court house and the school, as well as with the businesses in the downtown area.

Purcell advised friends here that he had good hopes of the Viet Nam situation getting better, but he was pessimistic over the situation of the national economy, on account of the high interest rates, and "tight money" matters.

"What will this do to him?" friends of Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes have been asking, since Barnes' wife announced a few days ago that she was filing suit for divorce.

This is a common problem that many politicians have to face. Quite often we see this announcement about men in public office. Sometimes the public reacts negatively toward a man in this situation.

Florida Governor Claude R. Kirk, Jr. is telling the Supreme Court it cannot integrate its schools immediately. The Governor says the added financial burden involved in the immediate integration would throw the school districts outside their budgets, and cause financial chaos.

But the court continues to tell them they must do it. Will there be a major clash, on a point of law in Florida?

Governor McKeithen of Louisiana says his state will integrate the schools but they will resist in full strength against the busing of children across town to achieve racial balance. He has urged all people of the state to join in such a move. He says he will continue to send his children to public schools, but will insist they attend a nearby school, and not be transported across town.

Small Business Loans Advance In 69 Over 68

The Small Business Administration made more loans in 1969 to aid small businesses than it did in 1968 and nearly doubled its volume of loans to minorities, SBA Administrator Hilary Sandoval, Jr. said today.

Sandoval also said that small business, in general, performed quite satisfactorily during most of 1969, but the full effect of inflationary pressures small firms in the closing months of the year is yet unknown. Further, a slowing or reversal of economic growth could have a disturbing impact on small concerns. Historically, these concerns have suffered more under these circumstances than their large competitors.

Total lending under SBA's four major programs reached 14,000 loans totaling $679 million in 1969, Sandoval said. This compares with 13,592 loans amounting to $675.7 millions approved in 1968.

Despite the continuance of "tight money" SBA has shown a large increase in loans to minorities, he said. By December 31 more than 5,300 loans amounting to $128 million had been approved in this category, compared with 2,739 loans totaling $54 million in 1968.

Notes of Interest From The County H D Agent

Woolens and worsteds are fashion favorites for both warmth and good looks. To be well-groomed, choose your woolen wardrobe with an eye for good quality--and then give these garments a little care and kindness. Always hang garments up immediately after wearing. Wool fibers are elastic and light wrinkles will usually stretch out overnight. You can quickly steam away more firmly set wrinkles from packing or wearing by hanging the garment up in the bathroom while you lather up in a hot shower. Properly shaped hangers are a must for maintaining shoulder line. Pants should be hung by the cuffs, skirts by the waistband. It is wise to close all buttons, zippers, snaps and hoods. This helps retain shape and there is less need for pressing.

A clothes brush or an electric clothes brush is a handy aid in removing lint and surface soil before it becomes embedded in the fibers. Or use the vacuum cleaner with the soft brush attachment. If the brush isn't clean, give it a thorough washing in warm suds and rinse and let dry before vacuuming your clothes.

Spots should be treated as soon as possible. Immediate action when something is to blot up the moisture. Often a cloth or sponge wrung from warm sudsy water will prevent damage. Never rub wool. Consult a stain chart for removing different types of stains.

Some woven wools may be washed. Just give them the care and kindness fine fabric need and you'll be pleased with the resulting beauty and economy, but be sure that the lining, inter-lining, facing and trim of a garment are also washable. When buying yard goods or ready-to-wear, check the hangtag for care instructions.

For woven wools that are tagged machine washable, follow manufacturer's directions. Generally, a short wash cycle, gentle agitation will cool to lukewarm water and detergent is advised. Wash woolens before they are heavily-soiled and to pre-treat stains immediately.

If handwashing, use soap or detergent and cool to lukewarm water. Swish up the suds before putting the garment in.

Then squeeze the suds through several times. Always support the fabric with your hands because wool fibers are weaker when wet. The American Wool Council recommends a gently first wash for two minutes, a change to fresh suds for an additional one minute squeeze washing. Rinse thoroughly. Roll in a thick towel to absorb excess moisture before laying flat to dry.

When pressing wool, steam and a press cloth are important. And instead of sliding the iron back and forth, move it up and down. In combination with the steam, this technique lifts and renews the texture. The exception is woolens which include mohair or all-mohair garments with

NEW TRICKS STRETCH CLOTHING DOLLAR

With today's steadily rising costs, homemakers everywhere are faced with the problem of trying to make an ever-shrinking dollar go farther. And no matter what she does, sooner or later every mother faces the problem of children's clothes that are simply no longer wearable—either because the youngsters are growing out of them or because the fabric just hasn't lasted as long as expected. Children grow so quickly that their clothes sometimes seem to become smaller by the minute. Long sleeves become too short on both dresses and shirts, and every mother has experienced that sinking feeling that comes when her little one tries on a favorite dress that was new just a few months ago but is now too tight. Even worse, maybe the garment hasn't been outgrown, but the fabric has worn out. To help combat these common but serious problems, a new booklet has been prepared as a service to mothers. Called "10 Tips on How to Make Children's Clothes Last Longer," it contains ideas for giving new life to last year's clothes, as well as expert advice on proper laundering and fabric care. For example, the booklet reports there are ingenious ways of "stretching" clothes by adding gores and side seams and by turning long sleeves into short. Also, the booklet notes that one of the most common methods of damaging stained clothes is by overbleaching, since bleach works on the fabric as well as on the stain. Free copies of the new booklet, "10 Tips on How to Make Children's Clothes Last Longer," can be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dept. A, Simplex, 635 Madison Ave., New York City 10022.

Shopping For Dad?

Up a tree about what to give the man of the house for Father's Day? Make it easy on yourself and stop by the men's shirt department of your favorite store. If you haven't been in one lately, a big surprise is in store for you. Shirts have blossomed out in such a variety of styles, colors, and designs that they're by far the most important part of a man's wardrobe today. Make sure the shirt you select fits the man—not just in correct size, but in style and wear needs. If he's the conservative type, choose a pale colored cotton broadcloth shirt. If he's the daring type, try a cotton shirt in daffodil yellow or workshirt blue in a bold solid or dashing stripes. Outdoorsman? He'll go for a sporty cotton knit. All men have a common preference in shirts—and that's the comfort factor. You can't go wrong on this score if you pick an all-cotton shirt. Whether it's broadcloth, oxford cloth, a knit or a voile, it'll be cool and comfortable.

AUSTIN ... With the State's April 15 motor vehicle inspection deadline approximately 90 days away large number of Texas motorists have yet to take their vehicles in for the mandatory annual safety inspection.

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today urged all motorists whose vehicles have not been inspected to visit an inspection station as soon as possible. "Those getting the inspection now will avoid long lines which are certain to develop at many stations as the April 15 deadline draws near," he said.

The DPS Director noted that Texas adopted an annual inspection program on September 1, 1969. All vehicles inspected since that date have the sticker placed on the left side of the windshield of the vehicle with a large number tab inserted to show the month of expiration.

ROGENE'S FLOWERS

Attend The Church of Your Choice

HOW WOULD YOU ANSWER?

- Yes ___ No ___ Though I do worry, I feel there's a way to prevent it.
- Yes ___ No ___ Sometimes I antagonize people because of my actions or attitude. I know there must be a way to correct this.
- Yes ___ No ___ It seems contrary to reality, but I feel that real happiness is something apart from wealth, power, or fame.
- Yes ___ No ___ There must be a practical way of raising my family in a better world.

A "yes" answer to any of these questions is definite proof of God's concern for you. God talks to man by making him "feel" and "know" of a better way of living. You feel discontent about present conditions, you sense "something better," somewhere. That's God talking to you. Listen to him. Come to church this Sunday. Read His Living Word in the Bible. This could be the chance you've been waiting for.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ...

... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual wisdom. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) for his children's sake, (3) for the sake of his community and nation, (4) for the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Since I am a member of the Kent County Grandparents Club and it costs we grand-pa's a fine to talk about a grand child at one of our regular meetings and since this column is "off-limits" to the grand parents, who collect the fines... just wanted to let our friends know that my eldest grand daughter, Pat Pickren of Murfreesberer, Tenn. has graduated from the United Air Line School in Chicago and is now an air line stewardess for United Air Lines out of New York City.

If any of you folks are traveling by United and your hostess is a beautiful blonde from Tenn. and her name is Pat Pickren... well, that's my grand daughter.

Jan. 13 was Aunt Mollie Fuqua's birthday and several of her friends of this community dropped by her home to wish her a happy birthday. Mrs. Roy Nonce carried her a birthday dinner and other ladies carried gifts. Aunt Mollie is a dear.

Eye brows of some of my neighbors were raised one day last week when ole' George was seen driving a new Lincoln Continental around town... sorry folks, it wasn't mine. I am still riding a bicycle.

Mrs. Pete Sherer and Mrs. Ruth Spradling were in Abilene last Monday for check-ups with their doc.

A thought for the week: People can go anywhere, at any time in any kind of weather... except church. And that's it until the very same time next week.

To remove that rough feeling from your hands after performing household tasks or from any other cause, just sprinkle a little cornmeal on them while washing with soap and water.

To clean tarnished silverware quickly and easily, rub briskly with a soft chamois leather skin. The silverware will become bright as new.

News on Parallel Terracing

Advantages of Parallel Terraces on Land with Relatively Flat Slopes

It can readily be seen that parallel terraces are a good investment that will pay dividends for many years through lower operating costs, less wear and tear on equipment, which with the high cost of equipment and repairs could mean a great savings. And increased production which all means more profit in your farming operation.

Many farmers that have land with relatively flat slopes and can see no visible evidence of erosion, usually think they have no erosion problems and can derive no benefits from parallel terraces. Nothing could be further from the truth as this type of land loses many tons of topsoil through sheet erosion each time a runoff producing rain occurs. Even though land with flat slopes of less than 1% usually does not have gulleys or washes, the loss of topsoil occurs with each rain. Parallel terraces on this type of land are easier to build and the interval can usually be completely leveled, allowing the water to be absorbed over the entire interval. And with modern equipment that breaks up the plow pan allowing the moisture to penetrate, all the rain you get will stay on your field to be used by the crop. And in a dry year this will mean the difference between making a crop and having a crop failure. And in a normal year it will mean increased production. Parallel terraces on this type of soil are the most beneficial.

Is Suicide a Crime?

Once a minute, someone in the United States tries to take his own life. Of those who try each year, more than 20,000 succeed. Have all of these people committed a crime?

Under English common law, suicide (literally, self-murder) was indeed a crime. It was punished by ignominious burial of the person's body and forfeiture of his property. Blackstone, the sage of the common law, explained it this way:

"The suicide is guilty of a double offense: one spiritual, in invading the prerogative of the Almighty, rushing into his presence uncalled for; the other, against the King.

who hath an interest in the preservation of all his subjects."

Following English precedent, a few of our states still consider suicide a crime--theoretically. But nowhere are penalties imposed, either against the person's body or against his property.

What about a suicide attempt that fails? A larger number of states do classify attempted suicide as a crime. However, it is seldom prosecuted, perhaps because of a feeling that punishment would serve no useful purpose.

Nevertheless, the law may deal sternly indeed with someone who actively helps a would-be suicide to take his own life. Consider this case:

A despondent woman told her husband that she no longer cared to go on living. He brought her some poison and placed a quantity in her mouth. She promptly gulped it down and, in short order, succumbed.

Brought to trial later on a charge of homicide, the husband protested: "She herself wanted to die. All I did was let her carry out her own wishes."

Nevertheless, the court found him guilty as charged, since he had played an active role in bringing about his wife's death. The judge said society could not shut its eyes to the act of feeding someone poison, merely because the victim gave her consent.

pany, each is fashioned to profile one mother's particular memories... her marriage, her family, her happiness. Stones can always be added for "new-comers." And often a number of children join together to purchase the ring which is sold only by retail jewelers.

This sentimental and significant gift, unlike the more austere rings of the past, is kindling the warm-hearted thought that mother's love is a many-splendored ring!

Flower of the month for a baby born in January is the carnation or snowdrop; February, violet or primrose; March, jonquil or daffodil; April, sweet pea or daisy; May, lily of the valley, or hawthorn; June, rose or honeysuckle; July, larkspur or water lily; August, poppy or gladiolus; September, aster or morning glory; October, calendula or cosmos; November, chrysanthemum; December, narcissus or holly.

Ever since 1940 more males than females have been born in the United States, each year. The most recent available statistics show 1,927,954 male babies born in 1965 and 1,833,304 girl babies. Not yet tabulated according to gender, 1966 birth figures total 3,629,000, with the California registering the greatest number, 350,091.

Well-garbed modern babies just drool over their up-to-date wardrobes that include blanket sleepers and hibs, shirts, gowns, kimonos, booty sets, diaper safety pins, 6 dozen Curity diapers, 1 box Curity disposable diapers, 2 boxes Curity diaper liners (flushable) and 3 reusable non-absorbent diaper liners. Long gone are the days when the baby's latest news leaked to the press of a skirt or trousers!

HISTORY OF RINGS

Since the beginning of history, rings have been going around in the best of circles!

The earliest existing rings are those found in the tombs of ancient Egypt. Finest examples are pure gold, simple in design, very heavy and massive and have usually the name and title of the owner deeply sunk in hieroglyphic characters.

Later, throughout the Roman republic, none but iron rings were worn by most citizens, and even these were forbidden to slaves. Ambassadors were the first who were privileged to wear gold rings, and then only while performing some public duty.

Most early Christian rings date from the fourth century onward. Generally bronze or gold, they are often engraved with words and occasionally with the owner's bust or with religious symbols.

Today, rings ring true to many fond emotions and are treasured by people of all ages. One in particular is designed only for mothers. It features twin bands of solid 14-karat gold to recall her wedding day... with a lustrous, synthetic stone-of-the-month to mark the birthday of each of her children. Known as "The Mother's Ring" and designed by Guertin Brothers Manufacturing Com.

This years Texas crop of grapefruit is the largest since 1940. They are now in plentiful supply at attractive prices. For a juicy grapefruit, buy one which feels heavy for its size. Choose fruit that feels springy to the touch. It should be well shaped, round or slightly flattened and fairly smooth and thin-skinned. Fruit that has puffy, pebbled, thick skins generally will contain low proportions of juice to waste.
