Home Ec. Majors Can Earn Scholarships

Current or former 4-H members have an opportunity to apply for one of six national scholarships worth $800 each offered to coeds planning to major in home economics in their junior year this fall, according to the National 4-H Service Committee.

Applicants for the grants must have been 4-H members for at least three years. They must be enrolled in the fall of 1970 at an accredited college or university toward a major in home economics.

Two scholarships are donated by each of the following: The S & H Foundation, Inc., New York; the West Bend Company, West Bend, Wisconsin; and Sunbeam Corporation, Chicago. S & H also is sponsor of the national 4-H home improvement program which currently enrolls 200,000 youth between the ages of 9 and 19.

Girls interested in applying for the scholarships should contact their state 4-H office or the county extension 4-H office.

Each state may submit the application of one girl to be considered for the six grants. Her 4-H and scholastic record will be judged in early November by the Cooperative Extension Service, the scholarship program administrators. Winners will be announced during the National 4-H Congress held in Chicago, November 29 through December 3.

The six scholarships are part of the 4-H College Scholarships Fund arranged and announced by the National 4-H Service Committee.

LETTERS to EDITOR

Dear Caprock Peace Officers, The enclosed clipping filled me with dismay—I'm for law and order but feel that such a competitive event as shooting rattlesnakes should not be used to improve marksmanship. It reveals a lack of understanding of the role of the rattlesnake in environment.

When first read, it was my first thought that your area be plagued with an outbreak of prairie dogs, rabbits and ground squirrels (gophers) to eat your grass and also draw more snakes to your area. The increased number in snakes usually implies plenty of food either of native small mammals as mentioned above or the domestic type like house mice, brown and black rats.

Also, your event was held at time such snakes are emerging from winter habitats and later they will be scattered over a wide area. They are important in control of rodents.

Rattlesnakes are poisonous, it is true, but not as dangerous as people make them out to be. I'm a zoologist and have been in outdoors (in all of Texas during an eight year residence in Edinburg, Texas and many trips since) and have only come across less than a dozen rattlers in the field. There is enough room in Big Texas for all of you and the rattlers. Please find another target for marksmanship practice.

Sincerely Yours, Dorothea D. Mulaik (Mrs. Stanley B.) Former nat'l secretary-treasurer of conservation Education association--1965 awarded State Education white-tailed deer by Nat'l Wildlife Federation and Utah Wildlife Federation and Sears, Roebuck Foundation with my husband.

Editor's Note: Here is a letter that made its way to my desk. This person is entitled to her opinion and even so I to mine. My opinion is that the only good rattler is a dead rattler.

Warning Given On Use Of Some Pottery

Homemakers can test their own Mexican pottery to detect harmful lead in the glaze. The lead can cause severe illness through lead poisoning.

Recently the Food and Drug Administration warned that continued use of some Mexican pottery or earthenware for food purposes could cause lead poisoning.

Lead is a cumulative poison so it is essential for people to take all steps possible to see that lead intake is kept to a minimum.

The homemaker can place vinegar in the dish or casserole and let it stand overnight. The dish should be only partly filled with vinegar so the can easily see if there is any difference in the glaze below the vinegar line.

If she detects a change in the glaze, the dish should be used only for non-acid foods.

Acid foods include fruits such as tomatoes and citrus fruits and vegetables such as green beans, spinach and broccoli. If the homemaker wishes to use the in the pottery, try lining the dish with aluminum foil.

Pottery that shows a rough, dull glaze rather than a glossy one gives the most lead when mildly acid solutions are placed in it. Consumer should test any highly glazed dishes before using them for food with a high acid content.

The warning has been conveyed by FDA to all state health authorities as the first in a series of steps to remove hazardous products from the market. Action is based on the FDA's legal responsibility to protect the health of the U. S. consumer.

The U. S. Government has informed the Mexican authorities of these measures in order to cooperate in finding a solution to the problem.

FDA chemists test glazes with a five per cent acetic acid solution. They let the acid stand overnight in the dish then analyze the solution for lead. In all of the dishes they have tested lead showed up when the glaze had been visibly dulled by the acid solution.

Purcell Says Postal Bill Tailored To Favor The Unions

WASHINGTON — Congressmen Graham Purcell (D-Tex.) today announced he is dissenting from House Post Office Committee postal reform recommendations because of the bill's so-called "compulsory unionism" provisions. Purcell announced he will co-sponsor an amendment to reinstate freedom of choice for postal workers who do not want to join a union.

Purcell continued, "since it opens the door toward forcing postal workers into a union, whether an individual wants it or not. I have nothing against unions," the Texas Democrat said, "but they should rely on their own merits to get membership. The Federal Government has no business forcing workers to join one."

Purcell did stress that, even as written, those states with "right to work" laws may continue to have their workers protected. "I have been assured by the Postmaster General. "However," Purcell said, "the bill which the majority of Members of the Committee and the Administration support files square in the face of the 'freedom of choice' policy originally outlined by President Kennedy and continued by President Johnson. It was also originally supported by President Nixon, but it is obvious this is one of the prices the Administration feels it must pay to get union support for its bill."

"I disagree with this serious departure from past policy," Purcell stated, "that the bill, even now, will not affect our right to work law in Texas. The major problem will be elsewhere in the nation where states have not enacted 'right to work' laws." Purcell concluded, "but the entire issue is being hidden behind some confusing statements."

"The best way to solve the problem could be through enactment of the amendment I will co-sponsor."

making the announcement, Purcell stated his general agreement with the idea of postal

Old Timers will remember the "Cochran Story" of many years ago, where one Mr. Cochran from the Aspermont county was buried in the cemetery and then years later appeared on the scene. Many of you have seen his tombstone at his home which consists of a four thousand acre spread southwest of the town of Aspermont. Well anyway, this same Bird J. Cochran, 85, is a patient in the Aspermont hospital, so after books have been written about him pertaining to the death, burial and resurrection and his many years spent in Old Mexico--Mr. Cochran still lives but quite a sick man at this writing.

The Tom Hunnicuts spent a few days in Midland with son and family.

Howard Darden from Lubbock visited his mother in the hospital in Aspermont last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Dickerson visited the first part of last week with children in Lubbock.

Thanks to the County maintenance crew for mowing and cleaning around the local church buildings.

Thanks to George Spradling of Amarillo for a years subscription for the Jayton Chronicle. George and his scribbler rode stick horses together in the Bonds Chapel community in the good old days.

Folks, come June 6th it will be voting time again, even though we have only one local race to vote on. I am sure the two candidates for commissioner would be happy that you come out and vote.

Noel Lee, who was ill in the Hamlin hospital for several days is back home on that tractor.

The new home of the Alton Clarks now has the brick walls up and the way the carpenters are working it won't be long before the Clarks move in.

Larry Hight, teacher in the schools in Jayton and who has been a next door neighbor for the past tow years has resigned his teaching job in Jayton and will be leaving within the next few days.

Mrs. Jess Hall of Jayton is back home after a weeks stay in the Aspermont hospital.

Bob T. Gallagher, Kent County Judge was seeing friends who were confined to the hospital in Aspermont one night last week.

Mrs. Connors of Jayton is a patient in the hospital in Aspermont.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Miers and Mrs. Sue Miers of Rotan were visiting Mrs. Matt Darden in the hospital in Aspermont last Thursday night.

See in the newspapers where a bunch of politicians out of Washington made a big "splash" by flying to the funeral of a couple of black students who got shot in Mississippi riots on a college campus.

Vice President Agnew told it to em' like it is down in Houston the other night. We gotta' notion that if the mamas and papas would take away students autos and cut the bank roll off there wouldn't be so much rioting on college campuses.

Do you reckon there could be a worse sin than "the sin of gossip"? Fly by night tales within a community often start rumors--within churches, schools, and even local elections. Little white lies become big lies and a lot of folks fall for gossip without even attempting to find out the truth. P. T. Barnum of Barnum-Bailey Circus many years ago said: "There is a fool born every minute".

The Tom Hunnicuts went to Lorenzo last Saturday to attend a piano recital--to be sure, their granddaughter was involved.

A prayer meeting which included most of the churches of Kent County was held at the Rudder Community Park last Saturday night in preparation for the non-denominational revival to be held in Jayton in July.

What time we haven't been in Aspermont for the past 30 days and nights, we have been on the road between here and there, but Boy, O Boy, such neighbors we do have including Mrs. Tom Bailey, the Tom Hunnicuts, and the Kilpatricks who have kept us in good cake and other good eats and to all the folks who have offered their services to help in any way during the critical illness of our mother, we say thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. George Darden Jr. and daughters from Crane visited their parents and his grandmother who is in the hospital in Aspermont last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hooper have returned to their home here from a tour through Arkansas, Louisiana, and parts of Texas.

Until next week, that's it folks.

Mrs. Myrtle Conner is in the hospital at Aspermont.

Mr. J. T. Leech is still in the V. A. Hospital at Big Spring.

Don Fincher is in the V. A. Hospital in Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lane and children of Alpine are visiting Mrs. Ruby Mathews.

Richard Brownlee of Okla. was here for his son's Commencement Exercises.

The men of Girard and Jayton communities met Sat. at Rudder Park in Girard and had a prayer supper for the Crusade for Christ revival. 21 men were present.

HOME-BAKED BREADS PERK UP ECONOMY MENUS

Home-baked breads and rolls are a magic spell over economy menus. Their warm yeasty taste and flavor go a long way toward perk up soups, casseroles and casseroles that are mainstays of such meals. Making your own bread saves money.

Baking is easier than you think. The Rapidmix Method eliminates the step of dissolving yeast in warm water in a bowl. Rapidmix treats yeast as a dry ingredient, adding it to part of the flour, sugar and salt. In fact, dry ingredients (including yeast) for several loaves of bread or rolls can be prepared ahead of time and stored in a cool, dry place until you're ready to complete preparation. Thick soups accompanied by home-baked bread are the favorite Swedish treat during the long winter months. Frugal North Country bakers dry any leftover bread to make rusks which are also served with honey.

Developed by the Fleischmann's Yeast Test Kitchens in the recipe for Casserole Swedish Rye, it's a batter type bread that does not require kneading. In fact, it can be mixed in a bowl and left to rise about 15 minutes before baking.

An easy batter type bread prepared by the Rapidmix Method is this Casserole Swedish Rye, designed to perk up economy menus.

CASSEROLE SWEDISH RYE

2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
1 cup water
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons Fleischmann's Margarine

Combine flours in a large bowl thoroughly. Add 1/2 cups flour mixture, sugar, salt, caraway and undissolved Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast.

Combine water, milk and Fleischmann's Margarine in a saucepan. Heat slowly until liquids are very warm (125°-135°F). (Margarine does not melt.) Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat for 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add cup flour mixture, or enough to make a stiff batter. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes.

scraping bowl occasionally. Add enough flour mixture to make a stiff batter. (If necessary, add additional white flour to obtain desired stiffness.) Stir until well blended. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until more than doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Stir batter down. Beat vigorously 1/2 minute. Turn into a well-greased 1-1/2 quart casserole.

Bake in a hot oven (400°F) about 40 to 50 minutes, or until done. Remove from casserole and cool on wire rack. Makes 1 loaf.

Helps Homeside Development in Rural Areas

A new program to help develop home building sites in the rural United States has been launched by the Farmers Home Administration.

Development organizations may use homesite loan funds to buy and clean land, build improvements such as access roads, streets and utility installations, and pay other costs involved in the development of the sites. A project will be scaled to the immediate need for homesites of modest cost in a rural locality.

Development organizations will be expected to repay their loans within two years from proceeds of the sale of lots. The interest rate usually will be 6 1/2 percent. A 3 percent rate will be charged on loans to develop site for sites for sale to families building homes by the self-help plan. Under this plan low income families do much of the actual work of building new homes for themselves by the mutual exchange of labor.

Mr. Smith said that assistance in developing projects and applying for loans will be offered through the 1,700 local county offices of the Farmers Home Administration located throughout the rural United States. The agency administers housing credit for both farm and non-farm rural people, including those living in rural towns of 5,500 population or less.

Loans will be made to local public agencies and private nonprofit organizations to buy and develop land as homesites for sale to rural people of low and moderate income. The program was authorized in the Housing Act of 1969.

Mr. Smith said the program "is another step forward in solving the enormous problem of inadequate housing in rural areas, where we find half of all the bad housing in the United States.

"In many rural communities, adequate homesites served by roads and utilities must be developed before modern housing can be supplied. This new program will enable rural communities to solve their problem of homesite development, either through their local public agencies or through private nonprofit organizations devoted to that purpose."

Under terms of the program as outlined by Administrator Smith, the agency can fund qualified agencies or organizations up to $100,000 for buying and developing tracts that can be sold as homesites within two years. Sites may be sold to applicants who qualify for loans from the Farmers Home Administration and Department of Housing and Urban Development to build housing for rural people of low or moderate income. Sites developed under the program can be used for individual family-owned homes or rented or cooperative housing.

At this time of the year, anglers everywhere are thinking about catching bass. Whether largemouth or small-mouth, old "inch for inch, pound for pound, the game fish that ever swims" is America's most popular game fish species.

And no wonder! For bass are found practically anywhere in the nation, and a certain amount of skill and patience is needed to catch them.

The most popular member of the bass group, according to information from the fishing experts at Mercury outboards, is the large-mouth black bass. At home both in stream and lake, the bigger fish are almost always found in impoundments.

Development organizations will be expected to repay their loans within two years from proceeds of the sale of lots. The interest rate usually will be 6 1/2 percent. A 3 percent rate will be charged on loans to develop site for sites for sale to families building homes by the self-help plan. Attend The Church of Your Choice THE WORLD'S STRONGEST MAN

The day little Jimmie admired my muscles I was the strongest man in the whole world. And so I remained until the next morning when I got into an argument with that big kid in the next block. Then a humiliating retreat seemed preferable to a bloody nose.

Life hasn't changed much since I've grown up. Sometimes on Sunday I am so confident of my human might that I glibly pass up the spiritual resources my neighbors are finding in church. And by Monday I'm wondering where to turn for help in some insurmountable difficulty.

Experience is forever teaching me that my own self-confidence is mostly self-delusion. The men I admire seem absolutely honest about their own limitations, and absolutely certain about God's strength.

One Sunday as I sat in a pew and watched others receiving Communion this thought struck me: Among those who kneel reverently before an altar today is undoubtedly the world's strongest man.

By Pat Nilson, CHDA

Vitamin B complex includes Thiamine, Riboflavin, Nicotin, Folic Acid, B12, and others considered a part of this water soluble group.

The B vitamins are necessary for energy, sound nerves and good growth. Lack of them can cause poor memory, sleeplessness, depression, nervousness, fatigue, anemia and tending to tire easily.

Enriched breads and cereals are good sources, as are dried yeast, liver, dark green vegetables, milk and meats, cheese and eggs.

Today's recipe, using Vitamins B is for Potato Rolls.

REFRIGERATOR POTATO ROLLS

- 1 yeast cake
- 1/2 cup lukewarm water
- 2/3 cup shortening
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup mashed potatoes
- 1 cup warm milk
- 2 eggs
- 6 to 8 cups flour

Mash potatoes, add shortening, sugar, salt and eggs. Cream well. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water, add to mixture. Add milk and sifted flour to make a stiff dough. Knead. Let rise until double in bulk. Knead lightly. Place in casserole, cover, put in refrigerator. Let rise 1 1/2 hour. Roll thin, cut with a glass, fold over 3/4. Bake 15 to 20 minutes at 400 degrees.

Pertinent Comments

Where has Ernie Ford been so long? I haven't seen him for years, but in an hour of extreme insomnia Sunday night, I watched part of the Johnny Carson show. There was Jck Benny and later was my old admired and respected friend, Ernie Ford. Fat as a town dog and like everybody else in the world he's not as young as he used to be. He needs that extra blubber to cover to some extent those creases that show in some aging people's faces as they continue to have birthdays.

Naturally, Johnny got a story out of Ernie, but here I digress to tell about a kinswoman of mine who is a fanatic admirer of Ernie, and since he advertised a certain make of automobile, she bought one and happily drove it home. When asked how she liked her new car, she admitted with a slight air of disappointment that "Ernie", that's what she calls her Ford, "won't go without 'Ethyl'". That's enough of that now, so let's get back to our pole cat story. I have enough about my own war with pole cats to fill my allotted space, but this is about Ernie Ford's pole cat story.

Ernie told how he went back to the old home place to visit his mother and she told him a story about his old school mate as they sat at the supper table; it is still "supper" there, he says. The school mate was absent from school for three days in a row, and when he came in he slipped into his seat apparently hoping he wouldn't be noticed. But Teacher did notice and asked if he had a note from his parents making excuse for his absence. He writhed in agony and muttered that he didn't have any excuse. The teacher then asked him just why he had been absent for three days in a row. He broke into a sweat and tried to drill a hole in the floor with his big toe and blurted out, "Pa sleeps nekidd."

"Just tell us how your Pa sleeping nekidd could cause you to be absent for three days in a row," demanded the inquisitor. "Well'um", he gritted, "Pa sleeps nekidd and about two o'clock in the night we heard old Rover give one bark and then we heard the chickens cackling out in the henhouse. "That dern pole cat," growled Pa, and without dressing he grabbed the old two barrel shotgun, slipped a couple of shells in it and crept out the back door and down the path to the henhouse; old Rover followed him as he always does. Pa opened the henhouse door and poked the shotgun in ---and just then Rover cold-nosed him from behind! I've been picking chickens for three days in a row." "Excused," said the Teacher.

Dear Reader, if you fear I'm getting behind with problems cosmopolitan and domestic, I promise to get back to them, maybe next week.

ANY SECONDS? Shorthanded though the Supreme Court be without the chair Justice Carswell was poised to fill, it has handed down a decision that brings relief to many who had feared the anarchistic behavior of the defendants in the Chicago Seven foretold the complete collapse of our government. The decision was made in another case in New Jersey, but it fits well the recent spectacle of the Seven. The Court ruled that a justice was acting within his authority to maintain the dignity of the Court when he ordered binding and gagging, and even excluding from the court room a defendant who deliberately tried to destroy the ultimate defense every citizen has for his liberty and life, the Courts of Law.

Mr. Kunstler, defender of the Seven, shares in the verdicts of Justice Hoffman and certainly can see no gain in appealing HIS particular case to the Court that handed down this famous ruling. However, Kunstler issued a statement of how different that old case is from that of the Seven, intimating that he would still have a chance to get Supreme Court to let him and the other convicted ones off the hook. But a declamation in the Press, and an appeal to the people, will not likely get him around the broad statements of the Supreme Court in the 13 year old William Case. I believe I could get several seconds to a motion that "we give a vote of confidence" to the Supreme Court.

It was New Jersey Justice, Leo Weinrott, who, presiding over the murder trial of a defendant named George Kenney, repeatedly ordered Kenney to stop disrupting the proceedings. After Kenney persistently ignored the judge's instructions and told him several times to "go to hell," Weinrott signaled deputies who moved in quickly and gagged the defendant. Hooray!

What They Wore... by PHYLLIS JOYCE

THE LADY IN WAITING
PRIOR TO 1900 MATERNITY FASHIONS AS SUCH DIDN'T EXIST. ANY WOMAN IN A DELICATE CONDITION SPENT HER LATE MONTHS PRACTICALLY AS A RECLUSE!

THE FIRST MATERNITY DRESSES (ABOUT 1904) WERE 1-PIECE AT-HOME GOWNS FOR WOMEN WHO WANTED TO KEEP A BUSY SCHEDULE DURING PREGNANCY. THESE GOWNS EXPANDED BY MEANS OF PLEATS AND ELASTIC INSERTS AT THE WAISTLINE.

IN THE LATE 30'S THE 2-PIECE "BUTCHER BOY" JACKET AND SKIRT TOOK OVER.

IT PREVAILED UNTIL 1958 WHEN THE 1-PIECE CHEMISE WAS BORN—A DESIGN THAT HELPED ALTER THE CONCEPT OF MATERNITY CLOTHES TO THAT OF MATERNITY FASHIONS!

HOME SAFE HOME?

HOUSE HAZARDS ANNUALLY CAUSE SOME 26,000 FATALITIES AND NEARLY FOUR MILLION DRAGGING INJURIES. SAFETY ACTIVITIES SUGGEST LOWERING THESE TALLIES BY KEEPING FIRST AID SUPPLIES IN VARIOUS PARTS OF THE HOUSE.

WHEN TOPPLERS ARE VISITING, COVER ELECTRICAL OUTLETS WITH ADHESIVE TAPE CONVENIENTLY STORED IN THE LIVING ROOM ROCK-A-IDE.

IS THERE A LITTERBUG IN YOUR HOUSE? HALLS AND STAIRWAYS KEPT CLEAR OF TOYS ARE SAFER! THE HALL CLOSET, TOO, IS A GOOD PLACE TO STORE A SUPPLY OF DERMICEL STERILE PADS AND BAND-AID EXTRA LARGE BANDAGES FOR "TUMBLERS" RACING HOME FROM SCHOOL.

KITCHENS ARE SAFER WHEN YOU ALWAYS TURN POT HANDLES INWARD. ALSO, WHEN YOU HAVE FIRST AID CREAM ANTISEPTIC ON A KITCHEN SHELF FOR SUDDEN BURNS, WHEN A BURN MAKES THINGS HOT IN THE KITCHEN, JOHNSON AND JOHNSON'S CREAM STAYS COOL. IT DOESN'T SPILL!
