Friday Is Final Day To Register To Vote

Residents of Kent County should be aware that Friday will be the last day to register to vote in this year's election. The election laws are in question in the courts at the present time, but the law as it now stands states that you must register in January in order to vote anytime this year. Friday will be the last office day at the tax office.

This Week In Jayton

A year of good reading is going to waste, since no one identified the mystery picture last week. Three miles north of Jayton on Texas Highway 70 there is a sign that says, "The windmill pictured is about half mile east of this sign, near the road, and can even be seen from the highway. Sorry."

Evidently, the Commissioner's court is suspicious of some "monkey business" going on, along with the coyote and bobcat business.

For about a year now, they have been paying bounty on the bobcats and coyotes. Apparently they think they have been buying ears from animals killed somewhere except in Kent County, and the new order that the entire carcass must be brought in was passed to try to slow the practice down.

They have dumped an unwelcome job in the lap of Sheriff Stanley. Jearold is an easy going fellow, but this is a bit out of the usual line of the duties of the Sheriff. Wonder if he is being allowed extra fees for handling this mucky job? If not, he should be--at least, that is my opinion.

The citizens of Texas have been shaken up the past week, by news reports about questionable financial deals involving high state officials, particular leaders in the Texas Legislature.

General response has been varied. Some want to remove the whole delegation from office. Others mark it off as nothing illegal, and perhaps not even unethical.

Of course no one has been convicted of any wrong doing and under the law are to be assumed innocent until proven guilty.

Persons named in wire service news releases have complained through their attorneys, that they are being tried in the press, and the news media are presenting only one side. This is a lot of mush.

Wonder how many of these officials have called news conferences and given the press the facts? Exactly none. Wonder how many newsmen in Texas have tried to get "the facts" from these state officials, and could not even get behind the door, much less get an interview?

Texas has a lot of good newsmen, and the most of them

Band Concert Given Thursday Night

By Jayton High School Journalism Department

The Jayton Music Department proudly presented the Jaybird Concert Band on January 21, 1971 at 7:30 P. M. "The Night Shall be Filled with Music" began with the Jayton High School auditorium completely packed with people from all parts of the state. The concert began in the grand style of all Americans with the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner." The response from the audience was so grandly exhibited that the band members realized how the citizens of Jayton were truly backing them all the way. Rick Smith, the Jayton band director, spent many work-filled and tedious hours arranging and rehearsing the bands for that special night. The bands carefully prepared for the concert through only two weeks of daily hour rehearsals. Of the many unexpected guests of the concert, there was also Fred Smith, band director of Brownfield, Tim Jones, band director of Hamlin.

First on the list of performers was the 5th and 6th grade band. They had been playing their instruments only one to two years and performed such difficult songs as "March Militaire" and "Trumpet Voluntary". These youngsters are extremely accomplished to be as young as they are. The high school band will certainly be glad when some of these will be promoted into the concert band next year.

To bring a little variety into the concert was the first and second grade choir. After hearing their little voices, the night was really filled with music. For their first song they welcomed the audience with "America" followed by a heart thrilling, "Oh Susanna". Other songs were "This Old Hammer" and "Willie the Freight Train" not to mention the toe tapping "She'll be coming Around the Mountain". Seeing these kids sing like they did really made you think of the future generation.

After the first and second grade choir presented their

Court Passes New Order On Coyotes And Bobcats

In an unusual measure Monday, the Kent County Commissioners Court, upon a motion made by Donale Carter, and seconded by G. L. Hamilton, voted that effective Feb. 1 a new process would be installed on the paying of bounty on Coyotes and Bobcats.

Persons will be required to bring the entire carcass to the Sheriff's office, and the ears to be removed there in the presence of the Sheriff. All members of the court voted for this measure, the court minutes show.

Also, on motion by Sarah Byrd and seconded by G. L. Hamilton the court voted to authorize the Sheriff to employ a dispatcher in his office, to work regular hours, at a salary of $300.00 per month. Also the current bills were ordered to be paid.

Jaybirds Fail To Get Win Over McAdoo

The Jayton Jaybirds, with their eyes on the district throne room, have developed a sort of complex. They cannot beat McAdoo, yet they overrun with ease the team that can beat McAdoo.

After losing for the second time to McAdoo, about the only way they can get the title, is to, once again get someone else to beat McAdoo, and then back into the title.

THE JAYBIRD BAND CONCERT

numbers, the fourth grade Tonette band added to the concert with their gay presentations. These three tunes, "A Lullaby" and "Harvest Time", were enjoyed by everyone. In addition to this performance, the fourth grade Tonette band combined their talents with those of the 3rd grade choir for the next two selections. With Lajuana Hamilton, drum major, directing the Tonette band and Rick Smith directing the third grade success.

"America the Beautiful" started the auditorium to ring with the voices of third grade choir, accompanied on the piano by Lajuana Hamilton. "The Dummy Line" was their next selection, and they ended the elementary program with the ever-popular "Shenandoah! Then there was a short intermission before the "grand final"-----the Concert Band.

With a flicker of glimmering, vari-color lights, and the sharp downbeat of a baton, the 1971 Jaybird Concert Band began their timely performance.

From Spanish music to the most modern composition, they held the audience spellbound and sitting on the edge of their seats. The flashes of sound never ceased throughout with the band playing and the audience applauding. They began their exhibition with "La Mascara", a different, difficult number which the band may perform at Concert Concert in March. Also presented was "Chant and Jubilo". This is a work of two connected contrasting movements of early church music and explosive lower brass and percussion. "Balladair" was conducted by our Drum Major, Miss Lajuana Hamilton. The last tune the band mastered was "Festivo", an excellent example of the current trend in band composition which always lends excitement to the atmosphere. The applause from the audience literally "raised the roof".

To conclude the night's events, there was a reception which followed in the cafeteria sponsored by the Band Booster Club.

Many thanks go out from the band members to all the citizens of Jayton and people who helped make this night be filled with music!

WINTER THOUGHT

At least once during every winter season, when the wind is especially biting and the temperature below freezing, the thought of George Washington and his troops at Valley Forge comes to mind. According to all accounts, this was a situation almost beyond imagination. Food and clothing were in short supply and sickness and disabilities were prevalent. At one time, according to Washington's own records, about one of every four men was unfit for duty. There were a few who deserted the camp for more comfort, but the majority stayed and went on to win the war that made this an independent nation.

That terrible winter at Valley Forge was a long time ago and seems remote to us as we sit snugly warm in the comfort of well-heated homes. But let us occasionally think about the heroic efforts, the sufferings and deprivations of some of those that have made our great nation a reality and be thankful.

LIBERTY AND JUSTICE FOR ALL
Our priceless heritage embodied in the flag of the United States, is as alive today as it was when written for the ages in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. It stands for all the world to see and for all Americans to cherish. And in the traditions of Washington, Jefferson, and Hamilton, we, too, have a privilege, a right, and a duty. While we may disagree as to the methods, we should not disagree as to the goal—that of preserving the greatest democratic society the world has ever known.
Our flag is a symbol, not of sentiment, but of history, the history of men and women willing to live and die for it. Surely this willingness is with us still, because daily we experience more of the blessings that are ours—ours because we are Americans.

LIVING WALLS

BY NANCY BRADY

THE LIVING ROOM

Provided you have the space, a parlor-type living room is delightful. The word "parlor" suggests the Victorian era, and for anyone who likes a nostalgic atmosphere this is still the easiest period to simulate, besides being the most amusing, if done a bit tongue-in-cheek.

If you are fortunate to have family Victorian pieces, all you need are the appropriate fabrics and wallcoverings. Victorians were partial to blue velvet, to flock and pattern against pattern. Wallcoverings provided the print design, usually a quaint floral or festoons below ceiling molding.

A more serious version of the front parlor should probably be called a "drawing room." But here, quality is essential, and professional help is advised, especially as many of the materials required to do a French or English drawing room well—the fabrics and the wallcovering design from original documents—might have to be purchased through a decorator.

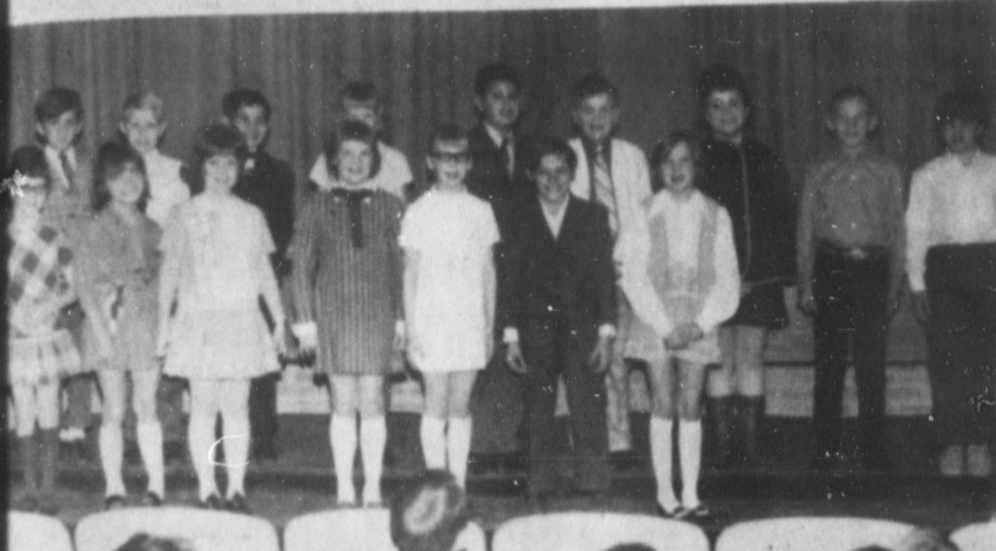

For the contemporary and modern living room, there are wild options for avoiding plain walls. Large, bold swirls or oversized architectural designs are truly modern. They demand the plastics, both soft and firm, and see-throughs framed in silver and chrome arriving on the market from Europe and local manufacturers.

For elegance and eclecticism combined, look to the fifties. They range from a modest under $5.00 to $20 a roll and provide a lovely luminosity and reflected color without specific shape.

By skillful arrangement of furniture you can direct attention where you want, cause room traffic to flow where you want, and generally control the family design for living. Needless to say, a compartmented room would not presume to belong to a historical period, unless the period was distinctly modern. Indeed, if a room must serve more than one purpose, it should be frankly eclectic or else boldly contemporary. Neither of these ideas insists on subtle proportion or "correct" scale, and the avant-garde art of the moment leans strongly to optical illusions.

Illusion is often the theory behind covering walls with wallcovering pattern to hide architectural defects or abused surfaces. A good thorough patch job, covered with an all-over wallcovering design, and the crannies, cracks and niches that weren't desirable, are lost in a fresh illusion of smooth beauty.

For more information on wallpaper and wallcoverings, send $1.00 for a 208-page book to: "Living Walls," Wallcovering Industry Bureau, 969 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022.
