

Coach Green Addresses Jayton All-Sports Banquet Friday Night

This Week In Jayton

A young man walked into my office Friday afternoon, during the conversation, I made the remark that in a certain time I would leave for Jayton for the sports-banquet. "That's a great comment," he said. "Each day I thank the Lord for the privilege of having lived in Jayton for this long." This was Ricky Brewer, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brewer who was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Jayton for a few years. Ricky is a 1966 graduate of Jayton High School, and a student at Texas Tech. He is now employed by a business company in Lubbock. He says his ambition is to create an installment loan department in some good bank. He is majoring in business. He thinks working for a business company in all areas, will give him the experience he needs to one day do the things he wants to do.

Newspaper people, the most of them, work hard to try to do a good job, and down the years, they write a lot of good things about a lot of people. Certainly these people are appreciated, but so does anyone take the time to say "Thank You" that are rather taken by surprise when they do.

It gave me quite a thrill to be invited to publicly thank by representatives of the Jayton School for our contribution to publicizing athletics. The nice blanket will come handy this next fall as my wife and I in the stands watching the birds play, while I am on the sidelines taking pictures, notes on their activities.

My wife, who originally came from Corpus Christi, a Texas City comparable to Lubbock, a little larger, has really become a Jaybird fan. She is really enthused with Jayton. A small place as Jayton generating so much community spirit behind the teams. And she thinks the Jaybird is just the greatest.

Come next November, and the Tech Red Raiders lose to the second-rated team, and the fans, including some in Jayton starts beefing there are too people we don't want to hear from, about the people.

"I'm going to have to change my usual speech for this banquet", Coach Merrill Green of Abilene Cooper High School told the Jayton All Sports Banquet group here Friday night.

He said, that usually he was called on to address schools that just had average or less than average seasons, and he could tell them "Just wait until next year", etc. "But you here at Jayton have already won everything", he told them.

Green kept the kids laughing with him for some time, and then settled down to give them a few good pointers about good sportsmanship, and its place in life.

On display at the banquet was a large table covered with trophies the teams have won this past year. Each of the captains, one by one, came forward and made a formal presentation of the trophy to the school.

Bob Hamilton was named club of the year, by the booster club which sponsors the event. Ladell McAteer, club president, made the presentation.

The club honored John Charles Davis as the back of the year, and Tommy Stanaland as the line man of the year.

Bob Hamilton, Ladell McAteer and A. E. Richards were given special Letter Awards by the school in recognition of special service rendered. This was in the form of a blanket in school colors, with the letter on them, and their special field; McAteer as Photographer; Hamilton as Announcer, and Richards as Reporter.

Each of the coaches introduced his team members. Many of the athletes participated in several sports.

Court Hires Firm To Pave Runways At Co. Airport

and all extra asphalt used, above and over specifications to cost 18 cents per gallon.

All commissioners were present at the meeting. The vote to employ the Lipham Company was made by Hamilton and seconded by Dickerson, the minutes show, and all members voting favorable.

Other matters were discussed by the court but no other orders were passed.

Safety Information About A Tornado

Congressman George Mahon of the 19th Texas District recently sent this newspaper some literature from the experts on watching for tornado, and the best ways to protect yourself in case you are caught by one.

Please read it carefully.

A tornado watch means tornadoes are expected to develop. Keeps battery-operated radio or television set nearby, and listen for weather advisories--even if the sky is blue.

A tornado warning means a tornado has actually been sighted or indicated by weather radar. Seek inside shelter (in a storm cellar or reinforced building) and stay away from windows. Curl up so that your head and eyes are protected. Keeps battery-operated radio or television nearby, and listen for further advisories.

In office building, go to interior hallway on the lowest floor, or to the designated shelter area.

In schools, follow advanced

plans to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. If the building is not of reinforced construction, go to a nearby one that is, or take cover outside on low, protected ground.

Stay out of auditoriums, gymnasiums, and other structures with wide, free-span roofs.

In open country, move away from the tornado's path at right angles. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest ditch or ravine.

Mobile homes are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds and should be evacuated when strong winds are forecast. Damage can be minimized by securing trailers with cables anchored in concrete footing. Trailer parks should have a community storm shelter and a warden to monitor broadcast throughout the severe storm emergency. If there is no shelter nearby, leave the trailer park and take cover on low, protected ground.

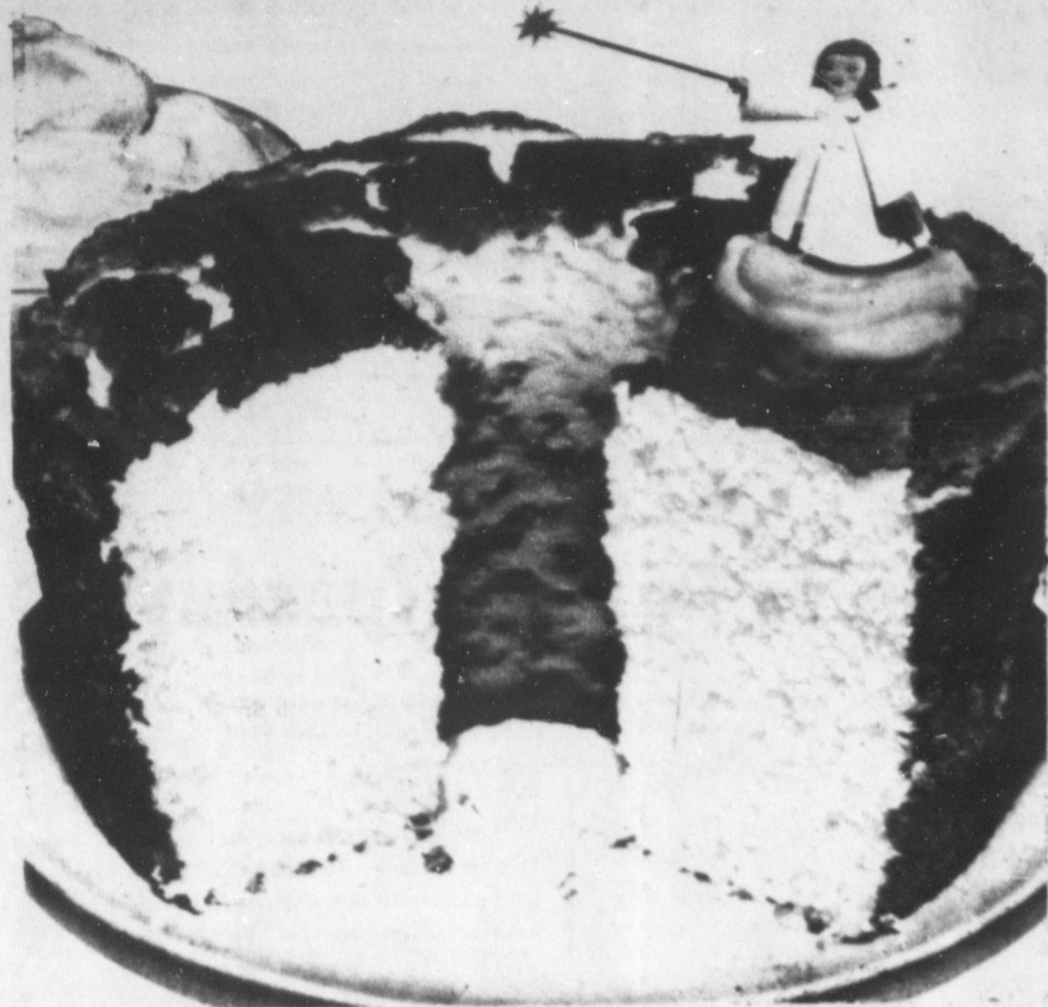

shelter area.

In homes, the basement offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under sturdy furniture if possible. In homes without basements, take cover in the center part of the house, on the lowest floor, in a small room such as a closet or bathroom, or under sturdy furniture. Keep some windows open, but stay away from them.

In shopping centers, go to a designated shelter area.

In schools, follow advanced

Angel Food Cake

- 1 1/4 cups egg whites (about 10 medium eggs)
- 1 cup plus 2 tablesp. sifted cake flour
- 1/2 cup sifted granulated sugar
- 1/4 teasp. salt
- 1 1/4 teasp. cream of tartar
- 1 cup sifted granulated sugar
- 1/4 teasp. almond extract
- 1 teasp. vanilla extract

About 1 hr. ahead: Set out egg whites. At baking time: Start heating oven to 375°F. Sift flour with 1/2 cup sugar 3 times. With electric mixer at high speed (or with egg beater or wire whip), beat whites with salt till foamy. Sprinkle in cream of tartar; beat at high speed until stiff enough to hold definite peaks, but not dry. With mixer at high speed, beat in 1 cup sifted granulated sugar, 1-1 1/2 tablesp. at a time. When sugar is just blended, turn mixer to lowest speed; add almond extract and vanilla. When extracts are blended in, stop mixer. Sift in flour, one quarter at a time; lightly fold in each addition with 15 fold-over strokes of rubber spatula (photo A), turning bowl slowly after each stroke. After folding in all the flour, give batter 15 extra strokes. Push batter into ungreased 10" tube pan, 4" deep. With spatula, cut complete square through batter without removing spatula (photo B). Bake 30 to 35 min., or until cake springs back when lightly touched in center. Then invert pan and let stand until cold. Insert spatula directly against pan, then pull it out (photo C). Repeat around edges and tube. Then invert pan on rack; lift off pan (if stubborn, loosen again).

Another Burglary Reported At Girard Post Office

By C. Ray Williams

The news that Kent Co. is having a drought and that the Girard and Claremont Post Office have been robbed again is enough to make oldsters like myself no longer living in the county homesick. These events used to happen so often the Jayton Chronicle kept the descriptions of them set-up in type so all they had to do when one of them occurred was fill in the dates and go to press. But My, "quite a bit the better-half" who despised the droughts and sandstorms, but couldn't do anything about them or get the government to put an end to the burglary business. She ran the Girard Post Office for 25 years on just one burglary and the burglar in this case lost quite a bit more than he got away with.

This violation of law and order occurred one cold night at about 2:30 a. m. The wife, who has always been the lightest sleeper, shook me out of the leaden state and put me in a state of shock with the whispered announcement, "Ray! Ray!, Wake up!

And don't make any noise! "Somebody's trying to get in the post office." "Oh, you're just having another bad dream, I suggested."

"No, I'm not", she replied. I've been listening to them for a long time. They saw a little while and then they rest a while and sometime you can hear them scratching around or breathing hard. "You just listen and you'll see."

I listened hard and learned that she was exactly right. That we did in fact have a prowler on our hands and a problem to solve.

he first solution I thought of was that I should ignore his presence, or theirs as the case might be. Pretend sleep and let them have their way. But I remembered that the characters who were the publicans and sinners of Kent County's main street society of that day and age were all past masters in the art of carrying anybody high, when they got the advantage of him. That if the story ever got out on me they'd run me out of the County.

I couldn't call the law for the prowler was at work less than 6 feet from the telephone location.

I studied all the options I could think of to find an easy way out and finally came to a conclusion that I could stand there in my pajamas and freeze to death or play for a show-down and bet all my chips on the element of surprise. I would be real sneaky about it and get the drop on the intruder before he did on me. So, I slipped out of the bed and into a pair of trousers, since no man can play the hero's role without his pants on. I got the gun and flash-light, I had supplied myself with for contingencies like this with little fear that I'd ever have to use them. The door from our living quarters to the work room was open so not sweat there. I sneaked into the work room as quietly as I could but not quietly enough. The "bawling" stopped and all the other rounds along with it. I was up tight as a bow-string and judging from the noise he was not making, I figured my visitor was equally tense. But he did make a little noise that tipped me off to the fact that he was not trying to enter the lobby but was already there. So, I was stuck with the problem of trying to find out if there was an accomplice still outside.

There was no way to solve this one without making moves that could be disastrous so I decided that my only real options were to call it a stale-mate and hope I didn't freeze to death before sun up or play for a show down and take the risk there was no accomplice. At a rate that seemed to be about an inch to the hour he was probably a little faster than that I moved through the work room to the half door that separated the lobby from the work room. I eased the bolt lock out of its socket. When I was sure I had all the cards stacked in my favor I threw the door open, snatched on the flash-light and aimed it and the gun at the man. He was scared dog I've ever seen in my life. He took one look

A Mother's Love Is A Haven In The Storms Of Life

A Mother's Love is like an island
In life's ocean vast and wide,
A peaceful, quiet shelter
From the restless, rising tide...

A Mother's Love is like a fortress
And we seek protection there
When the waves of tribulation
Seem to drown us in despair...

A Mother's Love's a sanctuary
Where our souls can find sweet rest
From the struggle and the tension
Of life's fast and futile quest...

A Mother's Love is like a tower
Rising far above the crowd,
And her smile is like the sunshine
Breaking through a threatening cloud...

A Mother's Love is like a beacon
Burning bright with Faith and Prayer,
And through the changing scenes of life
We can find a Haven There...

For A Mother's Love is fashioned
After God's enduring love,
It is endless and unfailing
Like the love of Him above...

For God knew in His great wisdom
That He couldn't be Everywhere,
So He put His Little Children
In a Loving Mother's Care.

fled look, decided that distance was what he needed most and literally drove himself through the hole he had gauged in the door. This hole was a little smaller than it would have been if we hadn't interrupted his work to be made it do by leaving generous samples of his hair, hide and blood on the rough edges of his exit. When I saw him the next morning he was a picture of dejection, too sore to enjoy or with energy enough left to wag his tail. He looked as if somebody had run the Chinese alphabet through an egg-beater and engraved the mixture on his hide with a wood rasp. But even in this deplorable condition I would say his appearance was an improvement over anything I was expecting to see when I gave him the spot-light that caused him panic.

I had locked him in the lobby without knowing he was there. Some time during the night he decided he wanted out and with nobody awake to help him or aware of his problem he solved it himself by enlarging the letter drop "by six inches to an opening that would accommodate his body—slightly smaller than a yearlings. The racket we had found annoying had been "gnawing" and not "sawing."

expecting too much of the Raiders. These two are Tech top Coach Jim Carlen, and the Lubbock Avalanche Journal head sports writer Burle Pettit.

Last year, when Tech lost a game everyone thought they should have won, and some of the fans sounded unhappy, the A-J's Mr. Pettit was the first to defend the Raiders, to the effect that the fans expected too much.

Every year, and certainly this no exception, the Avalanche Journal's English Professor turned sports writer during the spring training, as well as early fall, comes forth with great eloquence, praising the Raiders or so, but each and every day. Just a day or so ago Burle noted he had not missed a day of spring training. After awhile all this high sounding praise will brainwash even the toughest of fans. Then to top this all, Mr. Jim himself was recently quoted by the writers as telling a group of fans that his group would win the SW conference this fall. After he read it in print, he decided he was misquoted, and he had only said they wanted to win, and would be contenders.

But now days, most reporters have a cure for this practice of people saying something, and after it hits print, they claim they have been misquoted--most reporters use tape recorders, and the tape play-back usually proves there was no misquote.

Anyway, everything we read or hear about the 1971 Raiders coming up, is that they are going to be GOOD. Let's hope this is fact, and not over-enthusiasm.

Mother

She is an urn,
A precious vase,
Into which life has poured
All fragrance and
Sweetness and good;

She is a rose, a tender
flower,
Rising above
The thorny stems of life's
trials,
In beauty and love;
She is a guide,
Wise and gentle,
Leading her own,
Setting their feet,
In the path of life,
That leads to the throne!
