Volume 39 Number 48 Entered as Second Class Mail Jayton, Texas 79528 Thursday, Jan. 11, 1973

As It Looks From Here

By Rep. Omar Burleson
Member of Congress, Texas

With the opening of the 93rd Congress comes this first weekly release. Although one-third of January is past, it is never too late to send greetings and best wishes for 1973. That we do, with a deep appreciation for the people in the 17th Congressional District.

usual ceremonies, preceded by caucuses of both political parties. Not all was harmony and there is no expectation that all factions will lock in fond embraces in the months ahead. This is the case within the parties, as well as the relationship of the Congress with other branches of Government particularly the President.

THIS WEEK ... IN JAYTON

Last week this column noted the post offices were open only three days of ten beginning Sat. Dec. 3rd.

A note from postmaster R. L. Alexander states the Jayton office was open five of those days, including Sat. Dec. 23, and Sat. Dec. 30th.

He then added that the Jayton office is one of a few that maintain Saturday service.

Good deal Rex, I may want to buy some stamps some Saturday afternoon.

This writer attended the appreciation party given at Lubbock Friday for late Senator Doc Blanton. He has 20 years experience in the legislature. Part of that time the House of Representatives and the rest on the Chamber.

In the House he served in Waggoner Carr as baker. In the Senate he served with Preston Smith as Lt. Governor and Governor.

Now, for a change, he will be the top ranking State official from the Lubbock area. This should increase prestige considerably.

Many are watching with great interest the new session of the Legislature gets underway. In one sense, there should be an improvement. This past year each of the time was spent the top politicians sniping at their enemies, and plying their friends. This is the Governor, the Lt. Governor and the Speaker all in new positions. They should not have built any strong enmities, or commitments. This should be a problem.

Gov. Homer Garrison Jr. Law Enforcement Academy of the Texas Department of Public Safety, named for the late DPS director from 1938-1968, was officially dedicated here January 4 and hailed among the best equipped in the United States.

Gross agricultural income for Texas during 1972 may exceed $4 billion, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Court of Criminal Appeals declared unconstitutional a law (since amended) providing that 17 year old males could be tried for felonies, while felonies must be 18 to face trial.

Revenue from cigarette taxes dropped $2.5 million -- to $17.4 million -- from December 1971 to last month.

Animal Health Commission announced quarantines in portions of Nueces and Webb counties for fever tick infestation and exposure.

Governor Smith said state government will have a $300 million "nestegg" of unexpended fund balances when he leaves office.

Texas Education Agency received a national leadership award for developing performance-based teacher education programs.

Rep. Frances (Sissy) Farenthold, unsuccessful candidate for governor last year, announced she will maintain a permanent Austin office and monitor the legislature.

The School Board To Meet Tonight

The Jayton school board will hold its monthly meeting tonight, Thursday. Chief item on the agenda will be a matter of lunchroom personnel.

In giving the agenda for the meeting, Supt. R. N. Pierce told board members that lunchroom supervisor Zephia Cheyne plans to return this month. He recommended that Ethel Carr fill the position. Also he recommended that Mrs. Chunn be hired on a part-time basis, and that Mrs. Bural be considered as a substitute worker.

In the report of enrollment, elementary school has a total of 138 and secondary school (7-12) has 141 for a total of 279.

Seventh grade 23, eighth grade 28, ninth grade 25, tenth grade 21, eleventh grade 27, and twelfth grade 17.

In the report of the tax collector it was noted that the 1972 taxes are now 99.02% collected. This amounts to $562,922.73.

In a report of class funds, it looked like this.

- Elementary grades, 1 to 6 $403.18

Snow And Ice Blanket Community

The most severe cold spell in ten years now has the Jayton and Kent County area in its grip. For nine days now, there has been rain, snow, sleet and ice, and sub-freezing temperatures almost 24 hours per day.

Traffic on the streets and highways has been very hazardous and this is expected to continue through Thursday at least.

Cotton harvest has been at a standstill all this time. At least it did give the gin time to get caught up.

The Kent County Commissioners Court held its regular meeting in the Court House Monday, with all members present.

Items of business transacted were:

A motion was made by Sarah Byrd and seconded by Carlos Dickerson to pay all bills presented. Vote was unanimous.

Soil Tests Help When Fertilizing

Are you thinking about using fertilizer and limestone for your crops?

If so, County Extension Agent Mark Geeslin says that soil tests can be a valuable source of information and profitable investment.

A soil test indicates the level of available soil nutrients. Common tests are for pH, calcium and magnesium, and levels of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium. Levels of micronutrients such as zinc, iron and manganese can be obtained upon request.

Two important requirements are needed for getting valid information from soil tests," points out Geeslin. "The first is reliable laboratory procedures which indicate the availability of nutrients correlated with field data. The second requirement for reliable soil test results is a good sample. Samples should be carefully collected and be representative of the field on which information is desired."

Two aspects of sampling need emphasis. First, divide the field into uniform sampling units. The unit should be uniform with respect to color and texture as well as past cropping, fertilization and liming. The second important factor is the number of cores or slices of soil included. A good sample should have soil from 10 to 15 spots in each designated sampling unit. Each slice of core from the plow layer should be put in a clean plastic bucket and thoroughly mixed. About a pint should be sent to the laboratory.

Information on profitable fertilization and liming practices can be obtained from soil tests, provided laboratory procedures are calibrated for Texas soils and samples are carefully collected. Additional details on soil testing is available at the county Extension office.

This information comes from Dr. Charles Welch, Extension Soil Chemist.

Farmers Union Head Critical Of Nixon's Cutting Of Farm Program Budget

A farm organization leader has charged that the Nixon Administration is unfairly imposing major budget cuts on the least inflationary segment of the economy. Texas Farmers Union president Jay Naman of Waco has appealed to President Nixon to rescind budget cutting decisions relating to farm program payments, the Rural Environmental Assistance Program, emergency disaster loans, and interest rates on rural electrification.

The farm organization leader said, "Although agriculture is obviously the least inflationary segment of the economy, it is apparent that the President has decreed that agriculture and rural people must bear the major share of budget reductions. In so doing, the President has under-mined programs that are essential for environmental preservation, necessary to keep farm families on the farm, and vital to low-cost rural electrification," Naman said.

"In three weeks, President Nixon has eliminated 1.3 billion dollars in farm program benefits, cancelled popular and time-proven, cost-sharing programs to conserve soil and water resources, removed the opportunity of farmers suffering weather disasters to make a comeback, and more than doubled the interest rate on the rural electric cooperatives," Naman said.

Naman said that the constitutional separation of power between the branches of government is at stake. He pointed out that Congress provided farm programs and the others because these programs are in the public interest and the President signed the legislation. "When a president wipes out 30 years of beneficial farm programs and programs to benefit the rural areas with a sweep of the pen, there is a strong question of whether or not the Executive Branch has usurped the constitutional powers of the legislative branch. It is time for Congress to question the President's arbitrary actions, and exercise the responsibilities that are accorded Congress by the Constitution," Naman said.

The farm organization leader stated that several Farmers Union sponsored "Fly-Ins" to Washington in January and February have been planned to take hundreds of farmers from across the nation to the Capitol to discuss the problems of agriculture and the rural area with members of Congress, and to urge to support of Congress for the preservation of all federal programs needed to protect the family farm system of agriculture.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

The State Board of Insurance had good news for homeowners as the new year turned.

Insurance rate cuts which will total an estimated $35 million a year in savings for coverage on dwellings were ordered effective January 1.

Gov. Preston Smith commended the Board and claimed that debate on insurance rating issues during the special legislative session he called last fall figured in the reductions.

Board members first announced these reductions for extended coverage and homeowners' package policies.

Announcement of the first reductions were followed three days later by fire rate cuts for dwellings.

The statewide fire rate slashes amount to 12 per cent for brick veneer, asbestos and stucco houses and nine per cent for frame dwellings. A three per cent increase was directed for all brick dwellings, but the Board noted this category accounts for only two per cent of Texas housing.

Legislators returning to work in regular session Tuesday found five budget reform proposals designed to save at least $50 million a year.

Texas Manufacturers Association unveiled the recommendations and announced a statewide campaign to win support for them.

These proposals are expected to be introduced by prominent legislators, TMA said.

Authority for the governor, as chief state executive officer, to review state spending on a quarterly basis.

Authority for the legislative budget board to conduct biennial performance audits of agency and program operational efficiency.

Limiting compromise powers of free conference committees on appropriations to adjusting reasonable differences between House and Senate spending recommendations, rather than permitting addition of new items or deletion of others previously agreed on by both houses.

Establishing a "price-tagging" system, under which the legislative budget board must project cost estimates for a five-year period on all spending legislation before committee hearings.

Creating a two-year study by a 15-member gubernatorial commission of the practice of earmarking 80 per cent of total state revenues, free of direct legislative control.

Lawmakers also found the 1973 version of Texas penal code revision as proposed by the State Bar on their desks at the capitol.

The new code, first proposed overall revision since 1857, was rejected by the legislature in 1971, but sponsors feel it may pass this year. Changes have been made in controversial sections, and provisions on drug laws and abortion left out.

The new code would retain the death penalty for eight classifications of murder.

Sixteen hundred sections of the old penal code have been boiled down to 246.

It contains four felony punishment classifications and three classes of misdemeanors, with penalties specified for each.

A San Antonio school teacher is ineligible to serve as a member of the State Board of Education, the attorney general's office held.

In other recent opinions, the attorney general concluded:

County commissioners must be petitioned by one per cent of county voters before they can call a countywide road bond election.

An advertising scheme whereby merchants award prizes by drawings and punchcards is a lottery in violation of the law.

A requirement of persons applying for a marriage license appearing together or separately before the county clerk may be waived, and ceremonial marriages may be performed by proxy where there is a valid marriage license issued.

Refinery units constructed on land owned gas companies are determined to be real property.

A vehicle designed primarily for application of fertilizer and herbicides is an "implement of husbandry" (used for agricultural purposes and is not required to be registered for highway usage.

Governor Smith designated V. Larry Teaver Jr., of Austin, a longtime friend and aide, as secretary of state to serve until January 16 when Gov. Dolph Briscoe takes office. Teaver succeeds Bob Bullock who resigned after January 1.

Falling Satellites

A space exploration expert recently mentioned, on a television program, the coming problem of falling satellites, which promises to become a major problem. More than a thousand satellites have already been launched into outer space by the United States and Russia, many of which are still orbiting.

The U.S. alone, since 1958, has launched 115 civilian and 700 military satellites. Russia has launched over 600. Some of these satellites are rather massive objects; for example, in 1972 the United States launched an 860-pound laboratory, a sizeable spacecraft now in orbit and an 81.6 million-dollar observatory, among many others.

Should any of these happen to fall on a town or city, the consequences could be tragic. Obviously, chances are slim this will happen. The oceans make up most of the earth's surface and will claim most satellites. Forests and open fields and undeveloped land will claim most of the others. But the chance remains, and grows, that some will crash into highly populated areas, causing death and destruction.

And thus we have with us already in 1973 the problem of space safety, if not congestion. Some means must therefore be found to safeguard those on earth from the falling satellites of tomorrow.

1973 Weather

Few old enough to have been fascinated by them can forget those cough syrup calendars with the colored flags telling what the weather would be—every day of the year. In those days there were no weather satellites or fancy scientific means to help forecasters. Yet how undaunted and optimistic (and entertaining) they were!

One can still get the daily weather forecast for a year in advance but fewer now take these forecasts seriously. (The current winter is supposed to be mild.) Weather forecasting has become so sophisticated, as seen daily in newspapers and on television, that year-long calendars, in almanacs and as wall calendars, are less used.

Which reminds us how dependent the nation's population, once mostly farmers, once was on the weather.

Families' very existence depends on the weather. Naturally enough, farm families learn to observe nature and watch weather changes and signs carefully. And the study of nature, which this is, is both fascinating, inspirational and humbling, one reason persons who grew up on a farm are more likely to be dependable, good citizens.

New Airlift

The State Department recently quietly resumed the controversial airlift of Cubans into the U.S. Planeloads of so-called refugees began arriving daily again on December 11th.

Most of the arrivals were women and children; of the men many were old. In other words, Fidel Castro is casting off his unproductive on this country; East Germany has followed the same course in allowing East Germans to go to West Germany—to the welfare rolls of that government.

In that some five million Americans are out of work, and in that Florida is already suffering heavy digestion pains resulting from the flood of Cubans into that state, there is no justification for daily airlifts of more Cubans into this country—a violation, in spirit, of U.S. immigration policy.

All sympathize with those who live in impoverished or undemocratic Latin countries, who number in the millions.

Taylor On Vietnam

General Maxwell Taylor, one of the country's distinguished military leaders, has suggested the United States disengage in Vietnam without a ceasefire agreement with the Communists.

Taylor says we might as well leave it to Saigon to work out an agreement with the North Vietnamese, that we can then effectively complete disengagement without a loss of face, retaining an air power potential and capacity in the area to support South Vietnam.

Taylor is convinced Hanoi will never accept a properly supervised truce, never admit its troops are in South Vietnam, and therefore never be legally committed to their withdrawal and never agree to properly supervised general elections in South Vietnam.

Taylor further says Hanoi's leaders will never release U.S. prisoners until they have gained everything possible by continuing to hold them.

The key to success of the Taylor proposal is probably in making South Vietnam's air force effective, capable of doing the necessary job which has so far been done by the U.S. Air Force. Though the ground war has been largely Vietnamized, the air war has not.

In recent months much costly air equipment has been rushed in to the South Vietnamese; yet the crying need there has been, and will be for the immediate future, close ground support aircraft which can stem any new Communist attack. Such a weapon will be all the more needed after U.S. bombing of the supply lines to the north is halted.

The eventual success of Taylor's suggestion for disengagement may well hinge on Vietnamization of the air war—a condition President Nixon has expressly desired, but one which hasn't been created by the U.S. Air Force.

The matter of carrying out the amendment voted favorably last fall by the people to rewrite the constitution will come in for West Texas representatives has said he feels if they just get a committee appointed to draft a new constitution, they will be doing well. I agree with one West Texas representative who said recently he couldn't see a great lot wrong with the Constitution as it now stands. Of course, I don't know much about it.

If you keep up with politics, this present session will be worth your time to watch it closely. It will probably be more interesting than a three ring circus.

While at the Blanchard affair in Lubbock Friday, I chatted a few minutes with Chas. A. Guy, the retired editor of the Avalanche Journal.

I expressed to him how much we all miss his daily columns. After having read the "Plainsman" every day for about 40 years, I really miss it. He had a way with words that gave a "flow" to his writings, and made it real easy to read and follow.

Only those who have tried to write a regular column, even weekly, know the great effort and thought it takes to keep it interesting.

UNKLE ZEKE SEZ

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers has waited a month and a half for all the New Jerusalem promised by all the politicians. Saturday night at the country store they discussed the situation up one side and down the other, and they was full agreed the only thing you can be shore about politics is that the pie in the sky before the election is going to be egg on yore face the day after.

Clem Webster had saw this piece in the paper where this fellah had divided Americans into three groups, the Low Grumbles, the High Grumbles and the Meta Grumbles. Clem said you can group politicians low, high and meta on the promise scale according to how high a office they want. The promisers run the show afore elections, and the grumblers after, was Clem's words.

General speaking, said Clem, they ain't no low or high spenders on the national level, jest meta spenders. He had saw a report on a book by Senator William Proxmire called "Uncle Sam, the Last of the Big Spenders," and he said some of the stuff is enuff to make a meta grumbler out of ever taxpayer.

For instant, the senator says the U.S. had 12 million in the military in World War II. We got two million now, but we got the same number of generals we had in the war. Urban renewal has spent $12 billion to tear down 400,000 homes, and the program has built only 20,000 homes. The new Senate Office Building cost $78 a square foot to build, and it has a $27 million parking garage that puts the cost of ever parking space at $15,000. We've got thousands of idle servicemen, allowed Proxmire, but we pay civilians $60 million to do the KP after we double the military pay scale.

They ain't no way, agreed Clem, to make sense of a Government that looks at ever problem upside down and inside out. The way to make folks good is liberalize sin, the answer to crime is liberalize laws, the solution to speeding on the roads is to raise the speed limits. That's the kind of thinking, said Clem, that causes folks to meta grumble when the federal Government talks about revenue sharing when all they got in Washington is a debt with interest nearly as big as the budget. And more than a third of the people is living complete or partly off Government "benefits" right now, said Clem.

It is hard, Mister Editor, to see New Jerusalem. Personal, I wasn't in favor of the Indians tearing up all that stuff in Washington, but I see their point. When you consider the way they were running this country and the shape it's got into in the last 200 years, you can see it's going to be all Ralph Nader can do to get us straightened out. The Great White Father has bled his white building a do everthing now—pay later society till he is deeper in the red than the Redman ever dreamt his country could git.

Yours truly,

Unkle Zeke

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor:

We are beginning a new year which marks another mile stone on our journey from time to eternity. It might be well to pause for a short time in our mad race through this terrible mechanized and atomic age and turn our thoughts from material things and in a measure rededicate our lives to those great principles for which our forefathers, our friends and playmates shed their life blood that we may continue to dwell in the land of the free, as well as the home of the brave.

We realize that our freedom, that priceless heritage, bought with the blood of heroes and the tears of anxious mothers is being threatened by both internal and external aggression as never before in the history of our fair land.

Now we do not like the graft and corruption that remains in many places. We do not like some of the Federal agencies that place various restrictions upon our activities neither would we like to try to live under the iron heel of the foreign dictator and this is our country right or wrong—but our country.

In the gospel of St. James he asks and answers a question, "What is your life?"

It is but a vapor that appeareth for a little time and then vanisheth away, and in 1 Peter 1-24 for all flesh is as the grass and all the glory of man as the flower of the grass, the grass withereth and the flower there of falleth away.

Now if this was the end we would have no hope, but in 2nd Cor. 5-1.

Saint Paul tells us if this earthly house of our tabernacle be dissolved we have a home not made with hands eternal and in the heavens.

In the book of wisdom in beautiful language we are told the souls of the righteous are in the hand of God, and there shall no torment touch them, in the sight of the unwise they seem to die and their departure from us to be utter destruction, but they are in peace, and though they be punished in the sight of men yet their hope is filled with immortality. The Book of Wisdom is a book of the Bible and one of the books that Protestants rejected during the reformation. Love to all, Adolphus Moreland

The London Flu

A few years ago the Hong Kong flu put many Americans down for the count; this year the "in" strain is the London flu.

Federal officials at the Public Health Center for Disease in Atlanta say London flu, first detected at the Air Force Academy in October, and which struck hard at Baltimore in late November, is not a major threat, nor spreading in epidemic proportions.

Rather, they say, the flu situation in the United States is about normal for this time of year. The London flu virus is merely the latest strain making the rounds; it was first detected in India in 1971 and appeared in London early this year.

It has thus far been detected in Colorado, Arizona, California, Washington, Hawaii, Kansas, Texas, Illinois, Tennessee, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts. Doctors are prescribing for it what has for many years been prescribed for flu—bed rest, plenty of fluids including fruit juices, aspirin and, perhaps, cough syrup. As with other ailments not fully understood, they're, in effect, letting the body make its own recovery.

Farm Bureau Urges Continuation Of Farm Sharing Programs

Texas Farm Bureau President J. T. (Red) Woodson said this week that the federal cost-sharing program for most soil and water conservation practices should be continued.

Commenting on the Administration's cut-off of funds for the Rural Environmental Assistance (REAP) and Water Bank programs, and disaster loans to farmers, the state farm leader said that agriculture should not be expected to bear an unequal portion of federal spending cuts.

Under the REAP program, annual payments have been offered owners covering part of the cost of installing approved conservation and pollution control practices.

This program, which is cost-sharing and not an income supplement, benefits all people," Woodson said. "It is an investment in the future of this country and not a subsidy solely for the benefit of land owners." "The soil and water conservation practices not only contribute to pollution control, but also helps provide Americans with a bountiful food supply at reasonable prices."

Woodson said farmers and ranchers do support measures to reduce inflationary pressures because they are hurt more than most groups by higher production costs since they cannot pass along cost increases. If the Administration is determined to cut federal spending, it should be across the board in all departments of government, the state farm leader said.

Green Thumb Tips

There's a special reason to grow Oak Leaf lettuce in your garden. When it's time to harvest, you don't have to pull up the entire plant. Instead, you can pick the outer leaves from different plants, and more new leaves will grow to take their place. That way they remain productive for a longer period. Oak Leaf is also the most heat resistant lettuce, and belongs to the looseleaf class, which is the easiest and fastest to grow.

More gardeners are reporting that marigolds help control pests in the vegetable garden. By planting a row around crops you want to protect, the odor in the leaves will keep rabbits and rodents away. The roots are also reported to rid the soil of nematodes (destructive root-eating worms).

You don't need a vegetable garden to grow mustard and cress. A shady window will allow you to grow them indoors with ease. Just sprinkle the seeds on a paper napkin and keep moist. Within 24 hours the seed coats will split, and within 10 days the cress will be high enough to cut for adding a zesty flavor to sandwiches, salads and egg dishes.

When tomatoes were first found growing by European explorers in South America, they imagined the fruit to be poisonous because of its striking resemblance to Deadly Nightshade, a poisonous plant common throughout Europe. But once this belief was proved wrong, tomatoes rapidly gained favor, and the French even called them "Love Apples."

Medicare Premiums Increased

WASHINGTON Medicare premiums will increase 50 cents a month for 22.5 million elderly Americans beginning July 1, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced today.

The new rates will be $6.30 a month for the medical insurance plan supplementing the basic hospital insurance part of Medicare.

Last year there was an increase of 20 cents a month. HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson attributed the latest increase to higher hospital outpatient costs, more use of physicians' services and the trend toward more expensive services. The government shares the cost. The supplemental plan pays doctor bills and a wide range of other health expenses in and out of the hospital.

THE WEEKLY HEADLINE

Grandpa fumed when I took this picture. "It won't look natural," he said. "My desk is never clean."

It's clean now. The umbrella stand is empty, the hat rack bare. His old Web press has been retired. But Grandpa's presence lingers on.

For over fifty years he printed the Mayfield Progress, reporting the news with integrity. There were times when he was threatened, cajoled by attempted bribery, menaced by pressure groups, but he stayed true to principle. He was a giant in our town.

What made Grandpa strong in the face of danger — incorrupt when confronted by unscrupulous forces?

His church was the center and circumference of his being. Its truths and its goodness sustained him. It was all that he needed — he remained steadfast and sure.

Your church is eager to help you meet the pressures of your day. Its resources are unlimited and eternal. Go to church, and take your family with you.

Smith Issues Warning

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. Gov. Preston Smith, who has less than two weeks to serve before leaving office, indicates he's not going to be the lamest of ducks.

Smith spoke Wednesday to supporters and civic leaders who gathered for what was promoted as Gov. Preston Smith Appreciation Day.

He said he has a memory like an elephant and warned that "a lot of people are going to find that out in the next few days."

Although the state was rocked by the Texas stock fraud case, Smith said Texas has the finest state government in the United States.

He said he never had done a "dishonest thing" while he served 22 years in the legislature, senate, the lieutenant governorship and governorship.

"When we leave state government, we will leave Texas in the finest financial condition it, or any other state has ever been in," claimed Smith.

Smith told newsmen during the day he plans to go back to his hometown, Lubbock, "and assume the full responsibilities of a citizen."

He continued, "As far as being a candidate again, I have no anticipation of this, but I don't ever burn my bridges behind me."

At a breakfast, Smith was praised for work on various projects, especially the University of Texas facilities which are sprouting on huge tracts of land in northwest San Antonio.

Smith, who finished fourth both locally and statewide in a bid for re-election in the Democratic primary, responded that any officeholder who expects gratitude is a "damn fool."

Its Colder Than You Think

When you're outside on a cold, windy day and you think it's colder than the thermometer indicates, you're right! Nearly every winter some people in the U. S. are severely frost bitten or even frozen to death because they dress according to the thermometer and not according to the chill index temperature. The chill index is a combination of wind velocity and temperature reading. For example, at 10 degrees above zero with a 10-mile-

 (Practical Hints For The Modern Woman)
 By April Rhodes

It will soon be rose-planting time. Study catalogs now to make wise selections which do well in your area. Camellias need two feedings a year. The first should be applied just after blooming is over. Place your silver bowls, trays, etc., where they will pick up light and add warmth and beauty to your home. It's a good practice to girl. If he calls for them at home he should come to the door and see that they are seated. When they return he should open the door and see them safely into the house. My husband always acted so and set the example for his sons.
