A Discussion Of VEE Horse Malady

By Bill Hobby
AUSTIN--It has been two years since the tragic outbreak of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis which claimed the lives of hundreds of horses in Texas.

During that 1971 crisis, more than a half million horses were vaccinated in Texas.

Since then, the disease and its attendant publicity have died down. This, in turn, has given rise to the threat of a new outbreak of VEE.

The Texas Animal Health Commission reports that continuing studies show that the very effective vaccine against VEE does not offer permanent protection.

The AHAC has joined with the Texas Veterinary Medical Association in urging revaccination of all horses in the state.

Studies indicated that the vaccine's protection begins to dwindle after a year. Consequently, it is recommended that horses be revaccinated every year.

In addition, the veterinarians recommend that colts and horses brought into the state since the epidemic be vaccinated.

Of course, horse also should be vaccinated against the Eastern and Western strains of encephalomyelitis which have been in the U. S. for years.

As the name implies, VEE was first noticed in Venezuela in the mid-1930s. It was confined to South America until 1969 when an epidemic struck in Guatemala.

Since then, it swept through Central America and Mexico where inadequate immunization programs allowed VEE to invade Texas.

The virus is spread by mosquitoes, which are seasonally in greater numbers during the late summer and early fall months.

Since we are in the middle of this high-risk period, it is especially important that horse owners insure that all their animals are vaccinated as soon as possible.

Although the disease is seldom fatal to humans, about 90 persons were afflicted during the 1971 epidemic. However, the fatality rate among horses that get VEE is very high.

The symptoms horse owners should look for include drowsiness, loss of appetite, depression, stumbling, drooling, and diarrhea.

Thanks to a 19-state vaccination program, the VEE epidemic was confined to Texas in 1971. The U. S. Department of Agriculture cautions, however, that the virus has not been eliminated. New outbreaks can be expected.

We Texas horse owners bear a special responsibility to protect our animals and thus insure that they do not help spread VEE to the rest of the country.

New State Official

Governor Dolph Briscoe participated in the September 18 swearing-in ceremony of Mack Wallace to the Texas Railroad Commission in the Governor's Reception Room, State Capitol, Austin. Wallace, appointed by the Governor to fill the unexpired term of Bryon Tunnell, was sworn in by Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe R. Greenhill. Wallace is a former member of Governor Briscoe's staff as Executive Director of the Criminal Justice Council. Wallace's term will end in November of 1974 at which time he can run for re-election.

Terry English Gets An NMSQT Award

A Letter of Commendation honoring her for her high performance on the 1972 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT) has been awarded to Terry English, at Jayton High School, principal Preston Cleveland has announced.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC) has named 38,000 Commended students throughout the United States. These students are among the upper two percent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1974. Thus, the Commended students rank high, but below the 15,000 Semifinalists in September by NMSC.

To increase their scholarship opportunities Commended students' names are reported to the colleges they named as their first and second choices when they took the PSAT/NMSQT in October 1972. The reports included home addresses, test scores, and anticipated college major and career intentions of the Commended students.

The Jaybirds Lose To Rule Friday 26-0

The Jayton Jaybirds went to Rule last Friday night to take on the state rated and highly prestigious Bobcats. While the Birds did not bring home the victory they so much wanted, they did dig in and play the Cats a very good game, and got a lot of good experience while at it.

On most plays the Birds met them head-on at the line of scrimmage. Four times the Cats got loose to cross the double stripe, but all in all it was a very good game.

The Jaybirds rest up this weekend, getting ready for the big conference grind, when they meet Hawley here October 12th.

The Guessers Have Trouble With Upsets

Gus Fincher came up on the top of the heap this week in the Chronicle football contest. Fincher guessed ten games right. The total score in the tie breaker game was 26 but he had 41.

Alonso Trevino changed his mind, after marking his ballot the first time. He had ten games right, and at first put the total score at 40 and then marked it 50.

With nine rights, Alex Garcia nudged out Floyd D. Hall for third place. Garcia guess the score at 38, and Hall had it at 57.

The games that caused the most trouble were Stamford's win over Jacksboro, and Monahan's win over Sweetwater.

This contest is made possible by the merchants listed on the booster and contest page.

As It Looks From Here

By Rep. Omar Burleson
Member of Congress, Texas

Washington, D. C. -- When the experts differ on expert opinions, it sort of shakes you up. They differ widely on the state of the U. S. economy. This has always been the case but varying opinions on the present situation are about as broad as ever observed.

The pessimists on the economy see a recession, rising unemployment, continued inflation, and sky-high interest rates--all just around the corner.

The optimists demure, arguing that the economy is about to come out of the woods. The best choice appears to be somewhere in between these two views.

Three years ago it was fashionable to portray the doom of America. Torn apart by a divisible war, many were ready to throw in the towel, concluding that this Nation could never again aspire to the great hopes which formed its foundation.

The war is over and, in spite of reported scandals in government, there remains pride in American achievements and its spirit is certainly still alive.

Social doomsayers of the late 1960's have been largely replaced by economic doomsayers. These pessimists paint a gloomy picture of both the short and long run in the U. S. economy. They say recession is eminent, inflation will gallop at the rate of at least 5% a year, with interest rates remaining sky-high. They predict the continued rise in consumer prices will cause a wage explosion and a series of disruptive strikes. They see the dollar as a sort of a Mickey Mouse currency repudiated abroad and distrusted at home. They see foreign demands for our food and fiber so great that we shall either have to seal off these markets or experience greater surges of costs in our domestic markets. They see the stock market in a permanent slump, reflecting fear of inflation and tight money. On the hand, the optimists see the economy as cooling and, if a recession occurs, it will likely be both mild and short-lived. They see business outlays for new plants and equipment as a promising prospect for a "soft landing," as business comes out of bloom proportions.

They see the economy as cresting and short-term interest rates leveling out and then declining.

The optimists view the world-wide boom partly responsible for inflation, but that the prospects are for diminishing intensity.

The optimists view favorably recent settlements of wage disputes, pointing out that no wage explosion nor rash of strikes have yet occurred.

Foreign trade has increased to the U. S. advantage and the dollar has snapped back from its lows of last spring and summer to improve the balance of payments outlook.

These experts see the surging demand for U. S. agricultural products on the plus side for our economy which benefits both farmers and consumers.

It is likely that the scenario of the pessimists draws too dark a picture and that of the optimists is too glowing.

Probably things will neither be so bad nor so good. Looking back over the last quarter century, the "middle-of-the-roads" in the business community have been more often right than those taking the extreme position.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dibreil visited Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reynolds, Duster and Heather in Midland, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Davis attended the roping in Post Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Bill Daniels was in Stamford for a check-up, Monday.

Oleta Moore attended funeral services for her uncle in DeLeon, Friday.

THIS WEEK IN JAYTON

The Texas Tech Red Raiders made two touchdowns against New Mexico a few afternoons ago, in less than a minute, and the fans were feeling sorry for the Lobos.

But that is a mere trifle compared to what happened to the Raiders down at Austin Saturday night. The Longhorns made two TDs, a total of 14 points against the Raiders, and the clock, didn't move a peg--that is right, according to the official clock, there was no official expiration of time while these two TDs and extra points were put on the score board.

That should set some sort of record. Anyhow, the Raiders got beat, and now this season looks just like all the other seasons--the Raiders have to start all over again after playing Texas.

Here is a piece of news for all you lovers. An experiment conducted by the University of Virginia Medical School has come up with the opinion that you can catch a cold from a person easier by shaking hands with him (or her) than you can by kissing. How about that?

Football Time

No other sport in the world is quite comparable to American football. Europeans and other foreigners are invariably fascinated by the combination of civic interest, social involvement and color which traditionally go along with high school and college football in this country.

The beauty queen bit, band parades at halftime, cheering sections and color of the school sport are indeed unique; needless to say, the training, discipline and hard play of American football have taught many youngsters, how to become men, and to work together as a team.

Sometimes, of course, it is overdone, for a school sport. Too many young boys are permanently injured each fall because of the violent physical contact allowed under the rules. Probably because of this, school football can claim first place as a field sport for generating excitement.

Its popularity remains on the increase; it almost seems a part of the natural fall scene. And there's nothing quite like the home-team spirit at each season's homecoming or key game. When this isn't out of a bottle, and one keeps in mind winning isn't everything, football is great entertainment and exciting sport.

Flying Autos

Those who eagerly look forward to the day when flying automobiles will be common-place sights on the American scene were disappointed recently when one of the pioneer craft crashed in California.

The flying automobile which crashed near Oxnard minutes after takeoff was known as the "Flying Pinto" and was powered by a 210-horsepower aircraft engine, as well as its automobile engine.

Though the crash claimed the lives of its two developers, one hopes the idea does not die with them. For their dream was sound-of automobiles that can fly.

A nation which can rocket men to the moon can surely solve this problem, which would represent a major step forward in the field of transportation, greatly relieving traffic congestion.

Buy At Home

In this day of high-powered newspaper and television advertising, modern highways and mail-order houses, it's easy to forget one of the facts of life concerning this community.

Every dollar spent here which stays here is likely to turn up again in the cash register or bank account of a local inhabitant. He, in turn, may pass it on to another local citizen. The longer it remains in circulation the more it stimulates business and the community.

Local merchants don't deserve one's business if they fail to offer comparable goods and services at fair prices; many do that and in these cases the choice should be to keep our money circulating in our own community-for the greater good of all; and the building of a better community.

It seems that most people spend a lot of time putting their hands in their mouths. Then they shake hands, and the other person, in turn, puts his hands to the mouth--and this way the germ is passed along. Well, it could just be that the people making this report have put their feet in their mouth.

A lot of people are enjoying the fall weather. Good cool nights and warm days.

Besides being pleasant on humankind, it is also on the grain, and cotton maturing out, and those harvesting them.

The amazing New York Mets, after being 12 games behind, just a few weeks ago, got to work and won the east division of the national league, and they didn't even make page one of our favorite daily paper.

The east is a weak league. Just a few days ago, all six teams were playing below .500. Now, the winner will have to take on the Big Reds from Ohio for the National League title. The Reds have been away out in the front almost all year. They will be favored to take the crown.

In the meantime the Orioles will take on the world champions the Oakland. As for the American League crown. Then the winners of the two leagues will meet in the world series. Maybe football will be moved to the side and we can watch some good baseball on the boob tube for a change.

A lot of people would like to see the Mets surprise the Reds, but not likely. The general opinion of people who are supposed to know is that it will be the As and the Reds in the series, with the As repeating for the world title.

When a man has a brother

A man's got to look after his brother. That's what Timmy said the other day, as he stood beside our baby. And I told him he was right. "You are so much stronger than this tiny, little creature," I said. "From now on, you've got a real responsibility!"

A man does have to look after his brother... especially when that brother is weak. But there are moments, too, when even the strongest man may need a brother... especially on Worldwide Communion Sunday!

In the eyes of the Church, all men are brothers, just as all men are equally beloved. As long as there is a church near you, you are not alone. You have only to open the door and walk in and you will be at one with your fellow man... and at home with your brothers.

Join the fun. Guess the winners. Nothing to buy. Just circle the teams you think will win, fill in your name and address, and bring it to the Chronicle office, or get it into the mail before 5 p. m. Friday. Everyone is eligible except employees of the Jayton Chronicle, and members of their families. Use this from here in the paper. Come by the office and we will give you a free form. Or, write it out on a piece of paper, in the same order as printed here, and that will do. The editor of the Jayton Chronicle is the sole judge as to the winner.
