The Jaybirds Run Wild In 62-6 Defeat Of The Loraine Bulldogs Friday

The Jayton Jaybirds systematically destroyed the Loraine Bulldogs last Friday 62-6.

Three Local Churches To Have Joint Program For Thanksgiving Service

This Sunday night, Nov. 23rd the Assembly, Methodist and Baptist churches will meet together for their joint Thanksgiving program. The churches will meet in the Assembly church at 6 p. m. brother Truett Kuenstler has been asked to bring the message. We want to have all of our people who possibly can to attend this joint worship service.

It is during this time that we take up an offering that goes into the community benevolence fund. This fund is to take care of those people, primarily who are passing through our town and need gas, food or lodging. This is our policy to help any needy family or person to get to their destinations.

We also use this fund to help out any needy family of the community who may have some extra sickness or hardship. Last year we received nearly $200.00 and it was depleted last month. Make this a matter of prayer and be prepared to give generously. A detailed report will be given by Odell Harrison who serves as our treasurer for this fund, it was stated this week.

Bicentennial Briefs - -

There were women who did not go to the battlefields but fought with fiery pen and paper against the British.

Mercy Otis Warren, wife of James Warren, was perhaps the bitterest of the firebrand type women who wrote propagandistic literature against the British. It was so effective in keeping the revolutionary spirit burning that she was known as "Penwoman of the cause."

She wrote poems and a number of plays, the satire savagry, cruel and often obscene.

She had reason to be angry, her brilliant lawyer brother James Otis, while arguing the patriotic cause was struck on the head by a British officer and never fully recovered his sanity.

Mercy's was a close associate of most of the country's prominent politicians.

John Adams, once told her to write what she pleased and "let the censure fall where it will" and she did.

The Watergate Report

In a final report the Watergate Special Prosecution Force has proposed varying rules, guidelines and laws to prevent abuses in the future. Perhaps the most emphasis is given a proposal that Congress decide whether a President can be indicted before he is impeached and the suggestion is made that Congress tackle this problem at once. The prevailing view among constitutional experts is that a President can be indicted at any time (former chairman Sam Erwin of the Senate investigating committee concurs). In any event, the Supreme Court can decide that question if it should arise.

Nuts To You... Somewhat Better... One More Time.

Pecan harvest is now in various stages throughout the state, and most areas are expecting a good to bountiful crop. Texas will produce about one-fourth of the nation's pecans this season. Nationwide, there'll be a 75 per cent increase in pecan production compared to a year ago.

The quality of the crop continues to vary. Many crops are weighing out lighter than originally anticipated because of damage from disease and insects.

HARVESTING OF MAJOR CROPS and fall planting of others is nearing an end as farmers hurry to finish chores before winter arrives.

Recent rains have helped much of the wheat crop which has been planted. Wheat seeding for the state is virtually complete as is oat planting. With the recent moisture, these fields will be available for grazing. Livestock generally are continuing to hold up well despite short grazing and declining pasture conditions.

Much of the 1975 cotton crop has yet to be harvested. About a third of the crop has been gathered thus far, which is about on schedule with recent years.

Most of the crop on the High Plains is ready for harvest. Completion in the Blacklands has been delayed by recent rains and cool weather.

The state's major commodities in grains - corn and grain sorghum - are nearing the final harvest stages.

Sorghum harvest is virtually finished, as is corn. One of the highest per acre corn yields in history will be recorded in Texas this year. Storage facilities for the crop had caused some temporary delays.

Soybeans, still a fairly new crop for some areas of the state, are also making good progress; that crop is about two-thirds harvested. Good to excellent yields are reported in the High Plains and along the Upper Gulf Coast, but yields in the Blacklands have been short.

BRUCellosis CONTINUES TO BE A MAJOR TOPIC of conversation among livestock producers throughout the state. A quarantine of Texas livestock is threatened by federal authorities. Several beef cattle organizations have requested a Congressional study of the federal brucellosis program.

THIS YEAR WILL GO IN THE RECORD BOOKS as one of those years in which the screwworm caused a lot of trouble. Freezing weather will wipe out the problem in the northern half of the state. But the pest will continue to be a headache for producers in South Texas.

Screwworm officials at the fly lab in Mission continue to remind livestock producers to check their cattle regularly, treat wounds on livestock with approved screwworm control remedies, delay surgery on livestock as long as possible, and continue to submit suspected samples of screwworms to the fly lab at Mission.

TEEN SCENE

A high priority among teens is keeping skin clear and problem-free, according to a survey of national teen magazine editors. If you're a teen with skin problems, the best thing you can do is be willing to "come clean" and follow some good advice. To help you "face up" to the clearest year ever, here are some up-front tips from Chattlem Laboratories, makers of Mudd, the new cleanser that's especially formulated to remove dirt and oil.

* Keep skin super clean, washing it at least twice a day. Washing in the morning will refresh your skin, and let you start with a clean slate. A good scrubbing at night will remove the day's makeup, dirt and oil—real pore-cloggers that spell trouble. * To come really clean try Mudd, a unique product actually made with down-to-earth clays. Mudd draws and loosens embedded pore-clogging oils and dead skin cells that often encourage infection, and its drawing action can open and clean pores to leave skin soft, smooth and fresh.

* Catch Z's for at least eight hours a night to give your body, inside and out, a chance to recharge. Stress and fatigue can only take their toll on your complexion.

* Watch your diet, making sure you eat foods from each of the Basic Four groups. Avoid greasy, rich foods that you can "eat tonight and wear tomorrow."

* Get plenty of exercise and fresh air to get your circulation going—a known factor in keeping skin clear and putting a healthy glow into your cheeks.

Stock Show Planned

A record number of lambs and calves have been put on feed for the Kent County 4-H Club Stock Show. Ninety-four lambs and thirty-two steers were weighed on Saturday, 1 November, for the show. Hogs are being bought during October and November and will be weighed at the Barn in Clairemont on Saturday, 6 December.

Steers being fed will be shown by Scott Metcalf, Don Wayne Jones, Eric Hahn, Janine Hahn, Lesa Picken, Lanny Hall, Conrad Carriker, Lakona Carriker, Kent Byrd, Hank Cravey, Lanny Arnold, Jan Kimmel, Lakona Stanaland, Chris Williams, Shelley Williams, and Lisa York.

The annual Kent County Stock Show will be held on Friday and Saturday, 27-28 February, at the 4-H Club Barn in Clairemont. Freddie Stuart and Roby will judge the show.

The annual Kent County Stock Show is planned for 4-H youth by members of the Livestock Committee, as part of the Extension Program Building process to provide information to the people of Kent County, regardless of race, creed, or socio-economic status.

Awards Program Held

Nine Kent County 4-H Club members participated in the annual District 3 Awards Program for Gold Star Boys and Girls of the district. The District Luncheon and program was held in the Wilbarger County Memorial Auditorium on Thursday, 13 November.

Kent County delegates to the District Council meeting were Rena Bural and Scott Metcalf. The council met during the morning prior to the awards luncheon.

Honored at the noon luncheon were the Kent County 4-H Club Gold Star Award winners: Janet Johnson and Donny Shipp. State Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls was the luncheon speaker. John Walker presided at the noon luncheon, with Brian Cleveland praying the invocation. Minette Geeslin introduced Senator Farabee. Lori Murdoch and Don Wayne Jones were members of the group that served as hosts and hostesses for the luncheon.

The Kent County 4-H Club members were accompanied to the Vernon meeting by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shipp, Mrs. Carroll W. Johnson, Extension Agent Bert Stanaland, and Extension Agent and Mrs. Mark A. Geeslin.

The Time is Now

No-fault auto insurance might soon prove to be an idea whose time has come—and gone—with only a fraction of its potential realized for the public.

This fate could await the no-fault concept unless Congress acts favorably on one of two bills—S. 354 in the Senate, H. R. 9650 in the House—that would set federal standards for no-fault laws and push states to adopt them within a specified time.

In the late 1960s proponents hailed no-fault as a tool for meaningful reform of the automobile insurance system... a way to compensate accident victims more rapidly and more equitably than before. They hoped that within a few years, every state would adopt a strong, workable no-fault law.

Unfortunately, it hasn't worked out that way. Since Massachusetts led the way in 1970, only 16 states have enacted true no-fault laws—and most of these aren't as effective as they could be. Eight other states have passed pseudo-no-fault laws, and the other 26 states still bank entirely on the fault system.

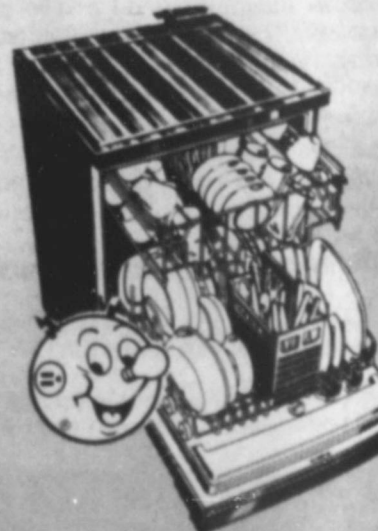

This is why federal standards are needed. The bills now pending in Congress would require states to meet such standards. They would do this by enacting laws to provide for adequate benefit levels and put limits on lawsuits that now clog the auto insurance mechanism. No new federal bureaucracy would be needed to enforce the standards. Each state would be free to tailor a no-fault law to its own needs as long as it met the minimum requirements of the federal law.

Under no-fault, accident victims recover their medical and hospital expenses and lost income from their own insurance company—regardless of who was at fault in the accident. By limiting lawsuits to cases involving serious injury, it makes more dollars available to pay for broader benefits that are easier to obtain.

No-fault affects only the personal injury portion of the motorist's insurance premium; property damage coverages—the larger part of the premium—are not touched by it. Potential premium increases or decreases under no-fault are so small they're insignificant. The true test is one of value... and no-fault gets an "A" on that test. Best estimates are that 60 to 75 per cent more people would be paid for their losses under no-fault.

The no-fault concept is endorsed by virtually every segment of society—business and labor leaders, public officials, consumer organizations, educators, the press and others. The significant exceptions are personal injury lawyers—who would have to seek new sources of income under a no-fault system—and a segment of the insurance industry. Their opposition has been effective in slowing the drive for reform.

Tips for Your
DISHWASHER

- ★ Clean the filter screen often. A clogged filter can reduce the efficiency of your dishwasher.
- ★ Use only detergents manufactured specifically for dishwashers. A wetting agent helps prevent water spots on glasses and silverware.
- ★ A dishwasher will usually hold a whole day's dishes. It takes as much hot water and energy to wash 1 dish as it does a full load. Stack your dishes out of sight in your dishwasher and wait until you have a full load to turn it on.

BASEBALL

By Pete Fritchie

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- The latest television viewing figures prove again baseball isn't dull, as novices and others who fail to understand the intricacies of the game often believe. The last game of the World Series, in Boston, was viewed by 75,000,000 Americans, a record, and that's tops for any sports contest, not just baseball. Of course, the Boston-Cincinnati World Series was a most exciting one. Boston was the underdog and a team with a surprising number of new stars--most of them with northern European ethnic background.

Cincinnati was the awesome Red machine, of minority background players predominately, and heavily favored. And the Reds won. But the Series was so close and so even, and with such great play in most games, fans became enamored of both teams.

A curious feature of sports fandom is how youngsters get attached to certain teams. No doubt the Red Sox and Reds both acquired many new, young fans in the 1975 Series.

 If everyone thought alike this would be a stagnant world.

New York Housing

The latest eye-opener concerning bankrupt New York City is a housing project for the poor now nearing completion in East Harlem.

It consists of four skyscrapers with 636 apartments. It is centrally air-conditioned, with an indoor swimming pool, gymnasium, auditorium, green house, etc. The cost of each unit is almost $70,000.

Some ceilings are 11 feet high and glass picture windows are featured, among other luxury items. Federal subsidy payments (committed for 40 years) are to be added to state and local subsidies so low-income families can enjoy such luxury.

The whole thing is in poor taste, and unrealistic. Low-income families should not be provided luxury at the taxpayers' expense, many of whom enjoy much less glamorous living quarters.

With New York families earning as much as $14,000 on welfare, with city bureaucrats enjoying overly-high pay and lush pensions, with too much bureaucracy, too much graft and too much spending everywhere, New York City desperately needs federal financial aid. One can easily see why.

TV's Failure

The failure of U.S. commercial television moguls to produce and offer the public anything comparable with quality television programs of the BBC in England continues to degrade American standards - so great is TV's influence.

Crosby Noyes, the columnist, recently termed U.S. commercial television fare moronic. He charged that the programs instead of getting better are getting worse. He contrasted this with the high standard of television regularly seen on the BBC - where pay levels are lower.

The popularity of the BBC programs in the United States ("Upstairs, Downstairs" was a major success while the American attempt to equal it, "Beacon Hill," was mercifully cancelled recently) proves the average U.S. viewer is not the idiot this country's TV moguls take him to be.

Our commercial television has already taught a generation crime and violence on a massive, harmful scale and, along with that, has set an appallingly low tone in manners, culture, decorum and taste.

Unless some public-interest control somehow is exerted, in behalf of uplifting public standards, the great miracle of television, utilized overwhelmingly for commercial purposes in this country, could prove the major bar to improving our society and lessening crime.

Attend Church This Sunday

Nightingale of the playroom

Ever notice how often you hear of children who are suffering from some kind of illness or disability? It's often because their parents are not taking them to church. Their parents support our families. Our families support our children. Christianity is not to be minimized.

Less than a century and a quarter have passed since that terrible winter when Florence Nightingale ministered to suffering British soldiers. Until then there had been no place for women nurses in military hospitals, and not many women nurses anywhere.
