On Other Words

by DON RICHARDS

We can remember that we were once a collector of stones. Much to our mother's despair, we would come each day with pocketfuls of an assortment of shapes and sizes, with smooth and rough edges, flats and rounds. Because she was the one who always got the job of cleaning the pockets before wash she never could understand our reasoning for collecting those beautiful and rare masterpieces of nature.

But of course, with us the answer was always simple. We were saving the smaller, smooth stones to fit the home-made slingshot that Dad had given us to make. And, the round, flat stones were to be used in contests with our other friends over at the town (it was actually just an oversized pond). We would gather along the side of the water and use every turn of the wrist possible to make the stones "skip" across the top of the water. Even Gaylord Perry would have been proud of the way we made some of those stones skip the top layer of water.

And then there were the other stones with their rough edges which exposed a multitude of colors and patterns. We really liked those best because there was always the possibility that the little yellow speck in the stone could actually be gold; or that the various other parts of the rock might be some precious, rare expensive metal or mineral.

Unfortunately, our mother never did see it in the perspective we did. Although she was a painter, an admirer of arts, we guess she really wasn't an aficionado of what we considered the real culture of stones. When she would empty our pockets of those precious stones, which we had been so careful and proud to select, she would transfer them to the trash can without a second thought.

These thoughts disturb us today when we notice the ads to "buy your own pet rock." We notice in newspaper ads and on the radio a strong advertising campaign urging people to buy their own pet rock topped with a leash, rock house and watering bowl. All the ads suggest that pet rocks are "the thing" to have today because they don't eat much, won't bite the children and won't leave hair or fur around the house when shedding season comes.

It doesn't bother us that they are selling pet rocks because as we mentioned, we have always seen great value in them, although in a different perspective. What bothers us is we think of the fortune tellers which went in and out of our pockets, and wonder what those would bring on the market today.

The real shame is that these people selling rocks are even selling a good quality of rocks. We recently saw a number of these pet rocks for sale, and not one of them would be worth its weight in frogs or marbles. The rocks had been overfed and were too fat to skip the water, but not big enough to use in a slingshot to slay a giant as we had heard in the story of David.

We're really kind of tired of hearing about pet rocks nonsense modern toys and games. What we'd really like to see in this Bicentennial year is a good shooting contest, or the older girls challenging each other at hop-scotch. Or how about a top-spinning contest?—we still think with a little practice it would be back to us pretty soon.

But what might be best would be an old-fashioned slingshotting contest. We'd like to see a contest slingshotting rocks across the water and we'd be willing to bet on a challenge. What better way could we have of celebrating the history of America.

How about it Gaylord?

Home Economist Gives Program Here

Home Economist Judy Ender, West Texas State University, gave a demonstration program on "How to Give a Method Demonstration" for 4-H members and H.D. members.

The program was held on the afternoon of June 16 in the community center in Jayton with 18 people in attendance, 8 of which were 4-H Club members.

Tornado Time

June is the season when tornadoes are most likely to strike the middle parts of the state, and in other areas a lesser degree.

Recent years weather forecasters have been able to detect weather patterns more accurately and issue tornado warnings but it's still impossible to predict the course of such storms.

Tax Values Down Rates Increased

TO THE CITIZENS OF KENT COUNTY:

Kent County has passed the peak in oil production and oil valuations are on the way down. This year the oil valuations are down approximately 5.8 million dollars which means a loss of about $70,000. in tax revenues to the county.

Two things which could alter the downward trend are an increase in oil prices and more unlikely, a new major oil discovery.

The loss of tax income means the county must either spend less or raise taxes. The first choice of spending less in these times of rising inflation is very difficult to accomplish and would mean a drastic reduction in services now offered by the county. The second choice of raising taxes is undesirable even though taxes here are extremely low in relation to other counties in Texas.

The Commissioners' Court after very careful consideration, has decided to try to operate next year with about $30,000. less money than this year. This may prove very difficult to do however and may be accomplished only if all citizens cooperate and help us hold down our expenses.

To hold the spending to this level it is necessary to raise approximately $40,000. more revenue (remember the $70,000. tax loss less $30,000. cut in operating expenses) and this has to be raised in increased valuations. The Commissioners' Court has therefore ordered a 20 percent increase in valuations and will set the tax rate in August some 10c to 15c less than the $1.25 per $100. valuation we had last year. Overall we will have about a 10 percent increase in taxes. The Commissioners' Court intends to try every means possible to avoid a major re-evaluation of the farm and ranch lands and we hope the increased valuations will be sufficient for several years. We also plan to upgrade our road machinery in the next few years in the belief that we should buy good equipment while we are financially able.

Please feel free to come by and discuss your ideas with us.

Sincerely,
Norman Hahn
Kent County Judge

42 Persons To Die During Holidays

AUSTIN—The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety said this week indications are that some 42 persons will be killed in Texas traffic accidents during the Fourth of July weekend, and called upon Texas drivers to "prove our estimate is too high."

Colonel Wilson E. Speir said his department expects "unusually heavy traffic" throughout the state, especially around recreational areas and where Bicentennial celebrations are scheduled.

He said the estimate covers a 78-hour period which starts at 6 p.m. Friday and continues until midnight Monday, July 5th.

During a comparable period last year, the department estimated that 54 persons would be killed during the holiday period. At the conclusion of the July 4th holiday last year, statewide statistics indicated 44 lives lost and rose to 49 with late reports.

In a concerted effort to keep deaths down, the DPS and local law enforcement agencies will be cooperating in an all-out effort to make the streets and highways as safe as possible. All available DPS troopers will be on duty, Speir indicated, and they will be especially watchful for drinking drivers, speeders and persons driving in a reckless manner.

In addition, the DPS will be working with the news media in a special public education program terms "Operation Motorcide" which focuses public attention on where and why fatal accidents are occurring during the holiday period.

Rena Bural Wins Second at State

Miss Rena Bural won a second place in the stiff competition of the Family Resource Management Contest at State 4-H Contests. Rena's demonstration was on managing time or "making time work for you." There were a total of 19 competitors in the contest and the top scores were only fractions apart. Rena was given a $50.00 check by Fred Clark from the Community Savings and Loan Association at Bryan. Rena says she will use the money for college this fall. She plans to study Home Economics at Tarleton. Congratulations Rena on an excellent job.

Janet Johnson won first alternate in the Snacks and Beverage division at the State 4-H Food Show with a total score of 92. Janet exhibited Hacienda Bean Dip with homemade tostados and she gave credit to Rose Trevino for teaching her how to make homemade corn tortillas which she fried for chips. Congratulations Janet. ...reporter

The Commissioners Hold Meeting

In a meeting here Monday, with all members present the Kent County Commissioners court voted to raise by 20 percent the assessed value on all properties in Kent County, for taxing purposes. This was on motion by W.H. Parks, seconded by George Taylor, with all members favoring the motion.

This came after the court heard a report from representatives of tax evaluation firm of Pritchard and Abbott, Wilson Hunt, Don Ownes and Bill Monk, who reported tax property values in the county are down this year.

Several persons and company representatives met with the court, sitting as an equalization board, to discuss their taxes. The records do not show that any of the taxes are adjusted downward, after the presentation.

State Farm Bureau Meeting Is Set

WACO—An outstanding array of speakers will address the Texas Farm Bureau Statewide Commodity Conference for Policy Development July 6-7 in Waco. Sessions will be in the Waco Convention Center.

The meeting is being held in preparation for the organization's policy development process which gets under way soon on counties.

Local commodity meetings have been held recently in counties to "surface" issues related to those commodities. These issues will be discussed at the statewide conference and recommendations made for consideration at county annual conventions later in the year.

Congressman W.R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, vice chairman of the U.S. House Agriculture Committee, will talk on the "Farm Program Outlook for 1977" at the opening session.

Two Farm Bureau leaders will speak at a banquet that evening at the Holiday Inn on Interstate 35. TFB President Carrol Chaloupka will speak on "Action Today--Results Tomorrow."

CONSUMER COMPLAINTS
WASHINGTON—American consumers find something wrong with more than one of every four things they buy, but most of the time they don't complain to the seller, according to Ralph Nader's study group.

Junior high girls are enrolled in a 4-H Clothing Project to learn grooming for today's looks, how to select clothing that is stylish and flattering to their body type, how to care for various fabrics, and how to use accessories to give "personality" to their clothing. Girls planning to participate in the Dress Revue must attend the project meetings and complete record forms.

Mrs. Gay Patterson is teaching the clothing project. Gay is presently training under Mrs.

Hoberta Stanaland and will be Assistant County Extension Agent for Cottle-King Counties as of July 16.

Mrs. Patterson is a graduate of Texas Tech and has been a teacher prior to this time.

A yard is approximately the length from the tip of your nose (looking straight ahead) to your fingertips of an arm stretched out to the side. To determine the approximate length of a meter, just turn your head to the opposite side. A meter is just a little longer than a yard, Mrs. Janice Carberry, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

ADDITIVES

Without food additives, cottage cheese would separate, cookies would dry out in two days, foods with fat or oil would become rancid and marshmallows would get hard. Many food additives perform important functions consumers desire, notes Mrs. Sally Coble, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS FOR FALL COLOR

Get your landscape in shape for fall color by planting rooted cuttings of chrysanthemums, says a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The plants will be compact and will not need much staking. Plant chrysanthemums in a sunny area in fertile soil. Use a mulch to conserve moisture and control weeds. Sidedress with ammonium sulfate fertilizer six weeks after planting and again in mid-August. For a lot of flowers, pinch one inch off the end of each new shoot when the shoots are three inches long. However, no pinching should be done after July.

EXTENSION HAS SOLID BASE

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has learned to meet the needs of the people of this state and therefore has a solid base on which to build, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the state agency last week at the biennial State Extension Conference. The single most important thing we can do, he challenged the 1,000-member professional staff, is to continue to strengthen the direct involvement of people in the design and execution of Extension educational programs. He also stressed the team approach of county agents (generalists) supported by subject matter specialists and the use of the result demonstration method of teaching as a key to effective education.

ATTEND CHURCH

GOD LOOKS ON THE HEART

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Man's first reactions to another is based on outward appearances, and only time will help him to know the heart of another. God knows, immediately, every attitude of the heart... other... is good or bad.

There are many rewards for those that follow the Lord. "Let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord."

The 28th

The war which changed a way of life in the western world, and which was—in many ways—unnecessary, was triggered by a tragedy on June 28th, 1914. (Five years later the Treaty of Versailles, which made almost certain a follow-up war and which officially ended World War I, was signed on the same day.)

Austria-Hungary, an empire attempting to mold and hold in one nation various races and creeds, was split asunder by the war, Germany was broken and embittered. Communism was brought to power in Russia (by Germany). France was bled white. Monarchies in both Germany and Austria-Hungary collapsed with the defeat of the Central Powers. And America, late in 1917, started out on the road to world leadership by entering the war.

All this and more followed the brutal assassination of Austria-Hungary's Archduke (Franz Ferdinand) and his wife in Sarajevo, Bosnia. They were making a ceremonial visit to Sarajevo and, while in a parade, were almost killed by a bomb. Later that day an assassin, using a pistol this time, completed the brutal double murder.

The Austro-Hungarian Emperor and Government held Serbia responsible for the murders, and, revenge-minded, delivered a tough ultimatum to the Serbs. Serbia was eager to avoid war and willing to meet most of the demands. Russia, however, encouraged resistance, as did Franco, to a lesser extent. Germany, allied to Austria-Hungary and sympathetic with Emperor Franz Joseph, initially backed Austria-Hungary but the Kaiser attempted to avoid war and restrain Vienna in the final days before Europe plunged into the abyss.

In August fighting began, drawing in all the great powers. In four years of slaughter in the trenches, a way of life vanished, Communism materialized, the Kaiser ended up on trial by an international high court, etc. All stemming from the deeds of June 28th by anarchists and nationalists sixty-two years ago—in a small town today a part of Yugoslavia.

SUMMER ROSE CARE

Roses need special care during the summer so that they will provide an abundance of blooms in the fall, points out a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Roses should be watered thoroughly twice a week if there is no rain. A 10-15-5 fertilizer should be applied around the base of the plant and worked lightly into the soil. Pruning the plants back one-third will produce a lot of blooms in October. A spray program to control blackspot and mildew should continue throughout the season.

Carter's Opportunity

Widespread unifying among Democrats around Jimmy Carter gives the Georgian a unique opportunity to lead his party. It gives him the authority to choose a running mate. His influence was felt in the writing of a party platform, which seems less controversial than it could have been.

Carter's power stems from the people. He is the Democrat most primary voters wanted to entrust with the task of winning an election, exhibiting moral leadership and unifying the party. It is an historic responsibility for the former Georgia Governor.

It is, perhaps, a reflection of the times that so many today look to a candidate who sees his role as moral as well as political. It is a reflection of a constructive change which has taken place in America that a candidate from the Deep South can assemble such a national majority in the Democratic Party.

Carter's opportunity within the Democratic Party is thus comparable to that of John Kennedy in 1960, somewhat comparable to that of Franklin Roosevelt in 1932.

His greatest test, if elected, may lie in his success or failure to maintain his integrity and political goals in the face of militant demands from organized labor and various pressure groups, which have often dictated Democratic policy in the past.

His critical test in the upcoming election will be whether he can carry eastern and industrial states.

Blouses worn with these dresses can be plain or fancy according to the dress. Not all of these pinafores are long—some are street length.

It is a proven fact that people don't vote issues in a campaign, but they vote personalities.

You may be classed as an old timer, if you remember back in the late thirties, when W. Lee O'Daniel came to power in Texas and national politics.

He was a flour salesman, with a noon time radio program. He was billed as "the man with a smile in his voice" and everyone liked his western type band, that specialized on spiritual type music. His remark to his fiddler "Play it Leon" became famous.

And then one day on his program, he commented that the State was being run by professional politicians, and suggested he might run for the office of the governor of the state.

The issue snowballed, and sure enough, he was elected governor.

His only issue was, he was against the professional politicians. He got out with his bus and his band, and campaigned the state. The poor people piled their nickles and dimes and quarters into his pork barrel, and they voted for him—without any real issues, or without him showing any real qualities to be a state leader. But they liked the smile in his voice.

He later went on to be U. S. Senator, but the farther he went, the more he proved, the people had made a mistake—he himself had become one of them dreaded professional politicians.

History is sort of repeating itself on a national scale. The people have become tired of the professionals running for president—Humphrey, Jackson, Kennedy, Wallace, McGovern, etc. etc.

Along comes a maverick, a complete unknown, but he too has a good smile, and a twinkle in his eye—and the people vote for him. Oh, he doesn't have a program, and he takes no stand on the issues, but the people vote for him anyway, because he looks fresh and clean, and stands out away from the old pros in politics—Jimmy Carter.

Carter just about has the democratic nomination sewed up. The Democratic national convention will be about as interesting this year, as a womens sewing circle. Even the Texas Democratic convention this past weekend was a mild affair, considered to the usual knock down and drag out affairs.

While this is happening, also as a reverse to the usual trend, the GOPs are having a lot of infighting. For perhaps the first time ever, the incumbent president is having to stage and all out war to even get the nomination. This perhaps he is not an elected president, but owes his rights to the now humiliated expresident Richard Nixon.

This presidential campaign has been unusual—it has reversed all previous activities. What will happen at the conventions, and then in the ensuing campaigns? The answer to this question will be interesting to watch.

REDDY'S HELPFUL FREEZER TIPS

LOCK IN FLAVOR: Use moisture and vapor-proof materials especially designed for freezers to wrap your foods. Tightly sealed, these lock in flavor and moisture and prevent "freezer burn" (surface drying) on foods. Don't use wax paper, bread paper or regular cellophane for freezer foods.

LABEL PACKAGES: Date and identify freezer packages so (1) you don't accumulate a lot of mysterious shapes and (2) you'll be able to pick out foods that have been in the freezer longest.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SALES: Avoid overstocking with commercially frozen food that's always available; use your freezer as your own bargain counter and store foods you can buy on sale. But do allow space for short-time baked goods, leftovers and special party foods.

Remember REDDY Supplies the energy—but only YOU can use it wisely!
