SWIM CLASSES FOR CHILDREN AT C-C POOL

Swimming lessons for children will start at the Country Club pool June 4. For further information, call Dennis at 328-2211.

Tornado Information

COLLEGE STATION --- Tornado season is approaching in Texas, and certain precautions can save lives, warns Wayne Keese, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Tomatoes are violent windstorms that usually grow out of threatening thunder clouds. In Texas, the peak tornado season is during the months of April, May and June, but tornadoes may occur anytime.

"Although tornadoes may occur at any hour of the day or night, they are most frequent during the warmer hours of the day," points out Keese.

When the possibility of a tornado exists, the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Missouri, sends out a tornado watch to the threatened area. The message is teletyped to radio, television and National Weather Service stations in the area.

"A 'tornado watch' alerts people to the possibility of a tornado," explains the Texas A&M University System specialist. "When a watch is announced for your area, there is no need to interrupt normal activities except to listen for weather advisories and watch for threatening weather. Be sure a battery-powered radio is available in case power is lost."

A tornado watch identifies a specific time and area, but everyone in the general area should be alert for threatening conditions.

"When a tornado has actually been sighted or detected by radar, a 'tornado warning' is issued. The warning tells where and when a tornado was sighted, the direction it is likely to move, and the time it is expected to move through the warned area," explains Keese.

If a tornado warning is issued for your area, move immediately to a cellar, basement or civil defense shelter. If you are in a home or other building with no basement, go to the lowest level in the center of the house or other building. Take shelter in a small room or closet or under heavy furniture.

Keese also lists other safety precautions. At home, open a few windows to allow for sudden air pressure changes. Then find shelter.

Stay away from windows and buildings with wide, free-span roofs.

In open country, escape by moving at a right angle to the tornado's path. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in a ditch or ravine but do not stay in your car.

Get far enough away from a trailer or mobile home to avoid injury if it is overturned.

When you observe a tornado, report it promptly to the nearest law officer or National Weather Service Office. Otherwise, do not make calls so that lines can be kept open for emergency information.

After a tornado, always wear shoes and gloves in cleanup operations and damage inspections. Watch for hazards like broken or downed electrical wires and broken gas pipes. When entering a storm-damaged building, watch for ceilings and walls that may be ready to fall.

Never light a match, smoke or carry open flames into a building until you are sure there are no gas leaks.

Do not sight-see in disaster areas. Your presence will only hamper rescue and cleanup operations.

Lakeview News

The severe hail storm which hit the north side of Lakeview Community late Friday, May 24, did great damage to every farm in its path. The storm swept on across the miles extending into Petersburg which suffered much damage to so many homes and some churches. On the north side of Lakeview Community, farm crops, houses, shrubbery and even livestock were damaged. Some in the path of the hail described it as the worst hail storm they had ever experienced. The farms of A. L. Stone, R. J. Marquis, Jack Jackson, E. E. Senter, Horace Adkison and several others were damaged and replanting is still a question. E. E. Senter lost most of his fine wheat crop. Mrs. Anna Urban who resides with her parents, Mr. Mrs. E. E. Senter, suffered a severe scalp wound when a large hail stone hit her on top of the head as she was trying to get her car beside their home to have some protection.

Mrs. Cecil Amerson, Reita Smith and Warren Driver visited relatives in Stamford and Snyder Sunday. In Stamford they visited an aunt of Cecil and then they visited the J. P. Billingsleys, relatives of Reita, in Snyder.

TALK IN PRINT

-tip- There are two Abernathy men and two local couples that have done, and are doing, what I would like to do... fly to all corners of the world. Elbert Harp, in his business role as executive director of Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board and Grain Sorghum Producers Association, has flown almost all over the world seeking new markets for grain sorghum. Joe Thompson, as general manager of Southwest Textiles, Inc., of Abernathy, has logged a lot of air miles in the USA and to many foreign countries seeking markets for cotton yarn, and buying machinery.

Arno and Minnie Struve have taken trips to many countries to see what they could see. Name a country and they probably have been there. Dan and Irma Ward have visited many countries from the Pacific to Moscow, Russia. The R. R. Struves have logged a lot of flying time in the States and to countries across the Pacific in connection with Rudolph's, Fritz's and Ruwayne's work with the Boy Scouts of America.

Also flying to many countries on trips are Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Brewster. The late S. M. Harrison and Mrs. Harrison also did considerable air travel to faraway places. Many others in this area also have flown to foreign countries on vacations. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sanders are among those who have been on charter flights overseas.

Texas Dept. of Ag. says growers are asking 60¢ per pound on cotton contracts this year, and that buyers are willing to pay only 45¢. Some local farmers took a beating on grain and cotton contracts last year (1973 crops).

-tip- Pinto (red) beans, the old standby for its poor folks over the years, no longer is for poor folks. The price per pound is high. The Ag. Extension service is predicting a 20 pct. increase in pinto acres this year. The service also says pintos make an attractive alternative to hailed out cotton.
