SUZAN BENN GILL

HAPPINESS IS:

Being Suzan Gill!
Having two fine sons and a husband (or vice versa!)
And being well on the road to a successful artistic career.
Women's Lib notwithstanding, it is a realistic combination.

The first (being Suzan Gill) is not just being some selfish entity dedicated to "self-fulfillment", but being a whole, balanced person, a Christian, whose face and eyes reveal a personality interested in the world, the whole of creation and its welfare... giving the lie to the old saying that an only child need be spoiled and self-centered.

Suzan began life in Abernathy March 1, 1941, the only child of Barbara and Clyde Benn. She grew up in this secure household that faithfully attended the Baptist Church.

The world of Disney cartoons excited her ambitions before she was old enough to go to school, and she resolved to one day be a Disney artist. No art classes were available to her in the schools at Abernathy, but she was able to take private lessons from Ruth Neighbors of Lubbock.

The administration and faculty of Abernathy High School gave her the Citizenship Award the year she was a senior. Upon her graduation in 1959 the Abernathy PTA gave her a college scholarship because of her exemplary citizenship and because of her expressed interest in becoming a teacher.

Suzan chose West Texas State for most of her college work. By this time her artistic talents had proved to be more than a child's whim and her technical training there has proved very valuable. Her independence as an artist became evident during her college years when her teachers, whose leanings were toward abstract art, tried to influence her in the direction of "modern" art; but, happily, she went her own way and followed her own bent. Suzan also attended Texas Tech and East Texas State at one time or another but she claims West Texas as her alma mater. Her degree from West Texas was completed in 1962.

Her teaching career start-paper entitled "Louisiana Place Names with a Touch of the Unusual." Which sounds like an interesting approach. Eventually this research will lead to the production of a "Dictionary of Louisiana Place Names." Dr. Gill lived part of his life in Lovington, New Mexico, so that Donald and Suzan have somewhat similar backgrounds. Don is the nephew of J. L. Miller, Jr., of Abernathy.

Suzan's work as an artist includes the use of several media, her favorite being watercolor because she gets more brilliance and depth of color from its use. She prefers acrylics to oils, and she enjoys doing vignettes. Presumably a vignette is the use of a limited subject, simple in nature, that tells a much larger story by its detail of composition. Suzan also likes to do pen and ink work because of the high contrast.

Suzan paints many things in the woods near her home, which is complete with wild plants, animals, and birds, and is surrounded by a rusty barbed wire fence supported by beautiful cypress posts. Working in a rustic scene such as this leads to one subject suggesting another.

Her favorite sketching place is around an old cypress house near her home. The old barn nearby is full of rotting ropes, old tools such as scythes and shovels with hand made handles. Found in the barn are old horse collars, long unused. Nearby is an old wooden keg, cut down on one side and just waiting for a hen that used to lay eggs there many years ago. The fence posts are twisted cypress branches which are a considerable contrast to the smooth cedar types we have in West Texas. The red rusted barbed wire still has horse hair clinging to it that it grabbed many years ago. Hanging to one of the posts is a rusty bucket with the bottom gone and the sides thinned by age and weather.

The unpainted gray house has been standing for 120 years, unharmed by the hurricanes of Acadia. It is surrounded by huge oak trees and year-around green grass that is kept mowed by the few horses and cows still remaining. A cistern beside the house collects some of Southern Louisiana's 72-inch rainfall. The old couple who lived there for so many years has recently moved to a nursing home. They are both over ninety years old. They sold the heavy dark tester beds and other valuable antique furniture, leaving the rest for vandals to scatter. Useless bank statements, broken picture frames, coat hangers, and a few personal belongings lie in disarray on the floor. In one room on a wire strung across a corner hang unwanted old clothes. Two rocking chairs, not even valuable to vandals, still stand in the screened-in porch looking out toward the oak trees.

Suzan writes, in addition to the description of the old house, that she does her art work from nostalgia, looking back into a simple life uncluttered by speeding cars, television, and too-busy schedules. She feels that the appreciation of the simple ways of life, even with its hardships, comes from loving and living on the land that her grandfather first tilled, and seeing her own sons run the same yard where her father played as a child, and feels that this is evident in her work. In addition to this heritage she feels that her maternal heritage has provided a talent to put her thoughts on paper. She has two aunts who are artists. Suzan feels fortunate that the public, too, seems to appreciate the simplicities of yesterday in the complex society of today.

Suzan speaks of her parents as being two wonderful people who kept her life happy and uncomplicated, who were strict with guidelines, but trusting, and who created an environment free from worry and want.

She feels that her art career has just begun and expects to attain a broad area of acceptance for her work in the future.

One might wonder how an artist can be compensated monetarily for his work. One

Injunction Move Denied By Judge

LITTLEFIELD — Pat Boone Jr., 154th judicial district judge, in Littlefield, has denied a petition for an injunction against hail suppression operations in Lamb and Hale counties.

The petition denied was filed by Ranchers and Farmers For Natural Weather against Better Weather, Inc., of Littlefield; Almospherics, Inc., of Fresno, Calif. and Plains Weather Improvement Association of Plainview.

The petition for the injunction requested that hail suppression operations be suspended over lands owned by petitioners. A five-day hearing, at which some of the top weather modification scientists in the nation testified, ended June 19.

Boone's ruling allows the operations to continue over portions of Lamb, Hale, Castro and Floyd counties.

The judge overruled a plea of privilege by Plains Weather Improvement Association for a trial on the case's merits to be held in Plainview's 64th Judicial District Court.

A decision as to whether the Ranchers and Farmers For Natural Weather will appeal the judge's ruling will be made at a later date.

Services Held For Mrs. Prather, 87

Mrs. Lula Prather, 87, an Abernathy resident 50 years, died at 5 p. m. July 4 in H-Plains Hospital, Hale Center.

Services were at 2 p. m. Friday in Hale Center First Baptist Church. Officiating was the Rev. Murry L. Brewer, pastor of Abernathy First Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. Carroll Green, Hale Center.

Burial was in the Center Plains Cemetery, north of Cotton Center, by Freeman Funeral Home, Hale Center. Grandsons were pallbearers.

Born in Tennessee June 17, 1887, Mrs. Prather was married to M. E. Prather Oct. 3, 1903 in Fannin County. She moved to Abernathy from Leonard in 1924 and was a resident there the remainder of her life except for 15 years spent at Cotton Center. Mrs. Prather was a member of Abernathy First Baptist Church.

Surviving are four sons, J. B. Prather of Hale Center, Floyd Prather of Abernathy, Marshall Prather of Albuquerque, N. M., and R. D. Prather of Eunice, N. M.; two brothers, Alton Bowen of Whitewright and Paul Bowen of Trenton; 13 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren.

New Industry For Abernathy

Abernathy welcomes a new industry, Mutt's Stick Dog, Inc., with manufacturing and distribution being done at the former Lee Sausage building at the northeast corner of town. Owners and operators of the plant, which will open later this month, are J. E. McCain and son, Rick, and Charles Denton, all of Lubbock. Some of the partners will move to Abernathy when housing comes available.

The Stick Dog, commonly known as "corn dogs" will be made here, frozen then distributed to customers over a wide area of West Texas.

The plant will employ six or seven people when operations reach peak load, Rick reported.

New Business Opens Here

Fred Bone, who is moving his family from Oakley, Calif., to a home on Third Street here, announces the opening of Precision Auto Clinic, a general automotive repair business at 1501 Ave. D, across 15th Street north of Sav-A-Lot supermarket and family center.

Dear Buford,
It is with great concern we have seen several clouds broken up this spring and summer by the planes using silver iodide. One noted scientist claims five pounds of silver iodide is enough to contaminate the atmosphere over the entire plains area. But apart from that, can we continue the dispersion of practically all our thunderclouds and place our dependence on an undergrowth that is lowering steadily? We need to think about the future of our area. The city of Abernathy and areas to the south seldom receive any moisture from promising clouds once the planes from the Plainview base begin interfering with them.

If you have never observed any of their operations, then you should watch when we have clouds approaching from the north, northwest or west. Remember too Atmospherics, Inc., and Better Weather, Inc. of Littlefield are using the same procedure as the Plainview operation and they affect our area also.

Since the addition of the third plane this year at Plainview, their control of clouds is amazing. What actually happens, instead of hail suppression, is the diminishing of clouds, even very large ones. We can count on practically no rain from thunderclouds. The two big general rains we had in the spring of 1972 and the late fall of the same year are not common occurrences. I hope we get one like those two were, but it is too bad we have had numerous thunderclouds broken up this year. The general rains mentioned were not thunderclouds and no planes were involved, so they can claim no credit for the good rains of that year.

The next time we have a thundercloud approaching watch what happens to it. You'll be convinced. There are many of us also who believe man is tampering with what should be left to God.

Sincerely,
Mrs. M. E. Anderson

(From last week)

The Dedication service of the Historical Marker at Strip Cemetery Sunday 4 p.m. was attended by an estimated 150 people who had interest in the cemetery. The Marker was placed at the cemetery by the Hale County Historical Committee and great efforts were made by a great many interested people of Hale County to perpetuate the history of this cemetery which has so much pioneer history concerning this burial plot which began in 1898.

The cemetery is owned by Hale County being transferred in the early 1900's to the then Hale County Judge with the stipulation that it would automatically pass on to each succeeding county judge so the plot will never be disturbed or sold in any manner.

Lloyd Goldston, co. commissioner, introduced the speakers as they appeared on the program beginning with Mrs. Russ of Plainview followed by Mrs. J. W. Walker, Miss Adella Drew, Co. Judge Henry Heck, Robert Lutrick, Ed Lutrick, Dr. Moore of Plainview and probably others.

The cemetery now has 180 graves and among these are two Civil War veterans, two World War I veterans and three veterans of World War II.

Relatives of these and others who have relatives buried in the cemetery attending the dedication included: Mrs. Harry Ragland, Mrs. Valdeen Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Thomas, all of Plainview; Mrs. Nita Overton, Ft. Sumner, N.M.; Mrs. Letrice Harkness, Lovington, N.M.; Clyde Ragland, Truth or Consequences; Mrs. Chas. Downing, Amarillo; Will Landers, Mr. and Mrs. Welcome Ragland of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Herring, Tulla; Mr. and Mrs. Vance Thomas, Baton Rouge, La.; Mrs. Maniel Smith of Shallowater; Jim Fitzgerald and Mrs. Bobbie Rogers of Floydada; Mrs. Pearl Culp, Mrs. Ralph Boyd of Petersburg; Mrs. Clara Galloway of Georgetown.

Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Coggin attended a memorial service for Lynn Huddleston in Ralls Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Ralls Methodist Church.

Mr. Huddleston had been missing in action for the past 6 years and the War Dept. officially announced him as dead.

The Firing Squad and Honor Guard from Reese Air Base assisted in the final rites of which Rev. Coggin assisted in holding.

A memorial marker was placed in the Ralls Cemetery in honor of the young soldier who gave his life for his country.

Former Abernathian Mrs. Donnie Apperson of Dallas was scheduled to undergo surgery in a Dallas hospital Monday. She is the former Nell Dean Barron.

Mrs. Kenneth Reed of Scott City, Kansas, underwent surgery Monday in a Dodge City, Kansas, hospital. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Patterson, Jr., of Abernathy. Mrs. Patterson was in Dodge City with Mrs. Reed, a former Abernathy resident.

L.V. Watson of Spur is seriously ill in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock. He is the husband of Velma Young Watson, formerly of Abernathy.

Rev. and Mrs. Billy Duncan and family were on vacation in Oklahoma City and Caddo, Okla. last week. They attended the 50th wedding anniversary of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Willie McGrew July 7 in Caddo.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Gragg, and Roger spent their recent vacation in Colorado and at Six Flags Over Texas at Arlington.

ABERNATHY
... Going and Growing

This year of 1974 has been one of many changes in many facets of the community... schools, churches, postal workers, businesses, industry and housing, the most active.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pinson sold their home and two acres just north of the city limits to the Spec Cox family. Spec is on the faculty of the AHS Voc. Ag. department. The Pinsons have an apartment at West Winds.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Reid have sold their home to the Bobby Cunningham family. The Reids, unable to find a place here, are moving to an apartment in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Oswald are seeking housing in Abernathy. The I-27 highway expansion will take in their farm home north of town. Also looking for housing in Abernathy are Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Lovelace, whose farm home south of town also will be taken in by I-27 expansion.

A lady employed at American State Bank recently called The Review, wanting to rent a house and move her family to Abernathy from Lubbock. She indicated that they might consider buying a house in the medium-price range here.

Housing is being sought by a family moving here to begin a new industry. The former Lee Sausage building at the northeast corner of town is converting to a corn dog factory, with the frozen products being marketed over a wide area of West Texas.

A new home is under construction on 2nd St. at Ave. L for Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Presley, who will move there from their farm southwest of town.

The Jerry Oswalds are finishing a major remodeling, addition and bricking job to their home north of the city limits.

All of the activity is not in, or bordering, town. Two fine homes are under construction in the Center Community south of the east of Abernathy. The Vernon McDougals sold their home and an acreage to a Texas Tech professor and family. Nearing completion is a brick home for the McDougals located southeast of the Center Church and the Slim Dunn home. Also under construction in that general area is a large, two-story home for the Perry Looney family. The two houses are being built by former Abernathian Aubrey Anderson, who has been in the building contracting business in Lubbock for many years. He also built the Franklin Dunn brick home which is located on the paved road south of Center Church. Aubrey is a son of Mrs. Susie Anderson of Abernathy. His late father, Harvey Anderson, also was a builder.

Good houses, for rent or purchase, are in demand in

MRS. DARYL LOUIS HARP
(Cindy Lee Teaff)

Miss Cindy Lee Teaff and Mr. Daryl Louis Harp were united in marriage Friday, June 28th, at 7:00 p. m. in a double ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church in Abernathy. Officiating at the ceremony was David Harp, Baptist minister and brother of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Teaff of Abernathy are parents of the bride. The groom is the Abernathy. If you do not really want to sell your home in Abernathy, you had better not quote a price.

The turnover in the school faculty this year accounts for much of the housing activity. Many of the incoming, new teachers are having trouble finding houses. If you have a house or apartment to rent, call the school business office 298-2566 and let them know what you have available.

The Robert Garvins have settled in their new brick home at 1311 Ave. G, moving here recently from a farm about ten miles northwest of town.

Joe Dolph and Vida Adkison moved their house from their farm east of town to a location west of the Wesley Harris home. After remodeling and bricking, the Adkisons will be at home on Ave. E at 1st Street.

Abernathy gained a net of two in population when Mr. and Mrs. David Waits and their two daughters, Laura, 7, in the second grade, and Elizabeth, kindergarten, age 5, moved here from Lubbock. They bought Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Petty's home at 211 Ave. H. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Waits, David is employed by the DeKalb Seed Company. The two we lost in population were Mr. and Mrs. Petty, who moved to Petersburg, where they operate a floral shop.

Douglas Chapman was returned to his home here Sunday from Highland Hospital, Lubbock. He was admitted to the hospital July 3, after experiencing chest pains while at work at Pollard Ford in Lubbock, where he is a salesman.

Mrs. Joe Chambers and children visited Six Flags Over Texas at Arlington last week. They were in that area to meet their daughter and sister, Dorothy, whose tour bus terminated at Irving. In a group of young people sponsored by IOOF Lodge on the visit to the United Nations headquarters in New York City, Dorothy was named secretary for the group on the charter bus. In addition to New York City, they also toured in Canada and many points of interest in the United States.

Mrs. Sandy Litka and son, Denny, of San Antonio visited here in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Davis.

A sister-in-law of Mrs. T. A. Brewster, Mrs. Fred Fain, of Canon City, Colo., recently visited here. They went from here to Abilene to visit Mr. Brewster's brother, Mr. and Mrs. George Brewster; his sister, Mrs. Herman Adams at Merkel, and niece Mrs. Jack Moore, in Tye.

Danny Duncan returned home from a youth conference in Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ryan and family recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Adams, in Sayre, Okla.

Dorothy Chambers Returns From Tour

DOROTHY CHAMBERS--- (Editor's Note: The following news release was sent from New York City earlier. Dorothy Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chambers, representing Abernathy Lodge No. 809 100F, made the trip and returned home last week. Her charter bus group was among the earlier ones to make the trip, with others going later in the summer. Dorothy will be a Junior student in AHS when school starts.)

YOUTHS FROM 48 STATES WILL VISIT ROCKEFELLER CENTER OVER NEXT FIVE WEEKS

During the next five weeks, Rockefeller Center will welcome nearly 1,000 high school sophomores and juniors from the 48 continental states and Canada, arriving in weekly groups of 130 or more, to visit New York City. The groups are being sponsored by their local communities and local lodges of the Odd Fellows.

A highpoint of each group's New York visit will be the guided tour of the 21-building Rockefeller Center complex which includes a spectacular view of the city and four surrounding states from atop the 70-story high Observation Roof of the RCA Building and a backstage visit to the Radio City Music Hall. Following their tour of the Center, the visitors are scheduled to see a performance of "The New York Experience" in the McGraw-Hill Building and have dinner in the Time & Life Building. Each Friday, the youths will return to the Center for dinner in the International Building and see the show at Radio City Music Hall.

The groups' other activities in the city will include shopping trips, visits to several of the city's tourist landmarks, Broadway plays and daily trips to the United Nations for briefings on the work of the world body and its agencies.

At the end of each week, each group will divide into six groups to evaluate its experiences here. Every week, from these six groups, one boy and one girl will be chosen as the best speakers and will receive special recognition including a $25 scholarship check from Rockefeller Center.

The groups will be staying at the McAlpin Hotel under the leadership of Glenn Brant, director of youth activities for
