Don't forget that if you are unable to do heavy work yourself, the United Methodist Youth group here is offering a 'helping hand' with those summer 'clean-up, paint-up and fix-up' chores. We think this is a really commendable summer project, and urge your support of their efforts.

If you're wondering what genius was responsible for the name of this column, I must admit that I'm the culprit. Fact is, we couldn't come up with anything better, so we decided to leave it at that for the time being. However, your suggestions will be greatly appreciated. I've already rejected "Lori's Lunacies," and "Hopson's Hot Lines," so we can already eliminate those from the competition in the 'Name That Column' game.

We'd like to welcome David McMullen, Michele Harris, and Glen Rosendal to Abernathy. They'll be working with some of the churches here for the summer. David will serve as music and youth director this summer at First Baptist Church. He is currently enrolled in Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Michele Harris will be working with youth of the United Methodist church this summer. She is a Texas Tech student, and hails from Ft. Davis, Texas. Attending summer school at Tech this year, Michele is staying with Mrs. Theo Struve while she resides in Abernathy.

Glen Rosendal returns to Abernathy this summer to work with members of St. Isidore's Catholic church. He is a familiar face to many Abernathians, as he spent a number of years here working with the church's bilingual program. Glen is currently studying for the priesthood at Assumption Theological Seminary in San Antonio.

RECEIVES PLAQUE--Ted Watts, left, was honored at the Sunday Worship services at First United Methodist Church with a plaque presented by Arno Struve, on behalf of the church and its members. The plaque cited Watts' more than 50 years of "dedication to our church and choir", and was signed, "First United Methodist Church and Choir, 1975." (Staff Photo)

TED WATTS HONORED FOR MANY YEARS SERVICE TO LOCAL METHODIST CHURCH

Ted Watts was recognized Sunday at the First United Methodist Church for his many years of service to his church. Ted has been intimately involved in all the activities of the church for at least fifty years beginning about the time of the construction of the first Methodist sanctuary.

The invitation for the recognition came from the choir group which was acutely aware of his faithfulness in service to that particular work of the church.

Ted was for many years Sunday School superintendent at the same time he was in charge of the singing of hymns for the worship services. He was also active in the committee work of the church in all its activities.

Ted has always been one among a nucleus of church workers who made the church function steadily and smoothly.

Lastly, but by no means least, Ted's sense of humor was often the lubricant that reduced friction from difficulties that arose from time to time.

A plaque was awarded Ted to commemorate his long and valuable service to the church in hopes that the material reminder would always make him know that he was very much appreciated by his associates in the church.

MIKE STRUVE ORDAINED DEACON AT NORTHWEST TEXAS ANNUAL CONFERENCE

At the Northwest Texas Annual Texas Conference at the First United Methodist Church, Lubbock, Mike Struve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arno Struve was ordained a deacon in the United Methodist Church last Thursday night June 4th. This is the first step in the process that will eventually lead him to full ordination as a United Methodist minister.

Mike, who had previously earned a bachelor degree at Texas Tech, went to Asbury Theological Seminary, to do a first year of study toward becoming a minister of the gospel. Before he can complete the requirements for full ordination he will do two more years of study at Asbury.

Mike lived in Spearman at the time of his "call" where he had served two years as city manager. Since the business management of a church is no small responsibility, Mike's experience as city manager will no doubt be of considerable value to him in his chosen work.

Mike, his wife Vicki and their two daughters, Robyn and Micki, will be privileged to live on campus of the seminary at Wilmore, Kentucky for the rest of his time in school there.

This summer Mike will be employed in Kermit, Texas by the First United Methodist Church of that city as a youth director which will give him additional valuable experience in church work.

The cost of Mike's education is being met by scholarships provided by various churches and foundations of Texas.

This Spring Mike had the additional experience of traveling and performing in a group from the seminary called the Singing Seminary. The Seminary sang in many churches of West Texas. An adjunct of the Singing Seminary was a brass section that Mike was also able to participate in. In addition to the performing duties Mike was the only Singing Seminary member who had a license to drive the bus in which they traveled so that his days on the tour were completely filled.

DURING "GET-TOGETHER"

PAT STANTON SLATED AS SPEAKER AT LAKEVIEW MEET

An "Old Fashioned Get-Together" has been planned for Wednesday night, June 18, at the Lakeview Methodist Church, according to Clayton Enger, program chairman for that evening.

Throughout the past year, many area lay speakers and ministers have been invited to speak at the Wednesday evening services at the country church located nine miles northeast of Abernathy on FM Road 54. And now, plans for the evening service on June 18 at 8 p. m. call for a "re-gathering" of as many of these speakers as possible.

Pat Stanton of Shallowater has been asked to be the main speaker next Wednesday evening, "but others will be given an opportunity to give a brief testimony," Enger noted. He added, "Pat is the wife of Jay Stanton, a well-known farmer in the Shallowater area. The Lord has anointed Pat with a special gift to witness for Him, and I know you'll be blessed by hearing her."

Not only are members of that congregation invited those who have participated in prior services, but the general public is invited to this event. Refreshments will be served following the service.

The Lakeview Church has quite a history behind it, being the second church established in Hale County.

"And we have been having mid-week services for so long none of us can remember when we didn't have them," stated Mrs. Elizabeth Harrison, son of the long-time members.

The origin of the present Lakeview Methodist Church was begun in 1892 with seven charter members. They were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ragland, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lutrick, Mr. and Mrs. John Blake and Flavis Neil. These have since passed on to glory.

According to the church history, kept by Mrs. N. Matthews, the church was organized in March of 1893 in the Old Ivy School House which was located seven miles east of the present site. Helping to organize the church was the Rev. R. B. Morris, circuit rider and pastor of Epworth Church.

The church was moved to the Pearce School House near Pearce Chapel Cemetery (now known as Strip Cemetery) in 1897. Services were held there until 1906 when a new church was built near the old Strip School House with services being held there for 15 years. That church building was moved to the present location in 1922 and was used for 27 years.

Construction of the present building was begun in February of 1950, and was completed in July, "with all bills paid, including a new piano and other furnishings." Fellowship Hall was then added in 1955. When the church was dedicated in 1950, there were 66 members. Among those attending the dedication ceremony was Mrs. W. H. Ragland, the last surviving charter member. She passed away in September, 1953.

Six young men who were reared in the Lakeview community attended that church have entered the ministry and are serving as pastors and evangelists.

They are: W. A. Amerson, Walter Driver, Charles Lutrick, Russell McAnnally, Clifford Mayo, and William Mayo. Rev. Johnny Williams attended church there a number of years, having moved away and later entered the ministry.

A total of 47 ministers have served the church during the 82 years of its existence. The church is currently pastored by the Rev. H. B. Coggins, semi-retired Methodist minister who retired from full-time pastoral work in 1970.

In summing up the upcoming service for Wednesday night, Enger stated that it is hoped that as many people will come as possible. "We would like to fill the church," he concluded.

BOARD WILL RAISE RATES TO MEET LOCAL FUND ASSIGNMENT FOR 1975

The Legislative Report regarding the passage of a substitute for House Bill 1126 highlighted the regular board meeting on Monday, June 2, 1975. This bill mandates an increase in Local Fund Assignment for the next two years and in 1977 would make the local school budget balanced, receiving no state money for maintenance and operation. The Board decided to meet the increase of $150,000 in Local Fund Assignment by raising rates for 1975 after the budget has been made up. In order to meet the 1977 budget balance operation, the board directed Superintendent Webb and Business Manager Carter to contact firms to have a professional appraisal of all property in the school district during 1976. This bill is the most favorable for Abernathy of all the bills presented during the recent session of the Legislature.

In other action, the board set June 17 as the date for accepting bids on the renovation of the high school auditorium. Plans include: enlarging the stage, a new light and sound system, remodeling of walls and ceiling, and complete all-weather air conditioning. The proposed project, if accepted, will take approximately 150 days to complete.

Student transfers from other school districts were approved for the 1975-76 school year. Other reports approved were: health report, lunchroom report, budget progress report, and an excellent tax report of 97.03% of the taxes as having been collected.

The Board approved a media supply contract with the Education Service Center for the school year of 1975-76. A year end inspection report on the Academic Center and Junior High School was presented and a final inspection will be made by the Board before school begins in August.

Bolinger, Segars, Gilbert, Moss, and Company were appointed as fiscal auditors for the school years 1974-75. Our audit will be made during the month of September and presented to the Board in the October meeting.

Those in attendance at this meeting were: L. J. West, President; Billie Harrison, Vice-President; Joe Oswald, Secretary; Lon Carmickle; Bob Riley; David Pison; and Richard Howard. Also attending were: Dr. Delwin Webb, superintendent and Earl Carter, business manager.

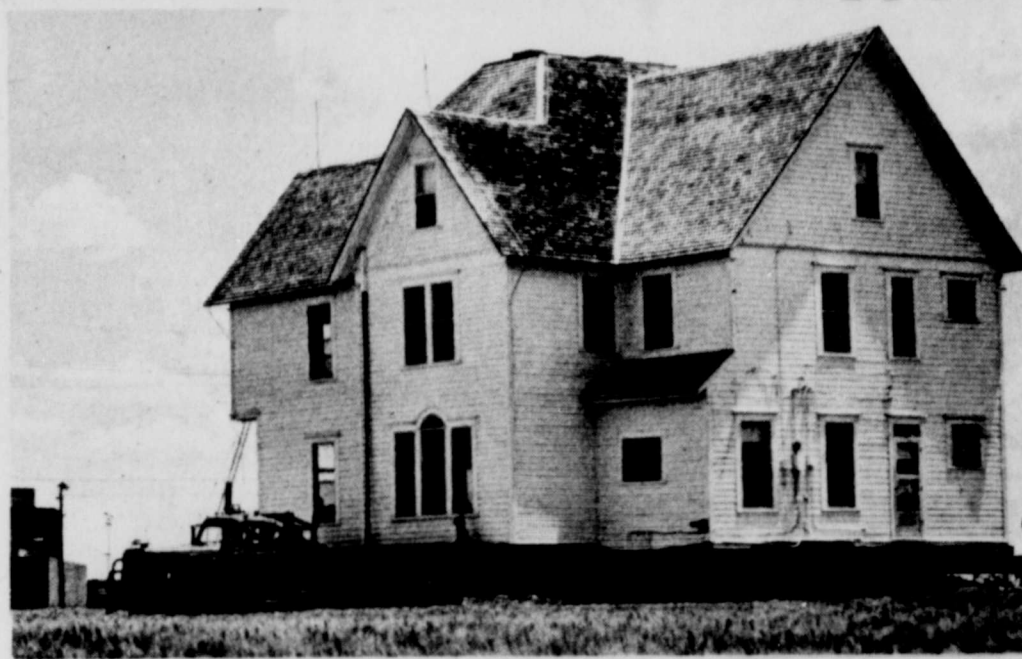

The next regular board meeting has been set for June 30, 1975, at 8:00 p. m.

BIG MOVE--The three-story Barton house, formerly located in Hale County, recently made the move to the Ranching Heritage Center at Texas Tech Museum. Built for a rancher's family at the turn of the century, the house moves through the Texas Tech agronomy field on the last leg of a 38 mile journey. At the Ranching Heritage Center, it will be designated as the "Elegant House", and will depict for visitors the prosperity that came to American ranchers as they developed the know-how which made the industry a strong facet of the economic development of the American West. Old Barton Home:

Area History Depicted

Built by Joseph James Barton at the turn of the century, the old Barton house is now on site at the Ranching Heritage Center at Texas Tech University.

The house was willed to the center by Mrs. Josephine Barton, whose home it became when she married Jack Barton, the son of the builder, in 1917. The house is to be designated at the center as the "elegant" house, and will depict the affluence eventually achieved by ranchers who dug in when times were hard and held on till hard work and perseverance paid off.

Mrs. W. B. Albers, formerly Betty Barton, who was born in the house, says that building materials for the three-story structure were brought in from the Amarillo area by team and wagon in the early 1900's.

A unique feature of the house, according to Mrs. Albers, is the milk and meat storage room which was built adjoining the house, unlike most such rooms, which were constructed as separate buildings. The milkroom had overhead storage and running water, which was channeled directly from the ranch's windmill.

Mrs. Albers says that the house has been kept in its present good condition by a continuing process of main-

"RAYS OF HOPE"

by Pat Stanton

A few years have passed since a friend gave me a wall plaque that had a very special reading from the Bible. This was the main thought, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee".... Isaiah 26:3.

I have looked at the plaque many times in passing and thought it to be a very pleasing and hopeful thought. In recent years, this has become an actual reality, for in knowing the author of true peace I have found the source and supply of continual and abiding peace. The greatest peacemaker in the world, Jesus Christ of Nazareth, this is of whom I speak.

Many Christian people are still searching for a daily peace. They do have peace in their heart because they have the Prince of Peace, but their minds are often distracted by fear, worry, and doubt. What do they do when plagued by these enemies? Many will turn to ceaseless activity, more work, or a friend and even then the frustrations are still there.

In the midst of these problems, there is a daily cure. First of all, we have to recognize where fear, worry, and doubt come from. Timothy 1:7 tells us that God is certainly not the one that keeps our minds filled with fear. The writer goes on to say that God has given us power, love, and a sound mind. We Christians need to claim this great promise every day and quit losing the battle to the enemy.

Philippians 4:6, 7 gives the believer a promise of peace. The Living Bible reads as follows: "Don't worry about anything; instead, pray about everything; tell God your needs and don't forget to thank Him for His answers." If you do this you will experience God's peace, which is far more wonderful than the human mind can understand. His peace will keep your heart quiet and at rest as you trust in Christ Jesus.

Also a definite must is to ask the Father in the name of Jesus, if you hate or think evil of no one and have no unforgiveness in your heart.

I definitely feel that someone who will read this writing is undergoing a tremendous strain that is affecting their minds.

There is always this peace available. Learn how to tap into this wonderful supply.

If anyone desires help or more information regarding peace of mind and heart, feel free to write me at: Rays of Hope, Inc. 4505 Ave. Q, Suite E Lubbock, Texas 79412 or call 744-5652

COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT GIVES HOMEMAKING TIPS

BY Wynon Mayes, County Extension Agent
Canning season is just around the corner. I attended a food preservation workshop in Amarillo earlier this week and learned that it is estimated that 60 million more families are going to be canning this year than last. That is some kind of a figure, and I do not know on what they base their information. I do know that Hale County homemakers were busy last summer and I expect this to happen again this year.

Canning is fun! Work too, but at the same time you are learning how to do something that will, not only be worthwhile today--but enjoyable tomorrow. Learning to can is easy, really. What pride you will have in showing your beautiful, colorful jars of food--green beans, golden peaches, zippy pickles or sparkling cranberry sauce.

Now is a good time to get the children involved. It's great to hear them say "see what I canned!" and hear Daddy reply, "That's my smart little girl!" or have little brother say, "Gee, you did that?"

Canning is a prideful and satisfying skill as well as an economical way of preserving food while it is plentiful and inexpensive. It is being done in homes everywhere. This means having a good supply of food right at home--right at your finger tips--for all year 'round eating to satisfy hungry appetites as well as stretch the family dollars for many needs other than food.

Canning is easy for young and old--from the first step of choosing good quality products, to the last step of storing beautifully filled jars in the kitchen cupboard.

Oven canning is no longer recommended as a safe method of canning. The temperature cannot be maintained accurately in the jars. Hot spots will cause jars to explode, and has been the case just when you reach your hand into the oven. There are no charts available giving the time and temperature for oven canning.

From the workshop I also learned that it is recommended that EVERYTHING goes into the boiling water bath, that is not canned in the pressure canner. Yes, even jellies. Do not use paraffin on the jelly to be placed in the boiling water bath. The jars of jelly are placed in the boiling water bath immediately after filling and left for five minutes. It was also suggested to do pickles the same as jelly for five minutes in the boiling water bath.

Use only standard-make jars and lids for home canning. Canning jars will have the manufacturer's name imprinted and these are the only ones that can go into the pressure canner or water bath. Check tops of jars for cracks, chips and dents, discarding those with defects that would prevent an airtight seal.

A two-piece, self-seal lid may be used. It has a metal disk and a metal ring and is self-sealing as the jar cools after processing. The metal disk can be used only once, but the ring may be used more than one time.

If you have not mailed in your name for the FOOD PRESERVATION series, and you would like to receive it, please do this. The series will be starting soon and you will want to have this information on hand before canning season starts. To register send your name, address, and telephone number to me, Mrs. Wynon Mayes, County Extension Agent, Box L. Plainview, Texas 79072. I will be happy to include you on the list. There is no charge for the series.

TERESA HUIE AND RANDY DUNN

Ropesville High School and is a senior elementary education major at Texas Tech.

Dunn was graduated from New Deal High School and attended Texas Tech. He is engaged in farming.

The couple will reside on a farm Northeast of New Deal.

GIRLS MAY STILL REGISTER FOR SUMMER CAMP

Dr. James Kitchens, Camp Committee Chairman, Caprock Girl Scout Council, has announced that summer camp activities are underway at Camp Rio Blanco, located near Crosbyton, Texas.

More than 200 girls and their leaders are currently enrolled and participating in the council's Resident Troop Camp Program. Troops have signed up for two and three night sessions. The swimming pool, craft house, infirmary, and dining hall are available with complete waterfront staff and staff aides for special activities. One meal is served in Bridwell Lodge. Troops are responsible for cooking additional meals. This event preceded the regular established camp.

Another 300 girls are registered for the regular camp which will begin June 15 and continue through July. In addition to swimming, archery, hiking, crafts, and regular camp activities; this summer's campers will experiment with cooking using solar energy or the sun's rays, for heat, making jewelry from stones found and polished at the campsite, and pottery making from the natural clay.

Swimming lessons, synchronized classes, and junior and senior life saving are prepared and served in Bridwell Lodge by personnel who have been with the camp for ten summers. A qualified staff supervises the entire program for a cost of approximately $5.00 per girl per day.

The service center is still taking registrations, according to Dr. Kitchens. The camp is open to any girl, Scout or non-Scout, who enjoys the out-of-doors. For additional information, write Caprock Girl Scout Council, 2567-74th Street, Lubbock, Texas 79423, or call 745-2855.

COUNTY AGENT ADVISES CARE IN SELECTING PLANTS FOR WARM CLIMATE

Certain environmental conditions will cause tomato blooms to shed, resulting in a poor fruit set. Partial failure of flowers to develop into fruit will result in abnormal fruits which may be misshapen or catfaced, points out Ollie Linder, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Blossom drop is most common in tomatoes which bloom late. The usual cause for poor fruit set is high temperatures--either at night or day. Nighttime temperatures above 72 degrees F. along with day time temperatures above 90 degrees F. often result in heavy blossom drop. On the other hand, unseasonably cool weather may also cause blossoms to drop in addition to causing abnormalities in fruit.

Other factors causing lack of fruit set or abnormal fruit include unbalanced nutrition, windy weather with low humidity, extended periods of showery, cool, overcast weather in the early spring, and insects and diseases.

Therefore, providing a balanced fertilizer and controlling insects and diseases will help in controlling blossom drop. Of course, little can be done about weather conditions.

Poor fruit set is most common in the large slicing types of tomatoes, notes Linder. However, such varieties as Early Giant, Spring Giant, Spring Set and Improved Summertime have the ability to set fruit during somewhat higher temperatures.

Smaller sized tomatoes that normally do not have the fruit set problem include such varieties as Small Fry, Red Cherry, Toma and the new Texas Agricultural Experiment Station variety, Saladette. Some hormone type spray also might be effective in helping retain some to the blooms.

In areas where blossom drop seems to be a common problem year after year, Linder suggests planting some of the smaller type tomatoes or those varieties that tend to be more tolerant to higher temperatures.

BARTON HOUSE MOVED TO RANCHING HERITAGE CENTER

tenance and remodeling, though the basic structure and layout of the house have remained the same.

The house originally had a wide veranda or porch running around the front and east side of the house. This porch was replaced by a smaller one in the 1930's, and by another in the 1950's.

Most of the work on the house through the years, according to Mrs. Albers, has been that of maintenance, such as painting, and in renovating the kitchen and bathrooms as modern facilities became available. Most of the woodwork in the house still bears its original finish, she says.

The Barton house is the 16th historic structure moved to the 12 acre site of the Ranching Heritage Center, and it complements log cabins and dugouts, box-and-strip houses, a bunk house, blacksmith shop, carriage house and meat and milk houses, among others.

The 38-mile move of the house from its original site 14 miles northwest of Abernathy was made by W.K. Bigham & Sons House Movers, who donated their services in the effort.

The house itself is 38 feet high, and when mounted on trailers supported by 32 heavy-duty dual tires, it stood about 6 feet higher. Fireplace and chimneys were left intact, which was another unusual feature in the move and required special preparation. The house is more than 48 feet wide.

The move was made over rough dirt roads, over a railroad track and even over a four-lane divided loop highway requiring a sharp turn-around. It is reported that a pencil left on the mantelpiece when the house left its Hale County site was still in place when the house was backed onto its new foundation in Lubbock County.

The Junior League of Lubbock is contributing $25,000 toward completion of the authentic furnishing of the house and the League's Ranch Research Committee is preparing background material for use in restoration.

Members of the Jack Barton family are also contributing some home furnishings used by their parents.

"I've been really pleased that the house is going to be part of the center exhibits," says Mrs. Albers. "It's a way to keep the house preserved, and it's a distinct honor to have the house be a part of this project. I'm really in favor of what they're doing to keep the history of ranching alive."

Other members of the Barton family who grew up in the house include Betty's brothers, Joe and Jackie of Hale County, and Bob, who now resides in California.

Mrs. Albers says that one of her parents' main pleasures was through houses that were open for tour in their travels.

"I think this influenced my mother's decision to will the house to the museum," she says. "I think my parents were hoping others would have the same pleasure in seeing the house and the part of history it depicts."

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Morris of Amarillo visited in the home of his nephew, Richard Havens and children.

Little League Camp To Begin June 15

Baseball season is right around the corner and Little League is making plans for its 1975 Summer Camp program.

Dutch Schroeder, Little League Summer Camp Director at Waco, Texas, said the camps are open to boys 9 through 15 years of age, whether affiliated or not with a Little League team. Located on the campus of Baylor University, the camp session is a combination of sound baseball instruction and a healthful all-around recreational program.

The camp experience is geared to building confidence and ability in each youngster while providing solid fundamental baseball knowledge.

In addition to baseball instruction, youngsters attending the camp participate in swimming, tennis, basketball, and other recreational activities. The latest baseball training aids are utilized.

Instructors and counselors for the camp sessions are drawn from the ranks of college coaching and physical education program and from school guidance personnel. All are selected for their ability to work with and understand the problems of youngsters of Little League age.

Youngsters and parents interested can obtain information and applications by writing: Summer Camp Director, Little League Baseball, T. S. T. L., Box 1999, Waco, Texas 76705.

Clinic Set For Study of Plant Diseases; Insects

Plans have been made by County Agent, Ollie Linder, to have a Plant Disease and Insect Clinic in Plainview on Monday, June 16. The clinic, jointly sponsored by the Extension Service and the Agricultural Committee of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, will be held in the meeting room of the Chamber of Commerce in Plainview from 10:00 a. m. until 2:00 p. m.

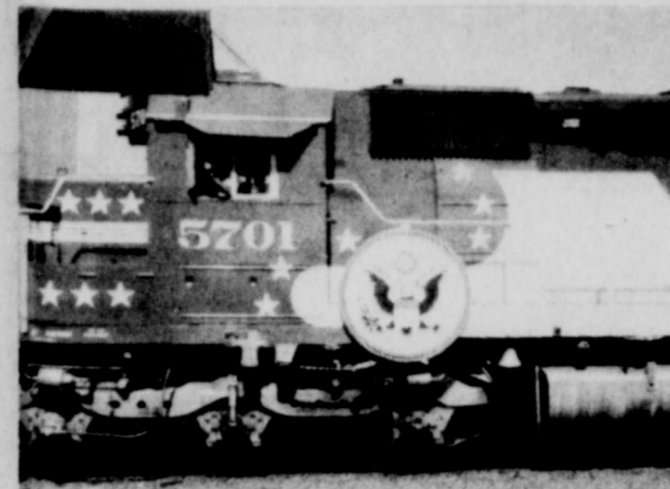

On hand for the clinic will be specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Dr. Robert W. Berry, Plant Pathologist; Dr. Robert C. McIntyre, Area Entomologist; and Jim Valentine, Area Soil Chemist, all of Lubbock; and County Agent Ollie Linder.

Attendance at this clinic will be on a come and go basis. Both men and women living on the farm or in town are invited to take advantage of this clinic if they have insect trouble, to bring them in, get them identified within a few minutes and be on their way home in a short time.

Everyone is encouraged by the County Agent and Mike Howell, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, to bring in their diseased plants and their insects for identification to the Meeting Room of the Chamber of Commerce on Monday, June 16.

TEXAS TALK

by Harold Thompson

Dead-last with the camel. That's where the experts say beef ranks as a preferred meat in the mid-east. Goat and lamb are way out in front and it'll take some mighty tempting T-bones to turn the tide. This is an Arabic fact-of-life depressing to cattlemen trying to build a fire under the export meat business. On the positive side however, proponents of the U.S. Meat Export Federation say there is major demand for prime beef in many of the European and Asian markets. Organizers of the fledgling federation hope to obtain the blessing of the Foreign Agricultural Service in the near future and establish international offices to promote the sale of U. S. meat throughout the world. Model for the ambitious undertaking is the highly successful National Feed Grains Council whose members have shown how well consistent international promotion works. Japan and Germany are most often mentioned as locations for the first two offices of the new Export Federation.

The workers are paid salaries based on the type of work and the amount of experience and productivity they have, Harp said. "The profits are divided among the workers as bonuses at the end of the year or part of it is held back for expansion of the combinant. In addition to their salaries, the combinant employees are furnished with apartments, dine in restaurants at combinant cost and vacation at combinant resorts. They are also provided with free schools and free medical treatment." Harp pointed out that there are many combinants in Yugoslavia, each competing with the others. He relates a conversation with a native Yugoslav who described the combinant as "a socialistic system which combines the best of socialism with the competitive spirit of capitalism and gives all the workers a goal to work for... of which their reward would be based on the success of the entire combinant."

MRS. CLEMON BLAKES

Enjoys Friendliness of New Home

An Abernathy resident for slightly over two months, Mrs. Clemon Blakes says she finds the town very friendly and the people "warm-hearted". Former residents of Wellington, Texas, the Blakes family moved to Abernathy in late March when Mr. Blakes received a job offer here.

"My husband took one look at the place, and said 'Yes, we're moving,'" says Mrs. Blakes, who adds that the family had been thinking about moving for almost a year.

Since she grew up in Wellington, and lived there all her life with the exception of four years in Oklahoma, (where she and her husband moved following their marriage in 1952,) Mrs. Blakes says it was a little hard for her to adjust to the move.

"It was really hard to leave Wellington--since it's my home--but everyone's so friendly and warm here, I really think I'm going to like living here."

The Blakes live about nine miles east of Abernathy. He is employed in farm work, and she is employed part time doing domestic work.

They have four children, Dale, 20 and Lonnie, 19, who reside in Amarillo, where they attended classes at Texas State Technical Institute. Barbara, 16, and Clemon Jr., 15, made the move to Abernathy with their parents.

Mrs. Blakes says it was hard for Barbara and Clemon Jr. to make the move, though they're growing to like the town more as time goes on.

"They hated to have to leave all their friends," she says, "but both of them like church and the people they've met here."

The Blakes recently transferred their membership to Abernathy Church of the Nazarene, where Mrs. Blakes says they've received a very warm welcome.

Working at the church's vacation bible school last week, Mrs. Blakes helped in instructing the children in their workbook and craft work.

"I like kids," she says, "and I enjoy being around them. It was really a blessing to me too," she adds, speaking of the programs brought to the group by special worker Viola Morton.

When she's not busy with her work, church activities, or in the other duties involved in keeping a family of four going, Mrs. Blakes says she enjoys cooking and gardening. She likes to experiment with new recipes, and adds that baking pies and cakes is one of her favorite pastimes. She also mentions that those convenient casseroles are another favorite.

"My mother started teaching me to cook when I was a young girl," she says, and adds that she did much of the cooking for her family as a youngster.

"I've always liked to cook," she says. Her recipe this week is one for that all-time favorite, pecan pie, and Mrs. Blakes says it just seems to taste better than any of the other recipes she's tried.

- PECAN PIE
from the kitchen of Mrs. Clemon Blakes
- 1 cup sugar
 - 3 eggs
 - 2 Tablespoons melted butter or margarine
 - 2 tablespoons evaporated milk
 - 1/2 cup Karo syrup
 - 3/4 cup pecans
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Mix all ingredients and pour into an 8-inch unbaked pie shell. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes, or a little longer until done.

Bicentennial Notebook

Donald Whisenhunt DEFIANCE IN VIRGINIA

The month of June two hundred years ago opened on an ominous note. War had already begun in April and continued through May; no one knew how long it might continue. The second Continental Congress was in session and was considering ways and means to defend the colonies militarily. The matter of independence was still over a year away, but more people joined the ranks of those who already believed that reconciliation with Great Britain was impossible.

Defiance of British authority became a much more common occurrence throughout the colonies. In early June, Virginia was a good case in point. Lord Dunmore, royal governor of Virginia, called the House of Burgesses into special session on June 1 to consider another proposal by Prime Minister Lord North and the House of Commons.

Peter Randolph, only recently elected President of the Continental Congress, resigned that position to return to Williamsburg, Virginia, to preside over the meeting of the Burgesses of which he was a speaker. According to historian George Bancroft, he arrived with such ceremony that he "eclipsed the pomp of the governor, and in the eyes of the people raised the importance of the newly created continental power."

Virginians were excited both about the war in New England and about a serious threat posed by Lord Dunmore. The governor had threatened earlier to free and arm all slaves in the colony unless the laws and other regulations of Parliament were obeyed. To slaveholding Virginia this was a threat to both their liberty and their property.

On the night of June 7, Lord Dunmore became fearful of his personal safety and took refuge on board an English ship at York. He was convinced that this was the right move because of what he considered the rebellious mood of the burgesses and because he had learned that Samuel Adams and John Hancock were shortly to be placed on the "wanted" list. He could not be sure how the burgesses might react to that decision.

The reply to the governor's call, written by Thomas Jefferson, was issued on June 12. In essence the statement said that reconciliation with Great Britain was the greatest desire next to liberty itself. However, the actions of Parliament, simply compounded the oppression. Therefore, Virginia would appeal to King and Parliament no longer; future actions would rest with the Continental Congress.

Without doubt, Virginians were moving closer to the point of no return.

In Spanish Texas the removal of the residents of Adaes to San Antonio apparently did not have the desired results. According to official reports, quite a number of the residents fled Adaes to avoid being moved. In addition, neighboring Indians raided what was left. Moreover, Frenchmen from Natchitoches moved in to live and trade among the Indians more than ever before. Historian H.E. Bolton conjectured that despite governmental orders the frontier was never totally abandoned.

Just as a Virginian defied British authority, some Spanish Texans also defied Spanish authority.

Washington Takes Command

Two hundred years ago in June the Continental Congress took its first military steps to defend the colonies. Fighting had already been going on for almost two months, but the troops and the financial support came from the individual colonies.

On June 10, 1775, John Adams proposed in Congress that the forces besieging Boston be accepted as a continental army and that a general be appointed. He hinted strongly that the command should go to George Washington of Virginia.

The first action of Congress in this direction was the consideration of borrowing 6,000 British pounds with which to purchase powder for "The Continental Army," a term used for the first time. The plan to borrow was abandoned shortly hereafter when another plan to raise money was adopted.

On June 14 Congress resolved to raise six (later changed to ten) companies of riflemen from Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia. They were to be promptly dispatched to Boston to aid the militiamen already besieging the city.

The next day the proposal to appoint a general as commander-in-chief was adopted. George Washington was unanimously elected to the post only after his insistence that he would serve only for his expenses but for no compensation. After eight years of service he submitted records of his expenses totaling 24,700 British pounds.

At the time of his appointment Washington was 43 years old. He had already achieved military prominence for his activities on the frontier, especially during the French and Indian War. During the ill-fated attack on the French at Fort Duquesne (now Pittsburgh) in 1754 led by Lord Braddock, Washington was the only officer to emerge with a greater reputation.

He had taken a leading role in colonial affairs for some time and was well-known throughout the colonies. However, his military knowledge was from limited experience that in no way guaranteed the qualities of leadership now demanded of him. Even though a few people questioned his ability for such a task, he seemed the most likely candidate. Although it may have been somewhat exaggerated, the statement of John Adams that "upon him depend the liberties of America" may well have been more true than Washington himself cared to admit.

In Spanish Texas the residents moved from Adaes were very unhappy about their new status. They refused to accept the new land provided for them and petitioned the governor for permission to return to the north-eastern frontier. They requested that they be allowed to return to a location relatively near the old settlement of Adaes because the new location was not satisfactory.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL SCENES--Youngsters and adults from Abernathy churches met daily last week for the summer's Vacation Bible School program. Young children at Northside Baptist church (far left), gathered outdoors for a song and game hour, as they met Friday morning. An older group of Northside youngsters practiced their duties in a 'model church service' to be presented Sunday, (second from left). At the Abernathy Church of the Nazarene, (center), the Vacation Bible School attendance set records, with over 80 youngsters participating in the week-long activities, and VBS students at First Baptist Church waved from the bus Friday which was to take them to Lubbock for a picnic and a tour of Rainbow Bakeries there, (fourth from left). Lanny Newton, (standing, far right) led a group of small fry in an outdoor song session as the activities drew to a close Friday morning at the daily session of Vacation Bible School at the Abernathy Church of Christ. Other city churches will hold their VBS sessions later in the summer. (Review Photos)

Redesigned Cancer Drugs May Increase Effect

Many cancer drugs exist that can kill or arrest the spread of cancerous cells. But none of these drugs can be considered a satisfactory cure for cancer.

The main drawbacks of most of the drugs presently used in chemotherapy (treatment with chemicals) are threefold: they kill many normal cells, and they are ineffective against resting cancer cells. In addition, the cancerous cells eventually develop a resistance to the drugs.

"While there is no cancer drug without undesired toxicity, some drugs could be redesigned to exist in a harmless storage form that could be distributed throughout the body," says Dr. Joseph Nagyvary, a professor of nucleotide chemistry in the Department of Biochemistry and Biophysics, The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas A&M University.

"These redesigned drugs would be able to easily pass through the walls of cells and become active mainly when in the presence of abnormal, growing tissue," Nagyvary stated.

"Notice I say abnormal. The approach my group is investigating is expected to work on not only cancerous tissue, but also it is being studied for problems of allergy, psoriasis and brain tissue. At present, problems with all of these involve some of the most resistant cells of the body.

"Biological studies on allergy, effect on the brain and on psoriasis will be performed in collaboration with Dr. A. Szentivanyi (Tampa, Florida) and Dr. W. Klemm (Texas A&M University).

"Texans will be pleased to know that while the initial research of the team I head was supported by the Experiment Station and Texas A&M, our present research is strongly supported by federal grants.

"Our involvement in development of new drugs, which was begun in 1968, has received the attention and financial support of the National Institutes of Health. Results and projects developed here at Texas A&M have been recognized and adopted by some prominent research institutions.

"Drugs can do their thing—good or bad—only in tissues where they are absorbed. The same drug can be invigorating or intoxicating, depending on the site and manner of its administration. Much effort is spent nowadays on regulating or modulating the delivery (logistics) of drugs to selected tissues.

Some of the best drugs, such as aspirin and penicillin, were the result of accidental discoveries, but the modern scientist likes to rely on rational approaches. There are several obvious areas for achieving a better utilization of drugs. The TAMU group is zeroing in on better penetration of tissues by a certain class of drugs called nucleotide anti-metabolites.

"These compounds were unable to penetrate cellular membranes because of their electric charge which, on the other hand, is required for biological activity. The rationale underlying our strategy was suggested by the behavior of organophosphate insecticides which are neutral molecules and possess superior penetration."

Logically, Nagyvary and his colleagues transformed one of the important cellular agents, so called cAMP, into a neutral phosphate. It is known that cAMP not only regulates the growth and shape of cells, it is also involved in diseases such as psoriasis, asthma, diabetes, hypoglycemia and even in aging.

Yet, when injected, cAMP does little good for reasons of poor absorption through cell walls. But after modification in neutral form, it exhibits some of the desired activities and it seems even to stimulate the nervous system, which is the toughest target to penetrate.

Other advantages of using the neutral organophosphate form of drugs, according to Nagyvary, are that it can be considered a good storage form, from which the active agent is released only slowly with a longer period of action and less toxicity. The application of the same principle to cancer drugs will lead to the development of better efficiency in the treatment of resistant tumors, which otherwise do not respond to chemotherapy.

Nagyvary emphasizes that his group does only the initial part of drug development, including chemical design, studies of biochemical mechanisms of action, and simple small animal studies. Research hospitals take care of the further applications to human diseases. Nagyvary feels much credit should go to those responsible for advocating the new line of research activity. He singles out the work of Dr. R. K. Gohis and Dr. R. G. Gillen.

Style, in writing or speaking, is formed very early in life, while the imagination is warm, and impressions are permanent.

TEACHERS SELECTED TO ATTEND INSTITUTE

Thirty teachers have been selected to participate in a nine-week institute at The University of Texas at Directors of bilingual education programs.

Purpose of the institute, which began Tuesday (June 3) is to give teachers specific knowledge and skills in various aspects of bilingual education so they can direct their local programs better.

The institute is so designed that teachers can focus their studies on local school project needs. They will examine and evaluate various theories of curriculum design, methodologies and classroom strategies for teaching Spanish as first language, English as a second language and subject content in a bilingual classroom.

Participants also will have the chance to expand their own command of Spanish since many of the activities and classes will be conducted in that language.

The institute is funded under Title V of the Education Professions Development Act and is operated through UT Austin's Office of Bilingual Education.

Those selected include: Carolyn Wade, 424 North Drive, Abernathy.

In everything you do, put God first, and he will direct you and crown your efforts with success. (Pro. 3:6)
