re-election

Incumbent Harold N. Martin has announced his re-election candidacy for Hale County treasurer, subject to action of the May 6 Democratic Primary. In making his announcement, Martin said, "It has been a privilege serving the people as Hale County Treasurer. In this time I have kept records that were complete and easily audited. I would never minimize the duties or the importance of the County Treasurer Office. If I am re-elected, I will continue to execute the affairs of the office to the best of my abilities. "I appreciate the support that I have received in the past and ask for your support in the forthcoming Democratic Primary, May 6," Martin said. Mrs. H. H. Vineyard was taken to HI-Plains Hospital in Hale Center, Sunday.

NEW ADDITION STARTS HERE

Jackie Barton, local real estate man, has started a new housing addition in Abernathy. It includes 64 acres on the west side of town, which Barton bought from Mrs. Thelma Wesley. Her father, the late John Jones, was the original owner of the 90-acre strip on the west side of town. The 90 acres has dwindled to 64 acres from sales of parcels of land to the school, Abernathy Riding Club and two separate parcels to the City of Abernathy. The Milton Popes have purchased the original Jones house on the property, on Ave. H on 12th St. The first new house on the Barton project will be west of that house, facing 12th St. It will be a brick home owned by the Larry Bigham family. Bigham is a Texas Department of Public Safety Trooper, who has been stationed in Abernathy for some time.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS
STAGE TRACTORCADE HERE

On January 20, the farm oriented students of Abernathy High School voiced support for the American Agricultural Movement. The goals of the student movement were: to display support for the farmers of our community; to protest high crop production costs and low prices; and to celebrate American Agricultural Movement Day, as declared by Mayor Pete Thompson. Approximately forty students supported the action taken on Friday by bringing tractors or other farm or Agribusiness vehicles to school. After a short tractorcade, these vehicles were left in the high school parking lot until 4 p. m., at which time they paraded on Avenue D. According to Steve Presley, the protest also implicates the produce being consumed in domestic facilities that is grown in foreign countries, and is reducing the market in the U. S. Presley said, "many of our farmers are being cut out of beef market, since many foreign nations are selling our country livestock. We could produce this livestock if the government would allow us a reasonable market." Gary McKenzie reported,

"other countries have an import tariff, so why doesn't the U. S. tax goods that we can produce?" David Hunt stated I'm proud to be a farmer, but if I can't make a profit, then I can't afford to farm. "Our society must realize that our need for 100% parity is very real," said Jerry Vineyard, "If our nation can't prosper, than our democracy, our future, will dwindle! Some of these participating are recognized below, along with our thanks our making the concept of our voluntary support possible. Those taking part were: Steve Presley, David Hunt, Gary McKenzie, Jerry Vineyard, Ken Grant, Joe Jack Connell, David Skipper, Scott Cunningham, Tommy Beard, Wayne McGuire, Steven Schoor, Brent Harkey, Barry Royal, Sam Billingsley, Lane Thompson, Tim Presley, Curt Attebury, Linda Adkisson, Van Riley, Mickey Sansom, Lee Knight, Shane Cunningham, Jeff Oswald, Terry Attebury, Terry Motley, Robert Parks, Cindy Davis, Cliff Ward, Jimmy McKenzie, David Scott, Danny Williamson, Dennis Bridges, David Myatt, Jim Barton, Toby Barrick, Rhonda Hunt, and Dean McGuire.

New Deal Area

C., last week to participate in the American Agriculture Movement strike activities were Gary Hamilton, Buddy Slaton, Clark Agnew, Roy Don Stephenson, Ray West, Rickey Dunn and Franklin Dunn. Roy Don Stephenson, Ray West and Franklin Dunn remained in Washington for the Farm Strike activities planned for this week. The others returned home last week-end. (See story by Mrs. Tommie Wages elsewhere in this paper.)

Lovelace Attends
"State Of Union"
Event In W. D., C.

This is a revision of the list of farmers from here who went to Washington, D. C., last week: Also going from Abernathy were Bud Rhodes, Pee Wee Myatt, Joe Oswald, and Gary Lovelace. Gary Lovelace was one of the very few farmers receiving tickets to U. S. House of Representatives visitors gallery the night of Jan. 19, when President Jimmy Carter delivered the Annual State of the Union address to the Senators, Representatives, Cabinet Members, Judicial representatives and other federal government dignitaries. The Abernathy-New Deal and other Lubbock area farmers flying home from Washington to Lubbock International Airport last week-end arrived at the Lubbock terminal considerably ahead of their schedule to land there. Weather at the Dallas/Fort Worth Airport prevented a schedule landing there. While the Braniff International Airline personnel aboard the plane were considering alternate airports to land, including San Antonio and Lubbock and possibly other airports, they took a count of destinations of passengers aboard. A majority of passengers aboard had Lubbock as their destinations, therefore Lubbock was selected as the alternate landing site.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Johnson, Nita and Chad Douglas spent the Christmas holidays in Ruston, Louisiana with the Johnson's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Clayton.

BILINGUAL WORKSHOP

On Saturday, January 14, the Title VII Federal Bilingual Project sponsored a workshop for parents of second grade students enrolled in the Abernathy Schools. The parents were taught how to help their children with studies at home and also at school. Working in small groups, the second grade teachers and bilingual aides taught the parents how to listen to their children read, how to help with games that prepare children for reading, and other related activities.

Twenty-one parents attended the workshop which was directed by Ms. Margaret Clements, Title VII Project Director, assisted by Ms. Rosemary Gonzales, Bilingual Resource Teacher, the second grade teachers, Miss Alma Ruth Patterson, Mrs. Gail Stanton and Mrs. Anita Kleinert, and Miss Rosa Cardenas, bilingual aide.

Eight high school students cared for the sixteen children of the workshop participants, directing their games and serving refreshments. When the workshop ended at noon, all who participated enjoyed lunch prepared by the Junior High Vocational Education Class at the Antelope Inn.

HOT LINE

Our main strike force returned home from Washington, leaving behind Ray West, Franklin Dunn, Roy Don Stephenson of New Deal and Jim Walts, Bill Walts, Ronnie Hamilton, J. W. Hamilton, and Tommie Wages of Abernathy. At the request of the American Agricultural Movement leaders, men from each area returned in Washington as a sign of strength for an important bill being introduced by John Tower in the Senate Agriculture Committee Hearing on Tuesday. Five leaders from the American Agriculture Movement will be attending this hearing.

Other information will be forthcoming as other men return to Washington to continue lobbying for the benefit of the farm and farm related economy.

Thoughts to ponder: 1. Worry-no creative thoughts! 2. Positive Thoughts-positive action! 3. Avoid Criticism-Encourage participation! 4. Ask God for strength and guidance! 5. If you can't help, then put the blame where it belongs! 6. If the shoe fits, wear it!

By the way, the reason I'm getting involved up to my neck in this movement is because a true friend, the wife of a farm related businessman, had enough courage to say what she felt. She made the accusation that

WIFE COMES TO ABERNATHY

WIFE, an acronym (there's a dictionary word for you) for Women Involved in Farm Economics, will have an organizational meeting to be announced in next week's Abernathy Weekly Review.

Our initial information about this organization came from an article in Big Farmer, Dec. 1977 issue. According to Big Farmer, "In October 1976 it (WIFE) didn't exist. By October of this year it had approximately 5,000 members scattered across eight western states." We have requested additional information about WIFE through Big Farmer Reader's Service.

This excerpt was taken from Big Farmer. "We want to invite women who are interested and involved in farm economics," explains newly-elected national president Betty Majors of Oceola, NE, "and to educate and inform people of the problems in rural America."

"But we don't ask anyone to join," emphasizes Spiker. "They have to want to be the farm wives in this area were not getting involved in this movement and were not helping their husbands. She moved me out of my apathy. Better late than never!

part of us to be strong."

This organization seems to meet the needs of the organization we need in Abernathy to help with the American Agriculture Movement. It does not exclude any woman. It is not exclusively for farm wives. If at a later date we discover it does not, meet our needs we do not have to affiliate with their national organization we will just have to find an equally suitable name.

For those women who feel they would be interested in this organization, evaluate your talents and contact: New Deal: Mrs. Ray West (Sherilyn) 746-6224; Mrs. Roy Don Stephenson (Peggy) 746-5427 and Mrs. Franklin Dunn (Ada Lole) 746-6524.

Abernathy: Mrs. Laurin Prather (Sharon) 298-2790; Mrs. Lea Ward (JoAnn) 298-2322; Mrs. Tommie Wages (Bobbye) 328-5390 and Mrs. Jim Walts (Thelma) 328-5341.

EDITORIAL (from Antelope outlook)

WE CAN'T IGNORE CHILD ABUSE

by Missy Webb
 "If all cases of child abuse were reported, it is estimated that there might be as many as four million cases yearly." So stated Kent Bridenstein, Hale County Welfare Agent, during a presentation to the FHA members last week. The statistic is shocking unless one realizes that abuse includes not only physical mistreatment, but also emotional mistreatment; excessive yelling, belittling, or failure to provide warmth and attention.

Today, much attention is being focused on the problem of child abuse in the United States. The National Center on Child Abuse estimates that at least 2,000 children die each year because of abuse and neglect.

Besides physical scars, the abused child also suffers psychological damage that can hinder his personality development.

One of the saddest aspects of child abuse is that the abused child may later, as a parent, abuse his own children. A heartwarming exception is that of Lorene Vela, a Lubbock resident, whose story was told in the December, 1977, issue of

BRIEFS:

Jack B. Cox family has moved from Rt. 1, Shallowater, to this address: Rt. 1, Box 14, Anton, Texas 79313. Their new telephone number is 997-2711.

Bess Carey has moved from Abernathy to this address: Rt. 2, Box 101, Breckenridge, Texas 76024.

Good Housekeeping. Unable to have children of her own because she suffered childhood beatings, Lorene and her husband, Julian, have taken in, over the years, twenty children no one else wanted. They have provided these youngsters a home full of love.

Child abuse is not confined to large cities of crime, but occurs everywhere; even in Abernathy. Child abusers hail from all economic, social, and racial backgrounds.

Teachers in public schools are held accountable to report suspected child abuse. Likewise, each citizen is also responsible for taking action if he has knowledge of an incident of child abuse under the Texas Family Law Code. Punishment for not reporting the abuse is a $100-$200 fine or up to six months in jail.

Only if everyone works together to help the abused child and the child abuser will this tragic problem be controlled. For the sake of thousands of children, it must be done.

Dear Folks,

I think my subscription to the paper had almost run out, so I'm renewing it for two more years. I might just as well renew Laverns' also while I'm at it.

We're trying to dry out here between rains but no one is complaining. The rain was really a blessing. This country was beginning to look like around Abernathy during the drought and depression back in the 30's, and Buford, you and I know what that was like. The winter has been, so far, the mildest I've seen in the 30 years I've been here. It hasn't been below 50 degrees at night and we're only 45 minutes from the mountains that are covered with snow.

Hope this finds everyone well and happy. I pray everyone will have a wonderful year.

Sincerely,
Berniece Gosney
(13905 Giordano, La Puente, Calif. 91746)

'These [the men who fought in Vietnam] are people who are more or less forgotten about'

(This is the third of three articles assessing the impact of the Vietnam war on Arkansans who served in that war.)

By DOUG SMITH
Of the Gazette Staff

"I come from a small town, and when I got home from Vietnam I had people asking me where I'd been."

The small town Wes Knight comes from is Abernathy, Tex., population 2,500, about 20 miles from Lubbock. He was asked if Vietnam veterans felt unappreciated. "Very much so," he said.

Knight said he knew of at least five young men from Abernathy who served in Vietnam, including himself. Two were killed, one suffered total disability. Knight was 40 per cent disabled. "The town paid pretty severely."

These [the men who fought in Vietnam] are people who are more or less forgotten about. One of my high school buddies was killed in Vietnam, but I never knew about it. My folks never told me until I got home.

Knight, now 29, enlisted in the Army in 1968, because he was about to be drafted. "I didn't sympathize with any of the antiwar groups. I felt it was my duty to serve my country."

He went to Vietnam in March 1969. His parents didn't want him to go, and he might have had a choice. "I was being treated at an Army hospital for a lung condition. My dad called our congressman. He said he could get me a re-evaluation physical to see whether I was qualified to go. I talked with my dad and said I wanted to go. He dropped it. My dad's views on the war — he just didn't want me in it. He was a veteran of World War II."

Knight was a door gunner on a helicopter, and a platoon sergeant before he was through. He got a "blood stripe" when his platoon sergeant was killed. Forty-two men in his battalion died, "and I don't know how many others were messed up."

He was stationed at Camp Holloway, a helicopter compound near Pleiku, which he said was known as "Rocket City," because of the incessant Viet Cong mortar attacks that came from there; although the city supposedly was controlled by South Vietnamese civil authorities. "We got incoming fire day and night. We couldn't retaliate because of the civilians. The South Vietnamese police were supposed to take care of it. I flew in the day and spent most of the night in a bunker."

"We got overrun once. We killed nine enemy soldiers inside the perimeter. It was night. The enemy was throwing satchel charges [a homemade bomb, the Vietnamese version of a Molotov cocktail]. You couldn't tell who you were shooting at. It was a mess."

His helicopter was shot down during the invasion of Cambodia, but he was unhurt. He escaped injury until five days before he was to return to the United States. Then he caught shrapnel in the leg during another mortar attack. (When he came home, the orders for the Purple Heart decoration were supposed to catch up with him. They never did. In 1976, he wrote the Army. They checked his records, and he got his Purple Heart, seven years late.)

"It was a survival thing. I kept a calendar and marked my days off, like everybody else. You'd go in the barracks and ask, 'What time is it?' and somebody'd say, 'July.'"

"I didn't agree with the way it was fought. We'd get intelligence reports on the enemy, but we couldn't do anything but retaliate. We couldn't initiate an at-

We sang our anthem and some happy sounding songs to bolster our spirits. No one got any older this month so no singing for that. Our secretary read the minutes, sounded like we had a good meeting last month.

Lillie Mae Wilson prepared the program. She introduced Mrs. Carmen Rodriguez from the South Plains Homemakers Service. She handed out some brochures about what this service covers. These are quotes from the brochure: "The S. P. H. S. provides in home care, meal preparation, personal care, home care, escort service, visitation and companionship. For more information write or call the South Plains Homemaker Service. No. 4 Briercroft Office Park, Lubbock, Texas 79412. The phone number is 806-763-4641.

Bro. Sherrill gave the blessing and we had an extra good dinner. This sounds like one of those "we went, we ate, and went home" meetings that I fussed about last week.

Camp, Bernell Drye, Ethel Petty, Minnie Northcutt, Ruby Knox, Mrs. Dewey Price, Mrs. Talbot, Oma Toler, Katherine Dye, Callie Nunn, Frances Howard, Dorothy Shipman, Royd Shipman, Lillie Mae Wilson, Cora Shuman, H. An electric cut-up to cut down on electricity

These bite-size chunks of scrap metal for re-cycling are disgorged by an enormous electric grinder which can digest a junked automobile in seconds. This reclamation process is just one of the myriad uses of electricity to improve our environment and conserve the added electric energy normally required for processing metals from ore.

The industrial conservation of power is important and one of the meaningful ways electric energy can be conserved is through metal recycling projects. The member-owned electric cooperative provides power for rural homes, rural industry and for conservation.

Beats Of Hope

By Pat Stanton

The Sustaining Mercy of God (By Pat Stanton)

Palm 103:17-But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children's children.

As we continue to live and face daily problems, what help can Christian believers expect? I believe that we can expect the same mercy and power that Abraham and the Apostle Paul received.

Paul states in 2 Corinthians 12:9 that he would be glad about his weaknesses so that "the power of Christ may rest upon me." we are to learn from the examples given in the holy scriptures. When we are tired in spirit, mind, or body, when can faithfully expect that the power of Christ will also rest upon our lives.

When the "power of Christ" begins to rest (stay) upon your body or life, you can expect to see great miracles and blessings.

As you open your total life to the Holy Spirit, then Christ's power will really begin to operate in your life.

We can also expect to receive the gift of faith we come to those closed doors and blocked opportunities. Abraham and his wife Sarah were strong in faith, giving glory to God.

"By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went." Hebrews 11:8.

"Through faith also Sarah herself received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered of a child when she was past age, because she judged him faithful who had promised" Verse 11.

God's mercy is covering the whole earth. We Christians need to continually receive, know how to receive God's mercy and love.

"Behold, the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear him, upon them that hope in mercy. Psalm 33:18.

Lakeview Methodist Church Is Celebrating Its 85th Year

(From Petersburg Post)

By MRS. N. MATTHEWS

The origin of the present Lakeview Methodist Church was begun in 1893 with seven charter members. They were Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Ragland, Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Lutrick, Mr. and Mrs. John Blake, and Flavia Neil. The last of the charter members was Mrs. W.H. Ragland who passed away in September of 1963.

The church was organized in March, 1893 in the old Ivy School House which stood 7 miles northeast of the present site. It was organized by Rev. R.B. Morris, Circuit Rider and pastor of Eepworth Circuit. He was pastor for several years.

The church was moved to the Pearce School House near our Pearce Chapel Cemetery (Strip Cemetery) in 1897 and services were held there until 1906 when a new church was built near the old Strip School House. Church services were held there for 15 years. The church building was moved to the present location in 1922 and was used 27 years.

It was the third Methodist Church in Hale County at that time. The second pastor was Rev. J.T. Bloodworth. Those holding revivals during these years were: Uncle Jimmy Weir, Rev. Sam Hardy, Rev. Ben Hardy, and Rev. George Fair. The Rev. Sam Hardy was Presiding Elder around 1902 and lived at Clarendon, Texas.

Men who have pastored the church throughout the years are: Rev. Walter Griffith, Rev. Sharp, Rev. Sawyer, Rev. J.P. Callaway, Rev. A.H. Hussey, Rev. Laney, Rev. C.E. Clark, Rev. D.C. Ross, Rev. B.J. Dickerson, Rev. J.W. Brown, Rev. S.J. Upton, Rev. J.F. Howell, Rev. L.H. Davis, Rev. Smith, Rev. R.F. Dunn, Rev. J.F. Michael, Rev. R.B. Walden, Rev. W.C. Hart, Rev. C.A. Norcross, Rev. J. Johnson, Rev. C.E. Lynn, Rev. Tony Dyess, Rev. A.D. Moore, Rev. Homer Sally, Rev. C.T. Jackson, Rev. Raymond Dyess, Rev. C.M. Curry, Rev. Aubrey Ashley, Rev. E.C. Raney, Rev. James Carter, Rev. J.W. Baughman, Rev. A.O. Graden, Rev. Wesley Daniel, Rev. James Price, Rev. Allen Forbes, Rev. C.D. Dameron, Rev. L.W. Baker, Rev. R.H. Knight, Rev. R.L. Richards, Rev. Cecil Tune, Rev. W.O. Rucker, Rev. Joe Allen, Rev. U.S. Sherrill, and our present minister Rev. H.B. Coggin.

Towards the end of 1949 the congregation decided to build a new building. The old church building was sold to the black congregation in Petersburg in 1960 and was moved there to continue as a house of worship. Construction of the new building was begun in Feb. 1960 and completed in July with all bills paid, including a new piano and other furnishings. Secretary and Treasurer of the building committee was Clayton Enger and the Building Supervisor was S.M. Harrison.

Several of the furnishings were donated by various members of the church. They were as follows:

- The pulpit by L.M. Biffle.
- Chairs by L.N. Lipscomb and C.A. Bickley.
- Carpet by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Amerson.

Picture of Good Shepard in sanctuary by Mrs. P.W. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Mitchell in honor of P.W. and Don Mitchell.

Large Bible by Mrs. Ben Kelly in honor of Ben Kelly.

Communion set by Mr. and Mrs. B.A. McDougal and Rev. O.A. Graden.

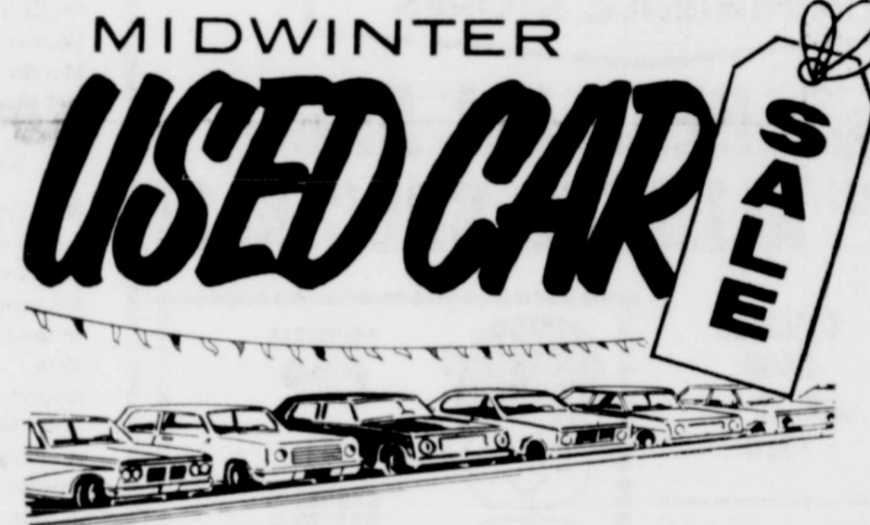

Picture of Christ in Fellowship Hall by Mrs. N. Matthews in honor of Norman Matthews.

Rev. Graden preached the first sermon in the new church on May 26th. It was not entirely completed but in order for him to preach his last sermon in the new building, the pews were moved in from the old church and services were held.

The cost of the church built in 1893 was $1,500, the church built in 1950 was $12,000, Fellowship Hall with kitchen and rest room cost $18,000 in 1966.

Several young men who have attended this church have entered into the ministry. They are W.A. Amerson, Walter Driver, Charles Lutrick, Russell McAnnally, Clifford Mayo, William Mayo, and Johnny Williams. In the church today we have three members who have been continuous members for at least 47 years. They are Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Colwell and Mr. Lawrence Amerson.

Throughout the history of the Lakeview Methodist Church it has been a landmark and a betterment to the community. At one time attendance almost reached the 100 mark. Now enrollment stands at a strong 36 members with good attendance regularly. It is our wish and our prayer that the church will always be a house of worship.

tack. The reasons that were put to us was that it was a defensive war. We were there to protect South Vietnam from a North Vietnamese invasion.

"The war wasn't fought where we could win it. It was in impossible situation. I was bitter about it. Still am, to a degree. It was like putting you on a target, throwing rocks at you, and hoping you wouldn't get hit. I believe in the basic principle of the war, but I don't agree with the way it was fought. The reason for getting into it to suppress Communist aggression, was valid."

The South Vietnamese? "It was economically favorable to them for the Americans to be there. There was more money and an upgraded standard of living. I didn't work much with the South Vietnamese army. As a people, I don't draw any conclusions. I think they were really sorry when we left, for a lot of reasons. Economics were one of them."

"I was very aware of the anti-war movement. Stars and Stripes reported on it a lot the marches on the White House. I felt like if they'd [the demonstrators] put the same effort into being good soldiers, into trying to change the way the war was fought, things would have been better. The anti-war demonstrations were considered more or less a joke."

Few Deserters

Though there were many draft evaders at home, there were few deserters in Vietnam, Knight said. "After you got in, there was a fraternal responsibility," he said. He is surprised now that so little of that fraternal feeling carried over to civilian life.

"When I got home, I was surprised to find I knew so little about the people I'd been close to. When you're going home, you forget to get the address of somebody you spent eight hours in a bunker with. You don't even know whether they were single or not. I don't have any addresses. I don't know where they are now." As a national service officer for the Disabled American Veterans, Knight works with all veterans to assure they get the benefits to which they're entitled. "The World War II vets can cite people they served with — names, dates, companies. They can always come up with somebody. I couldn't if I had to. I think it's because of the way the war was."

Do Vietnamese veterans talk about the war? "Among themselves they do. You always tell war stories when you get together. I may not talk about it with the World War II vet, because he was in a different war altogether."

"I had an adjustment problem when I got home. I couldn't sleep at night for a month. And I didn't feel right about running around at night, being around people, not knowing what was going on."

He attended Texas Tech for a time. "A lot of the students would ask me what it was like, but a lot of times it was just so they could tell me what they thought about it. Some of them would say the war was wrong — like there was something I could do about it. I don't argue about it any more. I feel everybody's entitled to his own opinion."
