Help, Help, Before It's Too Late!

By Jacquelyn Smyers

An Abernathy landmark may go up in smoke very soon unless Abernathians can arrange a better fate. The Tubbs property on the corner of 13th St. and Ave. D has been sold to a person anxious to build a car wash as soon as the house is disposed of. The new owner approached the fire department about burning down the house which many people think is the oldest one in Abernathy. People say it was built in 1909 and moved here between 1909 and 1911, when the town of Abernathy was just getting started. Dr. E. M. Legg was the first Abernathy owner and at one time used the front room for his office. His wife, Ola, was Abernathy's first school teacher and their son, Eugene, was the first baby born in Abernathy. David Pinson is Mrs. Legg's nephew.

The mother of Gaylen (Pappy) Carr lived there next with her granddaughter - perhaps in the 1920's. The granddaughter had a big collie that went with her everywhere. C. O. Anderson's uncle lived there for awhile after that.

The Tubbs family bought the place in the 1930's. Before that, they lived on a farm south of town. All the Tubbs' were small people. The father firmly believed roads are for everybody, whether they have cars or not, and insisted, in spite of many warnings, that cars share the roads with him on foot. Finally, one hit and killed him.

A Tubbs son, Shorty, was also small, spry, and bow-legged and walked everywhere he went. He lived in the house until he went to a nursing home and died a year or so ago at eighty something years of age.

The house is solid all wood construction and, unlike many old houses, doesn't sag anywhere. The city, though, had to class it a substandard structure because it has no foundation and needs new wiring in order to meet building code specifications. All substandard structures must be repaired to meet standards or be demolished. Building inspector Max Garza estimates it will cost 60% of the value of the house to bring it up to standards.

The house has four medium size rooms plus a kitchen and bath which appear to have been added sometime after original construction. The wide decorative baseboards and window frames are in good shape except for many layers of paint. Inside walls are solid wood with two layers of wallpaper - except for one room which someone tried to improve with an unfortunate paneling job.

Most of the kitchen and bathroom fixtures have been removed. The house has ten foot ceilings and, of course, no heat or air conditioning system. The floor doesn't sag but gives a bit if you jump up and down and is covered with several layers of linoleum.

Shorty Tubbs usually painted the outside of his house every year and it still looks fresh and nice. It has a front porch, a wood shingle roof with decorative metal trim on top, and lots of character which modern structures often lack.

Lots of Abernathy people are fond of the old house and don't want to see it destroyed. It's location, however, is a perfect business spot and everyone understands the new owner's position. It's impossible to keep things just because they are cute but Abernathy may regret someday that it kept no reminders of its past - especially one so sturdy, attractive, and characteristic as the Tubbs house.

If the house comes to a drastic end, the Weekly Review doesn't want anyone to say, "Gee, I'd have done such and such if I had only known that was going to happen." So here are the ideas people have mentioned.

NEW LOCATION
The house is quite sturdy enough to withstand one, even two moves. Some private citizen with plans to use the house could have it moved to his or her lot. Local citizens who want the house preserved for historical value could collect money to have it moved to a temporary donated site until definite plans are made.

SHOP
Consider what Ann and Dale Thickstun have done to the antique shop and imagine how charming the Tubbs house can be with wallpaper, area rugs, pretty light fixtures, and old fashioned ceiling fans to push the heat down to where the people are in winter and to augment air conditioning in summer. It could be the cutest fashion and accessories shop in town or it could perform a needed service as a picturesque tea room and pastry shop or a salad and soup restaurant.

PUBLIC BUILDING
If the house is to be used for public benefit, perhaps the city could find a spot for it on city property. When a permanent site is decided upon, it will take two or three men only a couple of hours to dig trenches for a foundation. Talented volunteers can do the other work inexpensively and in no time. Someone even suggested a plan to move the house using two tractors and telephone poles.

It's good for a community to work together on a project now and then and especially gratifying when people can point with pride every day to something they accomplished together.

SCOUT HOUSE
Girl Scouts have no place of their own to meet and store their belongings. This need will be met when and if we construct a community meeting facility. Meantime, the Tubbs house could serve the purpose after repairs and re-decorating by volunteers.

MUSEUM
Several Abernathians have items of historical value to the town but no place to put them. What better place than in a house of historical value? Picture it on the southwest corner of the block where City Hall is located, close to city and police supervision and convenient to everyone in town.

LIBRARY
The city library, supervised, operated, and supported by the 1935 Study Club, has outgrown its quarters in City Hall. The Tubbs house might be large enough and certainly attractive enough to preserve and serve as library or perhaps library museum combination. Study Club members have the taste and know-how to make it a going concern.

If any of these ideas are the same as yours, or if you have better ones, QUICKLY contact the Weekly Review, Hoppy Toler, Dan Ward, Police Chief Clyde Vandygrieff, or City Manager Larry Fields. If you know more about the history of the Tubbs house than the Review could find out, PLEASE call or come by and tell us - before it's TOO LATE.

Ag. Contribution To Hale Economy

AUSTIN--Hale County farmers and ranchers received $157,582,000 in marketings and government payments during 1977, the Texas Department of Agriculture has announced.

The total included $118,931,000 in cash receipts from all crops and $34,780,000 from livestock and livestock products. Government payment made up $3,871,000 of the total.

Across the state, agriculture added $7.1 billion to the economy last year, Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service surveys showed, with receipts from all crops almost balancing those from livestock and livestock products. Livestock receipts totaled $3.5 billion, followed by $3.3 billion for crop receipts. Government payments made up $206 million of the total, including over $120 million through drought and flood assistance programs.

"With improved livestock prices this year, particularly cattle, we are optimistic that 1978 cash receipts will be higher," commented Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown. "These figures only tell half of the story, however. In any discussion including agricultural statistics, the true picture is only presented when you can balance the cash receipts against the actual production costs. During last year, unfortunately, those production costs outstripped most of the profit margin for many farmers and ranchers."

Texas maintained its third place national ranking in cash receipts, despite problems throughout the year. Other first place rankings included: number of cattle and calves, 14.5 million head; upland cotton production, 5.5 million bales; wool production, 21 million pounds; mohair production, 8 million pounds; number of farms and ranches, 197,000; and farm and ranch land, 139.8 million acres.

The state ranked second in the production of grain sorghum, grapefruit, cantaloupes, carrots, rice, green peppers, cabbage, onions, American-pima cotton, pecans, honeydew melons and cucumbers.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--By 1980, Texans will number 13 million. By 2000, 18 million people will live in this state.

The result will be even more enormous demands for energy, transportation, and housing and a challenge to the protection of water, air and other natural resources.

Policies of federal, state, and local governments will shape the nature and extent of this development. Texas is in a position of strength in dealing with these problems, mainly because of the strong economy we enjoy. We can, to a great extent, mold our future because of the resources we have on hand today.

At the close of our last fiscal year we were setting records for revenues. That influx of state dollars continues today and for the foreseeable future.

More than $4.4 billion dollars were collected in taxes. We received $1.85 billion in federal funds, $372 million in licenses and fees, $279 million in investments of state funds, and $341 million in income for state owned land.

Our labor force reflects the strength and diversity of the state's economy. Non-agricultural employment in Texas reached 4.85 million during the last fiscal year. The average annual unemployment rate for that period dipped from 6.4 percent to 5.4 percent. Of the top 10 industrial states, only Illinois has lower unemployment than Texas.

Total personal income increased 14.2 percent in Texas between 1975 and 1976, as compared with 10.1 percent increase nationwide. During that same period, sales by business in Texas--the source of the largest single source of tax revenue, the sales tax--increased 14.9 percent from $124 billion to $142.5 billion.

Oil and gas production continues to play the same major role in the economy as it has for many decades. However, the statistics indicate what many have been warning for several years. Crude oil production is down 4.3 percent and only the increase in price kept the decline from affecting the state's economic well being.

state's economic well being.

We are a growing state and our problems are growing at an equal rate. State government will play a constructive role in the future by working diligently to solve the problems being thrust as us. State government, however, must refrain from letting happen to it what has happened in Washington where the lid was long ago blown off and the ensuing explosion resulted in a decline of freedom for the states and the citizenry.

A little fellow came running to his father, shouting, "Look, Daddy! I pulled up this corn stalk all by myself." "You're strong," he said. "THOUGHTS FROM WITHIN"--
By Vicki Havens

(By Vicki Havens)
As the Christmas season approaches, there is an expectation in the air, little children are wondering what they want for Christmas and sometimes they don't even really know, they see the commercials on television and they look through the Christmas catalogs and ideals pop in their heads and they have decisions to make. Life is full of decisions for all of us. As Christmas gets closer we sometimes get so busy in cooking, making gifts, buying and in such a rush we really forget the true meaning of Christmas. The day of the birth of the Lord Jesus Christ, there in a manger in Bethlehem. Born of the virgin Mary a young girl who was chosen by God to bring the Son of God into the world, to save a lost world.

This life of Jesus Christ has made the greatest impact on people than any other life throughout the past two thousand years. He is still here making changes in lives. I know as I grow older, I realize more and more how precious Christmas is and the true meaning of it. Where would this world be right now if God had not sent His beloved Son into this sinful world to touch lives of people. There are many that think they don't need Jesus, they think they can do a good job of running their own lives while they are passing through this earthly world, but there is more than just living in the worldly part, there is a heaven on earth when you ask Jesus Christ to become Saviour and Lord of your life. He came into the world to save us from our sins. When Jesus went back to Heaven and sat down at the right hand of God, the Holy Spirit came into the world to convict people of their sins and to urge them to give their lives to Jesus Christ. Salvation is a free gift from God through His Son, Jesus. We can't earn it, be good enough to work for it. It is ours to accept and receive by faith in Jesus Christ. God is love and He wants us to know His love and have a life of peace, happiness and joy, right here on earth.

John 10:10 says, The thief came to kill, steal and destroy but, Jesus came to give abundant life. This means now. I think we all need to stop and take stock and see where satan is robbing, stealing and trying to kill us and know that the answer is in Jesus. He wants to give us abundant life right now. Abundant life is not, having all the material things, but peace within and joy within even among the trials we face in life. Being a christian doesn't exclude us from trials of this world but, having Jesus Christ in our lives helps us to overcome them. It is His power and strength that gets us through it all, as the song "Through It All".

John 3:16 is probably the most quoted scripture in the Bible, but do we really stop and meditate on what it means to us? For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son that whosoever believes in him shall have eternal life. God is love and that is the greatest gift we can receive when we have Jesus Christ in our lives. You say I can't love some people, well I can't either, but God in us can love those who we think are unlovely. I heard a lady say one time that every drop of the blood of Jesus was shed for everyone, and when you think of that when we meet people and we begin to form our own thoughts about them, we need to see them with the eyes of Jesus and look for the good in them and accept them as they are. There are so many people in this world today looking for love and acceptance and we need to tell them that God loves them and He sent Jesus to save us from our sins and give us a peace and joy in the Holy Spirit.

I know that this Christmas I want to love more and I know the only way I can love more is know more about Jesus Christ. The christian life is a never ending learning process. The more you learn, the more you realize you know so little and there is such a hunger to know more and more.

I was reading a article the other day and it was telling about a little boy who was quoting Psalms 23: 1. He said, "The Lord is my shepherd, that's all I want."

The writer said, he said, it as we should all say. For when Jesus is Lord, we do have all we need, for He knows all our needs and wants us to trust Him to provide for us. God is our Source for all things. Let's really stop and give God the glory for the true meaning of this Christmas season, as we plan let's keep Christ Jesus as center of Christmas and count His many blessings. As we think of the gifts we want to give others, let's give ourselves to Jesus Christ.

John 3:16 is probably the most quoted scripture in the Bible, but do we really stop and meditate on what it means to us? For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son that whosoever believes in him shall have eternal life. Club Meetings

Tops Club Has 100% At Meeting

TX 1019 TOPS met November 28 in the Gold Auditorium for our regular meeting. When we organized in February '78, we had five members. Now we have 16 very industrious members and all 16 were present at this meeting. We have had a new member every meeting for several weeks.

We have several contests going and all are very interested in them. If we don't work at these contests, we get fined. On one, the fine is one hour work for your partner and that is anything she wants you to do. I have some windows that need washing myself. Another one is called "Pass the Cup". We drew for teams and we have to make our weight pledge to pass the cup to the next person.

We did have a few gains over Thanksgiving--like 10 pounds lost, 6 pounds gained, and 4 turtles--which is not bad. We have a very lovely time and lose our pounds, too.

No one likes their name in my column. I got in trouble with that in the Sunshine Group, too. So I am going to make a number sheet and henceforth, they will be a number. So look for that.

ABERNATHY REVIEW
Abernathy, Texas 79311

Dear Editor:
Often when an athletic program does not produce a team with an impressive won and loss record, the community is quick to place the blame squarely on the shoulders of the head coach-athletic director. However, when a team has a record of 7 wins and 3 losses, we are sure it is because of the players' ability.

May I be very quick to say that our Abernathy Antelope football players deserve the highest accolade. May I also go on record as saying that Coach Larry Aldridge and his entire staff deserve highest commendation and a vote of thanks from the entire community of Abernathy.

Coach Aldridge's high level of Christian influence among both players and coaches makes him a choice asset to the Abernathy school system.

On behalf of our town, "Thank you, Coach, staff and players alike, for a job well done."

Sincerely,
Jacky Newton.

Garza On Winning Regional/National Team From West Texas State University

WTSU--West Texas State University's crops judging team has returned to campus with a clean sweep of the regional and national competition first place awards.

After taking home top honors at the Southwest Regional Collegiate Crops Contest in October at WTSU, the four member team travelled to the American Royal Collegiate Crops Contest in Kansas City Nov. 14, and to the 50th Chicago Collegiate Crops Contest Nov. 18 where they were named top team in both events.

The team members are Israel Garza, senior plant science major from Abernathy; Carol Hochstein, sophomore plant science major from Nazareth; John Rickwartz, freshman ag business and economics major from Channing; Tom Schlabs, senior plant science major from Hereford. Israel is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Garza, Sr., of P.L. 2, Abernathy.

At each contest the students were evaluated for their performance in three phases of competition, which were commercial grain grading, seed analysis and also identification.

Typically 12 teams from colleges and universities throughout the nation were at the contest.

At Chicago's 50th Annual Collegiate Crops Contest, WTSU came out ahead of second place winner University of Minnesota at St. Paul.

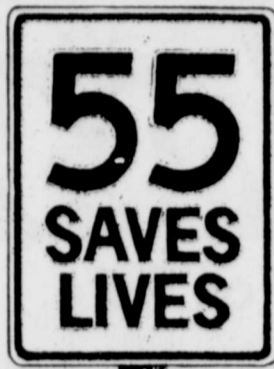

The Canyon team won the identification phase of the contest with a score of 1,787.4 out of a possible 1,800 total points, placed third in seed analysis with 1,741.8. Israel Garza was eighth and John Rickwartz ninth.

Hochstein tied for high individual in the identification phase of the contest with a score of 599.8 out of a possible 600 total points, and was third in seed analysis with a score of 588.

Garza placed fifth in seed analysis with a score of 581, and tied with Rickwartz for ninth in identification. Rickwartz placed sixth in grain grading.

The Chicago contest is sponsored by the Chicago Board of Trade and the American Seed Trade Association.

At Kansas City, the WTSU team scored 5,261.6 out of a possible 5,400 total points to win the American Royal Collegiate Crops Contest. Oklahoma State University placed second with a score of 5,202.

At the contest, the WTSU team won the seed analysis phase with a score of 1,771 out of a possible 1,800 total points, and also the grain grading phase with a score of 1,731.

Israel Garza was high individual of the contest with a score of 1,785.8 out of 1,800. Garza won the seed analysis phase with a perfect score of 600, also the grain grading with a score of 589 and tied for high individual in identification with a score of 596.8.

Tom Schlabs was the third high individual of the contest with a score of 1,748.8, and placed second in grain grading, fourth in seed analysis and tenth in identification.

Carol Hochstein was fourth high individual in the contest, and placed third in seed analysis with a score of 595 out of 600, sixth in grain grading and fourth in identification. (Judy Tolk, 11-22-78)

COTTON MARKETING HOLDS KEY TO PRICES-- Orderly marketing by cotton farmers holds the key to prices they will receive for their 1978 crop over the next few months, contends a cotton marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Holding back some cotton and marketing only a limited amount can help bolster prices. With the current weak domestic demand for cotton, bunched marketings will cause prices to slump. Producers might want to consider the CCC loan program for several months and look at forward contracting or hedging in the futures market with regard to next year's crop.

Hints...

Popularity of a pork cut, season of the year, amount of handling or processing, and type of retail store all influence price, reports Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt.

But price is not a good guide to quality, tenderness or nutritive value of pork, she explains.

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

For stick-to-itiveness few writers can match the late British novelist John Galsworthy. Under his own name and 13 pseudonyms, he founded out 564 books totaling 40 million words from 1932 to 1973.

Most good farmers don't wait until planting time to buy Pioneer-brand seed... not anymore.

The best farmers seem to think that having the seed with the greatest potential is too important to leave to chance. So ordering next year's seed as soon as they've seen this year's results is becoming a habit... practically a tradition.

Why? Because, when you compare Pioneer performance to brands that are always available and compare the advantages of ordering early to the disadvantages, you've got to pick up the phone and call a Pioneer dealer.

AND TO CAP IT OFF - Pioneer will acknowledge your early order by sending you a sprightly green, foam-lined gabardine cap.

JOY OF SHARING

The Birth of Jesus

At that time Emperor Augustus ordered a census to be taken throughout the Roman Empire. When this first census took place, Quirinius was the governor of Syria. Everyone, then, went to register himself, each to his own home town. Joseph went from the town of Nazareth in Galilee to the town of Bethlehem in Judea, the birthplace of King David. Joseph went there because he was a descendant of David. He went to register with Mary, who was promised in marriage to him. She was pregnant, and while they were in Bethlehem, the time came for her to have her baby. She gave birth to her first son, wrapped him in cloths and laid him in a manger--- there was no room for them to stay in the inn. (Luke 2: 1-7)

CARDS OF THANKS

I want to thank all of our friends and neighbors for showing your love to us during Mother's long illness and then at the time of her homegoing for the flowers, cards and food; and to all the prayer groups and churches who prayed many times for our family. During the long hours at the hospital when I would think of your prayers to us--it never failed to give me new hope and strength. God bless each and everyone of you.
