Fund Drive Begins Here

The 1979 Kiss A Baby Week Campaign of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation begins Sept. 17, in the Abernathy area, and Chairman Maxine Settle is asking volunteers to donate their time to fund raising activities.

"I'm looking for people who can give a little of their time so that millions of lives and finding a cure for C/F." These programs include support for more than 100 Cystic Fibrosis Centers across the nation which provide diagnosis, treatment and referral to children suffering from asthma, chronic bronchitis, "childhood emphysema," and recurrent pneumonia, as well as cystic fibrosis.

"In addition to finding a cure for C/F," said Mrs. Settle, "researchers are hoping to find a test to detect carriers of the C/F gene, and also a method of diagnosing the disease at birth. Early diagnosis and treatment helps extend and improve lives."

"In 1955, when the C/F Foundation was established, most children with C/F died before reaching 3 years of age. Now, more than 50 percent can be expected to live past age 19. But, we want to make it possible for all children with cystic fibrosis to live normal, full lives." Volunteers can help, she added, by giving of their time to support the giving of the most precious gift of all--the breath of life.

Dr. Delwin Webb Was Moderator For Tax Seminar July 26

(By Jacquelyn Smyers) Lubbock officials asked Abernathy school superintendent Dr. Delwin Webb to moderate a seminar on tax relief legislation Thursday, July 26, in Lubbock Convention Center Banquet Room. In introductory remarks, Dr. Webb termed it an "awareness conference" and outlined some of the facts, problems, and questions about the legislation.

Representatives of Lubbock County taxing bodies attended the seminar. Members of the discussion panel were John Brooks, Lubbock city-school tax assessor-collector; Lynn Stafford, Lubbock school board member; Don Taylor, Roosevelt school superintendent; Charles Hohertz, Shallowater school superintendent; Frank Guess, Lubbock county clerk; and Carolyn Jordan, Lubbock city council member.

Tax relief hinges on three pieces of legislation: Bill #1060, which Dr. Webb says is really a tax roll back; #350, the school finance bill, and #621, which spells out what happens to property taxes in the state. The discussion and questions centered mainly on #621.

The legislation is supposed to simplify taxes and make them more equitable all over the state. Instead of each city, town, and school district setting and collecting its own taxes, one body will do it for all. The system will be administered by a five member board of directors, serving two year terms, elected by the taxing bodies in a county. Each taxing body will be allotted a percent of the votes according to what percent of the total taxes it imposes.

The board of directors will hire personnel to handle the taxes or designate an existing tax office to do it. Expenses for the operation will be paid by each participating taxing body according to its percent of the total tax levy.

A three member appraisal review board appointed by the board of directors will perform the same function for all taxing bodies as separate boards of equalization did before.

Counties are not now required to combine taxing operations with other taxing groups within each county but can if the county commissioners want to. Some discussion points to future legislation requiring counties to participate. Hale County Commissioners voted to participate shortly before the death of County Judge Henry Heck.

Hospital and water districts must participate but have no vote on the board. At the conference, a representative of a water district complained that the system is taxation without representation. A discussion ensued about loss of local control.

Carolyn Jordan said the state is sure to put out a guidance manual on the system which will tend to standardize everything. Another panel member said Texas has always had an unusual amount of local control of taxes compared to other states.

Protest Brought To School Board Meeting

The incredibly long August meeting of Abernathy School Board included a 30 person protest of a coach's schedule for the coming year. A board member's objections to decisions made last month about school improvements, and a discussion of use of school facilities by Abernathy Junior Basketball Association.

It took the board four and a half hours to consider these matters and one other. The prospect of 14 or so more were too much for the Review reporter who went home to bed at 12:30 AM, feeling sorry for all three school principals and Richard DuBose who had to stay until their turns on the agenda.

The meeting reportedly ended about 3:30 AM. We regret that only the first part of the following account is from first hand observation.

COACH'S SCHEDULE

The 30 people who attended the meeting were concerned because varsity girls basketball coach Diana Lewis isn't scheduled to work with junior high basketball girls this year. They contend that her help with this age group is vital to a continued successful girls basketball program in high school.

Gale (Mrs. Jimmie) Davis, mother of three girls, spoke for the 30 describing in most complimentary terms Coach Lewis' ability, concern for, and unusual rapport with the girls. She and other parents named ways their girls have benefited under Lewis' guidance, not only in athletics but in character building, conduct, and values.

Several questions arose. One was whether or not the other high school coaches even want to work with junior high. Another was how the junior high coaches feel about the situation. Colleen Miller, whose daughter was in junior high basketball, said Coach Lewis makes it plain to the junior high girls that Coach Cox is in charge, that she is there only to help prepare them for high school athletics.

In comparisons of teacher work loads, board member Jerry Oswald mentioned band director George Riddell who has the entire load in the band program. The discussion shied away from that area.

About hiring another coach, several board and administration representatives mentioned the shortage of coaches saying they tried hard to hire a most qualified young man last spring but couldn't interest him. Many good teachers can't afford to teach anymore when they can do so much better financially in other fields.

The visiting group didn't seem satisfied with the meeting and asked board members to state their opinions individually.

Richard Howard said he wants to know how something will affect the entire situation for all 1100 kids and the administration before making any decision but when it comes time to vote, he will vote for two of the kids, not just one or two groups.

He also asked, "Do the citizens of Abernathy want to increase the athletic budget enough to hire more coaches?"

Bob Riley said he wants an opportunity to work on it. Jerry Oswald, who has an enthusiastic girl basketball player, credited Coach Lewis with the good program but said the primary thing is not to make a hasty decision. He said the board has confidence in the school administration to work out the best situation to benefit the whole program. He expressed appreciation for the people's interest but added the board can't take one problem, because there are many, but they hope to make a satisfactory arrangement for most people. He said athletics must be a complement to the basics.

"We ain't against ya," commented David Pinson to the visitors. He mentioned that his son is on the cross country team coached by Lewis. "We'll give it our best lick here and come up with something fair and equitable, I promise you," McKenzie said he agreed with Fondy and Pinson 100%. Dr. Webb admitted the best way to work out com-

USDA Expands Loan Availability For High-Moisture Corn, Sorghum

Farmers who grow corn and sorghum will no longer have to dry the grain to become eligible for government farm-stored loans under a program announced August 3, 1979, by Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland. This is in response to requests initiated in 1977 by Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

In the original request for this provision, Elbert Harp, GSPA's Executive Director stated that drying was an unnecessary and expensive procedure, both in money and fuel for farmers. Until this provision, farmers had to dry grain to acceptable levels in order to be eligible for government loans. Bergland said this decision would save farmers both energy and money.

Any producer in compliance with feed grain program provisions will be eligible to apply for such corn and sorghum loans. Loan applications and program details are available at county offices of the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Under a pilot program begun last October, farmers in 28 counties in 10 states have been eligible for these loans. This action expands the program nationwide.

Farm-stored loans on high moisture corn and sorghum will be issued at the loan rate in effect for the county where the crop is stored. However, for every one percent that the moisture level exceeds the planned scheduling problems is with more personnel but explained the availability problem. He said there were 150 coaching vacancies at the boys coaching school this summer.

USE OF FACILITIES

When A. L. Stone, Jr., president of Abernathy Junior Basketball Association, asked the board to approve the usual arrangements which allow the group to use school facilities for games and practices, board president Harrison asked if Stone was aware of the custodial charge associated with use of school facilities and that the association has not paid them the past two years. Stone replied he was aware of the charge but was told the group didn't need to pay it. He declined to say who told him that.

When the matter of property damage and fees for the spring area JBA tournament came up, Stone and West Texas JBA president Larry Griffin insisted that was paid. Dr. Webb said the school has no records of it and the JBA secretary wasn't present. School business manager Earl Carter checked and found charges of $184.65 custodial charge for the tournament plus $33 property damage (replacement of tissue holders in restrooms and paper clean-up).

McKenzie suggested that considering the JBA's gift of camera to the school, the school drop the whole thing and start over with proper billing next season. Howard however said board policy states that all groups must compensate the school for use so it couldn't be dropped.

Fondy pointed out that it seems to be a communication problem—the association is willing to pay if the school lets them know how much. He suggested they let the JBA use of facilities continue as usual for the '79-80 school year and that the school send a bill to the JBA. McKenzie abstained from the otherwise unanimous vote.

Harrison explained to those present that the board policy on school use is set up to protect school facilities.

TRACK AND RENOVATION

Architect Herbert Brasher presented more details on the all weather track agreed upon last month's board meeting. Then Richard Howard, who was not present last month, said he is not sure the track is a priority item and asked about other things like the proposed building and perhaps spending money on teacher salaries to attract personnel.

Fondy explained that the consensus at the last meeting was to build the track and renovate the oldest building with money already available, then call a bond election for the other projects.

Howard was concerned about the public's reaction to these plans, especially since last fall when the Sunshine Group asked to use the old building for meetings, the board said it needed to be demolished. Someone pointed out that they had since gotten a professional opinion.

They discussed at length how the track and renovation might affect an eventual bond election for improvements. Fondy pointed out that Abernathy had to host the UIL track meet at Tulia last year for lack of a proper facility here but said he's open to increases in teacher salaries, too.

Pinson said Howard's comment on teacher salaries is very timely but was pleased with the board's agreement last month. He said there's almost a traffic jam of joggers at the present track at 6 AM and that, in long range planning, the renovation is super priority.

Brasher presented plans for the renovation of the old building, making half for offices, and leaving the half unfinished for other activities and later remodeling. The board wondered if this unfinished half is needed and questioned elementary principal Gid Adkisson who said it is not now needed for classrooms but it can be used for other things. They also discussed the fact that "babies are coming back" and schools may again be concerned with where to put them.

Fondy cut short the rehashing with a motion to go ahead as planned with money already available but the financing plan laid out last month by Dr. Webb collapsed in a quandary about whether to vote to use the money now or after the budget is approved. Webb said it all boils down to bookkeeping procedures but nobody ever clearly explained the problem. Finally Fondy restated his motion and all voted to instruct Brasher to proceed with plans for the track and renovation, and nothing concrete was said about when to allocate the money.

BOND ISSUE

Bond advisor Bob Davis presented figures and explanations on the school's possibilities in the bond market and on its effect on taxes. The next step was discussed a long time but several board members weren't ready to do anything definite about a bond election because they didn't feel the board is decided enough on the projects. They finally asked Davis to come back again September 5.

McKenzie summed up the confusion saying, "We have lots of homework to do before we can decide whether or not to call an election and when."

LOTS MORE

The rest of the meeting will have to be covered when the minutes are complete.

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

A man was sick, awfully sick, and he consulted his family doctor. After a careful examination, the doctor said, "The best thing for you, sir, is to give up smoking and drinking."

"Sir," he asked, "what's the next best thing?"

The greatest enemy of the best is not the worst, it is the next best thing. Be your best for the Lord every minute of the day, every day of the week, every week of the month, and every month of the year.

Do not be content to be just an ordinary Christian. If you are going to be a Christian, be an extraordinary Christian.

Do not be content to give the Lord a portion of your life. Give Him all of your life.

Too many eat the meat of their lives and give the Lord the bone. They enjoy the bread of their lives, but give the Lord the crumbs. They delight in the apple of their lives, and give the Lord the core.

Give the Lord all there is of you, from the top of your head to the tip of your toe. Give Him your best, and He will give you His best.
