

City Council Acts On Business Items Monday

The Abernathy City Council met for their regular session meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss several items of business.

Council members not present for the meeting were Jerry Givens and A.C. Harris.

Assistant Fire Marshall

Fire Chief Lindsey Webb came before the Council to discuss the appointment of an Assistant Fire Marshall for Abernathy.

Webb voiced his and others opinions that there is a need for an Assistant Fire Marshall for Abernathy to help investigate causes of fires when the Fire Marshall is not able to, and to carry on other duties to the community and fire department.

The council, after discussing the proposal, decided to amend an article in the City Code Book in order to make it possible to make the Fire Marshall appointment for one year. It was also decided that the duties of this position would be designated. It was decided that an Assistant Fire Marshall would not be needed after this designation.

The council then discussed the annual fire school at Texas A&M to be held next week, Monday through Friday. Firemen Richard Boyles, Charles Bowen, and Ray Sanders will represent Abernathy at this school. Each person attending will receive a salary and their expenses will be paid by the City.

By sending three men to the training school, Abernathy will receive a cheaper insurance coverage rate. Presently the rate is 27 cents per $100 coverage of City property.

The only paid fireman is Oris Cecil, the Fire Marshall, who receives $25 a month. It is his responsibility to investigate the cause of fires as well as potential fire hazard areas.

Water Tap At Airport

Marvin Stephens confronted the Council about acquiring a 2" water tap from the main city line for the airport.

The request was for raw water, not chlorinated and that it would be used for agricultural spraying.

The council decided that Stephens should go ahead and finance the cost of putting the 2" tap to the airport, but that he would be paid back by getting future city water costs free from the city until fully reimbursed. The airport is on city property and the 2" tap will be owned by the city after implemented. Stephens will be charged the out-of-town rate.

Pool Hall Application

An application submitted earlier by Felix Cervantez at the June meeting for a pool hall, at 921 Ave. D, was then discussed.

Questionnaires were sent to several businesses in the area that would be directly or indirectly affected by the pool hall. All that were returned were opposed to a pool hall at this location. The permit will not be issued.

The council then considered the resolution approving step one of the sewer facility plan. It was approved immediately.

Airport Lease

The Abernathy Airport is presently leased by Max Crowell. The airport is leased every 5 years at $7,500 with payments of $1,500 a year.

Crowell's payment for this year was due July first. The board reviewed this oversight and decided to contact Crowell.

Bollinger-Segers-Gilber and Moss were reappointed auditors for Abernathy for 1981.

Designation of Library

An ordinance accepting the designation of the Abernathy library as a community library as authorized by the Texas State Library Commission was passed. It was also decided by council members that the library be designated a City-County Public Library under the Library Systems Act of 1969.

This will secure federal funds of $1,200 each year to the Abernathy Library allotted to libraries under the Library Systems Act of 1969.

The meeting ended after a lien was approved for the demolition of a sub-standard structure located at lot 7 and the north half of lot 8 and block 15.

"Jaws Of Life" Purchased

A "Jaws of Life" tool was purchased following the Abernathy 4th of July celebration from the Hearst Tool Company of New Braunfels.

The model purchased was the 32-A, the largest Jaws tool made and the last one the company had in stock.

The total cost of the Jaws tool was $10,411. Also purchased to go with the Jaws tool was a Model O Cutter and a Model 60 Ram. Other accessories such as hoses and tips were purchased amounting to an extra cost of $298.

At the 4th of July luncheon, 658 persons were served. $500 of the money made at the luncheon was donated to the Jaws as well as 10% of the profits of all booths.

Tommie Lane also collected several hundred dollars by passing around a container at the Jaws demonstration July 4. The Abernathy Fire Department contributed a large amount through raffle tickets, collecting and personal contributions.

The Lubbock County Commissioners Court offered to purchase half of a smaller Jaws unit which would have cost approximately $5 thousand. The $2500 they offered was not used to purchase the Jaws or accepted by Abernathy.

Cars used in the Jaws demonstration July 4 were donated by Ray Sanders and Harrell's Wrecking Service.

Sewage Improvements To Exceed $490 Thousand

A public hearing was held June 25 in the Abernathy City Hall for the purpose of discussing the proposed improvements to the City's wastewater collection, treatment and disposal system. Another purpose of the hearing was to discuss the potential environmental impacts of the project and alternatives to it.

The public hearing was the last in a series of public meetings held over the facility planning process. The public hearing was attended by five members of the general public and three representatives of the consulting engineers.

Representatives of the consulting engineers presented the results of the Step 1 planning study which primarily included the components necessary to upgrade the existing treatment plant. These included improvements to the existing main lift station, as well as the construction of a flow measuring device, a bar screen renovation of an existing Imhoff tank, construction of a facultative pond, site improvements and purchase and refurbishing of an existing play lake.

The total amount of land to be purchased including the play lake is approximately 45 acres. The effluent will continue to be utilized for irrigation of adjacent agricultural land.

Cost estimates were presented which indicated the total project cost is estimated to be $490,070 with the local share approximately $73,510. Estimated monthly operation and maintenance costs are $2,015.

No comments, criticisms, or suggestions regarding any aspect of the project were made by those present.

Throughout the Step 1 Project an attempt was made to obtain public input into the planning process. Notices of public meetings and responsiveness summaries of each of those meetings were mailed to each of the approximately twenty-six people on the mailing list developed at the beginning of the study.

Notices of each of the meetings were published in the local newspaper at least forty-five days prior to the meeting and information regarding the project was made available to the public at City Hall.

Copies of the Facility Plan and Environmental Information Document were transmitted to nine federal, state and local agencies for review and comments prior to the public hearing,

He became eligible to be considered for the scholarship after competing at the Regional and State U.I.L. Science contests.

He plans to attend Texas Tech this fall and major in Chemistry.

Abernathy Using 750 Thousand Gallons Water A Day

During the hot summer months, Abernathy uses 725 to 750 thousand gallons of water every day. Abernathy wells pump 550 gallons a minute to meet local demand.

There are approximately 1100 metered customers receiving water from the City. The minimum charge for this water each month is $6 for 3 thousand gallons. It is an extra $1.25 per thousand gallons after this 3 thousand minimum is achieved.

Compared to what other towns pay, Abernathy water is higher than Tulia water. Tulia citizens pay a minimum of $4 a month for 3 thousand gallons, which is one of the cheaper rates in the Panhandle. Silverton is considerably higher, where locals are charged $8 for 3 thousand gallons a month.

During the winter months, water use in Abernathy drops way down due to less people watering their gardens and fields. For instance, in January 9.8 million gallons were pumped by the city; February 9.5 million gallons were pumped; March 9.4 million gallons; April 12 million gallons; May 18 million gallons; and June 21 million gallons were pumped for city use.

City manager Rod Ellis stated that "22 million gallons will probably be pumped for July."

Four wells presently pump Abernathy water. The average depth of these wells is 300 feet. The two most recent wells were established in the summer of 1978.

The best well can pump 792 thousand gallons a day. "The city water supply is constantly monitored and kept at the safe level of 750 thousand gallons. This water is stored in two underground tanks located on 6th street near the city warehouse," Ellis said.

The city is presently making payments on a $7 thousand note for water improvement bonds received at an earlier date. "Besides this expenditure, other bills such as an electricity bill of around $2,500 has to be paid each month," Ellis said.

"A future trend will probably be higher costs for the city to recover the water that is left, thus raising prices for the consumer," Ellis added.

Don't ever get interested in a soap opera. Once you do, there is little hope of escape.

In my earlier college days, several of us just had enough time at dinner to get interested in a soap opera. This is really "in" with college students.

Everywhere you go around campus you can hear, "Why is Jessica going to become a nun?" or "I know who shot Alex Marshall." And it isn't just the young ladies, the young men are becoming equally hooked.

Do you ever wonder how soap opera got its name in the first place? Soap is a cleansing and emulsifying agent made from alkalion fat or fatty acids and consisting essentially of sodium or potassium salts of such acids.

Opera is a drama set to music and made up of vocal pieces with orchestral accompaniment and orchestral overtures and interludes. Therefore, when I hear "soap opera", I would think it should be about an orchestra taking a bubble bath.

The definitions make about as much sense as the plots do. Who ever heard of a woman that's been married 4 times, raped, severely burned, has a face lift, was almost shot to death, and presently has a daughter who can't stand her, because along with being her mother, she is also her half sister.

These people have got problems. And to think we worry about things such as how clean our car is, or having to mow the lawn.

I think I have figured out why we watch them. It makes us feel good to see other miserable people. Their problems make ours seem obsolete.

There is one point when it may be necessary to change your life or when soap operas should be taken seriously. That is at the point when you can actually identify with the problems the people who are in them experience.

A LOCAL OLD-TIMER says he's lived long enough to learn that anytime you see a help-wanted ad that stresses "great hunting and fishing," the job doesn't pay much. And, anytime you see a real estate ad that starts with "Lovely big pecan tree," then you know the house is a lemon.

PEOPLE WHO REFUSE to become involved in the problems and needs of their community are like the two men shipwrecked in a lifeboat. From their end of the boat, the pair watched as those at the other end bailed furiously to keep the boat afloat. One of the men said to the other, "Thank heaven, the hole is not in our end of the boat."

What are you doing to save your town from declining? In which end of the boat are you?

THREE-FOURTHS OF EARTH'S surface is water and one-fourth is land. It's obvious that the Good Lord intended that man should spend three times as much time fishing as plowing.

Young man: "Sir, er—that is—I would like—that is—I mean, I've been going with your daughter now for five years, and, uh, well—" and notices of the hearing were mailed to an additional eight agencies. Comments were received from six of the agencies prior to the public hearing.

Father: "Well, what do you want, a pension?"

Overall, a total of twenty-one citizens attended the three public hearings held during the planning process. Since all of the meetings were held concurrently with the regularly scheduled City Council meetings, the elected officials were present at each meeting. However, little response was received from members of the general public.

Post Office Handles Large Amounts Of Mail

While checking through a July, 1941, Abernathy Weekly Review, we came across a report of postal receipts for the first half of that year. From January through June, 1941, receipts at Abernathy post office amounted to $2,383.97. Postmaster George Ragland announced at that time.

From January through June 1981 postal receipts at Abernathy post office show a total of $231,609.31 in across-counter transactions, according to Ken D. Moreland, the current postmaster.

Postmaster Moreland assembled some other figures for the first half of 1981: city mail carriers delivered 460,039 pieces of mail; rural route mail carriers delivered 214,276 pieces of mail, and 343,706 pieces of mail went to patrons who have post office boxes.

The total for all methods of delivery is 1,017,021 pieces of incoming mail handled through the Abernathy post office for the first six months of 1981. There is no figure for the number of out-going pieces of mail handled here. "And this has been done by the six postal employees here," Postmaster Moreland added.

Approximately 6,600 pieces of mail are handled at the post office each day, 304 days a year.

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

God's Law is one of His greatest gifts to us and one of our greatest treasures. But His Law is not just for our own good; it is to be used in the service of others. It is given to us as a people, the people of God. If we observe the Law, this will give evidence of God's wisdom and intelligence to others who do not know the Lord, our God. We are to share and to pass on the wisdom we have received. Jesus played a unique part in the passing of this Law. He came not to abolish it, but to bring it to perfection. He raised the observance of Law to a new level by insisting on love and not just obedience as the needed motivation for law-keepers. And He taught us that one of the measuring rods of greatness or littleness in God's kingdom is how faithful we are in observing the Law and teaching God's commands to others.

Mrs. Barry Royal

Wendy Stribling, Barry Royal Exchange Vows

Miss Wendy Stribling and Barry Royal exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony Saturday, June 27 at the First United Methodist Church. Condé Billingsley, minister of the Abernathy Church of Christ, officiated.

The bride wore a white gown of sheer organza and chantilly lace. The moulded bodice featured a Queen Anne neckline defined in a rose pattern chantilly lace and seed pearls. Long sheer lace bishop sleeves flowed to a wide fitted lace cuff.

The empire waistline was trimmed in chantilly lace sprinkled with seed pearls in the center front. The empire waistline swept to the full three layer skirt forming a chapel length train.

The body was designed in three layers with each layer edged in chantilly lace. The entire train was completely encircled in the matching lace.

To complete her ensemble the bride wore a white double-layer silk illusion veil. The veiling was caught with a beaded capulet featuring a Juliet style, which was covered in chantilly lace.

Each layer of the fingertip veil was edged in chantilly lace and fell to a rolled edge.

The maid of honor was Kim Stribling, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Sherryle Maddox, Melissa Phifer, cousins of the bride, Rhonda Royal, sister of the groom, and Jorene Hobgood and Cindy Gragg.

The attendants wore identical gowns of burgandy knit and chiffon. The criss-cross bodice featured double spaghetti straps. From an empire waistline the accor-dian pleated skirt swept to floor length. A matching chiffon capelet topped the gown.

Flower girls were Mellia Lester and Disiree Lester, cousins of the bride. They wore pink dresses matching the attendants.

Ring bearer was Linc Lutrick.

Cody Jones and Steve Royal served as candle lighters.

Best man was Gary McKenzie. Groomsmen were Kelly Mills, Warren Meeks, brother of the bride, Kenny Grant, Joe Jack Connell and Steve Royal, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Bettie Hardin, Mrs. Don Fondy and Mr. Toby Barrick provided the music. Lisa Mills registered guests.

A reception followed in fellowship hall. Piano music was provided by Mrs. Bettie Hardin.

The bride's table was covered with a pink lace tablecloth accented with crystal appointments. Featured was the four tiered wedding cake with a fountain and three sweet heart cakes. The cake was decorated with a large bouquet of red roses and pink carnations.

The groom's table was covered with a beige colored cloth. Coffee was served from a silver service and a German chocolate cake was featured.

Those serving at the bride's table were Becki Lutrick, Dana Bryant and Rhonda Bradley. Serving at the groom's table were Shari Connell and Mary Harkey.

Margie Phifer and Robin Lester passed out roses filled with rice.

Those serving in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lovelace, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hobgood, Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Runnels, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Huffaker and Mr. and Mrs. Don McKenzie.

The couple and wedding party were honored with a rehearsal dinner in the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dub Royal. Special guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Condé Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hardin, Don Fondy, Mr. and Mrs. Waymon Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Lester, Mr.

and Mrs. Jimmy Lester, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lutrick, Zanette Elkins and Wilma and Bruce Stribling.

The couple went to Red River, New Mexico, on their wedding trip. They are presently living in Abernathy.

Sharp Family Reunion July 11 And 12

Thirty-seven family members gathered at the Abernathy Community Center to enjoy an old-fashioned Texas bar-be-que and all the trimmings.

Each member was asked to wear a name tag, the person with the most unique tag won a prize. The winners were Mr. and Mrs. George Sharp of New Deal.

Each member was asked to bring an old picture of themselves, it was really a lot of fun trying to guess whose picture belonged to what person. I only guessed three people - looks sure change as time goes on.

Sunday, everyone attended church services at the First United Methodist in Abernathy. Ever try to get ready for church when there are only twenty seven people in one house and only two bathrooms?

After church, a salad luncheon was served in the fellowship hall. It was enjoyed by all, except some of the smaller children; one of the children came up to me and said, "All grownups like salads, but not me - yuk."

Everyone went home and tried to get a little rest before Sunday evening's supper. We had fresh corn and what a sight to see when there are eleven small children shucking corn. It was their first time to see corn in the husk.

One little boy asked me "Aunt Helen, does worms live in corn?"

The children were really disappointed, we couldn't find a horned toad. Never the less, we all enjoyed visiting and especially seeing some with less "hair" and some with larger "waistline". It was fun and we all really enjoyed it.

Those attending were Rev. and Mrs. J.H. Sharp, Abernathy; Mrs. Ora V. Smith and Vivian, Ben Lomond Calif.; Billy and Lanette Willig, Erzell W. and Berye Brooks, Bruce and Darlene Willig, all of San Angelo; Rev. J.B. and Bobbie Sharp, Susan Sharp and Paul Sharp, all of Santa Fe New Mexico; Ken and Ann Murphy, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Jim Sharp III, Dallas; Laurence Weed and children, Colorado Springs, Colo.; George and Helen Sharp, New Deal, Dean and Rhonda Nelson, Anchorage, Alaska; David and Doug Nelson, Bain Is., Washington; R.C. and Grace Bishop, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Russ and Helen Swass, San Ramon, Calif.; Bryon and Gary Rodriquez, San Ramon, Calif.; Matthew and Julie Graham, Wibley Is., Washington.

Wedding Date Changed

Ranae Riddles and Franklin Rippitoe have changed their wedding date to September 5 at 8:00 p.m. in the First Baptist Church.

Rippitoe sustained a knee injury when the door of a Coke truck he was opening blew against his knee during a dust storm. Rippitoe required extensive surgery with three incisions to repair his knee.

He will be on crutches for the next three weeks and will hopefully be off of them before the wedding.

A New Focus On Joint Surgery

EDITORS NOTE: THIS ARTICLE WAS SUBMITTED TO THE REVIEW BY MRS. M. M. BELL. IT WAS SENT TO HER FROM A FRIEND LIVING IN LOS ANGELES WHO HAD THIS SURGERY. THE ARTICLE IS BORROWED.

Knee pain has more than 50 causes, but a viewing tool improves diagnosis and aids surgeons

Six years ago, Paul Buchanan, now a 26-year-old graduate student at the University of Chicago, suffered a torn left knee cartilage while he was playing soccer. The repair operation, which involved opening up the knee through a 4-inch incision, required general anesthesia, four days of hospitalization and six weeks of slow recovery. It was three months before he could play again.

A few months ago, Buchanan, who plays with the West Indies Jets in the amateur National Soccer League, had the same problem in his right knee. This time he watched on a TV screen as the surgeon, Dr. S. David Stulberg of the University of Chicago Medical Center, looked into the knee with a small viewing instrument inserted through a 1/4-inch incision and, working through the instrument and two 1/2-inch incisions, did the repair. He was home in a few hours, out walking in three days, and back playing soccer a few weeks later.

"A marvelous procedure," he says. So does Mrs. Jean Wozniak, a 65-year-old Chicago housewife. Three years ago, because of agonizing arthritis, she underwent six weeks of hospitalization and total replacement of one knee.

Last December, the other knee became severely affected. Instead of replacement, abnormal, inflamed, overgrown tissue was cleaned out of the knee with the aid of the viewing instrument. She was back on her feet, free of pain, in a week.

The innovative surgical technique is called arthroscopic surgery—after the viewing device, the arthroscope, a primitive version of which was first employed in Japan as a diagnostic tool in 1917.

Today's arthroscope is a needle-like metal instrument 1.7 to 6 inches long and 2 to 6 millimeters wide, with a fiberoptic light source inside. Once inserted into a joint through a puncture no more than 1/4-inch long, often using only local anesthesia, the scope can be moved about to show the interior from various vantage points. It even can be hooked up to a television screen for the viewing.

The arthroscope has greatly increased knowledge of the knee's internal structure as well as the accuracy of diagnoses. The knee is subjected to everyday stress and strain and subject to arthritic and other disease processes.

Says Dr. Dinesh Patel of Harvard Medical School: "There are more than 50 different reasons for knee pain, only a few of which can be pinpointed by radiologic means." Use of the arthroscope, according to Dr. Marty Ivey of the University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston, has helped to raise diagnostic accuracy today to 98 percent, in conjunction with other tests, reducing the incidence of unnecessary surgery.

The instrument's first major operative use was for sports-related injuries. In conventional open-knee surgery—called arthrotomy—wide 3- to 6-inch incisions are needed. A lot of tissue is cut and healing is slow. Convalescence can require many weeks or months of hobbling around on crutches and canes. That can mean loss of vital muscle tone and coordination, which then have to be laboriously regained.

With arthroscopy's 1/4-inch puncture cuts—one for the scope, two or three others for slim surgical tools for cutting and grabbing from different angles—a damaged piece of cartilage (by far the most common knee injury) can be snipped away from the healthy area and, since it is pliable tissue, plucked out of one of the tiny incisions. Commonly, the patient is home the same day and soon is fully active again. Many pro ballplayers are back in the game within two to three weeks.

Arthroscopic surgery now is being used for amateur athletes as well as pros and for others with knee problems. There has been a sharp increase in the number of injuries related to sports and the fitness boom, with knees high on the list of affected areas. Upward of 223,000 knee operations a year are performed in the United States.

Milwaukee orthopedic surgeon James F. Guhl, in a report to the American Orthopaedic Society for Sports Medicine, told of a 95 percent success rate in more than 100 arthroscopic operations for torn cartilage performed on Milwaukee high school and university athletes and on a number of middle-aged recreational athletes.

Arthroscopic surgery is not without controversy. Critics believe that conventional open-knee surgery is better because it can remove all of the cartilage when a portion is torn, minimizing the chances of future complications from undetected tears.

Advocates, however, say this risk is minimal—and leaving the healthy tissue intact while removing only the damaged portion allows the cartilage to continue to function as a stabilizer, distributor of weight, and lubricator. Some believe that arthroscopic surgery actually may reduce the incidence of complications. Says Dr. Patel of Harvard: "Because the procedure is relatively new, we don't know the long-range results as yet, but they're not likely to be any worse than the results of conventional surgery. And we have good reason to believe they'll be better."

It now appears that arthroscopic surgery may be of significant help to arthritis sufferers. At the University of Chicago Medical Center, Dr. Stulberg has used it for 60 osteoarthritis and 25 rheumatoid arthritis patients.

Osteoarthritis involves wearing away of cartilage, which can't be restored. But other changes often take place. There may be localized synovitis—inflammation of the synovial membrane, which produces a lubricating fluid for joint surfaces. In some cases, there may be loose bodies—bits of broken-off bony spurs or other structures—that cause pain.

First used for sports-related injuries, arthroscopic surgery now is also aiding arthritis sufferers and others with knee afflictions

"With the arthroscope," says Dr. Stulberg, "it's possible to determine what is causing discomfort, and if it is localized synovitis, we can remove that area of inflamed tissue, or if it is a loose body, we can remove it."

"We're not getting rid of the arthritis, but we very often can help relieve symptoms, and many people can resume a fairly reasonable level of activity, perhaps avoiding or postponing the time when they may need joint replacement."

In rheumatoid arthritis, in which inflammation is a cardinal disease element, much or all of the synovium may become inflamed and swollen, to the point of distending the joint, stretching and damaging ligaments and tendons, and eventually leading to deformity. Removal of the synovium may help.

"In my experience," says Dr. Stulberg, "arthroscopic surgery is very useful here. To remove inflamed synovium through the open knee is a good-sized operation, with bleeding and a fair amount of morbidity, stiffness and discomfort afterward. With the arthroscope, not only is all of this reduced, but you can get into and out of corners much more easily, putting your instruments into areas you might not see with open surgery. So I think it's the way to go."

Arthroscopy is also being used by some surgeons, including Dr. Stulberg, for ankle, hip, shoulder and wrist problems similar to those of the knee.

"The exciting part," says Dr. Stulberg, "is that we are just at the beginning of the development of tools and techniques to do much more with arthroscopy. I'm thinking, for example, of the many people who, as they get older, suffer joint aches and pains, especially when they're active—playing tennis, for example. Not severe enough to make them want to have major things done. But if there could be simple, surgical relief, with no morbidity, no complications, they'd welcome it."

Holly Shafer Third In Roping Contest

Hale County 4-H'ers who participated included Holly Shafer of Abernathy Club who placed third in Break Away Roping and eighth in Barrels, and Leslea Bivins of Plainview who placed fifth in Halter and eighth in Reining. Clifton and Colbie Pinnell, Plainview, also competed at the District Horse Show.

County Agent Ollie Liner served as Public Relations Coordinator for the Show. Billy Warrick was a flagman at the Show.

Judge of the Show was Doug Shores, County Extension Agent-Agriculture, Harris County, Houston.

Free EKG Clinic

How long has it been since you had an EKG run? Perhaps you have never had this important diagnostic test performed. An EKG records the electrical impulses that stimulate the heart. It is valuable in detecting many body weaknesses.

Community Hospital of Lubbock, 5301 University, is offering a free EKG Clinic Thursday, July 23rd. Between the hours of 1:00 and 3:00 p.m. technicians will be on hand to give this test. It is painless and takes about five minutes of your time.

All EKG's will be read and analyzed by Dr. S. Patel. There is absolutely no charge for this service. For further information and to register, call Frankie Faver at the hospital - 795-9301.

LAKEVIEW PHILOSOPHER

He'll Believe Tax Cut
When He Sees It

Editor's note: The Lakeview Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses a tax cut this week, in his own way.

The big talk in Washington these days is about a tax cut. To me, a tax cut is like a forecast of rain during a prolonged drought. I'll believe it when I see it happening.

If two inches show up in my rain gauge, I know it's happened. Unless some joker poured that much in overnight to make me feel good.

Come to think of it, that's about the way most tax cuts work out. Cut income taxes and raise Social Security taxes and the price of gasoline.

But what got me started on this was a statement by a Washington economist. He said a tax cut won't stop inflation. "The people won't save their tax cuts," he said, "they'll just spend it and add fuel to the inflationary fires."

If you followed this reasoning a little further, it'd mean the way to whip inflation is to raise taxes so high nobody could buy much of anything.

On the whole, I believe most people could handle a tax cut about as well as the government handles tax revenue — spend it as fast as it comes in. Except in the government's case, it spends it faster than it comes in. This is an opportunity unavailable to most of us. While Congress, seeing it's spending more than it has and is head over heels in debt, can worm out by raising the debt ceiling, you try that on your banker and see what happens.

Just the other day Congress found itself in that shape and automatically, Republicans and Democrats alike, voted to raise the debt ceiling by 50 billion dollars, explaining that otherwise the government would be bankrupt. There must be lots of people in this country who could avoid bankruptcy too if they could keep borrowing money forever.

This makes it clear that the way to avoid economic collapse is to give everybody the right to raise his debt ceiling. Where do you apply?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

COTTON TODAY
A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

TRADE TEAM NAMED: A trade team will depart August 7 for two weeks of contacts with U.S. cotton customers in Taiwan, The Philippines, Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, and Bangladesh.

These countries imported almost 1.4 million U.S. bales in 1979-80 and as of June 25 are committed to purchase almost a million bales this marketing year.

The team is sponsored by Cotton Council International and USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service. Members are William C. Tharp, Las Cruces, N.M., and Winford McGehee, Memphis, representing American Cotton Shippers Assn.; Bruce Groefsema, Bakersfield, Calif., AMCOT; Charles R. Bell, ginner, Phoenix; Jack Wilson, warehouseman, Phoenix; Kenneth A. Howland, Washington, D.C., USDA/FAS; and John Maguire, Hong Kong, CCI.

COTTON NURSERY TO MOVE: The winter cotton nursery, established in 1950 by the National Cotton Council at Iguala, Mexico, will begin its 32nd year of service to the American cotton industry next month.

The operation is moving to the experiment station at Tecoman, Mexico, near the west coast city of Manzanillo.

For the season just ended, 46 private and public plant breeders used the service. Their main emphasis was on hybrids, insect resistance, improved fiber and seed quality, earlier maturing varieties, and higher yields.

KOREA GETS ADDITIONAL CREDIT: The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced an additional $70 million in GSM 102 credit guarantees to Korea for cotton purchases during 1981 fiscal year. The action brought the total approved to $300 million, the amount originally requested by Korea.

FAIR TREATMENT ASKED: J.S. Francis, Jr., Phoenix, Ariz., chairman of the National Cotton Council's Clean Air Act Task Force, has asked the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee for fairer treatment of cotton gins and oil mills under the Clean Air Act.

He said these firms operate seasonally and mostly in rural area. "Yet their emissions are calculated as if they were running 24 hours a day every day in the year without any emission controls," he stated.

BY SIMPLY IMPROVING the efficiency of industrial boilers with microprocessor controls, Texas' five largest energy-consuming industries could save the equivalent of 2.5 million barrels of imported oil.

Cotton Soybean And Sorghum Report

An occasional bloom can be found in many cotton fields. A few fields have numerous blooms. Cotton fleahopper, Lygus and other plant bug populations seem to have stabilized. Square set remains high, running from 80 to 98%.

As cotton enters the bloom stage, one should be very cautious about treatments for any of the above plant bugs, since the beneficial insects and spiders may not have a chance to build up for bollworm infestations.

Moth ZV computer predictions of bollworm egg lays for this area indicate that the egg laying on cotton should start around July 12 and peak from July 22 through August 12.

It may be possible that if corn in the area is still in the silk to blister stage, many of the early emerging bollworm moths will be attracted back to corn (their preferred host).

Sorghum
Most sorghum is in the pre-boot stage. Greenbug colonies are appearing in a few fields, but no damage has been observed.

Soybeans
A pest found this past week in the Edmonson area and east of Plainview is a small long horned gray beetle known as Decetes texanus. This beetle has no accepted common name but has been called girdler, stem borer and weed borer. Several growers east of Plainview are very familiar with damage caused by this pest. This beetle emerges in late spring and early summer from stubble where the larvae overwintered.

The adult beetles lay eggs on the stems of the soybean plant and when the eggs hatch, the small larvae bore into the stem and tunnel through to the main stalk. Toward the end of the season the larvae girdle the stalk a few inches above the ground as they prepare for overwintering.

The occurrence of this pest often goes unnoticed until harvest approaches when the stalks lodge from the tunneling and girdling activity of the larvae.

Lubbock, Friday, July 10, 1981

The first dues increase in the organizations 25-year history was voted July 8 by the 50-man Board of Directors of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The action to raise combined producer and ginner from 16 cents to 25 cents per bale came after the Board adopted a $283,150 budget for 1981-82, $64,000 above total dues income from the 1980 crop.

PCG, organized in 1956, serves cotton producers in 25 High Plains counties surrounding Lubbock, providing research, market development, legislative and other services.

"The deflated value of the dollar today compared to 1956 or even 1976," PCG

President Gary Ivey of Ralls told the Board, "has brought us to the point that without additional revenue it would only take one or two disastrous crop years to destroy the financial stability and the effectiveness of our organization."

The 1981-82 budget figure was developed for the Board's approval by PCG's Finance Committee, chaired by Myrl Mitchell of Lenora in Martin County, and the dues increase was a recommendation made jointly by the Finance and Executive Committees. President Ivey chairs the Executive Committee.

Board discussion revealed that PCG dues revenue in five of the past ten years has failed to cover budgeted

Lubbock's First Fuel Alcohol Plant

Lubbock's first fuel alcohol plant went into production last week and the new industry carries with it important implications for the South Plains agricultural economy. A.R.D., Inc. composed of area business men and farmers, has spent more than a year building the prototype plant, located at 2715 Slaton Road, Lubbock, Texas.

According to A.R.D. president Bill Casey, the Lubbock pilot plant is capable of producing in excess of 500 gallons of fuel alcohol per day, with one cycle taking about 72 hours. Initial batches of the fuel alcohol will be made from outdated milo and corn planting seed acquired from Hunt Seed Co. of Lubbock. Casey says that long range plans include the using of cotton burs and gin trash for the alcohol feed stock. A.R.D. and a research task force from Texas Tech University, headed by Dr. L.D. Clements of the chemical engineering department, are participating in a grant of $179,800.00 from the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council (TENRAC) for the development of this new process.

alcohol from gin trash in the laboratory. The A.R.D. prototype plant will be used by the university for refining this new technology.

A.R.D. plans to integrate fuel alcohol production systems at area cattle feedlots, using the Lubbock plant as a model. This phase of A.R.D.'s operation is being coordinated by chairman of the board Durward W. Lewter, who built the large Lubbock feedlot in the 1950's. Lewter maintains that alcohol plants integrated into a feedlot operation are the "wave of the future" and that the time is coming when a feedlot must have an alcohol integrated program to operate economically.

GSPA AND CORN GROWERS LEGAL FUND UPDATE

BY: Elbert Harp, GSPA Executive Director

The legal fund needed to be used against the USDA went over $100,000.00 today with an additional $10,000.00 reported to us by phone or pledged but not yet received. We have deposited 377 checks from farmers, elevators, banks, savings and loan associations, feedlots and cattle breeders. They have come from Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

This proposed legal action is co-sponsored by Grain Sorghum Producers Association and Texas Corn Growers Association. It has been formally endorsed by Texas Farmers Union, Texas Women Involved in Farm Economics and Moore County Farm Bureau. Other endorsements are forthcoming. Four regional meetings have been held in the Texas High Plains. Others are scheduled for next week. One of these will be in the Texas Gulf Coast region and another in Oklahoma.

We have arrived at the July 10 deadline without reaching our goal of $250,000.00. We have talked to many of you by phone and you tell us, "Don't quit now!" I am more convinced than ever that you want us to proceed and that we will be able to raise the necessary funds. I am also more positive than ever that a legal suit is the only way for us to stop CCC from dumping surplus corn into our regional market.

This is what we have decided to do: 1. Continue collecting funds; 2. When the fund reaches $150,000.00 (probably about July 17), advise the attorneys to begin preparing the case; then 3. When the fund reaches $250,000.00, file the case. WE WILL NOT FILE THE CASE BEFORE WE HAVE ENOUGH FUNDS TO SEE IT THROUGH THE COURTS. If this plan does not meet with your approval, please contact us immediately. If you have neighbors who should be supporting this action, help us contact them. It is important for us to get this matter settled as quickly as possible.

recognition to the indispensable service provided by ginners in our dues collection system but does not deny him the opportunity to make a financial contribution as well."

What Mitchell termed the "tight" 1981-82 budget is only $9,600 above the 1980-81 budget, "barely enough to cover increases in the cost of such fixed overhead items as postage, utilities, travel, telephone, insurance, etc." In other action the Board supplemented its legislative policy by voting strong opposition to a USDA requirement that all farmers financed through the Farmers

'A Glance At The Past'

BY BUFORD F. DAVENPORT

Roaming around in years gone by takes us to Monroe/New Deal news that appeared in The Abernathy Weekly Review dated January 12, 1939.

New Deal School hosted a basketball tournament for high schools in the area, including the AHS Antelopes. Admission prices to games in the tournament were 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for students.

P.M. Jeffcoat, who operated a grocery and service station in Monroe, reported seeing Tommy guns in customers' cars on two separate occasions. The first incident came a few months before the recent one.

When he took cold drinks and candy ordered by occupants of a car that stopped at his place, he noticed a Tommy gun between the two occupants of the front seat. When they realized that Jeffcoat had seen the gun, they told him to keep quiet and that they were not planning to hurt him.

The more recent incident, he noticed the Tommy gun while servicing a car bearing California license plates and occupied by a man and a woman. The man asked, and Jeffcoat assured him that he had very little money at the station/store, and the pair left without further incident.

School Superintendent A.L. Faubion and trustees O.W. Moore and Odie Hamilton attended an administrative conference in Austin.

Rev. W.K. Horn preached at Monroe Baptist Church. J.D. Thomas of Lubbock preached at the Monroe Church of Christ.

A 10x12 ft. addition has been constructed on the Guy Young building. It will house Judge Young's help self steam laundry. Four or five machines will be placed in the building.

Attending a meeting of the Monroe Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. D.A. Atkins were Mmes. J.R. West, O.W. Moore, John Harrel, R.E. Horsley, Erby Norman, Elmer Edwards, S.H. Rosson, E.J. Exum, W.E. Boyd, W.O. Fortenberry and A.L. Faubion.

Mr. Hindman bought the Virgil Howard store building in Monroe.

Emmett Lamb built a 24x24 ft. frame residence northeast of Monroe Methodist Church. The family moved there from a mile west of town.

Miss Elizabeth Brooks and John Palmore, Jr., were in charge of a joint meeting of the girls 4-H and the boys 4-H Club. New Deal vocational agriculture teacher Lawrence Shipman and family spent the Christmas holidays visiting his parents in Dublin, Texas.

Several barns and other outbuildings were blown away last Saturday night in the storm which came with the much needed rain. Among the buildings reported damaged were W.O. Fortenberry's irrigation well house, Lawrence Shipman's hen house, several barns and sheds on the Gentry farm and a milking barn belonging to L.R. Cox.

From The Abernathy Weekly Review dated July 10, 1941:

All girls or married women wishing to play baseball meet July 15 at Monroe's baseball ground at 2:30.

Monroe's baseball team defeated the Union players 10 to 2 in a game there Sunday afternoon. Mutt Harrell, Monroe player, reported.

Virgil B. Howard and W.E. Wilkinson were in New Home Sunday.

The Sam Fancher family has moved back to Monroe from north of Abernathy.

Rose Dunlap of Paris is visiting Etta Robinson.

Pumps at Demp Webster's Texaco Station were repaired last week.

From The Abernathy Weekly Review dated July 17, 1941:

Among Monroe residents who were in Hot Springs, New Mexico, last week and this week were R.E. Harvey and daughter, Lucy, Elsie James, Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Faubion and daughter, LaRuth, Joyce Hamilton, Etta Robinson and Rose Dunlap, who is visiting in Monroe from her home in Paris.

Work is progressing on the large farm home being constructed on the L.L. Watson place three miles east of Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Mutt Harrell, Mrs. Frances Howard and son, Josh, visited in Canyon Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter visited in Abilene last weekend.

W.E. Wilkinson plans to build a 20x24 ft. tile addition to the north side of his residence and laundry building. Laundry equipment is to be moved into the addition and its present location will be remodeled for a store building, Wilkinson stated.

The William Wilkinsons have moved back to Monroe from Whiteface.

Beulah Moudy of Abilene was a guest in the Guy Young home this week.

You can identify a tender summer squash. Its skin will be glossy instead of dull and the surface will not be hard. Winter squash should have a thick, tough rind.
