CHURCH LANDMARK which represents 89 years as a place of worship, is the Lakeview Methodist Church, located between Abernathy and Petersburg. Pictured is the present church building which was built in 1950. (Review Photo)

One of Hale County's oldest Methodist churches, the Lakeview Methodist Church, is and has been an asset to the Lakeview Community and the surrounding area for the past 89 years.

A church that has become a landmark in this portion of West Texas, Lakeview Methodist Church once served a thriving Lakeview community, having 100 members who once attended services.

Today, Lakeview Methodist has approximately 12 regular members and is presently seeking a pastor. Rev. HB Coggin retired May 28 after being the pastor for the past 11 years.

Presently, Plainview District Superintendent Weldon Butler is trying to get a pastor for the church. He will give the services until a pastor is found. Services are held every first and third Sundays and on Wednesdays.

History Of The Church

The Lakeview Methodist Church originated in 1893, at a cost $1,500, with seven charter members. They were Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Ragland, Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Lutrick, Mr. and Mrs. John Blake and Flavus Neil.

The church was organized in March of 1893 in the Old Guy Schoolhouse, which was located seven miles northeast of the present site. Rev. R.B. Morris, circuit rider and pastor of the Epworth Circuit, organized the church and was pastor for the first several years.

In 1897, the Lakeview Church was moved to the Pearce Schoolhouse, which was near the Pearce Chapel Cemetery (Strip). Services were held at this location until 1906. At this time, a new church was built near the Old Strip Schoolhouse. Church services were held here for the next 15 years.

The church building was moved to the present location in 1922, and was used for the next 27 years. In 1922, it was the third Methodist Church to be constructed in Hale County up to this time.

New Building Constructed

In 1950, the old Lakeview Methodist Church building, which had been used since 1922, was sold to the colored congregation at Petersburg and was moved there to continue use as a house of worship.

Construction began on a new church building at the same site, (present location), in February of 1950. It was completed in July of that same year. It cost $12,000 to build. The Fellowship Hall, which was added on five years later, (1955), cost $18,000.

Items Donated

After it was completed, a new piano and other furnishings were purchased. The piano was donated by L.M. Biffle, the chairs by L.N. Lipscomb and C.A. Bickley, carpet by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Amerson, picture donated by Mrs. P. W. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Mitchell in honor of P.W. and Don Mitchell, large bible by Mrs. Ben Kelly in honor of Ben Kelly, communion set donated by Mr. and Mrs. B.A. McDougal and Rev. O.A.

Graden, picture of Christ in fellowship hall by Mrs. N. Matthews in honor of Norman Matthews. The pews were from the old church building.

Clayton Enger was appointed Secretary and Treasurer of the building committee and S.M. Harrison the building supervisor. Rev. Graden preached the first sermon in the new church building.

The following is a list of the pastors that preached at the church from 1893-1962 and the years they were pastor: R.M. Morris 1893-1898; J.T. Bloodworth 1898; A.H. Hussey 1906-1907; Rev. Houston-Cannon Perform Well In All Star Games

Two of Abernathy's outstanding players performed well in the All Star games played in Houston July 22 and 23.

Rodney Cannon played on the North All Star basketball team July 22 and Rick Houston played on the North All Star football team July 23. Both were played in the Houston Astrodome.

In basketball, the North team lost by a thin 91-92 margin. Rodney Cannon played for an entire half. He played guard and locals who attended the game praised his performance.

In the football All Star game, the North team won 7-3. Rick Houston was on this team, which had earlier been picked as the underdog.

The South football team had two All American backs on their team and the Houston and other area newspapers had played up the South team, stating that they were picked over the North team.

Rick Houston played the entire game on the defense. The North defense held the South and never allowed them a touchdown and barely one field goal.

Houston stated that the South was stopped after three downs each time they got the ball.

The South led at halftime 3-0, but the North came back to win the game by making a touchdown.

It was stated that Houston was blocked only once and gave an incredible performance the entire game.

Zig Ziglar Rep. To Speak

Mamie McCullough, with Zig Ziglar Corporation of Dallas, will give a program from 1:30 to 3:30 Tuesday afternoon at Abernathy Schools. This presentation will be of special interest to teachers.

The subject matter of the course deals with the "I can" theory. Anyone interested in boosting their self motivation should attend this program Tuesday.

Different Rain Season This Year

By this time last year, Abernathy had only received 8.69 inches of rain. This year, Abernathy has already received 12.82 inches.

Last year, the rains came late. Even though Abernathy had only received 8 inches of rain by August last year, the town ended up getting 19.30 inches by the end of the year.

This year, Abernathy was drenched with heavy rains early in the season. 12.82 inches of rain have already fallen and there is a good chance rainfall will exceed last years' amount in the next five months.

TULIA POLICE DEPARTMENT has been granted its request to organize a unit of police reserve officers, which will be limited to 30 persons.

The Tulia Police Department already has 21 applicants. Each candidate must complete a 70 hr. basic law enforcement course and be approved by both the Police Chief and the Council.

Cost of the schooling will be around $500. Each reserve officer will be expected to pay round $300 for a gun and belt and $100 for a uniform, unless the Council agrees to pay all or part of the expense.

There is no salary for the reserve officer, all work is volunteer.

It seems Tulia is going back the ways of the "old west." Sheriffs used to organize a posse to go after the bad guys. Hopefully, lynch mobs will not come back as well.

As far as Abernathy is concerned, there is probably no need for a force of police reserve officers, even though there are those who would like to take the law into their own hands. We will see how this program works for Tulia before we make anymore judgements of it.

Antelopes To Scrimmage Slaton And Frenship

The Abernathy Antelope Football Team will scrimmage Slaton August 20 and Frenship August 27.

Both games will be played out of town, (at Slaton and Frenship), and will be held on Fridays.

The first seasonal game will be held September 3 against Petersburg.

The Antelopes will have eight seniors and approximately 15 juniors to play on the team.

The Antelopes have been ranked fifth in District for the 1982 season by the "Top of Texas" football magazine. The state football magazine editors have picked Littlefield first, Muleshoe second, Friona third, Dimmitt fourth, Abernathy fifth, and Tulia sixth.

Head Football Coach Larry Aldridge stated that the Lopes were ranked fifth because of the lack of experience in having a young team.

Football Workouts Begin Monday, Physicals Due

Abernathy Antelope football workouts will begin this Monday, August 9. Physicals will also need to be completed and signed by this date.

Two-a-day workouts will be held each day for the first week, with workouts from 8 a.m. to 9:15 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Football players are required to have their physicals by Monday. They are allowed to get their physicals at the place of their choice.

Football shorts, T-shirts, athletic supporters, socks and shoes were issued to each player Wednesday.

Hi-Plains Drilling Co. To Drill Emergency Well For Tech

While most of the semi-arid plains are plagued with too little water, Texas Tech University has the problem of a campus with too much.

The university has approved a contract for Hi-Plains Drilling Co. of Abernathy, to drill an emergency well to provide a temporary solution to a rising water table under Jones Stadium where subsurface moisture could damage the AstroTurf.

The university is in the unusual situation of sitting atop an underground dome of water that has risen about 2 feet per year over the past few decades. Engineers report that other urban areas on plains terrain could be subject to the same problem and, consequently, whatever solutions Texas Tech finds will be important elsewhere.

The well to be dug in August should pump about 600 gallons per minute to drop the water level in the stadium area. Some of the water will be used for watering lawns, but for the short term the balance will be pumped to Lake No. 3 in an eight-lake chain running through the Lubbock portion of Yellow House Canyon. Eventually the stadium water would flow into the recreational Buffalo Spring Lake, also a part of the Canyon. Water in the Yellow House Canyon, or draw, eventually feeds into the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos, Texas longest river.

John Carroll, systems analyst in the Texas Tech planning office, said the quality of water under the campus "more than meets" standards set by the city for the artificial Canyon Lakes. Quality, however, is an important factor in deciding what to do in the long term about the rising water—whether the water should be put to irrigation, industrial, domestic or recreational use.

Quality is one factor of a groundwater management study undertaken by Camp Dresser & McKee Inc. (CDM) at the behest of the Texas Tech University regents. The Austin engineering company has made extensive studies of the Ogallala Aquifer which holds the water dome under the campus—the same aquifer that stretches to parts of eight Great Plains states.

"What happens in one part of the Ogallala is not always happening throughout the aquifer," Carroll cautioned. The Texas Tech problem is not unique but probably is duplicated only in some other urban areas. The water we are dealing with is not perched on top of the Ogallala although it is being held in a small area of that formation.

"Water under the ground behaves as it does on the surface," he explained, "but it could not really be seen as an underground lake, river or stream. It is held in soil and, although it seeks its own level, the underground movement is much slower than it is with free-flowing water."

Carroll said this is particularly true when the water is in clay soils like the material holding some of the dome under the campus.

"It is fairly easy to pump water out of sandy soil," he said. "If the water is in clay, you almost have to wring it out. The amount of water wells yield can decrease to a trickle rather quickly as soon as water in their immediate vicinity is pumped out. Five years later, the water may be there again; so pumping out this dome is not as easy as some might think."

Carroll explained that the well to pull water out from under Jones Stadium cannot be used to drain all parts of the campus.

"In fact, we have two wells on the main campus already pumping water to irrigate campus grounds," he said, "yet they cannot begin to solve the complex problem."

When buffalo roamed the plains, whatever water fell as rain drained into intermittent lakes called "playas" or into stream beds like the one that formed Yellow House Canyon. Some water seeped from playas into the Ogallala.

With agricultural development came irrigation. In that era, rainfall was spread over a large permeable area. Some seeped into the ground and some evaporated and some soaked back into the ground.

With the building and paving of urbanization, less area is permeable and so less water can soak into the land. Playas into which runoff flows have been modified, so that more water is concentrated in less space. This allows less evaporation. In addition, the playa modifications can increase seepage into the soil.

In Lubbock's case, the top of the underground dome of water is at a lake near Slide Road and U.S. 82 on the western edge of the city. There are only two ways to reduce the dome—pump it out or let it seep outward from the center until it finds its own level.

Engineers have discovered that the water is seeping from southwest to northeast, toward the Yellow House Canyon where it should find its natural outlet. As it reaches the canyon area, however, the underground water level is lower than the artificial lakes already in the draw.

The water behaves, Carroll said, as if it were moving up against a wall, and it flows back to increase the dome under the campus.

Once the dome builds upward to a level higher than the Canyon Lakes, springs would form in the Yellow House & water would flow naturally into the draw. By that time, however, the dome would be much higher than the stadium floor and even higher than some Texas Tech building foundations.

The reason the water is closer to the stadium floor than to most building foundations, he said, is that the campus was excavated for the stadium, putting the floor at 25.5 feet below ground level while the water level is 27.5 feet below the land surface at the stadium site.

"The well we expect to construct in August," Carroll said, "gives us management only of the Jones Stadium problem. In the long range, we have to find a cost effective, permanent water management plan."

He said that water quality over time is important. The water pumped out of the dome, to date, has a high mineral content. If it is used for irrigation and allowed to return to the Ogallala, the mineral content could increase and the quality of the aquifer could suffer. It might also, in the long term, harm plants. On the other hand, quality might improve with long-term pumping.

"We think the water would have to have some treatment for almost any use to which we put," Carroll said.

"We expect the CDM study to give us some answers, and we think our answers might well be useful to other urban areas which develop similar problems."

School Board and City Council Meet Monday

The Abernathy School Board will hold its regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. in the School Administration Building. The City Council meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the small meeting room of the City building.

Everyone is invited to sit in on either one of these meetings and see what decisions these two governing bodies will make concerning the future of Abernathy and its schools.

Mr. and Mrs. L.G. Montgomery, Doyle and other family members, had a get-together at Red River last week. Richard and Sheree and children of Farwell, came. Burt, Shelley and Von of Eastland, and Susan and Mike Breitting of Dalhart also showed up. Martha and Neil Stark and daughter of Abernathy were also present.

As I was talking to Martha on the phone, she said, "Mother, made apple pies for the trip. Jan makes a real delicious apple pie. Martha went on to say that the cabin had all the comforts of home and was plenty big to accommodate the fifteen people who came. She said they really enjoyed all being together. It rained the first day, but after that, the weather was nice, she said."

Late GTE Bill Payers Will Be Charged Extra

General Telephone business customers who do not pay their telephone bills on time, will be charged a late charge fee on past due amounts effective Aug. 4.

The charge will apply only to business customers in accordance with Public Utility Commission of Texas rules.

The fee will be equal to 5 percent of the delinquent amount. The late charge will apply if the bill is not paid by the due date shown on the bill.

James H. Davis, general manager - West Division

Operations for General, said the late pay charge is designed to place the costs associated with collecting past due business account bills on those customers causing the costs.

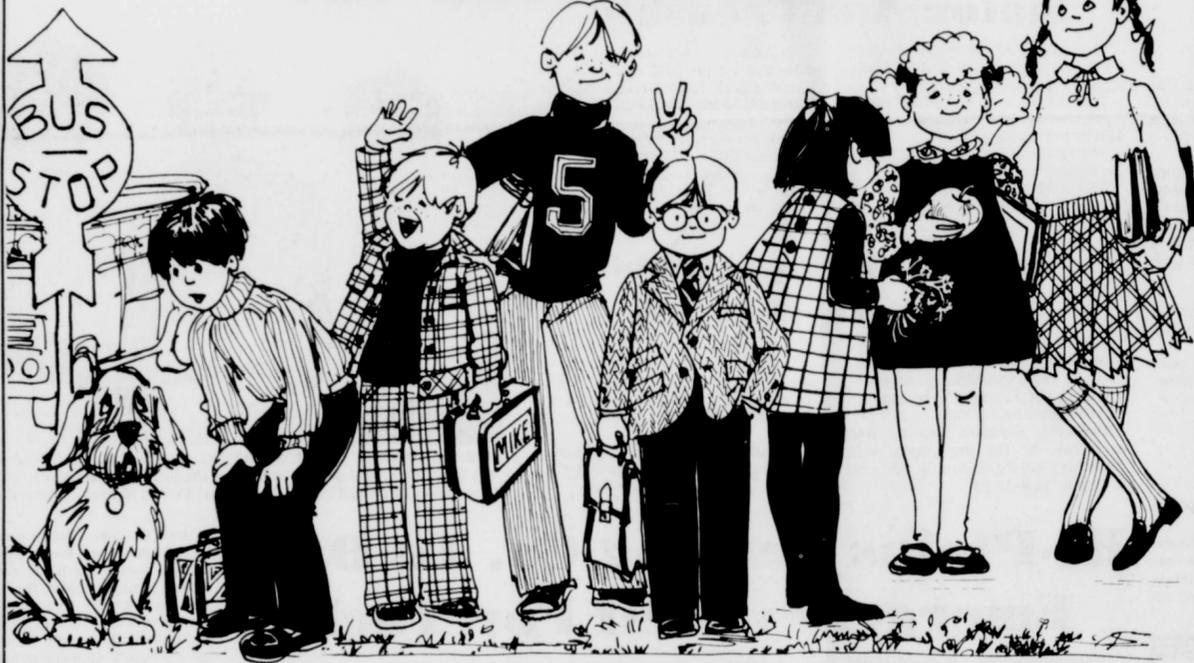

"It is not fair to customers who pay their bills on time to have to pay higher monthly local basic rates because of customers who do not pay on time," Davis said.

"Another advantage will be to reduce the amount of uncollectible bills since those business customers who will pay their bills will now have an incentive to pay it before the late charge is assessed. We will be in a better position to determine the bills that may never be collected and take action sooner to reduce losses," Davis said.

"Our late charge policy serves to protect customers since uncollected bills and the related costs are an expense item paid by all customers. By keeping uncollectible bills as low as possible, we can help keep local basic rates lower than they would be otherwise."

Going back-to-school is easy... getting them outfitted for school isn't!

There are a lot of sad faces besides those of the kids when back-to-school time rolls around. Parents don't always look forward to those shopping trips either. They don't always look forward to the task of dragging their children through busy stores and the hassle of trying on clothes, shoes and more.

Local stores understand this and they stock their shelves with a big selection of quality merchandise so you'll have a choice, and not just have to settle. Right now selections and size ranges are at their peak. Shop now for all their school needs and you'll find that shopping early will make things much easier than if you wait until the last minute.

By shopping locally instead of going out of town, you'll also save time, gasoline and energy.

No need to roam... the best shopping's here at home!

Rhonda Faye Hunt And Jack Michael Baker Wedding Vows Exchanged

Rhonda Faye Hunt and Jack Michael Baker were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, July 24, in a 3:00 ceremony performed in the Mount Olive Lutheran Church in Lamar, Colorado. Robert Mackenson, pastor of the church, officiated the recitation of vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bartlett of Abernathy, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hunt of Durango, Colorado. She is a 1979 graduate of Abernathy High School and attended West Texas State University. She is employed by Sakowitz in Amarillo in the credit department.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baker of Lamar, Colorado. The groom is a 1978 graduate of Lamar High School and is part owner of Lewis Sprinkler in Canyon.

Given in marriage by her brother David Hunt, who wore a silver gray tuxedo, the bride wore a formal floor length wedding gown of dacron organza and re-embroidered silk venise lace over bridal taffeta designed with Queen Anne neckline.

empire waist, long bishop sleeves and full skirt. Insets of the lace enhanced the neckline, bodice, sleeves, and skirt. Flounces of organza and lace complimented the skirt of the gown and the full back ended in a sweeping Chapel length train. Her picture hat was enhanced with lace and imported illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white silk roses, stephanatis and baby breath.

For something old, the bride carried a lace handkerchief that belonged to her maternal grandmother. For something new, she wore her gown. She wore diamond earrings belonging to her mother for something borrowed. Something blue was the traditional blue garter. For good luck, the bride tucked pennies minted in the year of each of their births in her shoes.

Miss Sandra Hunt served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a deep royal blue polyester dress designed with a blouson bodice fitted at the waist falling to a flared handkerchief hem skirt. She wore a white picture hat accented by deep royal blue ribbon. She also carried a single white silk rose with silver streamers.

Blain Eubank of Amarillo served as best man. His silver gray tuxedo was accented with a deep royal blue boutonniere.

A reception followed the ceremony and was held in the Green Room of the Travelodge Motel in Lamar. Reception assistants were Mrs. David Hunt of Abernathy, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Randy Dyson of Pampa. The guests were registered by Jill Baker of Lamar, sister of the groom.

The bride's table was decorated with a white eyelet lace cloth over blue and centered by a bouquet of silk roses in pastel colors.

After a wedding trip to Colorado and points in New Mexico, the Couple will reside in Canyon, Texas.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baker, parents of the groom, at K-Bobs in Lamar.

Crumpler-Robertson Vows Spoken In Candlelight Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday afternoon, July 31 in the First United Methodist Church in Abernathy, Debra Crumpler became the bride of Jeff Robertson of McKinney, Texas. Rev. Tommie Beck of Abernathy, officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Crumpler of Abernathy and Mrs. Raye Robertson of McKinney.

A large candelabra with greenery decorated the choir area of the church. Large white satin bows marked the bridal aisle for the wedding party.

Miss Tavia Crumpler of Eastland, cousin of the bride, presided at the bridal book as the guests arrived. Yellow and blue rice bags, along with scrolls, were placed on the table.

Alma Ruth Patterson played the traditional and contemporary music. Jill Blalock of Abernathy sang, "God, A Man and A Woman" as the bride and groom lit their unity candle. Jill also sang "The Twelfth of Never" at the end of the ceremony.

Presented in marriage by the bride's father, the bride wore a traditional gown of a polyester organza. The gown had a sheer yoke with a stand up neckline. The bodice was trimmed with schiffli lace, sequins and cluster pearls, ribbon belted waistline with a motif at the center front. The sheer sleeves had ruffles at the cuffs with ribbon and lace trim. The skirt was designed with a pleated overskirt forming a polonaise effect over the full skirt. The hem was surrounded with a lace flounce that extended into a cathedral length train.

Her veil was adorned by a circlet of silk flowers with matching lace, sequins and flowers extending down toward the chapel train.

Cherise Leon of Petersburg, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Dana Fondy and Jorene Hobgood, both of Abernathy.

The attendants wore identical gowns of blue in lustrous poly knit. A fitted bodice with spaghetti straps adorned the pleated skirt. A chiffon cover-all with lace, stand up collar, cuffs, and shoulder wing lace peplum, complimented the dress. They carried a bouquet of spring flowers of yellow and blue.

Brian Fischer, of McKinney, served as best man. Groomsmen were Kevin Mann and David Huffman, both of McKinney, Dennis Smith and Chris Lantham both of Lubbock, and Butch Jones of Dallas. The bride's Mother was escorted by Dennis Smith and the groom's Mother was escorted by Butch Jones.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony. An oval table, covered with a dotted swiss table cloth held the three tiered wedding cake. A fountain complimented the cake carrying out the colors of blue and yellow. Crystal candelabras were used to accompany the table. Guests were served by Mrs. Lisa Sansom, and Miss Cindy Stillwell. Assisting with hospitalities were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gist, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hobgood, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stillwell, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Huffaker.

The bride is a graduate of Abernathy High School and is employed by Continental Insurance of Lubbock. The bridegroom is a graduate of Texas Tech University and is employed by Peat, Marvick, Mitchell and Co.

The rehearsal dinner was held at Dordonelli's at the Pyramid Plaza following the wedding rehearsal. Guests were members of the wedding party.

After a wedding trip to South Padre Island the newlyweds will make their home in Lubbock.

WORK ATTITUDE OF MOTHER INFLUENCES CHILDREN'S VIEWS

When mothers feel good about their work outside the home, the effect on their children is more likely to be positive, says a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Many factors affect children's social and psychological adjustment to their mother working outside the home, the specialist adds, but attitude is significant.

Weekly Devotional

Each of us must have a goal in our life—a driving force to which our entire life is directed. Unfortunately, for many this concerned only with their pleasure and what they want and everything else comes second. The problem with this type of driving force, however, is that it is very limited for it has no future. It will last for a few years and then disappears with us. Choosing God as our driving force is probably a most difficult thing for us to do, because there is no apparent reward. If we choose material wealth, or physical comfort, we can see and feel the results, but if we choose God, what results do we get? Usually inconvenience, pain or discomfort. But, and lucky for us who believe in Christ already, there is a but, the inconvenience and pain of choosing God lasts only the same few years that the pleasure and comfort of the choice of material good does. After that there is the eternity of having chosen the greater goodness of God.

"A GLANCE AT THE PAST"

By Helen Wade

From The Abernathy Weekly Review Dated September 3, 1959:

The third free polio vaccination drive within the past three months was again sponsored by the Abernathy Junior Chamber of Commerce last Thursday. Over 200 local persons were inoculated against polio during this drive.

Another such drive is tentatively scheduled for the latter part of the month.

The Abernathy Jaycees will again sponsor the free polio vaccination drive and will furnish transportation to and from the city hall for the people in Abernathy and the adjoining area who do not have available transportation. The total number of persons inoculated during the three drives is well over 1,100.

Installation of the most modern dial equipment for Abernathy's future unattended dial system began Tuesday, August 4, according to E.I. Jenkins, District Manager for the General Telephone Company of the Southwest. The District Manager stated that this equipment, the latest in design, will provide greatly improved telephone service to 850 customers in the Abernathy area. The new dial equipment will allow customers in this area to dial directly to the desired numbers, without the assistance of an operator, hence permitting a much more rapid completion of all local calls.

Farmers Need To Grow Stronger Cotton

Texas cotton farmers, suffering from low prices due to a market glut, can improve their situation somewhat by growing cotton with improved fiber qualities, particularly strength.

"Textile mills are giving a lot of attention to cotton fiber properties today, especially fiber strength," said Dr. Carl Anderson, cotton marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Cotton bales are now opened mechanically and the fiber is fed into modern textile equipment, noted Anderson. Thus, if each bale has precise specifications as to fiber strength as well as color, staple, length and maturity, mill operators can blend a group of bales of different qualities to meet their needs for specified yarn and cloth qualities.

"Growing cotton with improved fiber qualities offers some incentive for farmers," said Anderson. "Some mills are beginning to pay premiums for higher strength cottons. Also, high volume instrument classing (HVI) is gaining momentum and provides a good reading of fiber strength. So the financial reward for producing stronger cotton is likely to improve."

Texas cotton has traditionally lacked the strength that textile representatives like, noted the economist. Most look for an average strength of 25 grams per tex. Texas cotton averaged 22.7 grams per tex last year -- the lowest among cotton-producing states -- compared to California cotton that averaged 26.9. Consequently, many textile spinners buy California cotton for its strength and then mix it with Texas cotton.

Anderson said that more than two-thirds of the Texas cotton has a strength of less than 24 grams per tex and that less than 10 percent falls into the 26 grams per tex or higher category.

In addition to fiber strength, micronaire, grade and staple are key cotton qualities. Micronaire, commonly called mike, is an indication of cotton fiber fineness which relates to maturity. A reading of 3.5 to 4.9 is generally preferred by mills. However, different cotton varieties vary in fiber fineness at full maturity, so mike alone is not a true indication of fiber maturity. Mike compared with a measurement of fiber strength helps textile mill representatives evaluate the overall spinning characteristics of cotton, explained Anderson.

"Farmers producing low mike cotton often receive a stiff penalty at the market place -- the 1981 Texas cotton crop was discounted almost $40 million," noted Anderson. "However, cotton fiber with a mike of under 3.5 that has relatively high strength is more desirable for spinning than low mike, low strength fiber."

About 38 percent of last year's Texas cotton crop had a mike under 3.5, yet most of this cotton has performed satisfactorily in the manufacture of textile goods, said the economist. Weather, moisture and temperature conditions during fiber development (late summer and early fall) play a major role in the formation of mature cotton fibers.

"How cotton grades is determined by its color and trash content," explained Anderson. Color affects bleaching and dyeing properties of fabric while trash and other foreign matters lowers the quality and appearance of finished yarn and fabric."

Staple represents the average length of a typical portion of cotton fibers. Longer fibers tend to have greater strength, said the economist, so long staple cottons are more useful for producing fine, strong yarns. Texas cotton averages just under an inch in length.

"As the cotton marketing system -- that links growers and manufacturers of cotton textile products -- changes and improves, farmers should strive to improve the overall fiber strength of Texas cotton," emphasized Anderson. "They need to consider both yield and quality when selecting cotton varieties, and they need to make every effort to provide the type of cotton the textile industry needs. As farmers work harder toward this objective, the marketing system will respond by offering greater incentives. Thus both producers and textile mills will benefit."

POULTRY COMPETITIVE WITH RED MEAT—Broiler and turkey production and consumption have risen significantly since 1955, while the various red meat supplies have been showing diverse trends because of their longer production cycles. As meat production cycles change, availability is the major factor affecting per capita consumption, says an economist in livestock marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Beef and chicken consumption each increased an average of 2.2 percent annually from 1966 to 1976. Total red meat and poultry consumption in 1981 was 2 percent below the 1976 level.

The leading national source of immigrants to the United States from 1820 to 1975 was Germany.

Schedule Of August TOMI Messages

For the latest crop and livestock information, pick up the phone and call "TOMI" (Telephone Outlook and Market Information).

During August, TOMI messages will focus on economic outlook, feed grain production, updates on cattle on feed and other agricultural information. Information about these items is available by dialing 713/845-8664, points out Ollie Liner, County Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The telephone system operates seven days a week, 24 hours a day.

Messages are prepared by Extension Service economists, using the latest available information, and are updated on a regular basis.

The August schedule for TOMI is as follows:

August 3-5 - Wool and Mohair Incentive Program—Ernie Davis.

Aug. 6-9 - Mid-Year Cattle Numbers—Ed Uvacek.

Aug. 10-12 - What's New In Washington - Ron Knutson.

Aug. 13-16 - Cattle on Feed Analysis—Ed Uvacek.

Aug. 17-19 - Feed Grain Production—Ed Smith.

Aug. 20-23 - Rice Situation—Bill Black.

Aug. 24-26 - Agricultural Supply & Demand Situation—Carl Anderson.

Aug. 27-30 - Issues In Trade—Mickey Paggi.

Aug. 3-Sept. 2 - Soybean Situation—Johnny Feagan.

TOMI was initiated by the Extension Service to provide up-to-date commodity and related information designed to help producers with planning and management, says Liner.

COTTON TODAY

COTTON USE DOWN IN JUNE: Consumption of cotton by U.S. mills declined in June, falling to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 4.9 million 480-pound bale equivalents, according to the National Cotton Council. The June total was 5.8 percent below the May level and down 14.4 percent from the year-earlier rate.

Textile mill use of man-made fibers remained unchanged from the previous month but declined 20.9 percent from June, 1981.

Cotton's share of total fiber consumption stood at 24.8 percent, down from May's 25.9 percent but higher than the 23.3 percent level recorded a year ago.

EXPORT SALES INCREASE: Net new sales of cotton for the 1982-83 marketing year totaled 59,900 running bales for the week ended July 15 to bring the new season's total commitments to 1,265,100 bales.

The major buyer was Japan with 37,700 bales. The week's export shipment totaled 115,900, bringing 1981-82 export shipments to 6,064,000 bales, according to the National Cotton Council.

FIBER MARKET TO BE FEATURED: Opportunities in today's market for cotton and other fibers will be described in an address by J. Nicholas Hahn at the opening of the National Fibers Textile Conference in Charlotte, N.C., September 14-16.

Hahn is executive vice president and chief operating officer of Cotton Incorporated.

Abernathy 4-H'ers Place High In District Recordbook Contest

Hale County 4-H'ers submitted 26 recordbooks for District level judging, July 26 at the Lubbock Garden and Arts Center, according to Tom Conerly, county extension agent-agriculture. Results of the competition were:

In the Senior Division, Joan Davis Placed first with a "Home Environment" recordbook, Patsy Davis placed second with a recordbook on "Santa Fe", and Lonnie Howard placed second with his recordbook on "Beef Cattle".

Junior Division winners were Jim Bob Carver with his recordbook "Santa Fe" and he received a blue ribbon. Mandy Kelley also received a blue ribbon for her "Swine" recordbook.

Recordbooks are records of the 4-H'ers progress in a particular project for the previous year, as well as their progress in 4-H. These records include their accomplishments since they began 4-H, leadership, activities, citizenship, a photo story and a two to 6 page narrative about their 4-H experiences. A lot of hard work goes into recordbooks and all of the above 4-H'ers are to be congratulated, says Conerly.

All of the 1st place senior records, will go on to compete at the State level for scholarships and/or trips to Chicago for National 4-H Congress.

Howard To Attend 4-H Council Workshop

A 4-H member from Hale County will attend the 1982 Texas 4-H Council Workshop in Austin August 1-4, at the Sheraton-Crest Inn. The workshop is for 1982-83 Texas 4-H Council Members, National 1982 4-H Conference Delegates and 1981-82 Texas 4-H Council Officers will also be involved.

Representing this county will be Lonnie Howard of Abernathy.

Members of 4-H clubs from across the state will attend the workshop to gain strengths in leadership skills, public speaking, speech preparation, and getting the most from an interview.

The major objectives to the workshop are: to strengthen the leadership of the Texas 4-H Council members; to provide Council members training in public speaking, committee work and working with adults and to prepare Council members for leadership roles in conducting statewide 4-H activities.

Cotton

Several fields now have bolls 1/2 inch in diameter and many have numerous blooms.

Cotton bollworms eggs and small larvae are infrequently found and remain below economic threshold. Dr. Jim Leser, Extension Entomologist, has run a computer prediction of eggs and small larvae for this area based on adults collected in traps. The following table is a summary of these graphs.

	Eggs	Small Larvae
Starting Up	Aug. 6	Aug. 10
Peak	Aug. 17-19	Aug. 22-23
Down	Sept. 1	Sept. 7

Corn

Southwestern corn borers (SWCB) collected in traps began to increase this past week. Field samples of SWCB in the Edmonson area on July 27 indicated 8 percent were larvae, 62 percent pupae and 30 percent emerged. Egg laying has been light in most fields scouted. Some fields have had around a 25 percent egg lay and a few hatched eggs have been found. We expect peak egg laying activity to occur from July 29 through Aug. 5. Insecticides suggested for control in our corn guide include Diazinon, Furadan 10G and 4F, Sevimol R and Sevin XLR R. Other insecticides labeled in 1982 which may be used for SWCB control are Pnydrin R and Lorsban R. Also Pounce and Ambush received a Section 18 clearance from the Texas Department of Agriculture to be used on corn for SWCB control.

Spider mite populations continue to be on the rise. Several fields were treated for mites during the past week. Insecticides listed in our corn guide include Trithion R, Diazinon R, Di-Syston R, Cygon R, Ethion R, Meta Systox R, Thimet R, Comite R and Sulfur.

Azodrin R has received a Section 18 for banks grass mite control in corn this year. The registration has the following guidelines: (1) use at a rate of 0.6-1.0 lb. A.I./acre/application; (2) three applications/season; (3) 48 hr. re-entry interval; (4) 45 day preharvest interval for grain; (5) 15 day pre harvest interval for silage; and (6) do not graze treated fields within 60 days of last application. Azodrin R not only provides spider mite control, but has also been proven to be a good pesticide for control of southwestern corn borers.

Sorghum

As fields reached the boot and heading stage, corn leaf aphid populations were virtually eliminated by beneficials. Greenbugs have been ranging from 25 to 2000 per plant. The heaviest populations have been observed in blooming fields. Most fields remain below treatment levels at this time.

Sorghum midge have been observed in blooming sorghum at Cotton Center, Hale Center and Plainview. Most of these fields have had around 1 midge per 20 heads. Heavy sorghum midge populations (4-5/head) were reported in a field north of Plainview.

The sorghum midge is a small orange to red colored fly. It can only attack the area of the head which is blooming. The larvae of the midge feed inside the developing seed. "Blasted" heads can result from the larval feeding damage. Control is recommended when 25 to 30 percent of the heads begin to flower and midge adults average one per head. Additional treatments may be needed if reinfestation occurs during bloom.

Boy Scout News

The boys scouts met July 20 for a regular meeting. Fire extinguishers will be sold by all the boys for a fund raising project. These are $5 each.

There were four guests attended the meeting. Allen Bruce Childress from Shreveport, Louisiana and his two sons. They are members of Boy Scouts Troop 14. Dale Childress is a life scout and Allen is a first class scout. Jean Marc Deleplanque from Paris, France was a guest also. He is a foreign exchange student that is staying with the Childress family.

On July 27, there was a regular meeting of the scout troop. Plans were made for the campout to take place August 13. The scouts will go to White River Lake for a two day campout.

Anyone wanting to join the scouts can notify Tommy Powe at 832-4788, or Bill Ireland at 832-4525. Donations of equipment or clothing would be appreciated by the troop.

WORD of GOD

Who can find a virtuous woman?

She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and in her tongue is the law of kindness.

She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness.

Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her.

Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all.

Favor is deceitful, and beauty is vain; but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised.

Miss Debra Ann Grimes and Rodney Lynn Boyer were united in Holy matrimony, Saturday, July 31st, at 2 p.m. Harold Abney of White Deer, performed the double ring ceremony in the First United Methodist Church in Canyon.

The bride wore a silk flower arrangement of apricot in her hair. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and peach roses mounted on the white bible that the bride's mother carried when she was married, which was something old. Passage Of Law Insures Fine Arts Instruction To Schools

The passage of HB246 insures that the children of your district will receive fine arts instruction as a part of their basic education.

But, how this is implemented lies with the individual school districts. Will your children receive a sequential music education with a minimum of three half hour periods a week taught by a specialist, or will it be "Drop the Needle on the Beach Boys" on Friday afternoon at 2:15 by a tired classroom teacher?

Basically, primary and elementary music programs fall into four main groups:

1. Music not listed as a subject to be taught in early grades.
2. Music taught by the classroom teacher when time is available.
3. Specialists assigned to help classroom teachers with the music program, usually encompassing approximately twenty classrooms.
4. Specialists teaching music with the same teaching load as the classroom teacher.

We hear over and over the term, "Back to basics." Does this mean concentrating on the subjects of the 3 R's? (Some have said it is now 6 R's: Remedial Reading, Remedial 'Ritin', and Remedial 'Rithmetic.) Or does this mean basic skill development in all subject areas? The arts are basic to your children's education. Being trained merely to make money is not education. The involvement of your children with the fine arts in early years will add a dimension to their lives that other school experiences neglect.

In studies conducted in Columbus, Ohio Schools, children that were involved in arts centered programs had test scores that moved from below normal to surpass norms in the fields of reading and math. In a program of brain-damaged children in another Midwestern city, children whose program included regular, structured music experience actually gained points on a nonverbal measure of intelligence. In contrast, children without consistent music experience remained the same or lost points when the test was readministered.

Much research has been done, and is being done, in the split-brain theory. The left hemisphere controls the development of logical, analytic thinking. Its function is dependent on the right hemisphere that processes input related to space orientation, recognition of images and artistic endeavors. If the right hemisphere has been neglected, the left suffers.

There is seldom any disagreement that the music programs at the junior high and secondary school levels require music specialists to carry out the program. It would seem to follow, since the optimum ages for developing the musical interests, skills and attitudes of young children are now viewed as three to eleven, that parents, the tax payers, must stand in support of employing music specialists at the primary and elementary school levels.

All school districts must watch the budget and do what they can to provide the best education possible for the students in their jurisdiction, and this is the way it should be. But parents should not accept watering down of existing programs, or failure to create needed ones on the basis of economy. If it means more taxes, what is a better investment for your money than education for your children?

Many music specialists have worked hard and long to develop sound curriculums covering essential elements in a sequential teaching process. To expect accountable progress based on a once or twice a week class period is ludicrous. Even these precious class times are often used for program practice.

Specialists who have worked with band, orchestra, and chorus have always claimed they had the brightest kids in school. It is possible that the opposite is true—these students were brighter because they were involved in music.

OLDER ADULTS AS 'NATURAL HELPERS'—Older people of a community often assume a leadership role as a "natural helper" and the support and advice they offer to someone with a problem, says a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Older natural helpers are good listeners and sounding boards. They are relaxed in their approach to a given situation, and offer information based on past experience. They are easy to confide in because they have concern for others.

The Region 16 T.M.E.A. Elementary Music Chairman is Ruth Fulton.

Research information included here was provided by the Music Educators National Conference. Additional information may be obtained by writing: MENC, 1902 Association Drive, Reston, Virginia, 22091.

MOBILE OFFICE FOR SENATOR BILL SARPALIUS was in town from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. Monday. Executive Administrative Assistant Henry Honea had the doors to this mobile office open for one hour to answer any questions locals might have for Senator Sarpalius. If Sarpalius wins the upcoming election, beginning January, Abernathians will be seeing a lot more of Sarpalius and his representatives as Abernathy will be included in his district. (Review Photo)

Abernathy Man Helps Rescue Lubbock Couple From Burning Car

By KELLEY JONES
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A perfect summer weekend could have ended in flaming death for a Lubbock teen-ager and his girlfriend if not for a quick action of Jesse Salazar and Mark Lucero.

Jeff Pannell, 18, and Tracia New, 17, also of Lubbock, were on their way home from Graham Sunday when Pannell apparently dozed off at the wheel and his vehicle hit a cement culvert and flipped. The two young people were knocked unconscious.

Salazar of Lubbock and Lucero of Abernathy were traveling to Rotan to see relatives. As they neared the crash site on U.S. 380 3 1/2 miles east of Post, they saw smoke but thought it was just someone spinning his wheels. Then they got close enough to see the burning vehicle.

Several cars had gone by before Salazar stopped. He said he and Lucero saw Pannell stretched across the front seat and knew they had to get him out. When they got to the vehicle they noticed Miss New who, they said, was almost under the dash.

Salazar said they tried to get the girl out first but the passenger door would not open. Finally, Lucero took hold of Miss New from under her arms. Salazar held her broken legs and they moved her away from the vehicle. Then they pulled Pannell away from the car.

About 10 minutes behind Pannell on the way to Lubbock were his mother, Patsy Pannell, and her friend, Scarlett Thompson. They saw what they thought was a grass fire, but as they drew nearer and were flagged down by Salazar, Mrs. Pannell realized her son and his friend had been in an accident.

Mrs. Thompson and Salazar hurriedly drove to Post to make sure a firetruck and ambulance were on the way. As they neared the city limits, they saw the emergency vehicles and returned to the accident.

Both Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Pannell agree that the two youths would have been killed without the courageous acts of Salazar and Lucero.

"The engine was burning," said Mrs. Thompson. "The kids would have been dead before the car would have ever blown up."

"In these days," said Mrs. Pannell, "there was no reason why the two stopped. We are just grateful the kids are alive and well." Mrs. Thompson said in the presence of the two men was "a real blessing."

Mrs. Pannell also expressed appreciation to the Garza County Medical team.

Pannell was released from Methodist Hospital Tuesday with a fractured nose and facial cuts. Miss New had both legs broken, and although she will be in a cast for several months, she said she realizes it could have been much worse. Neither youth remembers what Salazar or Lucero looks like, but they both were quick to say their rescuers are "great guys."

Salazar said that when he and Lucero drove by the accident they knew that if anybody were in the car they had to be gotten out quickly. He said he could not believe anyone could have just driven by without checking out the situation.

"I know if I would have been in there I would have wanted someone to get me out," Salazar said.

Mrs. Pannell said, "There is nothing you can say," said Mrs. Pannell. "Thank you for saving my child! They deserve a special pat on the back."

Former Abernathian Earns First TAMACC Award

By Sandy Martin
Family News Staff-AJ

Esther Sepeda's sparkling personality is as multifaceted as a well-cut diamond.

She is a prominent businesswoman, a standout civic leader, a local TV personality, a wife, mother and grandmother.

Most recently, Mrs. Sepeda is the 1982 Businesswoman of the Year for TAMACC, the Texas Association of Mexican-American Chambers of Commerce.

This is the first year the business award has gone to a woman, and Mrs. Sepeda considers herself lucky to be chosen. "They told me that several chambers submitted women nominees, and I'm really excited to be the first woman selected for this award," she said.

Mrs. Sepeda is no stranger to awards.

In 1978 she was given the COMA (Mexican-American Chamber of Commerce) award for Outstanding Services as President. The year before, she was COMA Member of the Year. In 1968 the city of Abernathy voted her their Outstanding Citizen of the Year.

Mrs. Sepeda's success story shows her to be a determined woman who climbs over obstacles rather than going around them.

"I've always been a fighter," she said. "I've fought for women's rights, for those people who deserve it. And, Hispanic women are very low on that scale. We haven't been working at it long enough," she said.

Born the first of 13 children, Mrs. Sepeda said her father always wanted her to get involved. "My father was a farmer," she said, "and I will always remember Daddy wanting his daughter to be a famous speechmaker. I made my first speech when I was four years old at a Mexican Fiesta. I've been talking ever since," she added with a laugh.

Mrs. Sepeda grew up around Big Spring and married her husband Raul when she was 15 years old.

"I finished high school later through adult education," she said. "I started working right after I got married. I had a really great grandmother who kept the kids when they came along. I've done all kinds of jobs."

The young Mrs. Sepeda started out doing housework for other women in the area. She worked in a laundry and eventually moved into restaurants.

"I started by washing dishes," she explained.

"Then I went on to waiting tables. I did that for several years and really enjoyed it."

About that time, Esther went back to school to get her high school diploma. She then was offered a job as an instructor for a small kindergarten sponsored by the First Baptist Church in Abernathy.

"I tried to tell them I barely had my high school diploma," she said laughingly, "but they just kept telling me 'you can do it.'"

Mrs. Sepeda proved to be an able teacher and that experience eventually led to her position as director of the Community Action Center in Abernathy.

Mrs. Sepeda had been with the Center for three years when Raul went into business for himself and established Sepeda Builders Inc. "I don't want to say Raul pushed me..." she said with a gleam in her eyes. "He encouraged me to quit my job and go in with him. So, I did."

And, as they say in the movies, the rest is history.

Mrs. Sepeda is now vice president of Sepeda Builders, Inc. and is a major stockholder in the corporation. She is a partner with her son in E&E Construction and she owns Esther Sepeda Real Estate.

She's currently building her first house and she's doing it with the enthusiasm and verve she brings to all her projects.

"Building is my first love," she said as her face brightened. "It's different. I love to be out on the construction site."

And that's exactly where the diminutive builder goes when she wants a progress report. Donning a hard hat and spreading out the blue prints, she carefully inspects the work in progress.

"I can't do the actual construction," she said, "but I know what it's supposed to look like. I can look at a slab and tell you whether its been poured right or not."

As a builder, Mrs. Sepeda encounters more disbelief than she does discrimination. In a business long dominated by men, she says some raise their eyebrows when they learn they'll be dealing with her.

"Sometimes a man will say, 'Well, I want to deal with Raul, not his wife.'" she said. "And he tells them he'll just toss everything on my desk anyway."

Sepeda quit residential building several years ago. He now concentrates on commercial buildings and government contracts.

"When that happened," said Mrs. Sepeda, "I thought, boy, somebody needs to be building houses. So, I'm going to try."

Mrs. Sepeda works with many people who have never owned a home before, and helping them is one of her greatest rewards. "I've had a lot of people ask me if I can speak Spanish. I tell them sure, we'll do everything in Spanish if you want."

Although it's not necessary for her to accompany her clients to the bank for finance and credit applications, she often does because it makes them feel more secure.

"Buying your first house is scary," she said. "And I do everything I can to help my people."

A Plea To All Dog Owners

Due to the very sad incident that happened with Dr. Damon Hill's 17 month old child and mother in Lubbock this weekend, we need to make a plea to all New Deal residents to please keep your dogs at home and keep them vaccinated.

There is a growing concern for the fact that stray dogs are found all over town. With school starting in a very few short weeks, we don't need or want these dogs hanging around the school grounds or on other people's property. Most of these "so called" stray dogs usually belong to someone. Your dog may be friendly with you, but it may not be to strangers.

Let's don't take the chance! If you have a dog, please keep him penned up and vaccinated. It may save a child's life, or maybe even your own!

Bridal Shower August 1 Honors Miss Traci Long

Hostesses for the shower were: Mrs. Gwenette Atkinson, Mrs. Frankie Bardwell, Mrs. Barbara Howell, Mrs. Betty Pledger, Mrs. Colleen Shinn, Mrs. Sue Attebury, Mrs. Ann Henry, Mrs. Wanda Looney, Mrs. Wanda Taylor, and Mrs. Jannet Robertson. The hostess gift to the couple was a 9 piece comingware set.

The couple plans to be married September 25 at Quaker Avenue Church of Christ.

did you know?

We at Southwestern Public Service Company are forecasting now how much electricity you'll use today, tomorrow, next week, next month, next year, even 5 and 10 and 15 years from now. We take the forecasting job seriously. It tells us how much electricity to generate for you in the next few hours or few days. It helps us decide how much fuel to buy. And forecasting helps us decide when, where, or if we should build new power plants.

Grafton Clarke, Fuel Planning Senior Engineer, Amarillo.

School is out, and youngsters are out and about. Their safety concerns us, as it does you. We recommend this important warning about power line danger: Never climb a tree which is near electric power lines. There may be power lines among the branches. If the lines were touched, tree-climbing fun would turn into tragedy.

Mike Costello, Safety and Claims Specialist, Roswell.

Everyone, including SPS, is affected by high money costs. When we borrow money at today's high interest rates, or sell stock, people are actually letting us use their savings to build new power plants and lines and to buy equipment. If we do not pay the going "wage" for their savings, people will stop letting us use their money, and our ability to deliver the electricity you need will be limited.

Bob Whippo, District Manager, Seminole.

Knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. For answers to your questions, call or write your SPS manager.

Buying Your Glasses

Buying a pair of glasses is an important expenditure. That's one reason why you should take your time in selecting the glasses you like best.

For starters, glasses won't be worth much unless the prescription is accurate. The lens had to be professionally made to your doctor's exact specifications.

You can look for bargains. That may save you money initially. But if your glasses aren't comfortable, if you have to select from only a few styles, or they aren't well-made, that's no bargain. You want glasses you can wear in comfort for a long time. Something so important, that you use every day at work or at home, deserves very careful consideration. Appearance is important too. You want them to look good on you.

So when you get a new prescription for glasses, take your time in choosing the frames. Make sure you really like the style and color. And, most importantly, make sure they fit securely and comfortably.

One Of Area's Oldest Pioneers Is Generous Museum Supporter

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following feature story was borrowed from the Hale Center American. The picture was also borrowed. Thanks to Editor Tom Rambo, the following article has been made available to local readers.

One of Hale County's oldest pioneers, who migrated to this area 90 years ago in a covered wagon pulled by an oxen team, is one of the generous supporters of the farm and ranch historical outdoor museum at Hale Center.

Robert Lutrick, nearly 97 years of age, who resides between Hale Center and Abernathy and is claimed by both communities, recently donated a 1934 International Harvester Farmall tractor, still in "running condition," to the museum.

The primitive tractor was installed in the museum about a month ago, and Robert and his daughter, Ruth Lutrick Auge of Belin, New Mexico, visited here last week to see the museum. Mrs. Auge was reared on the Lutrick Ranch, 12 miles southeast of Hale Center "as a crow flies," attended school at Hale Center for six years, and has served as Home Economics teacher and FHA advisor at Belin for nearly 35 years. Robert and Ruth also attended the homecoming celebration here Saturday.

During his visit at the outdoor museum, just west of the first overpass south of town, Robert demonstrated his agility by swinging aboard his old tractor, without assistance, with a natural skill coming from many years of experience. Silhouetted against the bright sky, he makes a striking outline in the palmy sunshine, reflecting the spirit of a vanishing era that set the stage for present day progress. Seated aboard the old tractor, he became a symbol of the rich tradition dating back to a time long before the diminishing frontier of Texas with its far-reaching ocean of prairie land had been tamed.

Tall, lean, erect although he uses a cane for walking, hospitable and gracious mannered, Robert is a souvenir of a picturesque period who had preserved the appearing virtues, strong character and high moral values of the early day Plainsman dramatized by the famous author, Zane Grey, in his books about the Old West. Actually, he could pass for one of Zane Grey's frontier heroes. At the age of 96-plus, the self-spoken old —about 1930, replacing teams of horses with HP. In 1930, he bought his first tractor, an IHC Wheatland model, from Claude Roney. Roney bought the tractor from Center Implement Co.

In 1934, Robert purchased a new 1530 IHC farmall from the late Elmo Caudle whom he described as a "good salesman" who knew farm equipment. The farmall was used as a general purpose tractor on the farm for over 35 years before it was "retire" in about 1970 machiner used by pioneer families to time the rugged prairie land and to set the stage for present day progress. It will be part of a historical landmark designated as an educational project.

Born in East Texas, County, Robert, about five years old when the Lutrick family moved to the Hale Center area 90 years ago in 1892. A year earlier his father had purchased 640 acres of land from a "squatter" for $50, and the next year the family moved to the Plains, "grazing their way" across country in a covered wagon pulled by a team of oxen. "It took us several months to make the trip, and we grazed our livestock on the grass as we progressed toward the Plains. Hale Center was founded in 1893, and became the trading center for the Lutrick family. Later after Abernathy was established in 1913, the Lutrick children attended school at Abernathy as the Lutrick ranch was located in the Abernathy school district.

Robert still owns a half section of the original Lutrick ranch.

Robert is now one of the oldest living first generation pioneers in Hale County and probably is the only early day pioneer still surviving who emigrated to Hale County in a covered wagon pulled by an oxen team.

GENEROUS MUSEUM SUPPORTER Robert Lutrick, nearly 97 years of age, one of Hale County's oldest living first generation pioneers, seated on 1934-model tractor he donated to the outdoor farm and ranch historical museum here. Silhouetted against the skyline, he symbolizes a vanishing era in the rich farm and ranch heritage of this area.

rancher doesn't show his age by 20 years and is still active mentally and physically.

As he patted his old tractor in the museum with gentle hand, he observed: "I don't want you to think I'm bragging, but there isn't anything in the way of farm equipment and machinery on my farm that I can't run."

Robert explained that he started "tractor farming"

"still in running condition" in spite of old age. Robert said the "1930" was powerful tractor with surplus "HP" and had the advantage of being versatile. He used it to plow wheat land, cultivate row crops, harvest cotton, pull combines and to perform all kinds of extra chores, such as pulling equipment for building ditches, digging ponds, hauling feed. "It didn't cause any trouble. We could count on it to get the job done at a time when we needed every advantage to plow the land and cultivate the crops." Years later, the tractor was used to grind feed.

Robert was pleased that the old tractor would continue to fill a beneficial role. As an exhibit in the museum, it will be helpful to future generations of boys and girls attempting to learn more about the farm and ranch tools, equipment and

GTE Customers To Be Charged For Excessive Directory Assistance Calls

Beginning Aug. 1, General Telephone customers in Texas will be charged for calls to directory assistance that exceed a 10-call per month limit.

"The increasing volume of calls to directory assistance is one factor that has made local basic monthly rates paid by all customers go up in the past," James H. Davis, operations manager - West Division Operations for General Telephone, said. "With the directory assistance charging plan, the local rate increases recently placed in effect were less than what they would have been without directory assistance charging."

Davis pointed out that charging for calls to directory assistance exceeding a 10-call per month limit will have little effect on the majority of the company's customers, except to help keep basic rates lower than they would be without the charge.

"Our studies have shown that approximately 9 percent of the total directory assistance users make nearly half of all calls to directory assistance," Davis said.

"Under the previous method, the cost of providing directory assistance was spread among all customers, regardless of whether they use the service or not," the telephone company manager said. "Customers formerly could make an unlimited number of calls to directory assistance without paying a separate charge.

"As a result, customers who never use the service or who used it very little were paying just as much through their local rates as the heavy users for this service."

"Charging for excessive use will transfer the costs to those who use the service extensively, resulting in keeping basic local rates lower than they would be otherwise."

Each General customer will have a 10-call per month per line allowance without charge. The caller can also obtain a maximum of two telephone numbers during each call under the plan approved July 14 by the Public Utility Commission.

"We feel this will take care of new listings and number changes most customers will need during the course of a month," the manager said.

"After the 10-call limit, a 25 cent charge per request will be assessed."

Education—Our Money's Worth?

In my travels over Texas, it has become clear that Texans rate crime, the economy, and the education of their children among their principal concerns.

This week I would like to discuss education. As the father of six children, this has long been one of my principal concerns also.

We currently spend over half our tax revenue on education, and many people raise the question to me: "Are we getting our money's worth?" The questions put to me indicate some think we are spending too much; others, not enough.

I am concerned about the amount of money we spend on education, but I am more concerned about the quality of that education. I believe the quality of education our children receive can be improved by making some fundamental changes in the way we pay and treat our teachers.

I believe in merit pay for teachers. Frankly, I think good teachers ought to be paid more than poor teachers. A good, conscientious teacher cannot help but become discouraged and disillusioned when he or she ends the month with the same pay as one whom they know to be indifferent. The result is apt to be that they leave the teaching profession altogether.

I also think we ought to enter a system of competency testing not only for new teachers, but for those who are currently teaching. We test our kids, why not also test those who teach them?

In short, I think we ought to bear down on the basics, relieve our teachers of burdensome paper work now placed upon them, and recognize and reward our better teachers with better pay, for the sake of our children, and our future.

If you have thoughts on this subject, I would welcome them. Just write to me at 1213 W. 34th in Austin, 78705.
