Officer briefing scheduled

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (AFMPC) — A team from Air Training Command Headquarters will brief officers assigned to the 64th Flying Training Wing on the revised Officer Evaluation System June 16-17.

Brigadier Gen. Daniel A. Taylor, Lt. Col. William M. Merry and Maj. John A. Salvador will explain the reasons for the revised system and how it will work. The team has scheduled six briefings in the Jack Davis Room of the Officers' Open Mess.

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Larry Welch announced the revised system in a letter to all officers in March. The OES features increased emphasis on supervisors providing performance feedback to officers. It also uses two separate evaluations to assess performance and recommend promotion.

Each Air Force major command is sending briefing teams to its bases to provide the officer force the full details of the evaluation system.

During each session, the team will explain the major elements of the system. This will be followed by a question-and-answer period. The entire session will last approximately two hours.

At the conclusion of the briefing, the team will pass out brochures that summarize the system. In addition, the team will leave videotapes on the OES at the Consolidated Base Personnel Office. Officers who miss the briefing or those who would like a second chance to learn about the revised system may check out a tape. Both three-quarter inch and VHS formats will be available.

The complete briefing schedule is: June 16—10 a.m., 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.; June 17—9:30 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m.

A1C DONALD J. MCCARTHY III

On Friday, May 20, A1C Donald J. McCarthy III was fatally injured in a motorcycle accident on State Highway 114 west of Levelland.

Airman McCarthy was born in Waterford, Connecticut on June 17, 1968. He arrived at Reese Jan. 9, 1987, after completing the Jet Engine Mechanic Course at Chanute AFB, Illinois, as an honor graduate. He was assigned to the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron as a Jet Engine Mechanic in the Propulsion Branch.

Memorial services were held this past Tuesday, May 24, at the base chapel.

Survivors include his father, Donald J. McCarthy II; his mother Lynda; his sister Keleen — all of Waterford, Connecticut.

88-05 award winners recognized

Thirty-four Undergraduate Pilot Training students graduated May 20, 1988, when they walked across the stage of Simler Theater to receive the coveted wings of the Air Force pilot. Among the members of Class 88-05 was one Air National Guard and two Kuwaiti officers.

During the ceremony, Brig. Gen. Alan V. Rogers, deputy chief of staff for operations, Headquarters, Strategic Air Command, Offutt Air Force Base, Neb., spoke to the graduating class.

From the class, six members are returning to Reese AFB as instructor pilots. They are: 2nd Lts. Gregg R. Budenaers, James G. Nelson, Wardlaw E. Skinner III, and Rhea E. Dobson assigned to the 35th Flying Training Squadron; and 2nd Lts. Michael J. Turley and Stephen J. Collins assigned to the 54th Flying Training Squadron.

The Commander's Trophy was awarded to 2nd Lt. Garvin A. McGettrick, along with a Flying Training Award, Citizenship Award and a Distinguished Graduate Award.

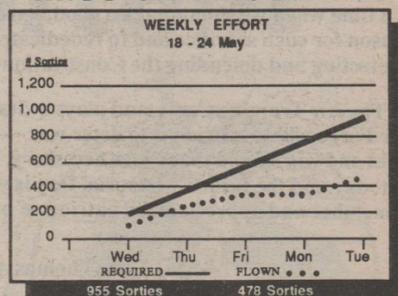

Captain Paul R. Fazenbaker received the Academic Training Award and a Leadership Award.

A Flying Training Award and a Distinguished Graduate Award was awarded to 2nd Lt. David G. Vander Veer Jr.

A Distinguished Graduate Award was presented to 2nd Lt. John R. Kindred, and First Lieutenant Eric M. Hamish received a Leadership Award.

The outstanding second lieutenants for the class were David S. Lynch and Jeffrey S. Voorhees.

Mission Milestones

Last week's rains put a damper on flying. However, the timeline looks good with the F37's at 2.7 days ahead and the F38's at 4.3 days ahead.

Bits & Pieces

Critical days. Pilot retention. A-76. Spouse Issues. Roll back. Early out. Officer Evaluation System.

Lately we've been inundated with these and similar issues that have, in some way, shape or form, had an impact on our lives as Air Force personnel. We are continuously reading about these different situations. One thing that allows us to deal with these issues is our commitment to serving our country.

With times like the present, and these current issues, we face yet another drawback; funding for Morale, Welfare and Recreation programs.

Budget cuts, however, are not new to Reese and certainly not new to the Air Force. Yet somehow, we've always been able to pull through the worst of times and return to a healthy economic environment.

Until then, it is up to us to make the most of our MWR dollars to stay ahead of the situation at hand.

Living on a shoestring budget...

Basically what happened here is that the base took a significant cut in MWR appropriated funds. In laymen's terms, we lost a huge chunk of tax dollars used to fund these programs.

MWR maintains a large range of programs including the Base Library, Rec Center, Auto Hobby Shop, Bowling Alley, Child Care Center, Golf Course, and both clubs, just to name a few. Most of these facilities are for use free of charge or for a minimal fee.

For a small base like Reese, the MWR program has a huge impact. And the cut in funds has an even larger impact.

Currently we are making the most of non-appropriated funds, or revenue generated by MWR activities, to keep above water. That means we are spending more money out of our pockets.

But if you stop and consider how important these programs are and how that money is being used, I'm sure you can understand the justification behind some newly implemented policies and price increases.

These programs are designed for our morale and need our support. If we don't support them, we can lose them. Let's be sure we keep that from happening.

Tell me about it...

Reese is our home. So we must deal with everything that faces us as a team. Your suggestions are more important now than ever.

This is a time when the Model Installation Program or Suggestion Program are especially worthwhile. This allows you to suggest improvements on the efficiency of our programs.

If you have an idea, don't hesitate to tell me about it. Use whatever outlet may be available whether it be through MIP, suggestion or the CARE Line.

This is a time we need to pull together as a wing to keep MWR alive and well.

On a more solemn note...

This past weekend, we lost one of our airmen in a tragic motorcycle accident. A1C Donald McCarthy of the 64 FMS died due to injuries sustained when his motorcycle collided with another vehicle.

Monday, Memorial Day, marks the beginning of the 101 critical days of summer between now and the Labor Day Weekend. This is a time when it is imperative to be safety conscious; not just driving or flying, but in all summer activities.

This weekend, while we are enjoying the holiday weekend and taking time to reflect on the many men and women who died proudly serving our nation, let's not forget how important it is to maintain our healthy force. HAVE FUN, BUT BE SAFE.

Col. Mark H. Lillard III, Wing Commander

Successful SAC day...

We were indeed fortunate this past weekend to have Brig. Gen. Rogers, Chief of Staff of Operations for Strategic Air Command, here at Reese. His folks did a super job during SAC Day giving us at Reese a better view of what SAC's mission is all about. Much hard work and effort went into ensuring a smooth operation. Special thanks to Capt. Dave Hassler for making SAC Day a success.

Farewell message to the "First Command"

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (ATCNS)—There will be a new man in the driver's seat at Air Training Command June 6, but thanks to the leadership and foresight of Lt. Gen. John A. Shaud, he'll be taking over the largest training system in the free world with a well-planned road map to steer by.

In a departing message for the 70,000-plus military and civilian workers who make up the "First Command," General Shaud made it clear that their commitment to quality has allowed ATC to "achieve a road map for the future."

The ATC Trainer Master Plan, a part of that "road map for the future," presents the aircraft procurement strategy for training Air Force pilots into the 21st Century, while specialized undergraduate pilot training ensures the highest quality graduates for the lowest expenditure of resources.

"The key is taking the plan and being faithful to the ideas and concepts contained in that plan," explained General Shaud. "That obligation is already paying off and ATC's first year of experience with this new plan is bearing witness to the value of this approach to training."

"Not only are these programs good for the command and the Air Force, they will be good for the students who receive the training," he said. The primary focus for pilot training will remain stick and rudder flying—training individuals to be pilots. That's what ATC is all about.

That's one aspect General Shaud is very pleased with. The numbers of pilots, the duration of training, the structure of the course work and the quality of the instructors is "just about right," he said.

However, there are three challenges he wants to address—areas that haven't been tackled yet.

One area is G-Loss of Consciousness, or "G-LQC." Pilots need to be prepared to handle sustained high G's and high G onset rates.

"I think in the training equation, particularly with specialized UPT, in the fighter track we can focus more on the physical preparation of the pilots as they get ready to do that kind of flying. We can do that better," announced the General. "For pilots who are going to fly the Tanker-Transport aircraft, or 'Heavies,' more emphasis on crew coordination is needed."

General Shaud recognizes the importance of leading a team on a large aircraft. He said in the majority of cases where there have been accidents in heavy aircraft, it could have been prevented by good, strong crew coordination and crew leadership.

Looking downstream, the final area General Shaud sees room for improvement concerns turning data into information. Presently, there is more data than the pilot has the capability to process and apply. The result can be quick task saturation. Work continues to gain a foothold in that area.

Switching from programs to the people who run them, General Shaud has nothing but praise for the ATC Team and their accomplishments.

When he looks at all the aspects of the command—recruiting, basic training, pilot and navigator training, undergraduate space training, technical training, medical training—General Shaud said his greatest source of pride is the quality of the young people we're training, then sending out into the Air Force. The feedback he gets from commanders reflects that quality.

While we've cut back significantly in numbers, the commander said that the quality of young people entering the Air Force and the quality of their training have never been better. "That's what's really paying off in combat readiness for the Air Force," he added.

During his time as ATC Commander, General Shaud said one of the insights he's gained is the strength and depth of the command's enlisted corps.

The majority of our instructors are enlisted, from those at Lackland to the instructors at our very large technical training centers. "They're not only expert at what they're teaching," he said, "they're warriors. The significance of what they're doing at the front lines of training in the United States Air Force has been very, very impressive."

Energy and positive motivation are traits General Shaud has seen throughout the command and hopes to see continue.

"Enjoy ATC," the commander said. He believes ATC members should enjoy dealing with youth, the energy of youth and realize the profound effect they have on the young people of this nation.

"The future of the United States Air Force and the future and security of the United States is in your hands. These young people you're training today are the combat ready airmen and leaders of tomorrow. It's a very special trust you have and you should appreciate that."

Memorial Day 1988

On Memorial Day, May 30, Americans everywhere will pause to pay their respects to those who have given their lives for freedom. Our sorrow will be matched by a solemn pride in the bravery and devotion their sacrifice represents.

For those of us currently on active duty, Memorial Day is a time when we should take a good, hard look at the reason for such sacrifice and to rededicate ourselves to protecting and defending the Constitution of the United States.

The Air Training Command plays a vital role in shaping an Air Force whose mission is to deter war — but ready to fly, fight and win should that prove necessary. We are the patriots of today and the future. Memorial Day is when we should remember and appreciate the patriots of our nation's past.

—Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Baker
Vice Commander, Air Training Command

Pools open Saturday

The base pools are scheduled to open Saturday at 10 a.m. Maintenance problems may result in a short notice delay in the opening of the Officers' Pool. If this should occur, the Enlisted Pool will be available to all personnel. Season pool passes are available at the Physical Fitness Center. For more information call 3783.

Chaplains head overseas

Chaplains Peter Otto and Robert Stroud are leaving Reese AFB on June 13 to assume responsibilities at overseas chapels. Father Otto will move to Incirlik Air Base, Turkey, and Chaplain Stroud is headed for Taegu Air Base, Republic of Korea.

Father Otto arrived at Reese in May, 1986 from Andersen AFB, Guam. He had previously served at Andrews AFB, Maryland. Chaplain Stroud came to Reese in the summer of 1986 from an assignment with an AFRES unit located at Mather AFB, California.

Their concurrent transfers leave the Reese Chapel significantly understaffed. The new Roman Catholic priest, Father William Martinez, arrives in June. However, the two vacant Protestant slots will remain unfilled until early fall.

Chaplain Aaron Ray is scheduled to return from Korea and Chaplain Leslie North is slated to arrive from Germany. Ironically, Chaplain Ray is coming to Reese from Taegu Air Base, where Chaplain Stroud is replacing him as the single Protestant chaplain.

Chaplain Stroud's family will be moving to Washington state to be near their family in the Puget Sound area during his year in Korea.

Coincidentally, Chaplain Roger Winburg, who served at Reese between 1983 and 1987, is returning to the area in early June, following a one-year assignment at Osan Air Base, Korea. He will be joining his family who remained in the Reese community during the year, and moving to his new assignment at Mountain Home AFB, Idaho.

The chapel community has scheduled farewell dinners for both Chaplains Otto and Stroud. If you would like information about attending one or both, call the chapel at 3237.

The art of second-guessing...

By Col. Kenneth W. Hess
Deputy Commander for Operations

This last week was set aside by the ATC/CC as Mission Enhancement Week. Have you ever thought about why we call it that? Wouldn't Safety Awareness Week or Focus on Safety be better? No, our intent is to enhance the mission.

This week's effort should raise our collective awareness of how safety is woven into the very fabric of the mission of "The First Command." It's what should be foremost in our minds day-in and day-out, for our mission is safety before it's anything else; it's the vehicle where training is done.

One of the important issues raised by the operators (the line jocks who are out there on the tip of the mission spear) is too much pressure being imposed on the mission by second-guess artists. The implication being that there are some who feel pressured into doing things that go against their pilot logic—things done to avoid being second-guessed. We need to fix that!

None of you should be squeezing in an extra pattern when the gas says stop, flying into marginal weather because it's the only place to get an approach you need, or flying that extra distance because the aircraft needs to get back.

Ours is truly the no-threat war—there's nothing that can't be done another day or on another mission. Can you think of one instance where someone got in trouble for using too much judgment?

There's another side to this coin. There will always be times when being second-guessed is justified. One of the most fundamental objectives of the pilot fraternity is to pass along enough knowledge/expertise (read judgment) from the old-heads to the young-heads so we're confident the "experience bag" will fill at a greater rate than the "luck bag" empties.

Second-guessing is the art form used to make sure our decision matrix considers the right factors and applies appropriate weights to each.

Everyone should agree there are extremes to this argument. That's how the age old saying "common sense and good judgment are no substitute for procedure" was born. The aviation community has a proud heritage of policing itself. Second-guessing, in most cases, is more perceived than real. However, it can create unnecessary pressure at the tip of the spear, if we let it, because it's always painful to have your decision (read judgment) questioned.

Perhaps we don't balance the millions of good decisions made everyday with the few we need to learn from—but that too can be fixed. Bottomline—don't give the enemy in the mirror another bullet. Use your best judgment always and sort it out on the ground. Look behind you; check 6.

Seatbelts, a good investment

By Lt. Col. Phillip S. Marzolino
Chief, Safety Division

I suspect virtually everyone reading this article has some life insurance. I'm equally certain that none of us expects to cash in on that insurance in the near future.

We all expect to die in our sleep at 103 years of age; however, our rational self knows there is always the potential for an early departure. Therefore, we take out the insurance to provide for our loved ones should anything happen. Meanwhile, everytime we make out the check to the insurance company, we mutter under our breath about how much money we're wasting.

Today starts the traditional "101 critical days" when the potential for each of us needing that insurance increases dramatically. This period between Memorial Day and Labor Day is the time when accidents, particularly those related to outdoor activities and private motor vehicles, increases at an alarming rate.

Last year, for example, Air Training Command personnel had 247 reportable mishaps during this period, and Air Force wide there were 55 fatalities. Seventy-one percent of those fatalities occurred in private vehicles, so the source of the threat is quite clear.

The tragic part of those statistics is that most of the deaths did not have to occur! Investigation shows that the simple act of fastening their seat belt would probably have saved 35 of those who died. A very high price was paid for failure to use the cheapest insurance available.

After several years of data collection and mishap investigation, the Air Force has determined the case for seat belts is so strong, their use has been required by Air Force Regulation. All Air Force members are required to use seat belts on or off base, on or off duty; consequently, failure to use seat belts not only increases your risk of death or serious injury, but places you in violation of Texas state law and Air Force regulation.

I know at times it may seem as if we beat the seat belt drum to death; but as long as one individual is losing the bet he has with the life insurance companies because of not wearing a seat belt, the point must be re-emphasized. After all, we're offering the best rates (an investment of about five seconds per "hook-up") and the best coverage.

Looking sharp is important

By 2nd Lt. Karen A Dees
Keesler AFB, Miss.

Air Force Regulation 35-10, the most widely read regulation in the Air Force, is also the most ignored and most questioned. It was written not to annoy us but to give us the conformity of appearance.

Conformity brings esprit de corps -- a deep feeling of unity. Businessmen wear suits, teenagers wear outlandish styles and nurses wear whites. Each group of people wears similar clothing to identify with the group. Outsiders recognize a team by the uniforms its members wear.

There's a reason why the standards for military uniforms are more rigorous than for other groups. The short haircuts for men and specific styles for women, the exact pants and skirt lengths, name tag and ribbon placement -- these are all examples of the military's attention to detail.

With attention to detail comes pride. When I was in airborne training, my boots had to be glossy and my uniform pressed each morning -- just so I could spend the day running in sand and rolling in bark chips. I wondered why I had to look so spiffy -- what was the point?

It all became clear one day as I was sitting in an airplane waiting to jump. Details mattered. Everything had to be perfect or someone might be hurt.

Attention to detail is the name of the game in all that we do. Every action has a purpose: picking up trash, reminding someone to get a haircut, shining our shoes.

Let's remember that pride in our uniform shows we have pride in our work and in ourselves.

(Note: Lieutenant Dees in vice commander, Keesler Honor Guard.)

News Briefs

Running track is open

The running track is now open for use. The sprinkler system will be used and runners are cautioned that they will get wet if they use the track when the sprinklers are on. The sod surrounding the track and inside the oval is still being maintained by the contractor. Maintenance will continue until all sod is alive and growing well. Additional work is still required on the sprinkler system and the underground under-track conduit system.

Holiday closing

In observance of the Memorial Day holiday, the commissary will be closed Tuesday.

Early deadline

Due to the Monday holiday, the deadline for submitting information to The Roundup for publication is today, 4:15 p.m., for the June 3 issue.

Lost and found

The Security Police Investigation Section has the following lost or abandoned property: one lady's watch, one softball glove, money, one crescent wrench and two children's sleeping bags. If any of the property listed above belongs to you, contact the Investigations Section at 3999.

Grass seed issued

The Grounds Maintenance contractor has announced that grass seed will be issued at Bldg. 2002 Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 12:30 to 4:15 p.m. for Reese Village occupants. If you have not picked up grass seed for your yard, you should do so.

Awards banquet planned

Plans are underway for the fifth annual Civilian Awards which will be highlighted by a buffet luncheon June 9 at the Officers' Open Mess from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Tickets will be on sale soon.

Retreat scheduled

A retreat and retirement ceremony honoring MSgt. Edmund C. Ford Jr. will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m. in front of bldg. 800. All military and civilian personnel are invited to attend. Please be in place by 3:45 p.m.

Ceremony planned

The Noncommissioned Officer Status ceremony will be held Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the Enlisted Open Mess. Everyone is invited to attend.

Enlisted Wives Club bake sale

Members of the Enlisted Wives Club will be selling homemade baked goods on Wednesday in the gazebo area between the Base Exchange and the Commissary. In case of bad weather, the bake sale will be inside the BX mall area. Proceeds will go to Enlisted Wives Club projects.

Golf tournament scheduled

A four-man golf scramble tournament will be held on June 4. The deadline to sign up is Wednesday. The entry fee will be $25 per person or $100 per four-man team. The entry fee is due at the time of registration. The tournament will be limited to 64 people. Check-in time will be 8 to 8:30 a.m. with a tee off at 9 a.m. Trophies and prizes will be given away. For more information contact the Professional Military Education center at 3147 or sign up at the golf course.

Housing decision help

The Housing Office has a program available for military and DOD employees called the Housing Decision. It is an innovative program which will help you decide whether to buy or rent a home or live in Government quarters.

If you are interested in using this program, call the Housing office for an appointment. The appointment is necessary to ensure that the computer is available.

Golfers to qualify

The qualifying tournament to determine who will represent Reese in the Air Training Command Golf Championships has been changed to July 16 and 17. Golfers will compete for two slots in the open division, two in the Senior Division and one in the Women's Division.

The ATC Championship will be held August 28 through 31 at Mather Air Force Base. Personnel who are interested should sign up at the High Plains Golf course as soon as possible.

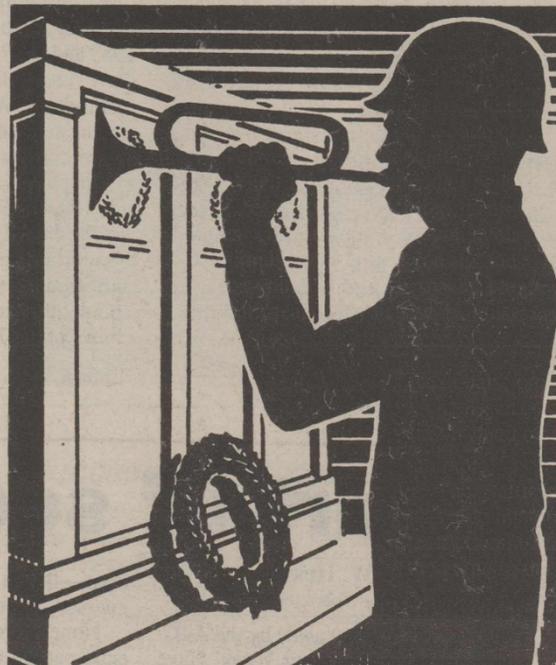

Security deposit reminder

Complaints of landlords failing to return a security deposit or charging for rent after a tenant has vacated the property are not uncommon. Most often this is because the lease was not fulfilled in its entirety or a written thirty day notice was not given prior to vacating the property. Complete your signed lease agreement or pay the penalty. To avoid these problems, read your lease. If you do not agree with the conditions of the lease and the landlord is unwilling to change them in writing, do not sign the agreement. If you have questions concerning your lease, contact the Housing Referral at 3601, or stop by the Base Housing Office, bldg. 6100.

Housing reminder

Air Force Regulation 30-15 requires all military personnel to report to the Housing Referral Service prior to entering into a lease agreement or sales contract.

Make certain you understand a lease contract before signing it. According to Texas law, you must abide by the signed contract or face possible appearance in Civil Court.

What we have, they did not

There are very many holidays. Children like Christmas, moms like Mother's Day, dads like Father's Day. There's Valentine's Day, Easter, and a lot more—but what about the men who fought in Vietnam? They did not have Christmas or any other holidays. Memorial Day is a tribute to these great men and women who experienced more than what we will ever see.

They fought for you and me, we should be proud of them, not of cries or tears but they were there when we needed them.

Easter Seals day camp set

By SrA. Greg Spraggins
Staff Writer, Roundup

While you flex your muscles in the mirror and congratulate yourself on your nimble brain, consider this: the light over your mirror was perfected by a deaf man.

While your morning radio plays, remember the hunchback who helped invent it. If you listen to contemporary music, you may hear an artist who is blind. If you prefer classical music, you may enjoy a symphony written by a composer who couldn't hear.

The President who set an unbeatable American political record could hardly walk. A woman born unable to see, speak or hear stands as a great achiever in American history. The handicapped can enrich our lives. Let's enrich theirs.

Reese personnel will have the opportunity to enrich the lives of many handicapped individuals this June when the base hosts the Ninth Annual Summer Day Camp, sponsored by the Easter Seals Society. Forty handicapped children and adults will attend the camp to enjoy summer fun and sun. While most of us take summer recreational activities for granted, the Easter Seals campers will savor the unique experiences as a highlight of the whole year.

The camp will be June 13-17 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily at the Youth Activity Center.

"Do it yourself with the help of a friend" is the courageous motto of the Easter Seals campers. Many friends are working to make this year's week-long camp the best ever.

Funding for the 1988 camp is provided by the Easter Seals Society and a grant from the Junior League. The camp facilities, equipment and transportation will be donated by Reese AFB. Many local organizations and businesses will donate supplies, snacks and lunches. Most importantly, volunteer counselors from Reese, the Junior League and the Lubbock community will be the "one on one" friends each camper needs to fully enjoy the camp activities.

Camp programs strive to provide opportunity for outdoor recreation and activities which provide the participants the feeling of achievement, acceptance and a positive self image.

Handicapped children and adults are adventuresome human beings just like the non-handicapped. They naturally seek learning, attention, enjoyment and rest. They want to accept themselves and be accepted by others. The Easter Seals day camp is one of the vehicles used to help the disabled meet this universal need while having fun in the process.

Approximately thirty Reese volunteers are needed as counselors. Permissive TDY is available for camp volunteers.

If you're able to volunteer your time, please contact 2nd Lt. Jeff Moore, 3744. We will also accept volunteers that can only donate half their day to this program.

Auto Hobby Shop has much to offer

By Becky Pillifant
MWR Publicity

Start your engine and listen to the purr of that well-tuned machine! Oops! Oh, no! If that's not what you hear, it could be time to head for the Reese Auto Hobby Shop.

The Auto Hobby Shop offers services not only for the fix-it-yourselfer, but also for those who are unable to repair it themselves. Mr. John Sanchez, Auto Hobby Shop Manager, said "We have added a few new services and intend to continue meeting the needs of the Reese community." Future plans for the shop include a new Auto Hobby Shop facility.

In the Auto Hobby Shop you will meet friendly people and employees with warm smiles on their faces. Ms. Paula O'Halloran, the shop's parts counter specialist, will help you select the correct parts for your vehicle, on the spot. With the help of her many parts catalogs she will give you the discount price and place your order.

Pick up and delivery parts service is also available. If you order your parts by 1 p.m., chances are you will be able to have them the same day.

Stroll across the parking lot over to the detail service, paint and body repair area. Mr. Sanchez says "These are two of our newest services we're making available to Reese members." Mr. Bill Flanigan, a detail service person, will be happy to add a new shine to that old dull paint by buffing out the old and bringing back that hidden shine.

If your car's interior looks a bit tacky you can have Mr. Flanigan shampoo the upholstery to add new life to your seatcovers.

Does your engine need a steam cleaning? The Auto Hobby Shop can fix you right up. Do you need paint and body repair work done to your car? Mr. Freddie Vasquez, the paint and body man, is the person you need to see. He can remove those rust spots, fill in the rust-eaten areas and repair those minor dings. Mr. Vasquez can also paint, undercoat, or add paint sealant to help protect your car.

The Auto Hobby Shop has a full time contract mechanic on duty for any personnel not able to use the base service station.

The Auto Hobby Shop has auto and motorcycle stalls available for your use. Tools and equipment can be checked out allowing you to do your own vehicle repair work. Shop personnel are available to assist you if any problems arise.

Classes on minor car repair, daily upkeep of your vehicle, and weekly specials are all part of the shop's services. A towing service is available on base and in Reese Village.

If you would like to learn more about the Auto Hobby Shop, stop by building 505, or call 3142.

Memorial Day Message from the President

On Memorial Day Americans pause to pay solemn tribute to the countless members of the Armed Forces who have given up their lives in the service of their country.

It is fitting that this day should fall during springtime, the time of rebirth and renewal. Though our sorrow is deep at the loss of so many of our finest men and women, in remembering them we also celebrate the precious freedoms they preserved for others with their lifeblood. The flowers we lay at their resting places and the quickening of life around us remind us of the many joys made possible by their willing sacrifice.

Americans have never sought conflict, and the only foreign soil we claim is the graves in which our heroes sleep. But since our beginning as a Nation, we have always understood the high price freedom demands of us. Whether the challenge came on the greens of Lexington and Concord, at Belleau Wood or Omaha Beach, on the Pusan Perimeter or in the Mekong Delta, the answer of our fighting forces has always been clear and unequivocal. Here at home and around the world, rows of white stone markers stand in silent testimony to our determination to defend liberty with our deeds and, if necessary, with our very lives.

The legacy of our fallen heroes is at once our birthright and our responsibility. And we look to you, the members of today's Armed Forces, to carry on their noble work. Your skill, dedication, and courage are the guarantees of our continued security. Those qualities defined the meaning of duty to your predecessors and their fellow Americans; they are a torch that will pass to each new generation as long as we remain determined to fulfill our duties as a free people.

On behalf of a grateful nation, I thank you for your hardships and sacrifice in that great tradition. As your Commander-in-Chief, I salute you. God bless you.

Ronald Reagan
President

Memorial Day Message from the Secretary of Defense

Every year on Memorial Day, we pause to remember those brave soldiers, sailors, airmen, and Marines who lost their lives in defense of our nation.

Their sacrifice reminds us of what the ultimate cost of freedom can be. While we can never repay the debt we owe to those who protected our freedom with all they held sacred, we can do everything in our power to ensure that their deaths were not in vain.

Since the birth of our Republic, America has held a special place among nations. Our dedication to liberty and justice — and our willingness to do what we must to protect this nation in its times of peril — have inspired hope and admiration in freedom-loving people everywhere. That is why you, the men and women of our country's armed forces, have such an important job. You serve as the bulwark against those who threaten our nation from without; your patriotism serves as a warning to them — and as an example to your fellow Americans.

This is why serving out your daily duties with skill and dedication is so important. It is your way of paying tribute on this Memorial Day to all who went before you in the service of this great nation. It is your way of ensuring that future generations will continue to enjoy the freedoms we hold so dear.

My thoughts are with you on this day of remembrance.

Frank C. Carlucci

U. S. Savings Bond Campaign kicks off

By Capt. Michael David
Savings Bond Project Officer

The 1988 U. S. Savings Bond Campaign kicks off Wednesday and will run through June 30.

There are many reasons to buy U. S. Savings Bonds and the payroll savings plan makes it easy. A simple monthly allotment allows you the opportunity to set up a savings plan tailored to your individual needs.

The series EE Savings Bonds offer a tremendous combination of benefits. They earn a set amount of interest when they mature. For example, a hundred dollar bond costs the holder fifty dollars. The bond also accrues additional interest based on money market performance. This ensures your return will be competitive with market alternatives available at higher costs.

In the near future, your squadron key worker will contact you and offer you the opportunity to participate in an outstanding savings program. They will be able to provide additional information and answer questions.

1988 Savings Bonds Campaign

Let me take just a couple of minutes of your time to invite you to join me in investing in America's future—and your own—by purchasing United States Savings Bonds—your passport to a better future.

Each year at this time, you have the opportunity to advance a proud tradition. During our Defense Department Savings Bonds Campaign, you are encouraged to purchase bonds or increase your rate of investment through the Payroll Savings Plan.

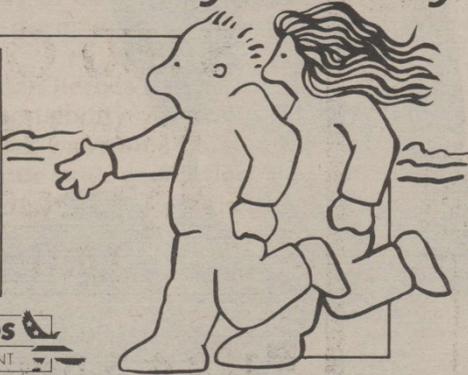

By doing that, you are helping yourself and your family to purchase a new home, finance a college education or guarantee a secure retirement. Today, United States Savings Bonds are one of the most attractive securities available. They offer market-based interest rates for a small, continual investment—and a short hold period. Additionally, they are free from state and local taxes. Besides, when you purchase bonds, you're helping our nation's economy by reducing the burden of our national debt. And savings bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan, are the easiest—and least painful—way for people to save regularly.

So I am asking you, the men and women of our armed forces and DoD civilians, to sign up for savings bonds or increase your present allotment during our savings bonds campaign.

As secretary of defense, I am strongly committed to the savings bonds program because of the benefits it provides to our nation, while helping savers as well.

Together, let us work for a successful savings bonds campaign on behalf of America and all her people. Help your country—help yourself—buy bonds.

Don't Let Your Money Get Away

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Harassment policy outlined

Editors note: This is the final in a series of three articles on sexual harassment.

By TSgt. Sharon Coleman
Equal Opportunity and Treatment
NCO, Vance AFB, Okla.

Several courses of action are available to victims of sexual harassment.

First, the victim must recognize sexual harassment for what it is and understand that it is not the victim's fault. Ignoring the behavior will not help -- it will only compound the situation.

Secondly, before the victim files a complaint, he or she should try to confront the harasser directly to see if he or she can be reasoned with or discouraged. It must be made clear the victim is not interested and that the behavior is totally unacceptable.

Third, if the previous actions fail, the victim should use his or her chain of command, ensuring unit personnel, such as supervisors and commanders, are allowed to investigate the incident.

Fourth, if the behavior persists, the victim may file a formal complaint of harassment with the Social Actions Office.

Even though the victim has courses of action available, commanders and supervisors have the ultimate responsibility for preventing harassment by enforcing standards of conduct that ensure mission accomplishment.

Some administrative actions available to a commander are verbal or written reprimand; control roster action with an Unfavorable Information File; removal from supervisory positions. Commanders may also remove members from noncommissioned officer status, deny promotions and effect reduction in grade and administrative separation. Disciplinary action may also be taken under the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

Sexual harassment cannot be eliminated merely by publishing a complete and comprehensive definition, making a onetime awareness training mandatory or taking administrative action against offenders. The only way to eradicate this detrimental phenomenon is to develop and maintain an atmosphere which allows victims to come forth with their complaints.

Commanders, supervisors, co-workers and subordinate personnel must speak up in defense of those being harassed. They must be thoroughly responsive in assisting people conducting inquiries in narrowing down the truth, without fear of negative repercussions.

We must increase the attractiveness of a career in defense so service members feel the highest pride in themselves and their work, in the uniform and the military profession.

Model Installation Program Proposal

To: 64FTW/RM
Stop 4

From:
Lt. Col. Joseph Jolda

APPROVED

Current Problem

All individuals who have a valid requirement to operate a motor vehicle on the flight line must have an AF Form 483 in their possession. This places the same requirement of extensive training on a driver making a one-time delivery of material to a flight line worksite as a driver who is on the flight line daily.

Proposed Solution

Recommend the Chief of Airfield Management (COAM) be delegated the authority to determine when civilian contractor personnel need the AF Form 483 and the associated training.

Benefits

Gives the COAM the authority and responsibility for safe and cost-effective management of airfield construction and repair projects. Also allows for an in-depth review of contract requirements for flight line operations, and places the requirement for cost-effective civilian contractor flight line driver training within the contractor. Provides the option for control of flight line traffic with barricades and controlled traffic lanes.

Get the facts on insurance policies

Do you have a CHAMPUS supplemental insurance policy?

If not, maybe you should consider one. Such policies can provide a big assist at times when even CHAMPUS cost-sharing may leave sizable sums for you to pay as your share of the total medical bill.

But, if you do buy a CHAMPUS supplemental policy—read the fine print. Be sure you know what you're getting. Find out if the policy will pay all—or only part—of what's left after CHAMPUS has paid its share of your civilian health care costs.

There are CHAMPUS supplements (insurance policies available from many military associations and other private firms) that do pay all of the remaining costs of your care after CHAMPUS has paid. Other CHAMPUS supplements don't.

With the new CHAMPUS "diagnosis-related group" (DRG) payment system in place in most stateside areas, overall costs (including your cost-share) for care covered by CHAMPUS should go down as CHAMPUS pays pre-set amounts for hospital inpatient services.

Some people who hold CHAMPUS supplemental policies have recently found that, even though their premiums haven't gone down, their policies don't seem to be paying as much as they did before CHAMPUS switched to the new DRG payment system last October.

Here's an example of the type of problem that some holders of supplemental policies have run into:

Let's say you're a military retiree, and you just spent 20 days in a civilian hospital. While in the hospital, you ran up a $10,000 bill for CHAMPUS-covered inpatient hospital services.

Under the old payment system, CHAMPUS used to pay its share of the costs as the hospital billed them. This means that, for all CHAMPUS-eligible persons except active-duty families, CHAMPUS would have paid 75 percent of the $10,000 hospital bill, or a total of $7,500. That would have left you, the patient, with a cost-share of $2,500 to pay. And, if you had a CHAMPUS supplemental policy, it would have picked up most or all of that amount for you.

Under the new DRG payment system, CHAMPUS would pay only its share of the amount specified by the DRG rules as reasonable, or "allowable" for the type of care you received. In this example, the DRG system's allowed amount for the care is $4,000, even though the hospital gave you care that they valued at $10,000.

The new DRG payment rules also say that your share of the cost can't be more than 25 percent of the billed charges, or a maximum of $175 per day, which is less (and, they can't exceed the DRG allowed amount.) Since $175 per day multiplied by the 20 days you spent in the hospital is $3,500, and since 25 percent of the $10,000 that the hospital billed is $2,500, your cost-share can't be any more than $2,500 in this case.

But here's the rub with some CHAMPUS supplemental policies: They're worded so that they agree to pay your 25 percent of the allowable charges for the hospital costs in our example. Under the new DRG payment rules the allowable charge is $4,000, so their 25 percent only comes to $1,000. That could leave you on the hook for the rest of the $2,500.

What it all means is that, if you decide to buy a CHAMPUS supplemental insurance policy from one of the many organizations that offer them, you should read the whole policy carefully.

If you don't fully understand parts of the policy, ask questions. Make certain you know what the policy covers and how much of your medicals bills it covers after CHAMPUS has paid its share.

Assistance for education

The Air Force tuition assistance program has undergone changes. All personnel eligible for benefits under the Vietnam era GI Bill must use those benefits. However, there are provisions to preclude students from having to pay all costs and then wait for reimbursement from the VA.

Private institutions on Reese AFB all have payment plans which require only the payment of 25 to 30 percent of the total tuition charge. The remainder is due when the check from VA is received.

For a three semester hour class, the initial outlay from the student would be: Park College, $53.00; Wayland Baptist University, $98.00; Houston Baptist University, $90.00.

Texas state law requires that all fees at state institutions must be paid at the time of enrollment.

For South Plains College, the amount required for one class would range from $48.00 to $58.00, while Houston Community College classes are $99.00 to $111.00.

In all situations it is possible to obtain assistance from the Reese

Credit Union as well as other lending institutions. The Credit Union will provide 90 day loans with no payments due until the end of that period. In addition, Pell Grants — formerly known as Basic Educational Opportunity Grants, are available and can be used in conjunction with tuition assistance or VA benefits.

There are a variety of methods to assist you with educational expenses. Stop by the Education Center, building 920, room 139, for more information; or call 3634.

Bond interest update

The Department of the Treasury produces a semiannual interest rate bulletin that provides the following information concerning United States Savings Bonds:

The semiannual market-based interest rate for Series EE Bonds issued between May 1, 1988 and October 31, 1988 is 6.90 percent for their initial semiannual interest period. The current minimum rate is 6 percent for bonds held at least five years.

The semiannual rate changes each May and November, based on market averages during the preceding six months.

The cumulative rates in the accompanying chart reflect the average of semiannual market-based interest rates applying to Bonds issued during the periods shown. When ten or more semiannual interest rates make up the cumulative rate, it is rounded to the nearest quarter percent and compounded semiannually. This determines the interest rate and investment yield since the start of the market-based rate program for Bonds in each issue period.

Series EE Bonds issued before November 1982, and all series E Bonds and Savings Notes still earning interest, are now receiving market-based rates. These rates are used to calculate the redemption values of eligible Bonds for interest accrual dates between May and October 1988. Future rates at re-

Cumulative Market-Based Rates

For Bonds Purchased:	Average Rate
Through 4/30/83	8.41%
5/1/83-10/31/83	8.16%
11/1/83-4/30/84	8.11%
5/1/84-10/31/84	7.97%
11/1/84-4/30/85	7.72%
5/1/85-10/31/85	7.27%
11/1/85-4/30/86	6.89%
5/1/86-10/31/86	6.60%
11/1/86-4/30/87	6.49%
5/1/87-10/31/87	6.64%
11/1/87-4/30/88	7.04%

demption will reflect changes in the cumulative rate.

Series EE Savings Bonds purchased since November 1, 1982, and held five years or longer earn the average of semiannual market-based rates during the holding period, rounded to the nearest quarter percent, or the minimum rate in effect at the time of purchase, whichever is higher.

The minimum rate is subject to change for future issues if market conditions warrant. Bonds outstanding at the time of any change retain their previous guarantee to original, or next extended maturity.

Air Force news

International competition

AIR FORCE MILITARY PERSONNEL CENTER, RANDOLPH AFB, Texas — Capt. Patrick Saunders, Kirtland AFB, N.M., has been selected to the All-Air Force International Pistol Team that will compete in the U.S. Selection Match at Quantico, Va., May 11 to 15. The International Pistol Competition is sanctioned by the National Rifle Association.

Training camp

AIR FORCE MILITARY PERSONNEL CENTER, RANDOLPH AFB, Texas — Six Air Force people will participate in the International Pistol Training Camp May 25 to 29 at Kirtland AFB, N.M. Shooters are: Capt. Gary Thomas and Amn. Renee Hatful, Minot AFB, N.D.; 1st Lt. Dave Martin, Hanscom AFB, Mass.; SMSgt. Dennis Delmaie, Bergstrom AFB, Texas; TSgt. Elgie Mobley III, Mather AFB, Calif.; and SSgt. Daniel Bennet, Whiteman AFB, Mo. The six will be vying for positions on the International Developmental Pistol Team.

Car Show and Swap Meet

Car buffs are adding that extra shine to their wheels as they get ready for Reese's first annual Car Show and Swap Meet.

The show will take place at the Auto Hobby Shop on June 5. Gates will be open to the public from noon until 6 p.m.

For those competing in the Car Show there will be four categories of competition: Stock Restored, Modified, Muscle Car, and Pre-1960s.

Trophies will be awarded in each division with a giant trophy for best of show over-all. Anyone wishing to show a car but not enter the competition, can do so.

Along with the swap meet you will find custom parts booths, food and beverages, T-shirt booths, and repair and service representatives available to help you. Come on out and enjoy a Sunday full of fun and really neat machines.

Women instructors

LACKLAND AFB, Texas — Basic Training School here is looking for women military training instructors. Volunteers must be Senior Airmen through Master Sergeant or Airmen First Class with more than two years' military service. Unit commander recommendation is required. Complete requirements are listed in Air Force Regulation 39-11. Assistance is available at the Base Personnel Office Customer Service Unit.

Name change

BLYTHEVILLE AFB, Ark. — This Strategic Air Command base was renamed Eaker AFB Thursday in honor of airpower pioneer Gen. Ira Eaker.

General Eaker set a world flight endurance record in 1929 and participated in the first transcontinental flight using aerial refueling in 1930. He retired from the Air Force in 1947 and died last year.

The base opened in 1942 and is home of the 97th Bomb Wing and 42nd Air Division.

"Never take counsel of your fears."

Court action needed to count ballots

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Justice Department has ordered Pennsylvania election officials to count absentee ballots from military and overseas citizens up to 10 days after the April 26 Primary Election.

The action was taken at the request of the Federal Voting Assistance Program because most Pennsylvania election officials began mailing absentee ballots only two weeks before the election.

"This does not provide enough transit time for military and overseas voters to receive, vote and return their ballots in time to be counted," said Henry Valentino, Director of the Federal Voting Program.

The Pennsylvania Legislature has been considering changes in its laws for several years to make it easier for military and overseas citizens to vote absentee.

In 1984, seven states—Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Minnesota, Montana, New Hampshire and Wisconsin—had similar action taken against them. In 1986, court action was taken against Hawaii and New York City. In all instances, election officials were required to count absentee ballots received up to 10 days after the elections.

"Defense Department conducts an aggressive Voting Assistance Program and encourages military members and their eligible dependents to vote in all elections," Mr. Valentino said.

In 1984 military participation was 55.3 percent, which exceeded the national average of 53 percent.

More than 365,000 military people, their dependents and other overseas citizens were eligible to vote in Pennsylvania. Mr. Valentino said that since more than 90 percent of these people must vote absentee, it is critical that state and local election officials provide sufficient transit time for the ballots to make the round trip.

He said the action was taken because of the numerous complaints from Pennsylvania voters that they had not received their absentee ballots.

The federal voting assistance program provides an ombudsman service for military and overseas voters, and local election officials.

Sprinkler saves dollars

On March 14, at 5:20 p.m., a report of the smell of smoke was received at the fire alarm communication center, Dobbins AFB, Georgia. The report came from Building 117.

The building had been built in 1958—a noncombustible hangar with two-story lean-tos on two sides. An aircraft was in the building at the time of the fire, the building was occupied, and the fire alarm panel was out of service.

Fortunately, however, the building was equipped with a water deluge system on the hangar floor and an ordinary wet pipe sprinkler system in other areas of the building.

The fire originated in an open-top metal waste can located in an office on the second floor of the lean-to. The source of ignition was most likely discarded smoking materials.

The fire was extinguished by one sprinkler head.

The Fire Chief estimates a major fire would have occurred very quickly without the sprinkler system, with a good chance of a loss of the building. There was a potential for a 40 million dollar fire loss.

IRR members to be recalled

Members of the Air Force Individual Ready Reserve (IRR), within 150 miles of Lubbock will report to Reese in June and September for a one-day training session geared to update information on the potential and number of IRR members available in the event of war.

According to 2nd Lt. Jeff Moore, chief Quality Force, those recalled will participate in Department of Defense-directed screening to determine skill proficiency degradation and to evaluate the need for refresher courses to keep IRR members at standby readiness. It also will clarify the IRR numbers available.

During the 1988 fiscal year, the Air Force will screen about 32,000 IRR members with technical centers testing to determine skill retention proficiency levels and to determine how many IRR members will respond, according to Lieutenant Moore.

Reese will not test but will update personnel and medical records while briefing participants on reserve and active duty positions.

There are 66 affected persons in the Reese responsibility area, Lieutenant Moore added, but only about 45 are expected to respond to the June session.

The IRR is made up of former active duty personnel who still have military obligations to be called immediately in the event of war.

Most of the IRR are 20 to 30 years old. Approximately 3,400 officers and 28,700 enlisted airmen. They are individuals, not members of a reserve unit, whose training would allow them to fill immediate posts in an emergency situation.

The IRR has the highest level of current training and readiness of any reserve force.

The IRR members called in to Reese will be on active duty, with all regular privileges at Reese facilities operated by Morale, Recreation and Welfare. They will receive a day's pay.

Code of conduct now gender free

By Sgt. Maj. Rudi Williams, USA
American Forces Information Service

After receiving her initial training in 1985, Stephanie Ann Augustine wrote to then-Secretary of Defense Caspar W. Weinberger suggesting that the Code of Conduct be changed to eliminate any reference to gender. The code began with "I am an American fighting man. . . ."

On March 28, 1988, President Ronald Reagan signed an executive order eliminating any reference to gender.

"Early in her Naval Reserve training, she was asked to sign the Code of Conduct, but she didn't like the reference to 'fighting man,'" said a spokesman for the Department of Defense Legislative and Legal Policy Office. That's when she wrote the letter to Weinberger.

After going through Navy channels, the letter reached the assistant secretary of defense for force management and personnel, where the Legislative and Legal Policy Office began working on ways to make the code gender-free.

"Our principal concern in drafting the language change was to ensure that the substantive meaning of the code remained the same and that it retained its literary quality and emotional impact. We were very careful not to use bureaucratic language," said the spokesman.

"Since its inception in 1955, the Code of Conduct has always applied to both male and female service members," he said. "We simply removed an ambiguity."

"Late last year, the proposal was approved by Deputy Secretary of Defense William H. Taft IV," said the spokesman. "It went to the White House early this year, and President Reagan signed it on March 28, on DoD's recommendation."

When the original Code of Conduct was written after the Korean War in 1955, there were 35,191 women on active duty in the armed forces. Today, 221,522 women serve in the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps—10.3 percent of the total force.

President Reagan also amended Section I of the original executive order to read: "All members of the Armed Forces of the United States are expected to measure up to the standards embodied in this Code of Conduct while in combat or in captivity. To ensure achievement of these standards, members of the armed forces liable to capture shall be provided with special training and instruction designed to better equip them to counter and withstand all enemy efforts against them, and shall be fully instructed as to the behavior and obligations expected of them during combat or captivity." ■

CODE OF CONDUCT 1988

I.

I am an American, fighting in the forces which guard my country and our way of life. I am prepared to give my life in their defense.

II.

I will never surrender of my own free will. If in command, I will never surrender the members of my command while they still have the means to resist.

III.

If I am captured I will continue to resist by all means available. I will make every effort to escape and aid others to escape. I will accept neither parole nor special favors from the enemy.

IV.

If I become a prisoner of war, I will keep faith with my fellow prisoners. I will give no information or take part in any action which might be harmful to my comrades. If I am senior, I will take command. If not, I will obey the lawful orders of those appointed over me and will back them up in every way.

V.

When questioned, should I become a prisoner of war, I am required to give name, rank, service number, and date of birth. I will evade answering further questions to the utmost of my ability. I will make no oral or written statements disloyal to my country and its allies or harmful to their cause.

VI.

I will never forget that I am an American, fighting for freedom, responsible for my actions, and dedicated to the principles which made my country free. I will trust in my God and in the United States of America.

Fishing Derby set Olympic Cycling trials set for June 5

The 2nd Lubbock Coca-Cola Fishing Derby, sponsored by Coca-Cola, KCBD-TV 11 For Kids' Sake, and Lubbock Optimist Club, will be held Saturday, June 4 from 8 to 11:30 a.m. at Maxey Park, 30th and Oxford.

Participation is free for all ages and registration will begin at 7:30 a.m. at the south end of the park. All contestants will be required to register before fishing and parents/guardians are encouraged to accompany youths.

Trophies will be given for first, second, and third places for age groups 0-8 years, 9-16 years, and 17 years and older. Awards will be based on the total length of all fish caught and must be measured by a Derby official.

In addition, the first 20 participants to catch a fish with a numbered orange tag will receive a $25 cash prize provided by KAMC-TV, KCBD-TV, KLBK-TV, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, and Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Other prizes contributed by area businesses and fishing tackle manufacturers will be distributed to participants as door prizes. Awards and prizes will be presented 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Participants age 17 to 65 must have a current Texas Fishing License. All participants should provide their own fishing tackle, rods and reels.

The Fishing Derby is a part of the Lubbock Fishery Improvement Program which is coordinated by the Lubbock Parks and Recreation Dept., the Department of Range and Wildlife Management at Texas Tech, and Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

For more information concerning the Lubbock Coca-Cola Fishing Derby contact: Dr. Hal Schramm, Department of Range and Wildlife Management, Texas Tech University, 742-1983, or Mr. Rusty Black, Lubbock Parks and Recreation Department, 762-6411, ext. 2671.

The Lubbock Bicycle Club will host the 1988 United States Cycling Federation, Texas Time Trial Championships on Sunday, June 5, beginning at 7 a.m.

Top bicycle racers from throughout the state will compete in 40 kilometer and 20 kilometer races for the right to attend the U.S. National Championships and the 1988 Olympic Trials.

Races will start in Wilson, 25 miles southeast of Lubbock at the intersection of FM 211 and FM 400.

The course is flat and straight and because of the 3100 ft. altitude, riders will be able to set personal records and have a good chance of breaking state time trial records.

The first rider will start at 7 a.m. to avoid possible wind. Other riders will follow at one minute intervals based on a random drawing.

Over 200 of the top cyclists from Texas will compete. The race is open to any Texas resident holding a USCF racing license.

Favorites from Lubbock include Stan Blanton and Barry Hughes, second and third in 1987 and Alan Pruder in the men's division, and Patty Rock-Carr, first in 1986 and second in 1987 in the women's division.

Holiday Inn Casa Grande, the host hotel, is located at 6624 Ave. H (South Hwy. 87).

When making reservations one should ask for the USCF race discount.

A pre-race dinner will be held at Orlando's, 2402 Ave. Q. All you care to eat of spaghetti and salad $3.95 will be served from 6 to 8 p.m.

For additional information, contact Hutchinson Cycles, 2420 Broadway, Lubbock, TX 79414, 744-4189.

Camp Rainbow Summer Day Camp

Summer is just around the corner and in a few short days the kids will be out of school and looking for something to do! The Reese Youth Center's Camp Rainbow Summer Day Camp is just the thing to help fill some of those long summer days.

Camp Rainbow offers your child a summer of fun with arts and crafts, sports and games, field trips, swimming, nature walks, and outdoor activities. There will be six sessions of day camp lasting two weeks each: June 6 to June 17; June 20 to July 1; July 5 to July 15; July 18 to July 29; August 1 to August 12; and August 15 to August 26.

Fees for each two week session are: $70.00 for one child, $125.00 for two children (same family), $185.00 for three children (same family), and $240.00 for four children (same family). The camp is open to all dependents of active duty military, retired military, and DOD and NAF civilian employees. To participate in the camp your child must be at least six years old and no older than 12.

Registration will be taken during normal operating hours at the Youth Center, building 3015, from May 23 through June 5. For more information come by the center or call 885-3820.

Officials and scorekeepers needed

The Physical Fitness Center is still seeking volunteers to serve as softball officials and scorekeepers. Anyone interested in helping may contact SSgt. Gary Grant at 3783.

Fun Run today

The third annual U.S.A.F. Worldwide Fitness Fun Run will be held at the Base Picnic Grounds today at 12:15 p.m. Late registration for the Fun Run will be taken up until time for the run. Runners of all ages, military and civilian, may participate.

Bowling Center hours

The Windmill Lanes Bowling Center will begin their summer hours of operation Wednesday. New hours of operation will be: Monday through Thursday, 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday, 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 6 p.m. The Bowling Center will be closed on all holidays.

Swimming lessons offered

The first session of swimming lessons will begin June 6. Youth classes are for those children 6 to 16 years old. Adult lessons are for those 16 years old and older. Lessons will be given Monday through Friday at 7 p.m. Class sessions will run for 10 days. The cost for group classes is $15 per person. Contact the Physical Fitness Center at 3783 for more information.

Feeding energy-hungry mouths: your appliances

By Chris Davis
Wing Energy Manager

In any family there can be children who are picky eaters, hardly touching their food, and other children who have bottomless pits for stomachs. It's the same way with those dozens of electric appliances you've got around the house. Some of them have really voracious appetites, some use very little power.

One way to save is to use the energy-gorgers as little as possible. The following list includes the most common appliances along with their estimated electricity consumption in kilowatt hours. The actual cost of operation is included for your comparison. Of course the cost will vary according to the size of the appliance and the amount of usage.

If you leave your television on all day, you'll use more than the average usage figure cited in the chart.

Just for your information: One kilowatt hour (KWH) is equal to the amount of electricity used by a 100 watt light bulb burning for 10 hours. The cost figures are based on an average price of 4.5 cents per KWH.

ITEM	Est. KWH/ Operation	Est. KWH/ Annual	Est. Cost/ Annual
Water Heater	13.5 per day	4928	$221.76
Clothes Dryer	3-1/3 per load	993	44.69
Clothes Washer, Hot Water for Washer	1/3 per load	350	15.75
Dishwasher, Hot Water for Washer	5-1/2 per load	1750	78.75
Freezer (16 cubic feet)	5 per day	1825	82.13
Refrigerator (16 cubic feet)	3-2/3 per day	1340	60.30
Refrigerator (16 cubic feet, no frost)	5 per day	1825	82.13
Coffee Maker	1 per hour	140	6.30
Toaster	1 per hour	39	1.76
Iron	1 per hour	144	6.50
Microwave Oven	1-1/2 per hour	190	8.55
Radio	1/2 per hour	100	4.50
Television (color, tube)	1/2 per hour	660	29.70
Television (color, solid state)	1/3 per hour	440	19.80
Television (black and white)	1/4 per hour	350	15.75

To adequately attack energy waste at home as well as at work, we must be aware of how much energy is used where. The following is a list of where your energy dollars go:

- Heating and air conditioning: 57 percent.
- Water heater: 15 percent
- Lighting and other appliances: 12 percent.
- Cooking: 6 percent
- Refrigeration: 6 percent
- Miscellaneous: 4 percent

Heating and air conditioning are simple to control. Discipline yourself to heat to 72 degrees and cool to 78 degrees. Turn your thermostat up in the summer and down in the winter when you leave home or work.

Hot water heaters work 24 hours a day. Turning your water temperature down from 140 degrees to 120 degrees can save you up to ten percent per year. And by all means, turn off those lights when they are not being used.

Energy conservation isn't difficult. It only takes a little bit of your time and effort, and the benefits are enormous. Be wise...Don't waste.

Physical fitness and your health

By SSgt. Randy Pratt
Physical Fitness Center

If you have questions about exercise, fitness and sports, write them down and send them to the Reese Physical Fitness Center, 64 ABG/SSRS, or call 6020 and ask your questions. We will provide answers to your questions in writing and publish the best ones in the Roundup.

Q. I always substitute artificial sweeteners for sugar and drink diet soft drinks instead of regular drinks and I eat plenty of yogurt. I'm not losing any weight. What should I do?

A. If you're counting on the sweet taste of nothing (the zero calorie count of artificial sweeteners) to cut calories and lose weight, it's time to take a second look at your diet strategy.

Why? First it has never been proved that artificial sweeteners help dieters lose weight or keep it off. While they may be "neutral" or contain no calories, they may also give dieters license to eat high-fat desserts, taking advantage of calories they've saved.

I often observe this pattern: someone will drink a diet soda with dinner, and then ask for coffee with artificial sweetener to go with the cheesecake they're having for dessert. So they save 16 calories by not putting a teaspoon of sugar in their coffee, but gain 340 calories from eating the cake. You might argue that every little bit helps, but it doesn't seem to work that way.

Instead of relying on diet drinks and diet candy to fool yourself into thinking you're losing calories, you must change your entire approach toward nutrition and eat a good combination of balanced foods. Not only will you feel better, you'll lose weight, too. Strict 1,200 calorie-a-day diets can satisfy your sweet tooth without jeopardizing your waistline, by choosing natural sweets like fruits, jams made from mashed fruit, or, in the off-season, unsweetened fruits canned in water.

Beware of so-called "natural" or "diet" foods. One major brand of fruit-on-the-bottom yogurt has 250 calories per cup, or eight teaspoons of sugar. Pick the "light" version, and you consume six teaspoons—not a very big difference. Instead, opt for plain yogurt with fresh fruit for more fiber and nutrients and a full feeling that will put a damper on between-meal munching.

When the urge for a diet soda hits, reach for low-fat milk. It supplies calcium and protein with minimal calories, fills you up and curbs your craving for snacks between meals. If you simply must have a carbonated beverage, choose plain or fruit flavored seltzer or club soda without high-fructose corn syrup.

Another word of warning: some "diet" or "natural" products may be sucrose free but loaded with fruit sugars. When in doubt, read the label. The bottom line is that artificial sweeteners are no shortcut to slimness. You may save calories temporarily, but chances are you'll more than make up for them later.

When it comes to weight loss, the recipe remains short and sweet: combine a balanced, low-fat diet with regular aerobic exercise.

Rattlers battle the Warriors

by Woody Wuttke
Team member

Monday night, the Rattlers met the warriors at the Fair Ground Coliseum. Reese fell short with a 5 to 2 loss.

The Warriors started out in the first half by getting the ball in the net three times. Their goals were well worked for. The Rattlers defense of Bob Montgomery, Mike Roberto and J. T. Johnson played outstanding, holding back numerous would-be goals.

The Warrior defense played well, and kept the Rattlers at only two goals, one of them a penalty kick missed by Chuck Kunde on the first try and made it in on a second attempt.

The Rattlers goalie, Bob Dale was able to stop over 15 shots, but let by two last minute goals giving the game to the Warriors.
