Storm delivers chaos, damages... and water

RUBEN CANTU-RODRIGUEZ
WINTERS ENTERPRISE

WINTERS- Despite the downed tree limbs, road closures and general chaos, weekend rains helped increase the region's surface water supply, with O.H. Ivie Reservoir being the biggest beneficiary in the Colorado River Municipal Water District watershed. As of Tuesday morning, the CRMWD reported Ivie Reservoir gaining 8.66 vertical feet and capturing 35,840 acre-feet of inflow.

Between Friday and Tuesday, the National Weather Service station in Wingate reported a total of 3.17 inches of rain, though Monday night rain was not available. Some gages in town though, recorded up to 6 inches and more for the Memorial Day weekend.

Monday night the storm left chaos and destruction. An Internet tower in town was down and the service was either irregular or unavailable for most Internet users. During the night the 60 mile per hour winds knocked down power lines causing blackouts. The power was almost completely restored by noon.

The roof of the Winters Police Department was also damaged but there was no report of major structural damages.

The City crews were cleaning tree limbs and trees downed in public places, while the ones damaged in private properties were being taken care by property owners.

The Winters lake didn't receive much of the runoff. As of Tuesday afternoon the level at the new lake increased about 6 inches.

As of Tuesday morning the Elm Creek crested at 4.64 feet and 382 cubic feet per second, according to information provided by the United States Geological Survey station located in Ballinger. The creek didn't reach its flood stage. The flood stage is at 7-foot. The flow represents a 180 degree change from last month, when the station averaged 0.00 cubic feet per second.

The Colorado River station also in Ballinger reported a peak of 7.09 feet and a flow of 477 cubic feet per second. During the month of April the average flow in that station was .48 cubic feet per second.

The level increase was far from denting the river's historical peak at 28.60 feet, recorded on September 18, 1936, or even the third highest historical level for the station, on September 29, 2012 when the waters raised to 27.78 feet.

The heavy rains by no means are a drought buster, according to CRMWD General Manager John Grant "however, it is a start to replenishing area lakes that have been hard hit by the drought over the last five years."

"Before we can start seeing increases in our surface water supplies it has to start raining and raining in the right areas" said Grant.

The rains over the watersheds of Lake J.B. Thomas and the E.V. Spence and O.H. Ivie Reservoirs were a good start to reestablishing soil moisture, filling stock tanks and wetting the creeks and rivers and there is still water that will continue to flow into the lakes for the next few days.

"We still need to remember how serious this drought is and with the recent rain not get complacent" he said just continue to use common sense, if you have an automatic sprinkler system and received one to two inches of rain at your house, turn off your sprinkler system for the next couple of weeks.

"The folks in West Texas have done a great job in responding to the drought and conserving water over the last few years and they need to be commended for that" Grant said but we still need to work together as we manage our water supplies.

Annual Rural Mass to be held in Winters

WINTERS ENTERPRISE
STAFF REPORT

WINTERS- "The Stewardship of Creation," the Diocese of San Angelo's annual Seed and Soil Rural Life Mass, will be celebrated Tuesday, June 3, 2014, at 6:30 p.m., with Bishop Michael J. Sis presiding. The Mass will be at the ranch of Bobby and Joyce Myers, 1687 County Rd. 173, in Winters, Texas. Ribbons and signposts will be visible to help visitors locate the ranch entrance.

"Agriculture touches all our lives, wherever we live and whatever we do," Bishop Sis wrote in the May issue of the West Texas Angelus.

"The cotton in our clothes, the food on our plates, the leather in our shoes, and even the ingredients in our beer, come from farms and ranches.

Anyone who has ever been in the Diocese of San Angelo knows that rural life has a dominant place in our culture. The Church stands with farmers and ranchers, particularly those who own family farms and ranches, as they seek to carry out their work with dignity and to strengthen rural communities."

The Mass is hosted by St. Mary's Church in Ballinger.

Memorial Day, a call to recognize servicemen

RUBEN CANTU-RODRIGUEZ
WINTERS ENTERPRISE

BALLINGER- Some visit cemeteries, some salute surviving veterans and their families, but in Runnels County the 2014 Memorial Day was more than that, as a call was made for our government officials to recognize the sacrifice made by the members of the armed forces who have served this great country.

The American Legion Post 8 hosted last Monday, May 26, 2014 the Memorial Day ceremony held at the Runnels County Courthouse lawn memorial. Under the shade of a beautiful day the U.S. flag was raised at half staff remembering those who paid the ultimate price defending their country. Ray Anderson was the master of ceremonies. The posting of the colors was made by Billy Rollwitz, Lee Roy Muller, Alex Kvapil and Andrew Lange.

Runnels County Veterans Services Officer Sandra Van Zant led the pledge of allegiance and the prayer was made by Rev. Hugh Wade. Delpha Caudle led the National Anthem followed by the speaker Buddy Moore.

"We as veterans need to stand for one another, stay together as brothers and sisters not only in Christ but as brothers and sisters who served their country," Moore said.

"Veterans shouldn't have to beg for service, I am calling for action for this issue which has not been going for the last few years, it has been going on for the last 50 years," he said.

Lee Roy Muller, Billy Rollwitz, Alex Kvapil and Andrew Lange raise the flag at the Memorial Day ceremony held at the Runnels County Courthouse lawn on Monday, May 26, 2014.

Moore compared a Bible passage to the current situation veterans are living in the United States after all they gave to this country.

"Just like God held David responsible for his actions when he sent Uriah the Hittite to the front to get killed so he could marry Sheba, we need to hold our government responsible for its actions," he said. "Now it's time for us to be heard," he added.

Benefit gun raffle

Runnels County Sheriff's Department is conducting a gun raffle with proceeds benefiting Cherie Squyers and Wade Townzen. Cherie is a former Runnels Co. Jailor and she is married to Deputy Sheriff Carl Squyers. She is in need of a lung transplant and currently staying at Baylor Hospital in Dallas, Texas. Wade Townzen is Deputy Sheriff Dawn Sumrall's brother. Wade was diagnosed with cancer affecting his throat, lungs, heart and kidneys. Guns being raffled are a DPMS AP4 .233 carbine, ISSC MK 22LR rifle, Ruger LC9 9mm handgun, and Ruger SR22 22LR handgun. Drawing will be held on July 4, 2014. Tickets are being sold by law enforcement officers in Runnels County. For more information call the Runnels County Sheriff's Dept. at (325) 365-2121.

Pioneer Church of God to host revival this Saturday

RUBEN CANTU-RODRIGUEZ
WINTERS ENTERPRISE

WINTERS- The Pioneer Church of God, R-12, and its Youth Ministry will be hosting Revive, a Christian revival on Saturday, May 31, 2014 at 4 p.m. at 158 North Main Street in Winters, Texas. The program includes food, fellowship and live music, as well as a special sermon by Youth Pastor John Kraatz.

"It's not only for the youth, it is more of an outreach ministry trying to reach the people that will not go to church, that's who we are trying to bring," said Kraatz. "We are trying to reach the unreached."

The event will feature free food, fellowship and live music by Christian musician Brad Sanders, as well as special music by County Road 206.

Field day to feature presentations on weed, grass control

BLAIR FANNIN
SPECIAL TO THE WINTERS ENTERPRISE

THRALL - Grass and weed control in grain sorghum, plus a look at new cotton technologies, will be the focus of the 51st Stiles Farm Field Day scheduled June 17 in Thrall.

The Stiles Farm is located at 5700 Farm-to-Market Road 1063, near the intersection of U.S. Highway 79, 1 mile east of Thrall.

Cost is $10 with registration starting at 7:45 a.m. Presentations and tours begin at 8:30 a.m.

"We have several presentations that will be of interest to Blacklands farmers throughout the region," said Archie Abrameit, farm manager and Texas A&M Agrilife Extension Service specialist. "After lunch, we will view an online decision aid tool that will help farmers make decisions pertaining to the new 2014 Farm Bill."

Morning presentations will begin at 8:30 a.m. and include:

- Traction and Compaction-Tractor Tire Inflation Strategies, Dusty Hininger, regional sales manager, Firestone Farm Tires, Fort Worth; and Ken Brodbeck, sales engineer, Firestone Farm Tires, Des Moines, Iowa.
- Grain Sorghum Grass Control and Future Weed Control Options, Dr. Paul

Baumann, AgriLife Extension Service weed specialist, College Station.

- New Cotton Technologies, Dr. Gaylon Morgan, AgriLife Extension state cotton specialist, College Station

- Drought Strategies in Pasture Management, Dr. Larry Redmon, AgriLife Extension Service forage specialist, College Station.

At noon, youth scholarships will be presented and the Taylor Agriculturalist of the Year will be named for 2014. A barbecue meal, sponsored by the Greater Taylor Chamber of Commerce, will follow.

The afternoon sessions begin at 1:30 p.m. with equipment demonstrations by several industry partners, Abrameit said. George Knapke, economist with the Agricultural and Food Policy Center at Texas A&M University, College Station, will give a demonstration on a new online producer decision aid tool.

Three certified crop advisor units and three continuing education units will be given to participants who hold a Texas Department of Agriculture pesticide applicators license, Abrameit said.

On behalf of the Walker family, thank you to everyone for the prayers, food, cards, plants and thoughts during this difficult time. We would like to say a special thanks to Mike Meyers and the Winters Funeral Home, the First Baptist Church in Winters, and all of the wonderful ladies who prepared lunch. The support from friends and the community has been heartwarming.
Jerrell was loved and will be missed by many.

State Library opens registration to public schools for database program

WINTERS ENTERPRISE
STAFF REPORT

AUSTIN- The Texas State Library and Archives Commission (TSLAC) invites K-12 public school districts throughout Texas to sign up for TexQuest, the agency's new statewide database program providing high-quality digital research and information resources to the state's more than 5 million public school students attending nearly 9,000 schools.

The program offers 15 databases and a collection of ebooks from Gale Cengage, including Student Resources in Context, which provides cross-curricular support for papers, projects and presentations; General OneFile, 24/7 access to a large collection of full-text periodicals; and National Geographic Kids, adventures in science, nature, cultures, archeology, and space.

The program also offers 2 historical archives of primary source materials from Adam Matthew Digital. The American West and American Indian Histories and Cultures provide users with a wide range of rare and original documents, from treaties, speeches, and diaries to historic maps and travel journals.

"We're very glad to be able to partner with Gale Cengage and Adam Matthew to offer Texas K-12 students and faculty this rich collection of online information resources," said agency director and State Librarian Mark Smith.

Summer Reading Program starts in June at the Winters Public Library

WINTERS ENTERPRISE STAFF REPORT

WINTERS- The Winters Public Library announced the 2014 Summer Reading Program schedule. Programs will be presented each Tuesday in June (June 3, 10, 17, and 24). School-aged children are encouraged to come for interesting programs from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Scheduled this year are a trip to Antarctica, learning about the 6 White Horses from Hardin-Simmons University, everything about bugs, and water ecology.

On July 15 from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. the fun topic of ice cream will be the theme, with a surprise activity. August 12 from 1:30 to 2:30 will close out the Summer Reading Program with a party celebrating reading including stories, activities, and surprises.

New this year will be a preschool story time for children and parents. This will occur each Tuesday in June from 3 to 3:30 p.m. Children will enjoy stories and activities.

All children are encouraged to keep a record of the books read during this summer. Each child who reads 12 books will receive a t-shirt at the end of the program. More information about this is available at the library.

Approximately 200 new books for preschoolers through teens have arrived at the library and will be ready to check out in June. Special thanks is given to the Texas Book Festival for a grant that allowed the library to purchase these great books. Check out your library this summer! Celebrate reading.

Ministry: The way we are supposed to live

R-12 ministry. Roman's 12 speaks of what we are supposed to live as Christians and how we are supposed to treat other people regardless of they being Christians or not," Kraatz said.

"If everybody would live their lives according to R-12 everybody would be touched," he added.

The church recently moved to this new location, and will be hosting this event as their first outdoor ministry. "I got the vision before we even looked at that building, back in October of last year, but now that we moved here the location fits like a glove," Kraatz explained.

The pastor said that the church will soon be opening a youth hall at the new location, with games and trying to create an atmosphere that helps to keep the youth out of the streets and get them to do something productive.

LAST WEEK'S ANSWER GRID

Weather Whys

Q: What's the difference between a squall line and a supercell?

A: A squall line is an organized line of thunderstorms, while a supercell is usually just one isolated storm, says Brent McRoberts of Texas A&M University. "Squall lines form where there is unstable air, and often they occur before a cold front is approaching," he explains. "A squall line can be fairly large - from 10 to 30 miles wide and as long as 500 miles or more. They can produce large hail, lightning, heavy rain, strong winds and even tornadoes. Supercells are the largest and most severe class of thunderstorms. Among storms, supercells are the least common type, but can very often produce severe weather, including damaging winds, very large hail, and sometimes violent tornadoes."

Range, pasture program set in Coleman

STEVE BYRNS
SPECIAL TO THE WINTERS ENTERPRISE
COLEMAN- The Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service will conduct the 2014 Range and Pasture Management Program from 5:30-9 p.m. June 24 at the Bill Franklin Center in Coleman. "This program is meant to update our producers on the new range-related technologies and programs now available to them," said Michael Palmer, AgriLife Extension agent in Coleman County. "This type of program generally generates plenty of questions, so the beauty of this one will be our speakers who should be able to answer most, if not all the questions producers might have in their particular area of expertise." Individual registration is $10 for those who RSVP by June 17 and $20 thereafter. Payment is due upon arrival. The fees will include supper. For more information and to RSVP, call the AgriLife Extension office in Coleman County at 325-625-4519.

Topics and speakers will include:

- Pasture, Range and Forage Insurance, Bill Thompson, AgriLife Extension economist, San Angelo.

- Dow Weed and Brush Herbicide Update, Ralph Porter, Abilene.

- DuPont Weed and Brush Herbicide Update, Gerald Hobson, Peaster.

- Integrating Chemical Control and Prescribed Burning, Dr. Morgan Russell, AgriLife Extension range specialist, San Angelo.

Three Texas Department of Agriculture continuing education units will be offered.

Rangeland water Conference slated for June 24 in Mertzon

STEVE BYRNS
SPECIAL TO THE WINTERS ENTERPRISE
MERTZON- The Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service will conduct the Rangeland Water Conference beginning at 8:30 a.m. June 24 in the Mertzon Community Center. The multi-county program is being offered by the AgriLife Extension offices in Irion, Sutton, Schleicher, Reagan, Tom Green and Sterling counties. "The majority of our annual forage production comes following spring rains, which thus far haven't materialized. That means some tough choices are coming for producers," said Shane Wigington, AgriLife Extension agent in Irion County. "With that in mind, our workshop will center on strategies to manage water supply and rangeland productivity as well as offer ways to best meet livestock and wildlife nutritional needs."

"Our speakers will also provide home water conservation strategies for folks in any drought-stricken area to consider."

Individual preregistration is $20 by June 19 and $25 thereafter. The fee includes a noon meal. For more information and to RSVP, call any of the following participating AgriLife Extension offices: Irion County, 325-835-2711; Schleicher County, 325-853-2132; Reagan County, 325-884-2335; Tom Green, 325-659-6524; Sutton, 325-387-3101; or Sterling, 325-378-3181.

Topics and speakers will include:

- Current Topics in Texas Water Law, Tiffany Dowell, AgriLife Extension agricultural law specialist, College Station.

- Drought Outlook and Management Strategies, Dr. Morgan Russell, AgriLife Extension range specialist, San Angelo.

- Ranch Economic Planning During Drought, Bill Thompson, AgriLife Extension economist, San Angelo.

- Key Range Plants During Dry Times, Steve Nelle, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Natural Resources Conservation Service retired wildlife biologist, San Angelo.

- State of the Aquifer and Water Supply, Scott Holland, general manager, Irion County Water Conservation District, Mertzon.

- 40 Gallon Challenge/Home Water Conservation, Diane Boellstorff, AgriLife Extension water resources specialist, College Station.

Three Texas Department of Agriculture continuing education units, two general and one integrated pest management, will be offered.

Social media training set for June 18-19

WINTERS ENTERPRISE
STAFF REPORT

COLLEGE STATION - The Texas Watershed Planning Program of the Texas Water Resources Institute is sponsoring a social media workshop for natural resources professionals June 18-19 in Room 113 of the Texas A&M University Agriculture and Life Sciences Building, 600 John Kimbrough Blvd., College Station.

The "Social Marketing for Natural Resource Professionals" training will be from 1-4 p.m. June 18 and from 8:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. June 19. Participants can register for one or both days. Registration is $40 for June 18 and $50 for June 19. The June 19 training includes lunch. Registration is $80 for both days.

Amy Hays, program specialist for the Texas A&M Institute of Renewable Natural Resources and workshop trainer, said the first day will be "hands-on" and cover the basics of the social media platforms Facebook and Twitter and how to get more out of them.

Bids will be reviewed by City staff and consultants. All bids will be considered, if they are within 15% of the City's estimated cost of construction. Each set of bid documents cost $50. This is a sealed bid competition.
A pre-bid meeting is scheduled for May 28 at 2:00 pm at City Hall. Contact the City's Code Enforcement Officer to ascertain any special instructions. The City can be reached at 325-365-3511.
The units are located at 902 County Road 229, 100 South Woodward, 1709 Poplar Avenue
A copy of the City's approved scoring criteria will be included in the bid package. Priority points will be awarded to contractors headquartered in Runnels County and contractors that submit their liability insurance documents.
Please include line item amounts for the following: demolition, framing, electrical, plumbing, foundation, cabinets, flooring, exterior surface, interior surface, doors and windows, interior paint, exterior paint, HVAC, roofing, appliances and insulation. BIDDER IS RESPONSIBLE FOR PROVIDING BUILDER'S RISK INSURANCE ON BEHALF OF OWNER
The Contractor must ensure that employees/applicants for employment are not discriminated against because of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.
The work performed under this contract is for a project receiving direct federal financial assistance from the Department of Housing and Urban Development and is subject to the requirements of Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, as amended, 12 U.S.C. 1701u. Section 3 requires that, to the greatest extent feasible, opportunities for training and employment be given to lower income residents in the project area and work contracts be awarded to businesses located or owned in substantial part by persons residing in the project area. The parties to this contract will comply with the provisions of said Section 3 and the regulations issued pursuant thereto by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development set forth in 24 C.F.R. 235, and all applicable rules and orders of the Department issued hereunder prior to the execution of Contract. The parties to any contract will certify and agree that they are under no contractual or other disability that would prevent them from complying with these requirements. All contractors/subcontractors that are barred, suspended, or otherwise excluded from or ineligible for participation in federal assistance programs may not undertake any activity in part or in full under this project.
The City of Ballinger reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to waive any informality in the proposal process.
Proposals may be held by the City of Ballinger for a period not to exceed ninety (90)-days from the date of the opening of Proposals for the purpose of reviewing the proposals and investigating the qualifications of bidders, prior to the writing of any contracts.

THE IDLE AMERICAN

Davidson College's 'Washday Blues?'

Commentary by

When one of the nation's most prestigious higher education institutions announces a policy change — however slight — it can produce near seismic results — in the eyes of beholders, anyway. "Beholding," in this case, are faculty, students and alumni of Davidson College. Who knows what may break loose?

Buildings may quake, forcing ivy to seek new places to climb. The tradition of 90 years is entrenched, but Dr. Carol Quillen — completing two years in the presidency after 20 years' teaching/administrative posts at Rice University — has announced closure of the campus laundry next spring.

She may "batten down" hatches, or maybe not....

At first blush, it seems a "ho-hum" decision, but it will save $400,000 annually. Savings are more than needed for additional self-serve machines planned for residence halls throughout the campus in Davidson, NC.

Davidson — an all-male school founded in 1837 that became co-ed in the mid-70s — has long been considered one of the nation's best. Acceptance for enrollment is highly competitive, and graduates (including President Woodrow Wilson) have distinguished themselves in numerous fields. Endowment now exceeds $500 million, and in 2012 Davidson received a record single gift — $45 million — from Duke Endowment.

Back to the laundry's 1911 beginnings.... Faculty complained that students — sometimes heading straight to class from work in the fields — brought with them malodorous air. (Arid deodorant wasn't yet around, so there were no "half safe" warnings. Hmmm, students may have seen this as a trick to introduce fractions.)...

TEXAS
Don Newbury

Faculty called for construction of a campus laundry, where workers would wash, press, fold and package students' soiled laundry.

The administration responded — albeit a decade later — and a tradition was born. Students were happy, and faculty was happier. (As a former college president, I'm hesitant to say faculty is "happiest" about anything.) Students and workers cheerfully mingle, perhaps singing "happy little washday songs." Over the years, the college's "free" laundry service became a quirky, but effective "selling point" for prospective students, and a cherished tradition for those enrolled. In fact, Davidson honored Lula Bell Houston — who toiled in the laundry for 57 years — by naming it in her honor when she retired in 2004. She is one of two former staffers whose names adorn buildings at Davidson. The structure will be converted to other uses, but the name remains....

For ages, most of the 2,000 students took full advantage of the "free" service — the actual cost "built in" the annual price tag that is now north of $50,000. In recent years, though, interest has flagged. Most freshmen use it, but only about a third of seniors are doing so.

Female students prefer doing their own laundry, and senior guys — opting for several "wearings" between washes — eschew carrying their weighty bags uphill to the laundry. A handful of students in off-campus apartments have other issues — like convincing parents they are eating properly. One mom called, reminding her son to eat something green every day. "Relax, mom," he replied, "I ate some toast just this morning."...

Alumni, generally, are "tongue-in-cheek." Larry Dagenhart, proud graduate, respected attorney and Class of '53 valedictorian, moved his cheek-languishing tongue to its "upright and locked position" for comment.

Surprised, he responded, "We gave up vespers, we gave up chapel, we went co-ed, we even gave up the marching band, but dad-gum-it, we can't give up the laundry. What is the world coming to?"

It's a given that college students are wearing fewer clothes these days, a/c has come along, and deodorants are both dependable and handy....

We've learned to exist without trading stamps, and Davidson students will "press on," even if the laundry doesn't. Davidson is aligning its resources to meet educational priorities within higher education's changing landscape.

For now, though, reporters and headline writers are feasting on the item. Imagine headline possibilities: Davidson: Comes Clean, Scrubs Laundry, Hangs Students Out to Dry, Washday Blues and Airst Dirty Laundry. (Students will rub their own dubs, hopefully keeping cleanliness and godliness in the same yoke.)

Hurrah for Davidson College's rich history of preparing students for whatever comes next. I'd love to meet Lula Bell Houston, who may feel drip/dry and permanent press have taken things too far. Me, I don't know whether to wash or hang out....

The bright color of life

Blooming by either the approaching summertime, warming temperatures or recent rains, a large number of lace cacti was sighted on a property located in Runnels County, just north of Ballinger. The landscape at the home of Charles and Jean Heansley turned suddenly bright with the purple flowers contrasting with the ground.

Memorial Day weekend very busy for Texas game wardens

WINTERS ENTERPRISE
STAFF REPORT

AUSTIN— Texas game wardens investigated seven drowning deaths and another four boating-related fatalities over what proved to be one of the state's deadliest Memorial Day weekends.

In addition to handling those tragedies, game wardens issued hundreds of water safety citations and made numerous arrests, including 31 persons for boating while intoxicated, 7 for driving while intoxicated, 14 for public intoxication and 36 on various drug-related offenses. "Texas game wardens will remember this Memorial day weekend for years to come," said Lt. Col. Danny Shaw, Deputy Director of Law Enforcement for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. "Tragically, this was one of the deadliest three-day holidays in recent memory."

Wardens responded to 21 boating accidents that in addition to four deaths led to two serious injuries. "Our thoughts and prayers go out to the families of all this weekend's victims," Shaw continued. "Game wardens will continue to be vigilant in our efforts to protect Texans on our public water. I would implore all Texans when boating to wear their lifejackets, be aware of their surroundings and return home safely with their families."

Leading up to the weekend, he said, game wardens developed partnerships with many local law enforcement agencies in an attempt to increase water safety awareness as well as facilitating enhanced BWI enforcement.

"We also promoted water safety throughout the weekend on our social media outlets including the official Texas Game Warden Facebook and Twitter pages," said Graham Jones, TPWD Chief of Special Operations. "We reported major events that were subsequently shared by media throughout the state. In the days leading up to Memorial Day and through Monday night, it appears that we directly reached 118,648 Facebook users and 370,490 Twitter viewers, for a total direct reach of more than 489,000 people."

for Christ and FCCLA, and volunteered work, I really enjoy being involved in these activities.
 Hobbies: A few of my hobbies are, of course hanging out with my wonderful family, hanging with my buddies, working out, wakeboarding, golf and spending time with my girlfriend.

Honors: I am a three year letterman in football and basketball and a four year letterman in golf. My junior and senior year in basketball I received 2nd Team All-District, in football I received honorable mention, and in golf I received All-District, I also received two who's who awards.

Most influenced by: My whole family has influenced me, my dad, my mother, Jeff, Brittany, Zack, and Erica. They support me in everything I do, and I know I can always count on them for anything. But my Dad has had the most influence on me, he has taught me everything I know and he has my back in every situation I somehow get myself into.

Most memorable moment: A few years ago my family and I went to visit our family in Vero Beach Florida, while we were there, we went with our family friend on his air boat to see the alligators at a swamp. On the tour I was sitting right besides the pedals, which was not a real seat and higher up then everyone else, Jeff, the family friend decided to do a 180 and I flew out.

Future plans: After high school, I want to graduate college with a meaningful degree, but make a career out of being a firefighter and live independently.

Where do you see yourself in 10 years? In 10 years I see myself with a beautiful family, degree, and a career from being a firefighter.

Another school-year has finished and a group of local students has accomplished a very important goal in their lives.

It's not the finish line but just another stage in a race that will last a lifetime.

They enjoyed, suffered, had fun, had a good time, celebrated, laughed and cried together. However, most importantly they learned the skills and trades that from now on will be the foundation of their lives.

Today, they all take their own paths in life. Some of them will start a career and others will continue with their education in community colleges or maybe in renown universities.

For us, the community in Runnels County, it's going to be a challenge to see you go and continue with your goals. However we understand that it is the way it's supposed to be and we wish you the best.

Today, this special section published by the Ballinger Ledger and Winters Enterprise honors those graduating seniors who were kind enough to share their best moments, their hopes and dreams with us. During this past school-year your names were all over the newspaper and now times are changing.

We thank you and your families for giving us the opportunity to serve you.

For us this is not the end of the road either, we want to encourage you all to keep in touch with us, to share your accomplishments and accolades. We'll be glad to continue doing what we do best: sharing your news with our local communities, taking your message out there and helping people to connect together.

This is the starting line of a new life. A new relationship we expect to last for a lifetime.

Thanks for everything you did, and you'll continue to do.

We wish you the best. We are sure you all will find success in any path you choose to take.
